The Trend of Trade Full of Encouragement to Every Citizen.

WOOD STREET LANDMARK DOOMED

Movements in Real Estate and Review of the Building Situation.

THE NEWS AND GOSSIP OF THE CITY

From every quarter come reports that the business of the country is on a footling. This is distinctively true of Pittsburgh, the volume of transactions being the largest ever known, and wealth rapidly increasing.

This is independent of speculations, which is as gassy here as Caesar's ghost to the eyes of Brutus.

There is very encouraging, and is an earnest of still better things to come, for there is nothing in sight or prospect to arouse apprehensions of a reaction or even a halt in the forward movement. The outlook is favorable alike to capitalists and toiler.

Another landmark is doomed. For some time the building on the northeast corner of Wood street and Third avenue, belonging to the estate of the late William Shaw, and used as a printing office and depot for Fairbanks scales, has been considered unsafe. The executors of the estate have, therefore, decided to demolish the building and erect a handsome building in its stead.

As a preliminary step toward this improvement, the occupants have been notified to vacate the premises upon the expiration of their lease on April, when the work of demolition will begin. The lot is 4x130.

This is one of the oldest places on Wood street. The building has been used in connection with the printing business for 35 or 40 years. The present occupants have been there since 1882. The new building will be six or eight stories high, and architecturally in keeping with the best modern structures in the city.

Business in the Country. The rapidity with which the surrounding districts are being improved and settled, as a result of the introduction of rapid transit, furnishes many opportunities for active business men to establish stores for supplying the wants of the people to whom a visit to the city proper for everything they consume is a matter of course.

Quite a number of these business "openings" have been filled, as shown in the list of buildings under way in the suburban districts, and will be until every district has its own commercial thoroughfare supported by the residents of the immediate vicinity.

There was a marked improvement in business in real estate circles last week, not only in the broadening tendency of the inquiry and in the disposition of the buyer to meet each other on equitable terms. Values remain steady, with no special change either way, except that good business property is more readily coming to the market.

A real estate man was recently asked by a well-known capitalist for advice as to the most profitable investment of money. The dealer responded that the surest and safest way to erect houses suitable for working people, the majority of which is a serious drawback to the city.

Business News and Gossip. One share of Exchange stock was sold on speculation yesterday at $400, buy order $395.

The Duquesne Traction Company may not extend its line into Wilkinsburg at all. The sticking point is the insistence of the Borough Council that the company shall give an indemnifying bond against all damage that may accrue to adjoining property by tunneling under the railroad. Tracks on Franklin street have been taken up and work entirely suspended.

The William M. Butts, a prominent member of Baltimore, was buried yesterday.

Several Conclaves have organized terms and content of the same, which no brother had seen for many long days.

The next matter that will generally engage the attention of the members of the Grand Council of the Fraternal Council, which meets in this city on Monday. Representatives will be here from nearly all of the lodges in the first time for this body to meet here.

Supreme Secretary W. J. Beatty has just returned from an extended tour through Central Ohio, where he visited a number of lodges. He will be established in that part of the State.

Missah Lodge No. 18 has changed its regular meetings from Friday to Tuesday evening. The ladies have eight initiates for next Tuesday evening, September 9, at 7:30 o'clock. A membership of 100 at their first anniversary, in October.
