

DISTRUST A TRUSTEE.

Heirs of James H. Hays Think the Estate is Being Wasted. MINING COAL AT A HEAVY LOSS. Judge Stowe Decides a Long-Drawn-Out Contest Over Bonds.

ALL THE NEWS OF THE COUNTY COURTS

The hearing in the case of the petition of the heirs of the late James H. Hays was continued yesterday before Judge Hawkins. The allegations made are of interest and a large amount of money is involved in the case.

The contest between the heirs and H. C. Bughman, the trustee, has been in progress eight years. In the present issue the petitioning heirs ask that the working of the coal mines be stopped.

The trustee asserts by his statement that the mines are making money, but the petitioners claim he does not change to the mines expenses that he should but instead charges them to the general estate, thus showing the expense of working the mines at less than it is.

At the hearing yesterday the petitioners, after submitting their figures as to the accounts, offered expert testimony as to the value of the coal and what the mines should produce. G. W. Stone testified that he had mined up to the Hays land. He said he would give $800 an acre for the coal without the equipments, and would take 100 acres now.

Thomas Fawcett, the coal operator, testified that the coal should lease for $1,000 an acre with the equipments, and the lessee make a profit of at least $500 more.

A LONG CONTEST DECIDED.

Judge Stowe Settles the Value of Lawrenceville and Evergreen Railroad Bonds. Judge Stowe yesterday handed down an opinion in the case of Samuel Reynolds, executor, vs Matthew Cridge, giving judgment for the plaintiff. The case has been in the courts since 1886, and has been in the Supreme Court two or three times and may go up again.

MILLER WILL CONTEST DISMISSED.

Judge Over Declares that the Contestants Have No Case. Judge Over yesterday handed down a brief opinion dismissing the petition for a rehearing in the case of the contested will of the late Alexander H. Miller. He said that two years after the last hearing the contestant comes forward with affidavits which would not be sufficient to sustain him.

THE MINISTER'S WORD.

A Strong Expression by the Rev. Mr. Crosby. Equally Strong Statement From His Sunday School Scholar. Interesting Letters That Need No Comment—They Both Tell Truth.

The following remarkable correspondence has been sent to this paper for publication by Rev. B. Crosby, pastor of the Christian Church at Castle, says the Buffalo Amer.

Rev. Mr. Crosby expressed the belief that the letter from Miss F. and his reply would interest and benefit thousands.

The letter he received is as follows, omitting the young lady's name: To Rev. B. S. Crosby: DEAR SIR:—I do not know what impels me to write to you except that you, too, are interested in the afflictions of humanity.

I was born in Cambridge, Mass. I was graduated from the Haverhill High School, four years ago, since which time I have been in poor health. Not that I have been really ill, but ailing,—half way between sickness, I have been doctoring ever since I graduated, with different physicians.

I am better in some ways, worse in others. First I used to have a terrific ache at the base of the brain—at the medulla oblongata, and also up and down the spine, but that wore away and gave place to a stomach trouble which the doctor called dyspepsia. I took medicine and dieted for two years. Well, my stomach grew slightly better.

Next my nerves began to trouble me, and then the doctor said I had nervous dyspepsia, and I have been taking medicine for that until the present time.

But, Brother Crosby, I don't get the help and strength that a young girl of my age ought to receive. I have taught school four terms, of and on. I like it dearly and it is a struggle for me to give it up; but give it up I must, and duty to my Maker and myself tells me that I must act as well as pray.

I have a weak, languid feeling as tho' I could scarcely move unless I made a mighty effort. Some days I feel quite well, then again I cannot sit on my piano stool without feeling dizzy and as tho' in spite of myself I should fall off.

Let me sit in church, at divine service, and if I get conscious of self, the blood will rush to my head and it seems as tho' I should fly. I cannot sit still at such times, and what should be to me an hour of spiritual blessing is an hour of unrest. I am content that it is my nerves, caused by overwork mentally.

Now, what is your candid opinion of that Pain's celery compound you used? Do you think it will help me?

Mama seems favorably inclined toward it, but you have used it and know the value of it. Is the effect lasting? Or is it merely a stimulant, the effects wearing away as soon as you cease taking the medicine?

You are a stranger to me (in one sense) but we are both members of the same large family, and I know you will be interested as such. Thanking you for your interest in all who do not enjoy good health, of which I am one, I remain Yours sincerely, K. F. SANDOWN, N. H. CASTLE, N. Y., April 11, 1892.

Miss F. Sandown, N. H.: I give you in pleasure to answer your letter of inquiry about Pain's celery compound. First, from your description, I should say that Mrs. Crosby was about like yourself, and the compound cured her. When she began taking it she weighed 90 pounds; now she weighs 115 pounds, and we claim the compound did it.

Second, as for myself, the physicians said that I had a complication of ailments, but the most of them decided that it was lambs and nervous prostration. One thing is certain, I was very badly off and suffered untold misery for a long time, so nervous I could not sleep, and many a night was obliged to sit up, for I had such severe pains I could not lie down. I sincerely believe had I not taken this medicine, I would not be alive to-day. I am now perfectly well, have no pain in my back, and my nerves are all right. When I began using Pain's celery compound I weighed 125, now I weigh 132.

Third, when I came here in September, one of the young ladies in my Bible class was very poorly with stomach trouble. In fact was sick in bed. She began taking Pain's celery compound through my influence, and now does most of the housework for six in the family.

I wish you would give it a thorough trial, for I think you will get relief. I consider it the best medicine ever made. I speak from what I know it has done for me and many others. I could write you pages, telling you what it has done for friends. I receive many letters of inquiry about it. I am not paid for answering these letters, and have no interest in the business. I am simply trying to help humanity and I feel that while helping people by recommending the compound, I am only preaching the gospel with the pen, and doing unto others as I would wish to be done by.

Trusting that you will find relief and be spared yet many years, I remain Yours sincerely, REV. B. S. CROSBY.

This remarkable correspondence must be of the greatest value and benefit to hundreds. Miss F. feelingly describes symptoms that are common to nearly everyone at this season. Rev. Mr. Crosby points out the remedy, and "does to others as he would wish to be done by." He knows a true strength-giver, and all who are weak, run down, and out of health, should follow his advice.

The renewing and invigorating power of this great compound is marvellous, and it holds, to-day, its true place in the esteem of physicians and the public, being universally acknowledged the best spring medicine to the world, unequalled for the cure of disease and the imparting of strength.

TERRIBLY SCARED! AND BADLY DEFEATED. COMPLETELY KNOCKED OUT.

A few rounds of truthful exposure did it. This is how it was accomplished: At the commencement of this season Messrs. Eisner & Phillips announced the adoption of their small profit system. Every newspaper last week made a mention of their phenomenal success caused by the announcement. This, combined with the reputation of the pioneers of the Pittsburg Clothing trade, was sufficient assurance for veracity, and that is what knocked competition silly, judging from the actions of a few competitors, especially on last Saturday.
