

TERMS: DAILY—$9 per year; six months, $5; three months, $3; one month, 50 cents.

APPOINTMENTS FOR SPEAKING.

PUBLIC MEETINGS IN THE FOURTH DISTRICT.—Prominent speakers having pledged themselves to fill the following appointments, we trust the Local Committees of the Republican party in the different counties, will at once proceed to give notice of the meetings, and invite the Democrats to discuss with our speakers the questions of the day.

COL EDWARD DANIELS will address the citizens of the First Senatorial District, as follows:

At Occoquan—WEDNESDAY, Oct. 25, at 1 and 2 P. M.

At Alexandria—WEDNESDAY, Oct. 25th.

JUDGE WILLOUGHBY and COL EDWARD DANIELS will address the following citizens at the following places:

At Alexandria—WEDNESDAY, Oct. 25th.

The State Journal.

Six Dollars Per Year; Three Cents Per Copy.

RICHMOND, VA., TUESDAY EVENING, OCTOBER 24, 1871. VOL. III. NO. 291.

ONE DOLLAR per square of eight lines, solid unspaced.

SPECIAL RATES made at counter, or by contract, with regular patrons.

Evening State Journal.

A GROSS AND COWARDLY ATTACK.

We observe in the Dispatch of this morning, a very remarkable letter, over the signature of "Viator." It is remarkable, however, chiefly for the gross and cowardly attack which it makes upon one of the purest and most high-toned Christian gentlemen of the land.

When George the Third, in his letter to Lord North, referred to the immense injury these "weekly scribblers" were inflicting, and recommended that they should be punished properly by the House of Lords, these same scribblers had not arrived at that condition of malignity and hardness that now characterizes some of them; for they preserved then some decent respect for honest character and well-earned reputation.

There is no man of the present day, in Georgia, more distinguished for high character and the honorable instincts which belong to the true gentleman, nor any more modest, retiring citizen of that State than Attorney-General Akerman; and notwithstanding that fact, it is upon him that the flippant young "Viator" seizes to outrage, insult and publicly vilify. General Akerman was one of the first gentlemen relieved of his disabilities by Congress. He was the United States District Attorney for Georgia, faithfully discharging his duties, and on one occasion visited the place where the court was to be held, for the purpose of discharging his professional duties and was informed by every body that was in the town that he would not be allowed entertainment at any one of them, for the reason that he was a Republican and a Union man, faithfully discharging his duty.

It will be remembered that on the morning after, when the court assembled, presenting an affidavit of the facts, he moved the court, that the important causes in which he was engaged be postponed, because of the inability of the counsel to obtain accommodations there. The motion was granted, the business of the court was broken up, and we think that was the last occasion upon which such an outrage was attempted upon the person of that gentleman; and the dignity and bare manhood of his department on that occasion was one of the circumstances which first brought that gentleman prominently before the administration. "Viator" is evidently a bold young traveler; his daring is infinitely beyond his discretion, or his hardihood outruns his intelligence.

He ought to have remembered that about the time of the adjournment of Congress last spring, a distinguished band of Democratic leaders, known as the "Democratic National Committee," boldly asserted that there were no Ku-Klux anywhere, and stoutly swore to it; but the trials, convictions, and more than all, open confessions and pleas of guilty, as well as that notable letter of the great apostles of the Democracy of North Carolina, and replied to by Judge Bond, have proved the utter falsity of the statement made by the committee. Does "Viator" expect to win a victory where they met a defeat? We tell him once for all that there are Ku-Klux in Georgia; that the town of Lincoln, to which he refers, is one of the most notorious of all the localities of that State, for the number and malignity of that band of midnight robbers and assassins; and more, we can produce, if necessary, men who are not the friends of that order, but who have been met by bands of Ku-Klux on the road, and been compelled to accompany them on marauding expeditions.

