A NEW NAPOLEON.

The edict which Mr. Roosevelt has recently promulgated and by which 100,000 pensioners are to be added to the already gorged list, and by which 11 millions of dollars are to be added to the expenses of the government, is but a sample of the man we have at the head of the nation. This is what he calls following in the footsteps of McKinley.

Before Mr. Roosevelt accidentally got his present position his mode of dominating were fairly well known. He had been a member of the Civil Service Commission. He had been Governor of New York. He had been on the Police Commission of New York. In all of these positions the same bold, reckless, dominating influence had manifested themselves.

He had also been with the army in Cuba. When he landed we are told he did not wait for orders, he went looking for the enemy in good free lance fashion. He found him. But that is neither here nor there. After the war had ended the army began to become sick, the men began to fall not by Spanish bullets, but by a plague which is indigenous to that country. Gen. Shafter was in charge so the records showed, and through him should the War Department have been notified and dealt with. But no. Col. Roosevelt took it upon himself to issue an order for the withdrawal of the army. He did not in fact put the men on board transports and send them home, but he wrote Mr. McKinley and had the letter published throughout the United States. He said: "This army must be taken out of here." The result was that it was withdrawn as fast as possible. The news no doubt was a good thing for the army, but had such a letter been written by any other subordinate officer we believe he would have been cashiered. It was the grossest breach of military discipline, but it was passed over in Col. Roosevelt's case. When on the Civil Service Commission he was its head and in fact "the entire push" as the phrase goes. He dominated that body as completely as if the other members had been children and he a man. He practically wrote or dictated every order, the others might as well have been dead for all the power they wielded. As Police Commissioner of New York he took things into his own hands, and as Governor of that State his career of domination and dictation was too well known to need much more than a mere reference to them here. But these did not afford a proper field for his talents. Not until he became president did he arrive at a sphere broad enough for his operations, and not yet has he arrived there fully, because he is now a president by accident and not by choice of the people. When he is elected this fall then will his ambitions become completely visible and his Napoleonic traits be set like a candle upon a candlestick.

But see what he has done already. He tore the White House to pieces, he erected wings and an office and ripped the interior out and split its ancient moldings to smithereens. He sent hangings and chandeliers, and paintings, valuable not possibly because of their intrinsic worth, but on account of their association, to junk shops and cellars, and substituted in their places tinsel and new flummery, and pictures of horses and fox chasing. He acknowledged Panama when it was not 3 days old and owing to the necessities of party, made more occasions by an impending national election, he forced Congress to follow him and bow to his imperial dictates. As a starter for his campaign he issued the pension edict which we are told will at once make solid for him 100,000 old soldiers, and practically put into his campaign fund 11 million dollars, and Congress will bow the knee of servility before him and endorse this unconstitutional assumption of power. These are only a few of the many more important actions of this dictator. We might mention many in fact thousands of others. The crumming of Dr. Crum, the negro collector, down the throats of the people of Charleston, the closing of the Indianola postoffice, the elevation of Gen. Wood from a doctor to a Major General and commander-in-chief of the army in the short space of a year or two, mark moves on the Imperial chess board and autocratic dictation to a degree which this country has never seen before, but which will be augmented a thousand fold if this young climber succeeds in his ambitious grasp of the presidency.

In speaking of Mr. Cleveland as a possible Democratic candidate for the presidency, the Washington Post asks: "Where is the Democrat who could equal him in winning support from the Republican side?" And we ask where is there a man who could equal him in losing support from the Democratic side?

Senator Daniel and Gen. Fitz Lee have lived to hear their names mentioned as possible presidential candidates, and both may exclaim with the prophet of old, "Now let they servant depart in peace."

LOOK OUT FOR HEARST.

