Knight, one of the most brilliant lawyers ever at the Charleston bar.

Makes fine address in interest of Democratic nominees.

Judge William Hodges Mann, spoke here Monday in behalf of the Democratic nominees for the legislature. He took the ground that the cause of temperance would be injured by the defeat of the Democratic candidates. The speaker briefly recounted what the Democratic party had done for Virginia since the civil war, bringing the State from poverty to prosperity and a commanding position. He spoke of the progress of temperance legislation enacted by the Democratic party, beginning with the local option law in 1855. Every temperance measure enacted in Virginia has been by the Democratic party, and he stated that further legislation along that line will be enacted at the coming session. He promised a statute defining the qualifications of voters in local option elections; to make cities pay regular license, and measures fixing adequate penalties for violation of temperance laws. In this connection he expressed the conviction that the man who violates the law in order to make money should go to jail. Judge Mann spoke highly of the Democratic candidates for the legislature from this county, and said it would be a grievous mistake to split the party over the question, all the Democratic nominees being pledged to support temperance measures.

Wednesday at noon Mr. D. Wallace Bear of the Stuart's Draft neighborhood, and Miss Ellen Rebecca Biedler of Shenandoah, were united in marriage at Emanuel Lutheran church at New Market, Rev. E. L. Wessinger performing the ceremony. The maid of honor was Miss Ruth Smith of Luray, and the ushers were Messrs. A. L. Henkel and Hunter Zirkle. The bride was given away by her brother, Dr. J. M. Biedler of Rockingham. After an extended tour which will include the exposition, they will be at home near Stuart's Draft.

Paul Gilmore.

A beautiful wedding was solemnized Wednesday evening at the First Presbyterian church when Miss Cecilia Mason Timberlake became the bride of Mr. Russell Watt. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Louise Withrow, a daughter of the bride, and the bride was accompanied by her father, Mr. Russell Watt, and her brother, Mr. John Watt. The groom was accompanied by his father, Mr. John Watt, and his brother, Mr. John Watt. The ceremony was performed by Rev. J. M. Crowell, assisted by Rev. J. W. Childress and Rev. R. Spradling. The bride was given away by her father, Mr. Russell Watt, and the ushers were Messrs. J. M. Crowell, J. W. Childress, and R. Spradling. The reception was held at the home of the bride, where a large number of guests were present. The wedding was a most successful one, and all present enjoyed it very much.

Watt-Timberlake.

Paul Gilmore, always a favorite here and especially so since his performance here last season in "At Yale," is coming again very shortly, with a new play written for him and entitled "The Wheel of Love." The piece is called a semi-wetern automobile love story, and the leading part gives Mr. Gilmore every opportunity to further his good impression of last year. The play is from the pen of Geo. V. Hobart. At the Beverly Theatre, Thursday, Nov. 7th.

DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATES

Define Their Position on all Vital Questions Involved in this Campaign.

In response to a letter of enquiry addressed to them, the Democratic candidates for the Legislature from Augusta county and city of Staunton, have come out in a card over their own signatures fully and frankly defining their position on all the vital interests involved in this campaign. Their declaration of principles is an able exposition of all public questions, and is of deep interest to all of our readers. We give below their statement in full: Oct. 26th, 1907.

EDITOR THE DISPATCH:

In compliance with the request contained in your letter of this date, and recognizing the responsible source as well the reasonableness of the inquiry you make, as to our position on certain measures likely to require consideration at the hands of the next legislature, we take pleasure in saying that, as the legislative candidates, regularly nominated in the recent Democratic primary, we stand squarely upon the declared record and policy of the Democratic party of Virginia. If elected, we shall advocate liberal appropriations for the betterment and continual advancement of our public schools and the increased pay of public school teachers. We believe in a single and not in a multiple list of school books. We believe in the building, construction and improvement of the public highways under improved methods, and under conditions most advantageous to individual citizens; we believe the state should make liberal appropriations for the support of our unfortunate insane; that the liberal policy heretofore adopted toward the school for the education of the deaf and blind should be continued; we believe that to the full measure of our ability we should care for the needy Confederate soldiers, all of which, under a Democratic administration, we believe the state is in a position financially to do to an extent never possible before. We believe that the cardinal principle of the democratic party demands that the people of each county should be entitled to vote for all local officers, and we are therefore in favor of the election of the commissioners of the revenue by the people and we so voted in the last legislature. We advocate a conservative and economical administration of the state government and at all times a careful and prudent expenditure of the public moneys.