But we hope that when the editor and chief of the Dispatch has had his attention called to the vile and slanderous attack upon General Akerman, he will have the manliness to disavow the article, and tell the people that that paper will not knowingly publish such vile and abusive stuff as is contained in the article following:

The canvass in this county was of the present United States Attorney General (Akerman). This fellow had lived and made money in this section before he had undertaken the real work in the Confederate army. When the war broke out he immediately joined the ranks, and at once became the ring leader of the swarm of vermin who afflicted the State, fattened by robbing the treasury, and kept themselves in office by slandering the whites and pandering to the vilest passions of the negroes. The people did not, of course, lose Mr. Akerman for this vile change of base, but no personal violence was offered him, or intended to be offered. One day, however, he was on his way to the town of Lincoln, a crowd of youths gathered around and began to abuse his equipage—some saying he would have a spoke of his buggy wheel, and another, that he would take the spatter-board off the buggy, or trace, or other parts of the harness, and so on, dividing out between them the buggy and harness, and taking out their knives as if to make the partition then and there. Akerman grew pale with fear, and when a few moments later, the boys were attracted by a light in another part of the town, he jumped into his buggy and made rapid tracks, reporting that the Ku-Klux were after him. About an hour after he left, a party of men, disguised, and mounted on white horses, were seen riding at break-neck speed on his track. They did not overtake him; but Akerman has never been seen in those parts since (which was doubtless just what the people wanted), and has from that day been, at a safe distance, industriously manufacturing to order Ku-Klux stories in reference to that section.

HARPER'S NEW MONTHLY MAGAZINE for November comes, as usual, freighted with instructive and pleasant reading. The present number completes volume 43, and a glance at the index of contents will satisfy any who do not subscribe for and read this sterling periodical, that they should no longer deny themselves such a feast of reason as is spread for them monthly; "choice morsels" by Alice Cary, "Losing 'Porte Crayon," Maury and a host of talented contemporaries.

The November number opens with an article—"Edward Freer, and Sympathetic Art in France"—by M. D. Conway; the illustrations worth more than the price of the number.

"Johnny Applesed, a Pioneer Hero," gives us the singular history of a religious enthusiast who labored in Ohio and Indiana when those States were all an unbroken wilderness.

JOHN W. WOLTZ, News and City Editor.

LOCAL MATTERS.

REPUBLICAN NOMINEES.

For the Senate. Hon. J. R. POPIHAM, WILLIAM TROY, SAMUEL L. ANNAHE.

For the House. D. W. BOHANNON, C. S. MILLS, HORACE L. KEYSER, HENRY MILLER, HENRY MILLER, JOHN RANKIN.

For the House, from Henrico. G. C. VINCENT. JOHN WOODWORTH.

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Action in Regard to the Removal of the Broad Street Obstructions.

A special meeting of the City Council was held yesterday afternoon, to consider the subject of the removal of the railroad obstructions from Broad street.

Mr. Chesterman, from the special committee, submitted the following supplementary report:

At a meeting of the committee on the removal of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad from Broad street, held October 20th, 1871, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the matter of the removal of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac railroad from Broad street be referred to the Committee on Finance, with instructions to carry out the recommendation of this committee, in the most practicable manner that may present itself to them, after a full consideration of the matter.

It will be remembered that this special committee, at the last meeting of the Council, presented a report recommending the acceptance of the proposition of the president of said railroad company for the sale of its depot property at its assessed value, and also to give to the railroad company the privilege of closing up and using that portion of Eighth street south of the canal, and in lieu thereof to open a new street through their property adjacent.

Mr. Isaacs opposed the adoption of the supplementary report. He offered as a substitute a resolution in effect to commit the whole subject to the Committee on Finance, while instructing Democrats are permitted to register without let or hindrance. Obstacles of every sort are put in the way of colored men, and every effort made to prevent them qualifying themselves as voters.

We are not going to make any appeal for justice and ask the fair minded men of Democracy to correct the evils, but we are going to warn them that there is an end to the patience of all men, that such outrages must ultimately bring better fruit to the lips of the sowers of the seed, and the sooner they cease such conduct, the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it will be for all parties. It is to be presumed that the honorable men of the party in this city, are in ignorance of the means adopted by the infamous and contemptible dirty workers of the party; for we know such men do not endorse, and would not encourage, the longer continuance of wrong. Such acts will return to plague the better it