

EARNING BIG MONEY.

The Incomes of Some of the Leaders in the Various Professions.

LAWYERS THE BEST OFF.

The Fee for Organizing the Sugar Trust Put at $250,000.

A GOOD MANY $50,000 MEN

In the Insurance, Railroad and Other Important Businesses.

SALARIES PAID ACTORS, ARTISTS, ETC

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 5.—Recently I talked with some of the leading and best informed professional men of this country on the question of income.

In no profession are the financial rewards which attend success more munificent than in the legal profession, but it is nevertheless a fact that the average income of the successful lawyers of this big town is not much over or under $5,000 a year, and in few instances is it equal to the capacity of the man who receives it.

My informant told me that there are perhaps 100 lawyers in New York who have an annual income of $10,000 and over, and possibly a score who earn over $20,000 every year.

When I asked a clear-headed, well-informed member of the medical profession what was the average yearly income of New York's thousands of doctors, he replied that it was not over $1,200, and added that the metropolitan doctor, who at the end of his first ten years of practice, finds himself in receipt of an annual income of $3,000, can count himself one of the lucky ones.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

of five years of during that time he would not again engage in the fire insurance business. Armstrong is a pushing, keen-witted Canadian, who came to New York a decade ago with hardly a dollar in his pocket. He now owns an orange grove in California and takes life easy.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

Dr. Norris Green, President of the Western Union Telegraph Company, is paid $50,000 a year, and John Hoey, while President of the Adams Express Company, is paid equally well.

TEACHING IN ENGLAND

The Requirements Very High and the Wages Extremely Low.

$375 A YEAR THE AVERAGE.

Six Years of Special Training Necessary for That Salary.

THE EDUCATIONAL SYSTEM IS GOOD

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.)

LONDON, Oct. 28.—The adult teachers employed in the public elementary schools of England and Wales are returned at about 70,000. Popular education is a thing of recent origin over here. Prior to 1870 the board school was unknown, all the training possible to the children of the masses being wholly, before that time, the hands of the church or at the discretion of private individuals. But in the year indicated a marvellous advance was made. Not only were school boards instituted, with liberal provision for their maintenance by grants from the State, but increased grants of money and various other incentives to enterprise were offered to private and denominational schools, and, in fact, the entire educational machinery of the country was overhauled, with the object of shaping it, as far as seemed practicable at that time, after the best models afforded in Europe and the United States.

Since then "the schoolmaster was abroad" in old England in a fashion quite beyond anything Lord Brougham could have known when he first used that phrase. He has since been rapidly disappearing. The elections afford a good test of the progress along this line. A polling clerk in one of the poorest districts in London expressed to me his delighted amazement that in a vote of nearly 2,000 for the last election the ballots cast by those who could not read or write were only about 50. In the Strand division there were only 27 illiterates out of 6,808 voters. In Hackney, in 1919, there were 7,477, with similar evidences of improvement both in town and country all over the nation, not excepting even Suffolk and Cambridgeshire, although these counties at present stand lowest in the list.

Statistics on Education and Crime.

Another gratifying result of this extension of schooling is the marked decrease in the number of criminals. On the assumption that the public schools of England give only a little education, which is all that can be reasonably expected from the masses, it is not surprising that the juvenile offenders are at present stand lowest in the list.

Then he gives the subjoined table. The only change I have made in it is the substitution of the value in dollars for the pounds sterling of Mr. Yoxall's statement of the number of certificated teachers is lower than mine. This is because I have had the advantage of the educational returns just published, which tend to silence his claim by what made, the latest figures available were those of the year before.

Salaries of Certificated Teachers in the Public Elementary Schools of England and Wales.

Table with columns: Salaries under £200, £200 and under £250, £250 and under £300, £300 and under £350, £350 and under £400, £400 and under £450, £450 and under £500, £500 and under £550, £550 and under £600, £600 and under £650, £650 and under £700, £700 and under £750, £750 and under £800, £800 and under £850, £850 and under £900, £900 and under £950, £950 and under £1,000, Total.

These figures will be observed, are only for certificated teachers, those who, for the most part, have qualified themselves for their important duties by six years of special training. Assistant teachers, as a matter of course, get much less, and pupil teachers, as is quite proper, a smaller allowance. Moreover, teachers here have only one month of summer. In towns it is a month in villages, from a month to six weeks according to the length of the harvest season. I can hardly wonder that they are up in arms, and are asking the Government, as they really are, to save them from charity or the poorhouse when old age forces them to retire, and I feel that I shall only voice the sympathetic wish of our American teachers in hoping that the Government will do its best to prevent the recurrence of these tremendous calamities. Many suggestions have been offered, but the Chinese Government is not disposed to adopt any of them on account of the immense cost entailed. However, it would seem the best plan, and the cheapest, at almost any cost, to curb the destructive stream, if that is possible. Within the last 20 years it has destroyed enough property to pay twice over for the engineering work of the most costly plan proposed.