We believe in temperance, and it is not true that we are pro saloon candidates or that we stand for the interests of any class. We advocate the enforcement of the letter of all temperance legislation that has been enacted by the Democratic party, and will support any legislation that experience has shown necessary to carry it into effective operation. In this connection, believing them to be democratic measures, we will seek:

- 1. To secure the passage of a measure that will clearly define the requisite qualifications and fix the limitations for voters in local option elections.
- 2. To require that all social clubs take out a regular retail liquor license at the regular price.
- 3. That our state chemist be required to analyze mixtures supposed to contain intoxicating liquors upon the official request of any state or municipal officer, and that a certificate over the chemist's signature and seal of office shall be evidence in a court of law.
- 4. Believing as we do in the principle of local self-government which has always been a basic principle of the democratic party, we would be in favor of a measure which would leave to the voters of the district of a county the question of whether a distillery should be located in that district.
- 5. To amend our local option laws so as to apply to wards of a city.
- 6. To prohibit agents or dealers from soliciting orders for intoxicating liquors in no saloon cities, towns, counties and districts.
- 7. To secure an anti blind tiger law with adequate penalties by confinement in jail, and such bond as will be surety for respect and obedience to the law.

Thanking you for this opportunity to express our views through the valuable columns of your paper, and trusting that they meet with your approval and with the approval of the voters of this city and county and of this senatorial district we are,

Very respectfully,
EDWARD ECHEOLS,
J. W. CHURCHMAN,
S. H. WALKER.

CORNER MAIN & NEW STS. Smith-Gilkeson.

A marriage of special interest took place at Tinkling Spring church on the 22nd ult., at 6 o'clock, when Miss Anna L. Gilkeson, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. William F. Gilkeson, became the bride of Mr. J. T. Smith, of Russell county, Va.

The church was lovely in artistic decorations. The altar was surrounded by palms and evergreens, amid which flashed the lights from many candelabra. A huge arch supported the wedding bell.

"O Promise Me," was charmingly rendered by Mrs. Lara Sterrett, of Waynesboro. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Agnes Crawford, the bride party entered. Miss Barbara Shields, with Mr. John Paris, of Charlottesville; Miss Katie Firth, of Salem; Miss Ruth Finley, with Mr. Crawford Gilkeson; Miss Cornelia Smith, with Mr. Martin Shields; Miss Ora Hamilton, with Mr. Landou C. Young; Miss Leona Caldwell, with Mr. Jack Ellis.

Miss Fannie Strickler Gilkeson, sister of the bride, attractively gowned in white and carrying white carnations, was maid of honor.

Miss Zettine Hynes, flower girl, and Master Thornton Sterrett, ring-bearer, preceded the bride, who entered, leaning on the arm of her father, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. O'Keefe, of Bluefield.

The impressive ceremony was performed by Rev. G. W. Finley. A reception was tendered at the bride party at the hospitable home of the bride's parents. The presents were handsome and numerous. When the bride's cake was cut, Miss Zettine Hynes, who was fortunate in securing a lovely gold ring. The couple left on the midnight train on an extended trip to Washington, New York and Niagara.

Some Interesting Letters to Fifer Brothers.

