OTHER INTERESTING COURT NEWS

The case of Thomas Buchanan against members of the Builders' Exchange for damages for an alleged conspiracy against him is on trial before Judge White. J. M. McAfee, secretary to the Exchange, testified to the adoption of a resolution prohibiting members from selling material to persons not members of the Exchange. Mr. Brennen, for the prosecution, also put in evidence circulars issued by the Exchange warning members not to sell to striking bricklayers or to anyone employing them. When the plaintiff had concluded his side of the case, Mr. Ferguson, for the defendants, moved for a non-suit. He contended there was no unlawful set shown.

Mr. Brennen opposed the motion, and after an argument Judge White refused to grant the non-suit. The case is attracting wide-spread attention and it is considered by many that the future existence of exchanges of its character hangs on the verdict in this case. The court room where the case is being tried is constantly filled with interested spectators.

THE STORY OF THE YEAR!

-BY---

THE DUCHESS,

THE DISPATCH, FOR PUBLICATION BEGINNING

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 23, 1892,

And Continuing Thirteen Sundays. The story is the masterpiece of the long series of successful works by this noted authoress. It will at once take rank above her "Molly Bawn," "Phyllis," "A Born Coquette," "Airy Fairy Lilian," "Doris," "Mrs. Geoffrey," "Rossmoyne," "Faith and Unfaith," "A Week's Amusement," "Portia," "A Little Rebel," "Lady Branksmere," "Lady ## Patty," etc., etc. The new story is entitled LADY VERNER'S FLIGHT.

For a long time "The Duchess" has occupied first place in the hearts of all lovers of high class fiction. As everybody now knows "The Duchess" is Mrs. Hungerford, but that wasn't learned in a day. She kept her identity concealed for many years. Meanwhile her books were selling fast on both sides of the Atlantic. She was impersonated by unscrupulous impostors. It was asserted and then denied that she was an American; then followed the statement that she was an Englishwoman. It is now known that Mrs. Hungerford is Irish, with more than an ordinary proportion of wit and imagination. Her "Wild Irish Girls," it has been remarked, are capital company. The books by Mrs. Hungerford owe their popularity to their freshness, brightness, lightness and other pleasureable characteristics, all of which are combined in the highest degree in

LADY VERNER'S FLIGHT.

The new story is a light, airy romance; the style is sprightly, unaffected and energetic; the plot contains just that amount of complexity to make its gradual development delightful; and the characters-particularly the women-are drawn with that mixture of realism and idealism which the great majority of readers prefer to the cold, hard matter-of-fact methods adopted by some writers of eminence.

LADY VERNER'S FLIGHT

Will reveal Mrs. Hungerford's powers to great advantage. The heroinealways the most interesting character in a story-is at once brought before the reader, and curiosity is aroused in her surroundings, ambitions, hopes and fears. The course of the story will reveal many un-expected surprises and situations, and a powerful novel of modern life will be perused to the last page with breathless interest.
