

Stanton Spectator.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 16, 1890.

The Outlook.

It seems to be concluded that the stock of wheat on hand in the United States, including both coasts, on the 10th of June, was about fifty million bushels, six millions more than at the same time last year.

A Contrast—Civil Service Reform.

Under Cleveland's administration, the office-holders were not permitted to take any part in political meetings, and our Democratic Postmaster, Wm. A. Burke, though an ardent Democrat, refrained scrupulously from doing so, and also his employees.

The Banker's Magazine.

The July number of the Banker's Magazine has been received. This standard monthly with the present number enters the forty-fifth year of its existence.

Idiana farmers are thrashing and marketing their wheat crops.

The yield is turning out from 30 to 40 per cent. instead of from 70 to 80 and is of a light and inferior grade.

The West Lynchburg Land Company.

Has secured the removal from Philadelphia of the large shoe-manufacturing firm of Woodruff & Co., and their factory on the land company's property will be erected at once.

Mr. Stowell Jackson, who is accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morrison, is visiting the family of Dr. Hunter McGuire at the latter's country home near the city of Richmond.

On Friday last, Mr. McKinney appointed Mr. William Josiah Leake as judge of the Chancery Court of Richmond to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Hon. Edward H. Fitzhugh.

The Queen has presented Mr. Stanley with a miniature likeness of herself set in diamonds.

Accompanying the gift is an autograph letter, highly eulogistic of Mr. Stanley's services in the field of exploration, and wishing the explorer a happy wedded life.

A FARMER FOR CONGRESS.—The democrats of the fifth district of North Carolina have nominated Mr. A. H. Williams, a farmer of Granville county, for Congress.

He had the backing of the Farmers' Alliance, and was nominated by a two-thirds vote on the first ballot. The district is now represented by a republican, but the democrats are confident of carrying the district in November.

TUCKER'S SPEECH AGAINST THE ELECTION BILL.—The N. Y. Evening Post, one of the ablest independent journals, says "the strongest speech made against the Federal election bill in the House came from Mr. Tucker of Virginia."

STRIKING FIGURES.—The Louisville Courier-Journal prints a table compiled from official statistics which shows that while 3,000,000 democratic voters in fourteen Northern States elect only forty-seven Congressmen, 3,000,000 republican voters in the same States elect one hundred and twenty-six Congressmen.

TWO INCHES OF SNOW IN GERMANY.—An cablegram to the N. Y. Herald dated Berlin, Germany, July 15th, says "the Engadine Valley is covered with snow to the depth of twelve inches, necessitating the use of sledges. The temperature in the valleys below the freezing point. The mail coach is snowed up in the Julian Pass. There are dense fogs in the valley. The barometer shows no indication of a change in the weather."

DE LESSER'S PRETTY DAUGHTER.—Fernanda, the eldest daughter of Mr. Ferdinand de Lessar, has just wedded her second cousin, the Viscount de Contant-Berthouze, whose father was ambassador to Berlin, when MacMahon was president of the republic. The young lady is twenty years of age, is a very dark brunette and her figure is as lithic as an Indian maiden's. She was a great favorite in society, resembling her mother in personal appearance and her father in the quality of her disposition.

Chicago is to have the finest Masonic Temple in the world. It will be 18 stories high.

The French Colony of New York celebrated its national fête, the Fall of the Bastille, July 14th.

Senator Hoar urges the passage of the federal elections bill on the ground that it is needed as a campaign issue.

The Emitt Pasha relief commission has presented Henry M. Stanley with a solid silver dinner service of 286 pieces.

The first bale of this year's crop of Georgia cotton was sold at the Cotton Exchange, New York, last week for 10 1/2 cents per pound.

Gen. Clinton B. Fisk, who was the prohibition candidate for President of the United States in 1868, died last Wednesday in New York City.

Augustin Daly is reported to have leased a plot of ground on Jackson street, Chicago, at a rental of $50,000 a year, on which he will build a theatre.

It is thought the effort to seat John M. Langston, colored, as a member of Congress from Virginia, in place of Mr. Venable, will be defeated through the influence of Gen. Mahone.

President Bull, of the New York Stock Exchange, has returned from Europe, and has reported the London holders of Virginia bonds as favoring the readjustment plan.

Idiana farmers are thrashing and marketing their wheat crops. The yield is turning out from 30 to 40 per cent. instead of from 70 to 80 and is of a light and inferior grade.

The London Chronicle correspondent at Rome says the pope will convoke a meeting of bishops and cardinals to consider the position of the church and the choice of his successor.

Mrs. Stowell Jackson, who is accompanied by her sister-in-law, Mrs. Morrison, is visiting the family of Dr. Hunter McGuire at the latter's country home near the city of Richmond.

On Friday last, Mr. McKinney appointed Mr. William Josiah Leake as judge of the Chancery Court of Richmond to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the Hon. Edward H. Fitzhugh.

The Queen has presented Mr. Stanley with a miniature likeness of herself set in diamonds. Accompanying the gift is an autograph letter, highly eulogistic of Mr. Stanley's services in the field of exploration, and wishing the explorer a happy wedded life.