Rockbridge Baths, Va., Feb. 23, 1907. This is to certify that Fifer Bros. of Staunton, Va., have just finished installing for me a 15 lb. Davis Acetylene Gas Machine in which I am well pleased. The machine does as they claim for it, runs like a clock. We have a nice bright clear and steady light and find them no trouble at all. We have 7 lights in our main store and find it only necessary to light 3 of them. We can recommend it to anyone who wants good light. Respectfully, T. F. Anderson.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(FROM OUR SECULAR CORRESPONDENT.) Washington, D. C., Oct. 26.—The serious money panic in Wall Street has called the attention of politicians to a thing that should have been settled at the last session of Congress. That is the reform of the currency. This is a subject that has been brought up at almost every session for a number of years past and that last year came within a measurable distance of being enacted into law. Since the serious panic of the past few days the need of action has been accentuated and perhaps this session something definite will be done.

Senator Elkins, just after a long talk with the President said that there would be a currency bill introduced early in the next session and while he did not say specifically that it would have the backing of the President, that is tolerably well understood. The Senator said what is quite true, and that is that the panic was due more to business prosperity than to business depression. This sounds paradoxical but it is true. The business of the country has been increasing during the past few years at about the rate of 30 per cent per annum. The increase in the real money has been only about 5 per cent, and this leaves a gap of 25 per cent, that has to be bridged in with credit. When the credit of the community, (which is only confidence) is shaken, then there is trouble. The President has been accused of shaking the confidence of the public and this may be true to the extent of having pointed out some of the financial crookedness that has been going on in the big corporations. But leaving that out of the question, the country needs more money or at least needs to be able to lay hand on it when it is wanted in a crisis. The proposal for a more elastic currency as framed at the last session of Congress was to allow the banks that needed it to issue additional note circulation up to a large percentage of their capital stock. This note circulation was to be taxed rather heavily so that when the banks had no actual need of it they would be glad to retire it and thus escape the tax. But when real money was wanted, as it was in New York early in the week, the banks would have been only too thankful to pay any reasonable tax on it if they could have gotten it. The principal reason that no action has been taken no currency in the past has been that it was so easy to put it off. But the recent sharp lesson is apt to make the legislators get busy.

There is talk now about sending the battleship squadron to the Pacific and leaving it there indefinitely. Whether it is brought back will depend largely on Congress and partly on the President. It is suspected that the President would not be displeased if the squadron were left in the Pacific and a new fleet built to take its place in the Atlantic. It will cost about a million and a half to send it to the Pacific and bring it back. If it falls to do this, the squadron will stay where it is sent. Of course bringing it home would not cost so much as building one new battleship, but then there would be a great temptation to fix up a fresh Atlantic squadron once the old one were out of the way and the need of it was felt.

Before the squadron starts on its long journey the crews of the ships will have to be largely recruited. It will take about 2,000 men to bring the squadron up to its full strength and at the rate that naval recruiting is going on now, there is a question whether this can be done in time. It seems rather a pity that the young men of the country do not know what a career the navy offers to them if they want to enlist and work up to the full possibilities of the service. The pay of the enlisted man is small at the start to be sure, but it includes board and lodging and at the end of the month the enlisted man in the navy usually has more money than the man who has been working for day wages on shore. There are various roads to extra money as signalmen, gun pointers and the like, all of which works pay a bonus over the regular salary. When a boy has been through one enlistment of three years, he can work up rapidly if he desires. With an ordinary education and application, is quite possible for him to be earning from $50 to $75 a month beside his board and lodging at the end of ten years service, and there is always the certainty of a life job if he wants it and a pension at the retirement age.

J. N. McFARLAND,
County Treasurer.

VIRGINIA. To-wit—In the Clerk's Office of the Circuit Court of Augusta County, on the 28th day of October, 1907.

Norfolk & Western Railway Company, vs. R. B. Lambert, R. B. Lambert, trustee, Mrs. Ruthie A. Lambert, Wm. G. Lambert, Margaret A. Lambert, John G. Lambert, Mary E. Wilson, P. H. Gold, J. N. Kirk, W. V. Kirk, J. D. Kirk, D. V. Reed, the unknown heirs, devisees, grantees of Levi D. Travers, deceased, and T. H. Keene, and J. Frank Willson.

