SENATORIAL PARALYSIS.

The glad news comes that Senator Daniel has so far recovered that he will soon be brought home from Florida. There seems to exist a peculiar disease which may be termed Senatorial Paralysis. Senator Tillman was paralyzed and did not speak for some time. He lay for a while unconscious and death was thought to be certain. He got so well afterward that he is now at home walking about enjoying himself better, we are told, than he has been for years.

Senator Daniel was felled by a stroke so terrific that he became speechless, then he went into a state of coma and remained that way for some days, his death hourly expected. But he has now spoken, indeed talks well and pleasantly, and will soon be home. Outside the Senate or away from Senators there comes some times a very serious paralysis. It is a sympathetic sort of disease. When in any State, Virginia for instance, one of the U. S. Senators is paralyzed, a certain sort of exuberance seizes certain other persons here and there, throughout the State. They fall not into a state of coma, but the opposite. They parley, they talk in low voices, they fairly run here or there, they call in friends for secret councils, they have this or that one to write letters, they warn the wives, they, in other words, GET BUSY.

Later on, if the stricken Senator lingers, they get more and more busy, they spin like tops. But if he begins recovering they grow pale, as he gets still better they become more feeble. If he recovers they are paralyzed. Then their period of coma begins. In the present instance some cases of it are profound. This coma lasts indefinitely, that is as long as the stricken Senator survives. The disease is not called Senatorial Paralysis, though in some respects it looks much like it, certainly it is a disease which but for prompt remedy might become very fatal. It can be cured. Can any one guess the remedy?

Another mishap to one of our war vessels has caused the death of eight men. This is the only one we have for most of our war vessels, outside of places for parasites, and as money wasters.

CONGRESS AND THE PRIMARY.

The primary election for Congress in this district has been called. It will be held on the 9th day of August. Hon. H. D. Flood will be in the race and may possibly be opposed. There was some talk of Hon. A. E. Strode, now State Senator from Amherst county, shying his castor into the ring. At present Mr. Strode has not fully made up his mind. He thought he saw an open way to a seat there when he first adopted the cause of the Anti-Saloon League and began preaching State-wide prohibition, and became the cat's paw of Mr. James Cannon, Jr., J. D. McAllister, and other ex-preachers, who were pressing their political designs on the State. The hypocrisy of that movement was so apparent to the majority of the members of the Legislature that the "Enabling Act" as it was sardoniously termed by those past masters in the fakier art, was badly snowed under, and down with it went Mr. Strode. It is doubtful if he will now rise to the surface in time to get his lungs cleared for the primary fray, or cut a great deal of teeth in the election, notwithstanding he is well known to be the most frigid proposition this side the polar sea.

The recent announcement of the Anti-Saloon League, that its purpose now is to go square into politics, and seize the Legislature, and force State-wide, has in no sense strengthened the political purposes, aspirations or chances of success of Mr. Strode. Certainly it has not done so in Staunton or Augusta.

Three gallons of whiskey reached Mr. Roosevelt in Darkest Africa, sent by Col. Castleman of Kentucky. Africa is without an Equalizer Act.

CALL FOR A RECOUNT.

Editor Richmond Evening Journal. In your issue of March 23d you quote from the Staunton "Spectator" the examination of a dollar bill in which the examiner found 92,000,000 microbes. Do you believe it? I don't. If there were 92,000,000 on one, there must, of necessity, be ten times as many on a ten spot. Why, my dear Mr. Editor, there is scarcely room enough on one dollar note for those disease breeders to get acquainted, and in order to be effective it seems to be that there should be some understanding between them as to what disease they may be the cause, manner, means or instrument of producing. There are not diseases enough known to medical science for these fellows to get up.

I see no reason, in the law of nature, but I may snap at him. How subject old men are to the vice of lying! It is positively scandalous. Think of a man holding a microscope before his eye for over 300 days! He would be "obliged" to skip some. How the little "vampires" can stick on so long puzzles me! I call for a recount.

VIRGINIA-WEST VA. DEBT.

There has not been a great deal of interest concerning the settlement of the debt question between Virginia and West Virginia manifested with us, because the question does not seriously affect Virginia. None of the money comes to this State. Not one of our citizens is interested personally in the issue, and so far as we are concerned there might never have been a suit brought. But West Virginia politicians would never let the matter up. They knew it meant political death, and they also, somehow, seemed to think the case had settled itself, and grew rather excited when it was mentioned. Their legislators had a kind of habit of resolving that West Virginia owed Virginia nothing, and these resolutions satisfied their minds which was all that was necessary. The suit was all set brought in the Supreme Court of the United States, it was referred to a commissioner to make a report, and last week that report came in. Here is what he found, according to statements of the press, and it is not pleasant to look at from the side of the Mountain State:

The report of Special Master Charles E. Littlefield to the Supreme Court of the United States in the Virginia debt suit has been filed with the court. It is a long and interesting report, and the contents of West Virginia, the report would indicate that West Virginia would be held liable, if Mr. Littlefield's findings are adopted by the court, for a debt of twenty million dollars in round numbers with the interest from the formation of the state.

