

Stanton Spectator.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 22nd, 1891.

The Great Contest in Ohio.

The contest in Ohio will be interesting and exciting. Fortunately, both parties have nominated men of character as well as of ability. It would be a wonder if the Democrats should succeed, for Ohio is not only a Republican State by a considerable majority, but unfortunately for the Democrats, their party is divided, with factions in Cincinnati and Cleveland, two important cities, violently opposed to Campbell, the Democratic nominee. The New York Herald says "the Democrats of Ohio have nominated for Governor the one man whom the barometer for the Republicans to

And yet the Republicans must beat him they will be lost, horse, foot and wagon, in the autumn of '92. They already see the necessity of contributing very generously to the campaign fund, and it is safe to say that the market price of voters who are on the fence will run up to an unprecedented figure. This canvass promises to be very bitter, very close and very exciting, one of the hottest we have had in many a year.

His opponent, Governor Campbell, is also a man of marked ability. To a record which defies investigation is added an integrity of personal character which has never been assailed. He is a politician of limitless resources, shrewd, long-headed and daring. Those who know him best accuse him of being something more than a politician, and deliberately charge that he has many of the finer qualities of the statesman. They insist that he can serve the country efficiently in a wider sphere than the State of Ohio affords, and declare that the hand of destiny is pointed in the direction of the White House.

We may look to Ohio for the first skirmish in the Presidential battle, for the subject which will control the voters of that State is the same subject which will be debated in all parts of the country next year. The issue, stated in plain terms, is this: Are the people most prosperous and contented, and have they the largest material resources when taxed to the verge of exhaustion in order to accumulate money for a Billion Congress to spend, or are they better off when the government is run economically and every dollar of the laborer's earnings is left in his pocket except what is necessary for our national current expenses?

In other words, Do we want the necessities of life made as cheap as possible, or are we happier when compelled to pay out all our earnings for food and clothing and to travel on the ragged edge of starvation? So far as Mr. McKinley is concerned there is a certain desperate element in this contest. With the people of Ohio against him he will personally become a man of political kindling wood. He stakes all he has in the world on the result of this election, and if it falls him he will be buried beyond the hope of restoration. No disaster could be greater than to have his own State tell him that his tariff bill, pushed through Congress by the combined influence of every trust and monopoly in the land, is a colossal blunder, that the people are a rebelled blunder, that the tariff is a colossal blunder, that the tariff is a colossal blunder, that the tariff is a colossal blunder.

He is bound, therefore, to win at all hazards and at any cost. He will see to it that the most honest and persuasive orators take the stump in his behalf, and if they fail to convince the people there is nothing left but a resort to the purchase of votes enough to carry the election and then, as to the latter device, he will assume all responsibility. They will, of course, back their candidate with every argument, every kind of appeal and every dollar they can command. No matter how the victory is won; everything will be forgiven if success is the result. That is the new motto, adopted by the Republicans during the last twenty years.

They have good reason, however, for their present uneasy state of mind. With the ghost of the Presidential campaign haunting their thoughts, they are beginning to wonder what the result will be. They are beginning to wonder what the result will be. They are beginning to wonder what the result will be.

Monument to "Stonewall" Jackson.

THE STATUE UNVEILED YESTERDAY.

At Lexington, in the presence of a great number of soldiers who followed and gallantly fought with him, the bronze statue of Gen. T. J. Jackson was unveiled yesterday, the 90th anniversary of the First Battle of Manassas when he received from Gen. Bernard E. Bee, of S. C., the cognomen "Stonewall," when, in rallying his men, he said to them—"See, there is Jackson standing like a Stonewall; rally on the Virginians."

The ceremonies in Lexington yesterday at the unveiling of the statue were interesting and attended by a large number of soldiers. At 6 o'clock in the morning there was a salute of 15 guns by the Rockbridge Artillery at the Virginia Military Institute.

At half past 10 o'clock under the direction of Gen. Jas. A. Walker, Chief Marshal, the procession facing to the South was formed on the Parade Ground of the Va. Military Institute in the following order: 1—The Rockbridge Artillery.