Upon petition of the said R. B. Lambert, trustee of the said Norfolk & Western Railway Company, a corporation authorized by its charter and the laws of the State of Virginia to condemn lands for its uses.

The object of this proceeding and the prayer of the petition of the said Norfolk & Western Railway Company is for the appointment of commissioners, who shall be directed to ascertain what will be just compensation for certain lands proposed to be taken by said Railroad Company for its uses, situate at Basic City, in said county and State, and designated in the plat of said town of Basic City, as shown on the clerk's office of said county as lots Nos. 16, 20, 21, 22 and 24, in block No. 4, and to award damages, if any, resulting to adjacent or other property of the several owners, or property of any other person, beyond the pecuniary benefit that will accrue to such properties respectively for the construction and operation of the Company's works.

It appearing from the averments of the petition of said Norfolk & Western Railway Company filed in the clerk's office of said county on the 24th day of October, 1907, that Levi D. Travers, in his lifetime a resident of the State of Maryland, claimed to be the owner of said lots of said lot No. 16, and that the heirs, devisees, or grantees of said Levi D. Travers are unknown; that Agnes M. Lambert, one of the owners of lot No. 20 is under the age of twenty-one years, and has no guardian; that the devisees of said lot No. 21 are unknown; that J. D. Kirk one of the claimants of lot No. 22, is a non-resident of the State of Virginia; that the residence of D. V. Reed, one of the owners of lot No. 24, is unknown.

It is therefore ordered that J. N. Kirk, D. V. Reed, the unknown heirs, devisees or grantees of Levi D. Travers, deceased, and T. H. Keene, and J. Frank Willson, the other above named defendants do appear within 15 days after due publication of this notice in the clerk's office of said court and do what is necessary to protect their interests.

GRANDPARENTS TELL ABOUT PE-RU-NA.

Rheumatism of Old Age. Mrs. Caroline Trunk, 1705 Jefferson Ave., Peoria, Ill., writes: "I had a very painful trouble for six years, consisting of rheumatism in the back and in the thigh. I used a great deal of medicine, but it did not help me. Then I used Dr. Hartman's Peruna, and two bottles of this entirely freed me of the rheumatism. I wish to keep both Peruna and Mannin always in the house. This is the best medicine that I can recommend any one to take for rheumatism."

Catarh Fifteen Years. Mrs. S. A. Rogers, LeMoore, Cal., writes: "I had chronic catarh of fifteen years standing, and nearly seemed to stare me in the face. I tried several 'so-called' catarh remedies, and without avail. I took fifteen bottles of Peruna, and five bottles of Mannin, and I am completely cured. All the catarh symptoms are gone, my digestion is good, my appetite is good, and I rest well at night. I am seventy years of age and I hope to live many more years to praise Peruna to all my friends who suffer from catarh as I did."

Catarh All Through My System. Mr. Robert Metters, Murdock, Cass Co., Neb., Box 45, writes: "I commenced to take Peruna the first of last February. I took it as nearly as possible according to directions. I also got a Peruna Almanac and for the first time learned that my trouble was systemic catarh. I had catarh from my head all through my system. I took Peruna until I was entirely cured."

Cough and Indigestion. Thos. Beckwith, 11 Kitchell St., Auburn, N. Y., writes: "I was troubled with a cough and indigestion. Thanks to your advice and Peruna, I am in good health now. I was talking with an old friend last week. He told me he took Peruna last winter, and he is in the best of health, working every day and speaks highly of your medicine. I shall feel it my duty to recommend Peruna to all my friends."

A great many testimonials from people of high rank and people in the ordinary walks of life, are received every month. Catarh in all its phases, catarh of the different organs of the body; acute catarh, chronic catarh, catarh that has baffled other remedies—all these are giving to Peruna unqualified and unsolicited endorsement.
