THE BUCKEYE PLAN.

Elopement of a Nephew of Foraker and a Daughter of Leedom.

A COURTSHIP OF FOUR DAYS.

When Refused a License in Ohio They Skipped to Kentucky.

ONE DECIDEDLY ROMANTIC WEDDING

CINCINNATI, May 7.—There was a romantic and a romantic marriage in Covington last midnight. The prominence of the bride and groom, together with the difficulty attending it, are very interesting. The groom is Colonel William E. Bundy, of this city, who is well known and who is the Secretary of the Board of Elections, and Colonel of the Sons of Veterans of the Ohio division, being also a nephew of ex-Governor Foraker.

The bride is Miss Eva Leedom, daughter of Mr. J. P. Leedom, of Adams county, ex-Sergeant at Arms of the National House of Representatives.

It was an elopement on the part of the bride, Mr. Bundy met Miss Leedom only four days before the wedding. During the ride Mr. Bundy dared her to go to Gettysburg with him.

"It's no use making the dare," she said, "I will go with you."

Mr. Bundy prosecuted his courtship right under the nose of his lady love's uncle, and before they separated they had become engaged.

DID NOT ASK PAPA.

The young lady did not consult her parents about the marriage, nor did she desire to. Consequently, an elopement was arranged. Miss Leedom arrived in Cincinnati late last evening and was met at the depot by Colonel Bundy. A carriage was procured, and a preconcerted plan they went direct to the residence of Dr. A. Averick in Covington. It was after 9 o'clock when they arrived there, and there the prospective groom and Dr. Averick started out in search of a license.

They went to the residence of County Clerk McCullum, but he was not at home. They then repaired to the residence of Deputy Clerk Greene Penley. He, too, was out. They then returned to the residence of Mr. McCullum and found him at home. He, however, refused to issue the license, claiming that the young lady was not present. Both gentlemen represented that she was of legal age, but the official was firm in his decision not to issue the license unless the young lady was present and made affidavit as to her age.

CROSSED THE RIVER.

They hurried back to the residence of Dr. Averick, the doctor being about two miles. The bride, expecting had, in the meantime, grown very impatient, and when they arrived she seemingly was very much displeased with the result.

It was an easy task for Dr. Averick, at his association and acquaintance with the clergy of Covington give him considerable information in that line. The pastor of the Main Street M. E. Church was found at his pastoral residence. He was awakened. When the callers made known the object of their visit the pastor hardly donned his clerical robes and repaired to the residence of Dr. Averick, where the ceremony was performed about 12:10 o'clock (midnight).

There were only a few persons present at the ceremony. They heartily congratulated the bride and groom. The bride is little, and well known throughout the State and in this city.

Becked the Police Officer.

Quite a commotion was caused in the vicinity of Seventh avenue and Fountain street last evening by a crowd of rowdies. When Officer Ed Cross appeared upon the scene and tried to quell the disturbance, the crowd surrounded him and with rocks and clubs would have made the officer's position a very undesirable one but for the timely intervention of Lieutenant Jester and Officer Richardson. Officer Cross had to resort to his revolver. John Coogrove, aged 21, of No. 46 Fountain street, was the only one captured by the officers.

Makes the Weak Strong.

The way in which Hood's Sarsaparilla builds up people in run-down or weakened state of health, conclusively proves the claim that this medicine "makes the weak strong." It does not act like a stimulant, imparting fictitious strength from which there most follow a reaction of greater weakness than before, but in the most natural way Hood's Sarsaparilla overcomes the blood, and, in short, gives strength, nerve, mental and digestive strength.