Whilst others are trying to make up their minds as to whether it will be Parker, or Gorman, or Cleveland, or Gray, or Olney, or Fitz Lee, Mr. Wm. R. Hearst is going right along sawing wood and getting the delegates. This is evidenced right here in Staunton. A Hearst club which we understand is composed of most excellent material and numbers about 200 has already been formed, and is at work. Can a club for any of the above named persons be formed here? If so why are not their admirers at work? It has been argued that all this is caused by Hearst putting up money for his nomination. Has anybody seen his money? Is it any worse for him to put up money for himself than for John P. Morgan to put it up for him. We may mention the late Marcus A. Hanna? Mr. Morgan, we hear, would turn loose a barrel for Mr. Cleveland, and Mr. Hanna did turn loose a barrel for Mr. McKinley not long ago. If the use of money therefore is criminal in such cases, some very great persons in this country should take to the woods. Mr. Roosevelt is leaving no stone unturned to secure his nomination, why should Mr. Hearst unless Mr. Hearst has no right to be a candidate. The only way to get rid of Mr. Hearst in the next National convention is to beat him. Let this be understood. He is in the race with both feet, and on the day the National convention meets at St. Louis he will be still more in evidence, and whilst persons may sit around and talk, yet if they do not want to see him nominated they must do something more than that. We do not profess any peculiar vision, but unless there is something done to stop this Hearst boom we see no reason why he will not be nominated on the first ballot. The objections to him had as well be known now, and principally those we have heard urged are as follows: That he is not a man of ancient ability. Well he may not be, but he is the most successful newspaper man in the United States, and outside of a few others, his newspapers are the only ones in the United States that are not owned and operated by syndicates and trusts. He is too young we hear. He is forty-one years old. Mr. Roosevelt is only forty-three. He has never been in public life. He is now a member of Congress, and we sometimes think the less of public life a man sees the better he is. Assaults have been made on his character. Have not assaults been made on the character of other aspirants for that office, to wit, James G. Blaine and Grover Cleveland? He edits "Yellow Journals" we are told. Who tells you this? You must get that from rival newspapers. He poses as the candidate of the working man. Is it not equally commendable to do so as to be the acknowledged candidate of the Trusts? He is backed by Wm. J. Bryan others say. Well of course that is a grave offense if true, that is a crime of the deepest dye, in some eyes, but only think in those eyes which cannot tell the difference between political decency and political perfidy, in those eyes which show horror at the sight of a Yellow Journal, but which glow and sparkle over a certain yellow metal. If this be Mr. Hearst's greatest offense there are millions who will forgive him for it.

These are some of the queries about and these are some of the answers now made to the candidacy of Mr. Hearst. Let those objections be what they may, the candidacy exists and if there are those who do not believe it they will wake up soon to deep and bitter disappointment.

WHY ARE THEY NOT PRESENTED? We have heard little lately of the Northern Securities case except that the President is not going to run amuck in this important matter. The case, if it decided anything, decided that those who had attempted the consolidation had violated the Sherman act. There is a penalty fixed for such violation. Why is the penalty not enforced? What has been gained if now that the law has been declared violated, those who violated are not punished. Had those persons been of more humble origin, like poor Sam Parks the labor leader of New York, or "the get rich quick crowd," they would possibly today be standing at the bar in some court to answer for their crime. But J. Hill and John P. Morgan are too large for this. They are above the law.

When Senator Burton was employed by the Rialto Grain and Securities Co. he was told that they did not want him to use any influence with the department, so he says, and yet the only services he seems to have performed were about the departments, and the only business the company had at Washington arose in the departments, and Senator Burton lived in Washington. Wherefore then could he give value to the stock? His fees were $500 per month—and the company must have expected some return. It got a return, so says the jury that tried Senator Burton. It found him guilty, and he now awaits sentence, which can be made as much as 10 years in the penitentiary and a fine of $50,000. This is the first U. S. Senator to be convicted of crime, and think of Kansas furnishing him.

Up to the present writing the celebrated detective W. G. Baldwin has not filled the acting void in our jail, or in the hopes of the Norfolk & Western Ry. Co. by producing the ubiquitous John Kennedy, though he has been offering to bet five to one he will have him in a week. The wager has, however, been carefully placed only before people who do not bet. Would that Mr. Baldwin were to try it on us.

We trust that when Gen. Grosvenor nominated Gen. Fitz Lee for the presidency he did not require him to remove any of the political stitches which have for so long held sealed those lips whose cadences "As one who has heard through Tarra's halls," filled the political atmosphere hereabout, but where lately all has been as silent as the tomb.

All the crowned heads of Europe have sent letters of sympathy to the dear, but none to the Mikado. Probably the Mikado will get his as soon as he has read of them.

GEN. WM. H. PAYNE.

The death of Gen. Wm. H. Payne, which occurred in Washington on the 28th ult., removes one of the most striking and remarkable Virginia characters. Gen. Payne had a war record equal to the best, he was gallant in himself, and what he did whilst accomplished by some would have been blazoned everywhere, when accomplished by him in so far as he was concerned, passed into oblivion. He never wrote of his life, though few could have written more interestingly. Still many of his friends know his deeds and we trust they may yet be described where they will not fade from memory. One episode in his life which should be made historical was when being a prisoner in Washington he was being taken through the streets, and it being just at the time of the assassination of President Lincoln, and one of the assassins being named Payne, Gen. Payne was mistaken for the assassin and an infuriated mob sought to take him from the guards and lynch him. The guard, however, succeeded in preventing this and Gen. Payne's life was saved. This incident should have been recounted in his own language, but it was not, so far as we have heard.

