Lupus Yields Readily and Good Results in Phthisis Expected. EIGHT PEOPLE DIED FROM THE INJECTION

FROM A STAFF CORRESPONDENT. WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—It seems that instead of going to Berlin for a sensation in the way of a wonderful cure for what are known as germ diseases, or those that arise from the presence of bacteria, Americans need have gone no farther than the Bureau of Animal Industry here in Washington.

For over six months the doctor has been studying the cholera germ, and to a reporter who found him in his laboratory at the Department, to-day, he spoke very hopefully of the probable results of his discovery.

"The cholera germs located. Without the careful bacteriological study of hog cholera, which has been made by the Bureau of Animal Industry, this work would have been impossible.

Then there was a pause while the cylinder continued to revolve, and presently came out a loud "Robert Browning," as if the poet had been delivered by a mechanical contrivance.

Then it was carefully taken off and put away, to remain in its box until December 12 next year. After the guests had heard the voice of the dead they talked for some time of him, and more than once came the thought that when everybody was making a toast to the anniversary of the death of the poet, who had preached the broadest Christianity and optimism, would always be a fitting prelude to the greater feast.