2—Stonewall Brigade Veterans. 3—Chaplain of the Confederate Army. 4—Society of the Army and Navy of the Confederate States in Maryland. 5—Veterans from States other than Virginia. 6—Confederate Veterans organizations of Virginia, escorted by the Richmond Light Infantry Blues. 7—Veterans not belonging to any organization. 8—Second Regiment Virginia Volunteers, Col. Joseph A. Nulton commanding.

9—Alumni and officers of the Virginia Military Institute. 10—Professors and Alumni of Washington and Lee University. 11—After the ceremonies in the grounds at Washington and Lee University, the citizens came after the organized bodies as follows: Citizens on horseback. 12—Carriages containing the orator of the day, the sculptor, Mrs. Jackson and her grandchildren, and other invited and distinguished guests.

At 11 o'clock the procession marched in front of the barracks of the Virginia Military Institute, passing by Gen. Jackson's Lecture Room, then through the Sally Port, and thence to the grounds of Washington and Lee University, where the following exercises took place: Prayer by Rev. A. C. Hopkins, D. D., of Charlestown, W. Va. Music. Poems—"Stonewall Jackson's Way," and "Over the River." Read by Col. T. M. Sommes, of the Virginia Military Institute.

Orations by Lieutenant General Jubal A. Early, of the Army of Northern Virginia. Benediction, Rev. Dr. Hopkins. At the conclusion of these exercises the procession again formed in the order prescribed by the Chief Marshal and proceeded into the University grounds at the Jefferson street gate, thence along Henry street to Main, thence along Main street to the Fair Ground road, thence along the Fair Ground road to the ridge lying South of the Cemetery, where the procession formed in columns and marched to the Cemetery and the Jackson Monument.

Important Decision.

There is a large amount affected by the decision of the Court of Appeals rendered last Thursday at Wytheville.

The court decided that the orders of the court heretofore entered, appointing John M. Bailey receiver of all the properties of the Virginia, Tennessee and Carolina Steel and Iron Company, the Bristol Land Construction Company, the Bristol and Ohio Railroad Company, the South Atlantic and Ohio Railroad Company must be enforced, and a peremptory writ of mandamus was awarded to compel the judge of the inferior court to execute the said orders and to put John W. Bailey, receiver, in possession of all the properties of the above corporations. This is one of the most important cases which has come before the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia for many years.

Several prominent citizens of New York are interested in this case, and several millions of property are involved. The president and acting manager of the above corporations is J. C. Haskell, and among the promoters and directors are John H. Iman, William P. Clyde, George H. Scott, H. C. Falnstock, vice-president of the First National Bank of New York, and several other prominent men of New York. The defendants have resorted to all the courts, both State and Federal, and the action of the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia is final. Bailey, the receiver, after many vexatious delays, is now placed in full possession of the properties of all the above corporations.

Nat. K. Jones, son of United States Senator James K. Jones, of Arkansas, was shot at the Senator's home, Washington, Ark., Saturday afternoon by a school teacher named J. P. Shepley. The two men had quarrelled, and Jones followed Shepley to the depot and into a passenger coach, where the shooting occurred. Jones cannot live.

Near Valley Springs, Ala., last Thursday, a negro assaulted Mrs. James Cowdon, the wife of a prominent farmer. Last Friday night Mac Brown was captured by the posse and riddled with bullets.

Saturday morning fire destroyed the large bank building and Odd-Fellow's Hall at Gosport, Ind., together with other business houses and two dwellings. The loss is $30,000 with only $3,500 insurance.

The authorship of the war song "Stonewall Jackson's Way" has been settled by Dr. John W. Palmer, who tells when and how he wrote it.

An immense landslide came down the hill below Duquesne Heights, Pittsburgh, and fell on a Charities street car Saturday. The roof was crushed in, but none of the passengers were injured.

Rev. J. Lafferty on Rev. Sam Jones.

From a letter of Rev. J. Lafferty in the Richmond Christian Advocate of the 16th inst.