CAPT. OPIE FOR CONGRESS.

Capt. John N. Opie of this city, has announced his candidacy for Congress from this, the 10th district. Capt. Opie has been in public life for some years, he has just ended his second term as State Senator from this district where he served with credit. He was a gallant Confederate soldier, and since the war has written a most readable book entitled "A Rebel Cavalryman," replete with personal reminiscences of the war. Of course to insure election it will be necessary for him to carry in the convention all the counties of the Blue Ridge and some west of it. In doing so he must overcome the influence of Mr. H. D. Flood the present incumbent, but who is strongly entrenched and who has gained much popularity since his incumbency.

Bids are solicited for changes to our opera house so as to render its exits safe in case of fire. It has been suggested, on account of the difficulty of escaping from it, that it be sold to the county for a jail.

Mr. Roosevelt is demonstrating the difference between running amuck, and running for the presidency. Muck running and real heeling it, are entirely different propositions.

WASHINGTON LETTER

(From our Regular Correspondent.) Washington, D. C., March 25.—The Republican party in Congress has this week done its utmost to make a disgraceful record for itself. That this record will be exhibited on every platform, at every crossroads, during the coming campaign, goes without saying. What it has done is to refuse by a strict party vote to investigate the Post-office Department—that breeding-burrow of scandal and corruption. In voting not to investigate the frauds or to punish the hoodlums, the Republicans do not by any means deny their existence; they only deny the expediency of letting in any more light upon the doings of the Post-office Department. By their vote they have declared that they are not willing to investigate the frauds or to punish the hoodlums, the Republicans do not by any means deny their existence; they only deny the expediency of letting in any more light upon the doings of the Post-office Department.

After a week's turbulence it occurred to some members that there was quite as much a call for an investigation as for vituperation, and an effort was made to have the House of Representatives do its duty in this respect. To a majority of Republicans the proposal to investigate seemed an additional disgrace. For two days, during the consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill they have stormed and raged against it and have finally defeated investigation by a strict party vote—although the committee that was proposed (five in the House and three in the Senate) would have been wholly in the hands of Republicans. They declared that it was "not germane" their real objection, of course, being that it was altogether too germane.

John Sharp Williams, the Democratic leader, eloquently urged investigation. "The only way we can secure honesty in the postoffice Department," he declared, "is by the general withdrawal of the postoffice from the hands of the postoffice officials. The people of the United States are greater than Congress, and they demand an investigation of the rottenness. 'O, won't you,' he pleaded, 'do something to keep the great body of American citizenry from believing that the Post Office Department is infamous.' No, they would not do any such thing, and they did not. The House decided not to investigate. General Grosvenor, Ohio Republican, declared that to investigate the scandal would be a reflection upon the dignity of the House. A curious notion of dignity! The postoffice bill passed at the close of yesterday's session.

The case of Senator Smead of Utah, will not be decided till after the presidential election, for partisan reasons. Several needy demagogues, probably five will be appointed "a commission" to visit Utah during the summer and try to find out why Smead has only one stump speech on the way. Scandals seem to break out all round the sky this year. The postal scandal has had the focus in the time-light but now it is the Daves Commission. It was organized under Harrison to close the eyes of the Five Civilized Tribes in Indian Territory, and it has been kept alive by favor of Mr. Secretary Hitchcock. A committee reports that it has uncovered in scandals and frauds as to the loss of its assets, and it must now cease to exist. The names of all the Commissioners are snatched; they have all entered into the important trusts in Indian Territory; they have so fostered jealousies as to be scarcely on speaking terms with one another, and they have lost the confidence and respect of the Indians. In fact, the Five Civilized Tribes seem now to be investigating the five uncivilized commissioners.

Death of General Payne.