The "Wandering River" would seem a better name than "Yellow River." During the last 2,500 centuries it has changed its course completely ten times, about 500 miles separating its most northern from its extreme southern course. The striking peculiarities of the overflow are that when it breaks from the course it has been pursuing, it goes wandering in vast plains, consuming everything it comes in contact with, like some great creeping monster. The plains of the Hoang Ho over 400 miles wide and 600 miles high: millions of people cultivated the rich soil which has been deposited here during previous floods and when the terrible river overflows no one knows what direction it will take. Flight is useless, the fugitive partings run right into the teeth of the monster. And then the terrible stream goes wandering about, months sometimes elapsing before it finds its way to the sea.

A Woman to Succeed Tenyson.

The suggestion which really came from America, and was very early made in THE DISPATCH, that Miss Jean Ingelow be appointed poet-laureate of England seems to be taken quite seriously by our cousins across the water. The striking rights of women are occasioning considerable discussion, even in Parliament. One member of that body, Sir Wilfrid Lawson, has written a letter to Mr. Knill, announcing his inability to attend the coming banquet and expressing his regrets. His decision not to attend the banquet is due, he says, to the explicit advice of his physician, who has insisted for the last seven years that he should abstain himself from all public banquets, and who will not permit an exception to be made on the present occasion. In concluding Mr. Gladstone says: "I must congratulate you on the spirit and success with which you sustained in the discussion preceding the election the principle of religious freedom."

Author of a Popular Song.

A writer in a prominent eastern journal stated recently that the author and origin of the famous song, "Dixie," is not known to a certainty. This is rather hard on old Dan Emmett, the negro minstrel, who proved, it is said, to the satisfaction of a convention of publishers as early as 1850 that he was the author and composer of the melody. It is certain that V. A. Pond, the music publisher, paid Mr. Emmett a royalty on the song; and numerous minstrel shows of the early '50s paid him $5 for the privilege of using it. Mr. Emmett writes that it was written in New York one morning in the year 1852, and sung the following evening at Mechanic's Hall, Broadway.

He Is Too Friendly to England.

But little more than a year has gone by since the memorable visit of the French quondam to England, on which occasion the English public found opportunities to express their

French Feeling as to Their Ambassador at the Court of St. James.

JEAN INGELW AS POET LAUREATE

One of the most celebrated claimants to the throne of France is just now recalled by a law suit in the French courts against one Nauendorf, a Dutch officer, who claims to be, at least so the cables state, the genuine Dauphin of the crown of France, who disappeared at the time of the Revolution. If the officer actually claimed to be a descendant of the son of Louis XVI. there would be something within reason in his pretensions, but, inasmuch as the Dauphin was 9 years of age in 1793, the year of his disappearance, and then practically half dead with diseases acquired in prison, the absurdity of Nauendorf's claims becomes apparent.

However, the agitation cannot fall for the time being to recall the sad story of the lost heir to the throne of France, particularly in the country in which he is said to have found refuge. The little Prince's awful imprisonment; his disappearance; the arrival in this country of a family from France with a child answering to a dot by the described appearance; the return of the child at this time; the marvellous return of reasoning powers; his adoption by the Indians; and the later efforts of Prince Nauendorf to silence his claim by published notices, are all matters of history, but very interesting. There are persons living to-day who will remember when, during the '40's, the matter was brought to its most interesting point. Such men as the Hon. John Jay, Minister to Austria; Hamilton Fish, Bishop Potter, of New York, and Bishop Keen, of California, took sides with the American claimant. The latter was then known as Rev. Eleazar Williams, a missionary among the Indians. An effort was also made to organize a party in France to push the man's claim, but it fell through, and the clergyman remained until his death in 1858, without having proved his claims or being the gainer by them. He had married a Miss Madeline, a French-Indian lady of great beauty, but I cannot say to a certainty that he left any descendants.

What may be the history of this man Nauendorf, would be interesting, perhaps.