We copy a portion of what he says of Rev. Sam Jones, one of whose sermons he heard here, as follows:—"No other minister could use the 'generation of vipers' style without blocking his way to the churches. He scolded, who scold, dissects cankers, cauterizes ulcers. Who dare do it? His humor cholericisms the knife. 'Stonewall' is his name. 'He speaks the truth in love.' His humor and wit disarms the victim while he conceals by a sympathetic smile the stings of his sarcasm in this long-suffering and oppressed people."

An Admirer of Rev. Sam Jones. Among the thousands who heard Rev. Sam Jones on the last Sunday he preached here, was Mr. N. L. Blackmore, formerly of Sangerville, this county, now a resident of Tenth Legion, Rockingham county, who is quite an admirer of him, as appears from his letter to the Rockingham Register in which he says:—"Well, we went to Stanton, and heard the great evangelist, Sam J. Jones preach. We had read of him and wanted to hear him without prejudice or partiality towards him, so we could be able to form a proper opinion of him, according to our own judgment. We had read of him and wanted to hear him without prejudice or partiality towards him, so we could be able to form a proper opinion of him, according to our own judgment."

That Jones makes mistakes goes without saying. The temptations to arrogance, to contempt of equals and to envy, are not less to him than to any other man. I wonder he is as humble as he seems.

If I had a voice that could call and caution every youth "in order" among us, I would shout in the ear: "Covet not the house of Jones. It is a magic rod in his hand; in its use he has made a million of us rich. That magic rod is the unerring foot and elastic limb of the champion, or drop disgraced in the dirt. Jones is first, and the rest are second."

The Democratic State Convention that met in Cleveland last Wednesday nominated the following ticket:—For Governor, James E. Campbell, the present incumbent. The official vote of the first and only ballot was: James E. Campbell, 508 7-16; Lawrence T. Neal, 151 1-16; and P. K. K. 55; Congressmen, John McManama, of Summit county. For Lieutenant-Governor W. Y. Marquis, the present incumbent, re-nominated by acclamation.

For Attorney-General—John P. Bailey, of Putnam county. For State Treasurer—C. F. Ackerman, of Manassas. For Judge of the Supreme Court—Gustavus H. Wald, of Hamilton county. For Commissioner of Common Schools—Charles C. Miller, of Rida county. For Auditor of State—John W. Worsham, of Summit county.

For Member of Food and Dairy Commission—H. S. Trumbo, of Lawrence county.

Liquor Men Want Local Option.

The liquor men in a district in Botetourt county are petitioning for a local-option election.

The Buchanan Standard says:—"A petition of voters from the Amherst and Buchanan Districts was presented to the court on Monday asking for an election on the liquor question. At the local-option election held on the 20th inst. the district voted dry, and this petition will be filed and the date of election will be fixed by the court during the term."

REV. SAM JONES' Hymn Books. Price, Postage. Triumphal Songs, No. 100. 10c. 10c. Words only, 25c. 25c. 50c. 50c. 1.00 1.00. WARDEN & CO., Bookellers and Stationers, Staunton, Va.

LOUISA HARRIS vs. MARY E. PARSONS. A petition of the Circuit Court for Augusta county, filed in this cause, July 20, 1891, shall proceed, at my office, in Staunton, Va., on Friday, August 21st, 1891, to take an account showing what credits, if any, John A. Harber, administrator of the estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, has received from the estate of the said Mary E. Parsons, and what credits, if any, the said Mary E. Parsons has received from the estate of the said Peter Harber, deceased.

FAIRFAX HALL. SEVEN YEARS FOR YOUNG LADIES. WINCHESTER, VIRGINIA. Re-opened Sept. 7, 1891. For twenty-two years this hall has been a place of advantage in all departments, including Languages, Music, Drawing, and Physical Culture. Terms moderate. For particulars apply to Miss MARY E. BILLINGS, Principal.

ROANOKE COLLEGE. Healthful Mountain Climate. Choice of Courses for Degree, Commercial Department, Laboratory, and other departments. Expenses for 9 months $100.00. Board, $20.00. Tuition, $10.00. Total $130.00. Next session begins September 1st. J. W. GREEN SMITH, President.

