

The State Journal enters upon a new career under auspices which promise permanence and increased usefulness.

This paper will be Republican. The organ of no wing or clique, it will aim to represent the policy of the National party.

It will not be the vehicle of personal detraction, nor be used to get its petty office, nor to keep others out.

Aiming to treat every member of its own party generously, it will be just to its opponents. It will discuss all questions of public interest fairly and temperately.

We shall advocate all measures to advance the public good, originating in our own party or outside. There are vital questions enough between us and the opposition without seeking issues where all good men should stand on common ground.

Believing popular Education to be the one crying wail of our State and of the country, we shall give large space to its advocacy.

To educate thoroughly all the children of the State should be the supreme and paramount work of legislation.

The financial condition of the country, and especially of the South, will not be neglected. We advocate a financial policy which will bring back again to the South more of its old prosperity.

We are for Free Banking, under a system which makes money absolutely safe and accessible to business men at living rates.

We are for a revenue system which will preserve the public credit without imposing undue burdens upon the people.

Realizing the vast importance of mechanical and manufacturing industry, we shall labor heartily for the development of these interests.

We shall give accurate and detailed information of our vast natural wealth in mines, forests, water-powers and fisheries.

Believing in the "harmony of interests," we shall endeavor to show how fully each is dependent upon the prosperity of all.

Agriculture is our pet. Fresh from a Virginia farm, which we leave lovingly and reluctantly for awhile, we have learned something of what wide and varied knowledge, what patience, economy and administrative ability it takes to make a farmer.

In conclusion, we will say that we will unite cordially and earnestly with men of all parties to remove every obstacle to the moral, intellectual and physical progress of our State and nation.