A violin-player at an Italian wedding in Philadelphia wanted to go home at midnight, but was prevented from doing so by a number of persons were arrested, including the groom, who spent his wedding night in a police station.

The little town of Rockville, in Floga county, Va., was almost totally wiped out by the Tuesday last week. The fire started in F. C. Avery's hotel and burned that building, the hotel, barns, the Methodist church, C. B. Hanyan's store and barns and eleven dwellings, besides ten or twelve barns. Twenty-three buildings in all were burned.

A FARMER FOR CONGRESS.—The democrats of the fifth district of North Carolina have nominated Mr. A. H. Williams, a farmer of Granville county, for Congress.

He had the backing of the Farmers' Alliance, and was nominated by a two-thirds vote on the first ballot. The district is now represented by a republican, but the democrats are confident of carrying the district in November.

TUCKER'S SPEECH AGAINST THE ELECTION BILL.—The N. Y. Evening Post, one of the ablest independent journals, says "the strongest speech made against the Federal election bill in the House came from Mr. Tucker of Virginia."

STRIKING FIGURES.—The Louisville Courier-Journal prints a table compiled from official statistics which shows that while 3,000,000 democratic voters in fourteen Northern States elect only forty-seven Congressmen, 3,000,000 republican voters in the same States elect one hundred and twenty-six Congressmen.

TWO INCHES OF SNOW IN GERMANY.—An cablegram to the N. Y. Herald dated Berlin, Germany, July 15th, says "the Engadine Valley is covered with snow to the depth of twelve inches, necessitating the use of sledges. The temperature in the valleys below the freezing point. The mail coach is snowed up in the Julian Pass. There are dense fogs in the valley. The barometer shows no indication of a change in the weather."

DE LESSER'S PRETTY DAUGHTER.—Fernanda, the eldest daughter of Mr. Ferdinand de Lessar, has just wedded her second cousin, the Viscount de Contant-Berthouze, whose father was ambassador to Berlin, when MacMahon was president of the republic. The young lady is twenty years of age, is a very dark brunette and her figure is as lithic as an Indian maiden's. She was a great favorite in society, resembling her mother in personal appearance and her father in the quality of her disposition.

Nationals Republicans.

Major Asa Rogers, secretary of the Virginia State Republican committee, has furnished for publication the following declaration of principles adopted at the meeting of the committee in Washington Wednesday last:

"In pursuance of section 2, article 3, of the party code, which provides that the State committee shall fix the time and place of the annual congressional conventions of the party and prescribe the number of delegates and alternates for each county and city in the State and the mode of electing delegates to the annual convention, the State committee at a meeting held at Washington, the 8th day of July, 1890, after a full consideration of the subject do declare:

"That no citizen of the State who has not been in this State, as they believe, a full and unimpaired exercise of the right of the elective franchise and an honest return of the ballots cast since the election for Representatives in Congress in the year 1888, when the election machinery was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

"That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

The Shenandoah Valley Road.

The Shenandoah Valley Road through the Blue Ridge passes near the East, while the Valley Road keeps near to it on the same side, leaving the main trunk through the Valley skirted by the Shenandoah south.

Besides the direct connections with the systems of roads South and West, sections of the Shenandoah Valley Road would pass through one of the richest regions of the country. All along the Valley side of the range of the North and West, the deposits of the Shenandoah and plentiful in any other section of the country. Then it is also one of the best agricultural regions of the State.

But no citizen of the State who has not been in this State, as they believe, a full and unimpaired exercise of the right of the elective franchise and an honest return of the ballots cast since the election for Representatives in Congress in the year 1888, when the election machinery was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

That inasmuch as in the late State election of 1888 the republican party was fairly recognized and honestly administered save and excepting the congressional elections of 1888, when the republicans carried the State by 20,000, and received the return for seven of the ten members of Congress, whereas according to the democratic authorities, Mr. Barbour had at home, the count would have been different.

The Pennsylvania Republican Convention.

The action of the Republican Convention of Pennsylvania is the most extraordinary action upon record of an intelligent body of American freemen. Mr. Quay is accused by some of the most reputable journals in the country, and the accusation is trenchantly urged upon the country by one of the most eminent citizens of Pennsylvania.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

There is no doubt whatever that by an immense number of his fellow-citizens, including a very large part of the members of the Pennsylvania Convention, who are made, if unfounded, nothing could be easier than to disprove them, and to bring the libelous papers to exemplary punishment. But Mr. Quay presumes an unbroken silence, and the Republicans of Pennsylvania in their Convention, with an eye to the general reputation of the party, their lasting gratitude, respect, and confidence for him as a citizen and a public officer, specifying particularly his services in the office in which his dishonesty is alleged.

This subject of a Convention to a man of such circumstances is entirely without precedent. It asks and receives no explanation, and does the will of a party leader as passively and ignominiously as a man of such circumstances is entirely without precedent. It asks and receives no explanation, and does the will of a party leader as passively and ignominiously as a man of such circumstances is entirely without precedent.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.

Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned. Mr. Quay is indicted and held to answer for libel; he is indicted in terms as a thief. No honest man can read the charges and circumstances are plainly mentioned.