General William H. Payne died Tuesday morning at 11:35 o'clock at his apartments in the Gloucester, in Washington. He was surrounded by the members of his family when the end came. He had recently been occasion less in their vigils, aware, they were, during the past week that his life was slowly ebbing. General Payne was one of the most noted of the Confederate cavalry leaders. He was born at Clifton, Fauquier county, Va. June 15, 1830; and was educated at the University of Virginia. He was elected Commonwealth's Attorney for Fauquier county, his opponent being the late Robt. Scott. At the outbreak of the civil war he organized the famous Black Horse Cavalry of Virginia, and commanded his organization at the first battle of Bull Run. He was promoted to be major within two weeks after his first engagement, and was assigned to the 4th Virginia cavalry. He remained with this command during the next two years, and was promoted to be lieutenant colonel in 1862 and colonel in 1863. In November, 1864, he was made a brigadier general in the cavalry service of the Confederate army, and organized the 1st Virginia Cavalry in Fittz Hugh's division. General Payne was seriously wounded three times during the war and was frequently mentioned in the dispatches and general orders for distinguished services. At the close of the war Gen. Payne entered upon the practice of law at Staunton, Va. He was organized the famous railway was made one of its legal representatives. For many years past Gen. Payne has been one of the chief counsel of the Longman & Martinez Oil company, and therefore we urge every Minister to remember we give a liberal quantity of the Longman & Martinez Paint to the painting. Wears and covers like gold. Don't pay $1.50 a gallon for Linsed Oil (worth 60 cents) which you do when you buy other paints in a can with a paint label on it. S&G make it, therefore when you want four gallons of paint, buy only eight of L. & M., and mix six gallons pure Linsed Oil with it, and thus get paint at less than $1.20 per gallon. Many houses are well painted with four gallons of L. & M. and three gallons of Linsed Oil mixed therewith. These Celebrated Paints are sold by B. F. Hughes, Staunton, Foster Bros., Mt. Meridian, C. H. Cohorn, Stuart's Draft, J. B. Roden, Waynesboro, N. I. Kagey, Cave Station, Augusta Milling & Mercantile Co., Mossy Creek.

Three Dead in Three Months.

The increasing mortality among Confederate veterans has become more strikingly illustrated than just at this time, when in less than three months three familiar faces have dropped from the ranks of the Grand Camp. Not before the eyes of this organization has it lost so many, even in a year. Judge Geo. M. Christian the commander of the Grand Camp, refers to the loss of three men in which he designates their successors, as follows: The Grand Commander is sincerely grieved to have to announce to the members of the Grand Camp the death of three members of the staff, all of whom were most worthy comrades, gallant and efficient officers, and two of them were members of the Department. These are: Comrade Robert S. Bisher of Richmond, aide-de-camp to the Commander; Comrade Washington Taylor of Norfolk, Quartermaster General; and Comrade D. Jennings of Lynchburg, Quartermaster General, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Comrade R. S. Bisher; Comrade D. Jennings of Lynchburg, Quartermaster General, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Comrade R. S. Bisher; and Comrade D. Jennings of Lynchburg, Quartermaster General, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Comrade R. S. Bisher.

Senator Burton Found Guilty. Joseph R. Burton, senior U. S. Senator from Kansas, was on Monday convicted by a jury in the U. S. District Court at St. Louis, of having accepted a bribe of $100,000 from the Rialto Grain and Securities Co. of that city, before the postoffice department. The jury deliberated 41 hours, and returned a verdict of guilty, and debared forever from holding public office.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble. Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased. Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control its passages, it urinates in bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose. Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The name and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar packages. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers, can be written by Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

APRIL WEATHER.

Rev. Dr. R. Hicks Tells What to Expect This Month. The storm period which was central with the full moon at the close of March will extend into the 1st and 2nd of April. Storms of rain, wind, low barometer and high temperature, will have given place to snow, rising barometer and much colder in all western sections as April comes in. Cold, northerly winds, with frost and freezing northward, will follow about the 1st to the 24th, progressive from west to east. If frost reaches far into central or southern sections at this time, our readers should not be taken wholly by surprise.

A regular Vulcanus perturbation will be central on the 21st extending from the 19th to 23rd. The barometer will drop low and the temperature rise very high as this period progresses, resulting in many vicious thunder and hail storms and touch of ice on the 22nd and 23rd. Greatly the most decided, and perhaps violent storm periods of the month, extends from about the 26th to 29th. This period is nearer the center of the Vulcanus perturbation than the 21st, and with Moon on the celestial equator, in perigee and full. We warn our readers to watch the barometric conditions and storm developments at this time. Very general and severe storms are more than probable.

John W. Arrey Found Dead. John W. Arrey was found dead in bed at his residence, near Mineville, three miles south of Bridgewater, on Monday morning. The deceased had been in bad health for a number of years but his death was very sudden and unexpected. He was 69 years of age. He leaves five sons, Harry, Geo. W., John H., Sam'l W., and Irving Arrey—and two daughters, Mrs. M. A. Cupp and Mrs. Chas. E. Wine. He was a brother of Major G. F. Arrey of Bridgewater, and Harvey M. Arrey of near Mineville. His funeral and burial took place at St. Michael's church on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock.—Bridgewater Herald.

High Compliment. The Richmond Times Dispatch of Sunday had an excellent picture of Capt. Rudolph Bumgardner of this city, and the following comment: "Captain Rudolph Bumgardner is the popular commander of the Staunton Rifles. He is a son of Capt. James Bumgardner, a valiant Confederate officer, and inherits his father's soldierly qualities." To all of which his many friends here and elsewhere thoroughly agree.