Mr. Littlefield's report is not binding on any one nor is it final. It is merely a report of his finding after hearing the testimony of both sides upon the question referred to him by the court, for investigation. However, his findings doubtless will have weight with the court in reaching a conclusion in the matter.

Mr. Littlefield starts with the debt of Virginia, January 1, 1861, placed as agreed upon by both states in round numbers at thirty-three million dollars. Accrued and unpaid on that amount is agreed to be about $1,000,000.

The proportion of the ordinary expenses of the government was properly assignable to the counties now forming West Virginia, he places at a little more than $11,000,000. This is figured at about one-third of the total as West Virginia's proportion. If the same proportion is used on the original debt, this would make a total of $23,333,000 as West Virginia's gross proportion of the debt, but West Virginia would get a credit for moneys paid into the Virginia treasury which according to Mr. Littlefield's report should be a little more than $6,000,000, less about $3,000,000 expended by Virginia on works of improvement in what is now West Virginia. This gives West Virginia a credit of about three and one-third millions leaving a net liability at the time of the formation of the state of $20,000,000, with interest for almost forty years.

Richmond slept whilst the Yeggmen carried away everything in the post-office not mailed down with at least two nails. And yet the newspapers there occasionally speak of Richmond as "wide awake."

JUDGE BREWER DEAD.

Justice David J. Brewer who died suddenly at his home in Washington on Monday night last, was one of the ablest men who has ever adorned the Supreme bench. He had a grasp of great questions which placed him in the front rank of the judiciary. He saw the constitution as it was intended to be seen by its framers, and gave to it a breadth of construction and interpretation which it must enjoy if this country is to be preserved as a Republic. His views on some subjects have not been in consonance with what might be termed the corporate interests. There seemed to be a desire a few years ago to change the constitution by judicial construction, that instrument being considered by some advanced thinkers as antiquated and unsuited to the times. It was intimated that Mr. Roosevelt had requested the retirement of Justice Brewer among others, that he might put younger judges on that bench who were known to be in favor of construing away certain troublesome clauses in the constitution. But Judge Brewer declined to resign or retire, he blocked such game if there existed such and has given to the country much of his wisdom since then, and made it stronger. It is to be hoped no man will be found to pull down that which he has builded.

We are informed that many of the members of the Maryland Legislature who now want to curtail negro suffrage in that State, are those who enjoyed it most. This is not unusual. In Virginia the strength of the Republican party has always been the negro. Not long ago he was booted out into the cold. No seat was allowed him in convention. No voice was given him in politics. The party was made "Lily White." Such is the reward of political serfdom.

George W. Coleman who embezzled funds of the National City Bank of Cambridge, Mass., of which he was cashier, has made a confession. He says he lost the money, $180,000, at trying to break a Faro bank in New York city. This accounts for his having gotten away with so little. Usually bank officers get hunked of the million size, and they drop it in that larger gambling den, the New York Stock Exchange.

The wife of James Gailey, at one time a vice-president of the U. S. Steel Trust, has been granted a divorce. This is only one of a number of divorces granted wives of the officers of that corporation. Marriage ties there seem to be by no means held by bands of steel, or riveted so that they will not break.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent. Washington, D. C., March 26.—The political situation as viewed from the standpoint of the national capital, is much more interesting to both parties than legislation and executive matters just now. The election of Mr. Foss as a Democrat to Congress in Massachusetts this week by a plurality of 5,940 in a district which elected a Republican in 1908 by a plurality of 14,000, is regarded here and throughout the country as a most significant indication as to popular feeling. Of course, political figures are hard to work, and will show plausibly special causes for this remarkable political change. But crediting the Republicans with all that they may

Mr. A. B. Carter last week sold to Mr. John F. Beard of Pensacola, Fla., his handsome suburban home "Selma," for $25,000 cash. This is one of the prettiest country homes around Staunton, and was formerly owned by Judge J. N. Hendren. Mr. Beard and his family expect to locate here permanently in the early fall.

Justice Brewer Dead.

HE WAS THIRD IN RANK IN THE SUPREME COURT, 73 YEARS OLD AND A SPEAKER OF WIDE RENOWN.

