AN OLD MANUSCRIPT.

Advice Written a Yonug Student Long Ago, Which is Applicable at All Times.

The following old letter, address to Villiam S. H. Baylor, then a student at Washington College (now W. & L. University) was handed us recently by grandson of the recipient. It was ritten by Mr. S. M. Woodward, the randfather of Circuit Court Clerk Woodward, and contains advice that is as applicable today as it was when it was penned years ago.

Western Asylum, Sept. 24th, 1847. Dear William:-After a long time I (Reneg it down to redem my pledge, whilst I have nothing of importance of the news kind to write you I have thought I might be able from my age and little experience in the world to offer you a little advice, that may enable you to get along in the world. In the first place let me advise you to lay down a set of rules to govern you in your future conduct through the world, and follow those rules strictly. Make it one of your first duties in life to have respect for religion, whilst you may not fall into this rule very readily in consequence of the allurement of the world and worldiy people, depend upon it, a strict adherence to them will prove of great advantage to you. In the next place pay a strict regard to age and always respect the aged. Never suffer yourseif to despise the very poorest creature but in cases you cannot relieve their poverty you can feel a commiseration for them and for them and even your kind looks will be a great comfort to them if you can afford them no relief.

You are now far from your father and mother and sister placed among strangers, whilst there may be some amongst whom you are thrown that may care for you, the great majority will care stupid enough to vote for these so-callnothing further for you than their own interest prompts them to care for you. Be cautious in selecting your ssociates and particularly cautious in selecting your confidents, let your associates be few and well selected your confidents very few, and selected with great care and caution. You may thereby be able to get along with but little difficulty, be affable and courteous to your fellow students, but never be too familiar as too great familiarity may sometimes betray itself and be looked upon by some with disdain and this will cause you pain and vexation and may end in some difficulty. Whilst all these things may be avoidmay provoke them, what pain the local health of the organs peculiarly femivery smallest indiscretion may prove to your father and mother, you cannot imagine, and the mortification you will feel at giving them pain will cause you many sleepless hours. You strength of women. It is free from opium ought therefore to be exceedingly prudent to be always on your guard and never suffer yourself to be betrayed in- and sick women well.

to any indiscretions. You will have many temptations to encounter; amongst so many youths as you are from necessity thrown amongst. They cannot all be good and moral, ndeed it would be a miracle if they

Consequently the greater the caution, on your part, to beware of being led from the path of rectitude. Never engage in frolicks of any kind, (I nean amongst the students) where spirits are introduced, gameing of any kind, never permit yourself to be drawn into, not even for sport or pastime. If in the company of ladies a game of smut should be introduced your character will not suffer by informing the company you do not know how to play. I have shown you a few of the breaktry are too often driven and made persued the picture further but will B. F. Hughes drug store.

As I have said nothing about myself and family, nor anything about your own family, I propose to close this communication on family affairs. I am happy to inform you that your aunt, Polly is getting well, she has been setting up some for the last three days and is able to walk across the floor without assistance. The rest of

Why Do The Heathen Rage?

Editor of The SPECTATOR:

The "renegade" Confederates and mercenaries from the South so numerous in Baltimore, have by voting with the negro and truckling to him for his vote, made him what he is in this city truth. and vastly increased his numbers. One of the "renegade" class, late mayor of Baltimore, took the School Board as he did other boards "out of politics" by placing it in control of his own nenchmen, who are "renegades" to the South, uniting with them similiar specimens from the Republican ranks. This school board in order to lower the white children of this city to their best drilled Canton, $500; second cash level, imported Van Sickle a minor superintendent of schools in a place like Denver Col., where the whites and negroes sit together in the same school room, and made him superintendent of schools in this former southern city. From such a school board, a monument to such a mayor, with such a superintendent of schoools, can the whites of this city expect any thing different from what they are nov kicking about in the columne of some of the Baltimore newspapers or have they any right to kick when they are ed Independent or Reformers who gave them this school board, and who in conjunction with their kind elsewhere are responsible for Roosevelt being President and for all the ills resulting therefrom?

Yours truly.