There died recently in England a man whose name was scarcely known, if at all, in this country, and yet many of the most distinguished members of the lyric, dramatic and other professions owed a very considerable part of their fame to him. Be he actor or orator, lawyer or clergyman, there is nothing that so quickly excites favor as the possession of a good voice and a clear, distinct manner in song, as M. Emil Behnke had strengthened and cultivated the vocal organs of some of the most famous persons in England, he is entitled to some part of this fame. M. Behnke arranged a system of cultivating the voice, which is now considered one of the best known. The volume which he published on the subject: "Voice, Song and Speech," was not remarkable for its style, composition or construction, but it fairly caused a sensation in the musical circles of the world. It is now in its thirteenth edition, while his "Voice Training Exercises" has reached its sixteenth thousand.

Her Face Is Her Fortune.

The Miss Dorothy Dene, who has just arrived in this country in company with a sister in search of a theatrical engagement, is one of the type of women who think that comeliness of person is all that is required to insure a successful stage career. I well

TOPICS OF THE TIME.

A Dutch Officer Who Claims to Be the Last Dauphin of France.

CURBING CHINA'S YELLOW RIVER.

French Feeling as to Their Ambassador at the Court of St. James.

JEAN INGELW AS POET LAUREATE

(CORRESPONDENCE OF THE DISPATCH.)

One of the most celebrated claimants to the throne of France is just now recalled by a law suit in the French courts against one Nauendorf, a Dutch officer, who claims to be, at least so the cables state, the genuine Dauphin of the crown of France, who disappeared at the time of the Revolution. If the officer actually claimed to be a descendant of the son of Louis XVI. there would be something within reason in his pretensions, but, inasmuch as the Dauphin was 9 years of age in 1793, the year of his disappearance, and then practically half dead with diseases acquired in prison, the absurdity of Nauendorf's claims becomes apparent.

However, the agitation cannot fall for the time being to recall the sad story of the lost heir to the throne of France, particularly in the country in which he is said to have found refuge. The little Prince's awful imprisonment; his disappearance; the arrival in this country of a family from France with a child answering to a dot by the described appearance; the return of the child at this time; the marvellous return of reasoning powers; his adoption by the Indians; and the later efforts of Prince Nauendorf to silence his claim by published notices, are all matters of history, but very interesting. There are persons living to-day who will remember when, during the '40's, the matter was brought to its most interesting point. Such men as the Hon. John Jay, Minister to Austria; Hamilton Fish, Bishop Potter, of New York, and Bishop Keen, of California, took sides with the American claimant. The latter was then known as Rev. Eleazar Williams, a missionary among the Indians. An effort was also made to organize a party in France to push the man's claim, but it fell through, and the clergyman remained until his death in 1858, without having proved his claims or being the gainer by them. He had married a Miss Madeline, a French-Indian lady of great beauty, but I cannot say to a certainty that he left any descendants.

What may be the history of this man Nauendorf, would be interesting, perhaps.

There died recently in England a man whose name was scarcely known, if at all, in this country, and yet many of the most distinguished members of the lyric, dramatic and other professions owed a very considerable part of their fame to him. Be he actor or orator, lawyer or clergyman, there is nothing that so quickly excites favor as the possession of a good voice and a clear, distinct manner in song, as M. Emil Behnke had strengthened and cultivated the vocal organs of some of the most famous persons in England, he is entitled to some part of this fame. M. Behnke arranged a system of cultivating the voice, which is now considered one of the best known. The volume which he published on the subject: "Voice, Song and Speech," was not remarkable for its style, composition or construction, but it fairly caused a sensation in the musical circles of the world. It is now in its thirteenth edition, while his "Voice Training Exercises" has reached its sixteenth thousand.

Her Face Is Her Fortune.

The Miss Dorothy Dene, who has just arrived in this country in company with a sister in search of a theatrical engagement, is one of the type of women who think that comeliness of person is all that is required to insure a successful stage career. I well

Physician's Orders Compelled Gladstone to Decline to Attend the Banquet.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—Mr. Gladstone has written a letter to Mr. Knill, announcing his inability to attend the coming banquet and expressing his regrets. His decision not to attend the banquet is due, he says, to the explicit advice of his physician, who has insisted for the last seven years that he should abstain himself from all public banquets, and who will not permit an exception to be made on the present occasion. In concluding Mr. Gladstone says: "I must congratulate you on the spirit and success with which you sustained in the discussion preceding the election the principle of religious freedom."

Author of a Popular Song.

A writer in a prominent eastern journal stated recently that the author and origin of the famous song, "Dixie," is not known to a certainty. This is rather hard on old Dan Emmett, the negro minstrel, who proved, it is said, to the satisfaction of a convention