Special Offer—$10 per week. The RAULEY SPRINGS, tonic water, pure, natural, and healthful. J. W. GREEN SMITH, Proprietor.

POSITION AS TEACHER. A young lady, well educated, and experienced in teaching, can teach English, Latin and Music. References exchanged. Address—J. W. GREEN SMITH, Staunton, Va.

Commissioner's Office.

Stanton, July 17th, 1891.

To John S. Lyman. I, R. K. Keagy, Commissioner, do hereby certify that the following cases, pending in the Circuit Court of Augusta county, are ready for trial on the 22nd day of August next, to-wit:—The case of J. W. Green Smith vs. J. W. Green Smith, docketed at No. 100.

To take an account of the personal property belonging to the estate of the late John J. Harber, deceased, and to take an account of the personal property belonging to the estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, and to take an account of the personal property belonging to the estate of the late Mary E. Parsons, deceased.

TO LENA E. GARDNER, JOHN J. GARDNER, HELEN E. GARDNER, and JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

TO LENA E. GARDNER, JOHN J. GARDNER, HELEN E. GARDNER, and JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

TO LENA E. GARDNER, JOHN J. GARDNER, HELEN E. GARDNER, and JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

TO LENA E. GARDNER, JOHN J. GARDNER, HELEN E. GARDNER, and JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

TO LENA E. GARDNER, JOHN J. GARDNER, HELEN E. GARDNER, and JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

Commissioner's Office.

Stanton, July 17th, 1891.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. Gardner, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

Commissioner's Office.

Stanton, July 17th, 1891.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

To Lena E. Gardner, John J. Gardner, Helen E. Gardner, and John J. GARDNER, Administrators of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased, vs. JOHN J. GARDNER, Administrator of the Estate of the late Peter Harber, deceased.

Pardolph-Macon College, Ashland, Virginia. Nineteen officers and teachers. Full College course. NEW SCIENCE HALL with laboratory and observatory. Department of PHYSICAL CULTURE under expert instruction. Prominent faculty. Graduated and Col. Water Baths. Bathing, and other amusements. For particulars apply to J. W. GREEN SMITH, President.

NOW IS THE TIME TO INVEST IN Large Profits Can Be Made ON SMALL INVESTMENTS. W. M. J. PERRY & CO., HAVE THE Largest List of Bargains in Business and Residence Property, Vacant Lots, &c. Any kind of property you may desire or trouble.

SPRING & SUMMER CLOTHING, HATS AND GENTLEMEN'S FURNISHING GOODS! AT No. 9 W. Main Street, Opposite National Valley Bank.

A Lady Tells of Almost a Miraculous Recovery—Read. To the Editor of The Journal: I wish to tell the people of Atlanta something through your columns. I have a sister who lives in Birmingham, Ala., and who has been afflicted with what many physicians termed "intermittent neuralgia." One physician said it was "enlargement of the liver." She came to Atlanta for treatment for the same ailment last year, and after several months of treatment she was cured. She has since been afflicted with the same ailment, and she has been cured again. I have been afflicted with the same ailment for several years, and I have been cured several times. I have been cured several times. I have been cured several times.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE IN ROANOKE. "Ed" Carson, a real estate agent of Roanoke City, and a native of Appomattox county, attempted to commit suicide yesterday evening by taking lodonin.

TO THE PUBLIC. A Lady Tells of Almost a Miraculous Recovery—Read.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE IN ROANOKE. "Ed" Carson, a real estate agent of Roanoke City, and a native of Appomattox county, attempted to commit suicide yesterday evening by taking lodonin.

TO THE PUBLIC. A Lady Tells of Almost a Miraculous Recovery—Read.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE IN ROANOKE. "Ed" Carson, a real estate agent of Roanoke City, and a native of Appomattox county, attempted to commit suicide yesterday evening by taking lodonin.

TO THE PUBLIC. A Lady Tells of Almost a Miraculous Recovery—Read.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE IN ROANOKE. "Ed" Carson, a real estate agent of Roanoke City, and a native of Appomattox county, attempted to commit suicide yesterday evening by taking lodonin.