PERSONAL. Timothy Kerse, a saloon-keeper of lower Main street, in this city, publishes the following card in this morning's Enquirer:

A CARD. RICHMOND, July 18, 1873. Editor State Journal:

In your "Local" of yesterday appeared an article which represents that "Mrs. Kerse, and old lady of more than ninety years of age, was found in an old field in Rocketts in great distress, being turned adrift by one of her children on account of extreme age, &c."

As this statement appears to be voluntary on your part, and invades the sanctity of the domestic circle to which I belong, I take upon me the responsibility of pronouncing it an unwarranted and base calumny, and demanding an ample retraction of the same with the name of the party (if any) who may have led you into error.

Whist! I cannot promise that any apology will be satisfactory to the immediate friends of the lady in question, a reasonable explanation of the liberty you have thus publicly taken with a member of my family will be earnestly considered.

Mrs. Kerse has resided with me (who am not one of her children?) for several years, as she still does, and as she is welcome to do so long as she may elect. Her residence with me is not, however, from necessity, as if she were inclined her means are ample for the support of her declining age.

Her sons (one of whom represents his ward in the city council) have ever been most profuse in their attentions to her comforts, and have done everything, in the power of affection to indulge the fancies of a vigorous but eccentric mind.

Awaiting an early reply, permit me, sir, to subscribe myself, Respectfully, TIMOTHY KERSE, 2307 Main Street.

TO THE PUBLIC. This base and infamous wretch says that his letter addressed to the editor of THE STATE JOURNAL was substantially as the above. I pronounce it HERESY & FALSHOOD, and as to the amende honorable, I had none to make, he not having given me proof of its incorrectness. I wrote him a note offering to publish certain portions of his letter which were injurious, together with a full statement of the party from whom I derived the information upon which the article in question was based. Further, I informed him that if he would call at the office, I had no objection to giving him the name of my informant. As to his denunciation I care nothing. I now assume personal responsibility for the article in question.

Very respectfully, JAMES P. WOOD, Local State Journal.

RICHMOND COLLEGE.-We have received the catalogue of Richmond college for the session of 1872-73, which shows the college to be in a most satisfactory condition. It also shows an attendance of one hundred and seventy-five students from this state, which shows a larger number of Virginia students in attendance than at any other literary institution in the commonwealth, besides a number from other states. Its session begins on the 1st of October, and ends on the 1st of July.

SAMPLE MERCHANT FINED AND SENT ON.-Junius Flesch, arrested yesterday, charged with being a sample merchant, had a hearing at the police court to-day, and was fined $50 for violation of the city ordinance, and was sent on to the grand jury for indictment for violation of the state law.

UNMAILABLE LETTERS.-The following is a list of unmailable letters remaining in Richmond postoffice July 19, 1873: Miss M. P. Bibb, Verdon P. O., Hanover county, Va.; Dunlop & McCance, city; R. P. Richardson & Co., Main street, city; Mrs. Issabella Jefferson, Hot Springs; Bath county, Va.

WANTED TO SEE THE EFFECT.-A short time since a gentleman with long fair whiskers, and dressed in the height of fashion, entered a hosiery in Vienna, and requested the showman, who happened to be alone, to show him some colored shirts. Every variety of shirts were brought out, when he made his choice and requested that a pair be made up for him. This being done, "What an idiot I am," he said, "I have not seen how the shirts look when on. Would you oblige me by putting one on over your dress?" The showman having complied with his request, "Be so good," he continued, "as to button the collar and wristbands, that I may get a thoroughly good idea of the effect, and yet not let it be made up for me." The doctor stanch the blood as well as he could, and drove his patient to the place mentioned. The wounded man proved to be Captain Thompson, who after declaring that he had been honorably dealt by, and requesting that no prosecution might be undertaken, fell into a comatose state and died in a few hours. There was no doubt that Coleman had killed the captain in the riot, and yet no legal action was taken, and the journalist continued his duties without interruption.

ACCIDENT.-This morning about two o'clock a. m. as a two-wheeled carriage was returning with a party of young gentlemen from a party a few miles from the city, and when near Monroe park, the driver ran into a post and smashed the carriage. One of its occupants was also bruised about the head.

FASHION BOOKS.-Captain C. F. Johnson, news dealer, 917 Main street, has just received the August number of Peterson's, Demorest's Metropolitan, Leslie's and Godey's fashion books; also Atlantic and Popular Science magazines. All of them contain interesting matter.

SENT ON TO THE GRAND JURY.-Spencer Williams, charged with unlawfully and feloniously entering in the night time the dwelling house of Mrs. C. E. Harrington, was sent on to the grand jury by the hustings court by Justice White this morning.

PERSONAL.-Hon. J. Ambler Smith has returned to the city. Captain Wm. P. M. Kellam, register of the land office of Virginia, has returned to the city, after an absence of eight days on a visit to Southampton and Accomac.

A circular containing certificates of wonderful cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lock-jaw, sprains, swellings, burns, scalds, caked-breast, poisonous-bites, frozen-feet, gout, salt-rheum, ear-ache, &c., and the recipe of the Liniment will be sent gratis to any one.