Justice David J. Brewer, of the Supreme Court, died suddenly of apoplexy about 11 o'clock Monday night in the bathroom of his home, 1243 Sixteenth street northwest, Washington, D. C. Mr. Brewer and his sisters were in the house and quickly summoned Drs. Rufin and Taylor, but the stroke proved fatal. Before they arrived Mrs. Brewer heard a fall and was the first to reach her husband.

Ashley M. Gould, chief judge of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, a neighbor, was the first friend to arrive. Justice Brewer was the third in rank of the Supreme Court. Besides Mrs. Brewer, he is survived by three daughters. He also leaves three sisters.

Justice Brewer was widely known as a lecturer on church topics. He was a Presbyterian, and was one of the most earnest workers of that faith. He had just completed his thirtieth year on the bench.

HOT DRY SUMMER.

DARBY SAYS SO—HE HAS NEVER RECORDED A FAILURE.

Darby, Pa.—After having successfully predicted a long, cold winter with several blizzards which arrived within a few days of schedule. John T. Roberts, L. L., Darby carpenter, who has been forecasting the weather for 42 years with such certainty that all Darby swears by him, is the first to come forward and say a long hot summer is ahead of us.

"June will be warm as a month," said Roberts, "and the early part of July will be slightly cool, but after the first week it will begin to get warm and will continue all month. August will come in red hot and will stay that way. Crops will be affected by the heat, and many persons will be overcome. There will be severe thunder storms all summer."

Roberts forecasts the weather by taking the direction of the wind for three days of the equinox, taking the first day, March 20, as an indication for the weather of June the second day, March 21, for the weather of July, and the third day, March 22, for the month of August.

Hicks' April Forecast.

A regular storm period extends from the 2d to the 6th. It will come in by rising temperature, falling barometer and growing cloudiness over western sections, attended by rain, hail and forceful winds.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 8th, 9th and 10th. The indications are that very unsettled and threatening weather will continue from the preceding period, and that renewed storms, with low barometer, high temperature, thunder and wind, will prevail generally on and touching those dates.

A regular storm period extending from the 14th to the 19th, central on the 16th. This period will bring low barometer and return of energetic storms on and near the 15th, 16th, 17th and 18th. The Mars influence will disappear after the middle of April, and warmer, settled springlike weather may be expected. Very cool nights will be natural from the 18th to 20th, with frost to the northward.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 21st, 22d and 23d. On and touching the 22d the temperature will rise suddenly to very warm, the barometer will fall rapidly and storms of thunder, rain, hail and wind will touch many places in their quick transition from west to east.

Another regular storm period covers the 15th to 29th, central on the 27th. Look for falling barometer and renewal of decided storms during this period. Much cooler as April ends.

Long Glade Items.

March 29.—Miss Emma Christian's many friends will be glad to learn that she is getting along nicely after being operated on for appendicitis at the University Hospital, Charlottesville. She was accompanied there by her brother, C. R. Christian and Dr. Bell.

Miss Annie Ervine has returned from a short visit to her aunt at Churchville.

Dr. Fred Bell returned home this week from the Chicago Veterinary College.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hottinger spent Easter with Mrs. Hottinger's sister, Mrs. Friend, in Staunton.

Founders Day at the U. Va.

Special Founders Day this year at the University of Virginia will be one of the most notable that has ever been held at that institution. The exercises will be held in Cabell Hall on Wednesday, April 13, and will commence at 11 o'clock a. m. Among the notable speakers will be Andrew Carnegie and Elihu Root.

As is the usual custom, the members of the board of visitors, the Miller Board, the Endowment Fund Board, the alumni and the members of the faculty, will assemble and march to the hall from the Rotunda.

The Cause of Many Sudden Deaths.

There is a disease prevailing in this country most dangerous because so deceptive. Many sudden deaths are caused by it—heart disease, pneumonia, heart failure or apoplexy are often the result of kidney disease. If kidney trouble is allowed to advance the kidney-poison, which enters the blood, will attack the organs, causing catarrh of the bladder, brick-dust or sediment in the urine, head ache, back ache, lame back, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness or the kidneys themselves break down and waste away cell by cell.

Bladder troubles almost always result from a derangement of the kidneys and better health in that organ is obtained quickest by a proper treatment of the kidneys. Swamp-Root corrects inability to hold urine and scalding pain in passing it, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often through the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and immediate effect of Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, is soon realized. It stands the highest because of its remarkable health restoring properties. A trial will convince anyone. Swamp-Root is pleasant to take and is sold by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar size bottles. You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, both sent free by mail. Address, Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this notice in our paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, and don't let a dealer sell you something in place of Swamp-Root—if you do you will be disappointed.

WANT PREACHERS TO TALK DISEASE.

ANTI-TUBERCULOSIS ASSOCIATION ASKS MINISTERS TO OBSERVE APRIL 24, 1910.

Richmond, Va., March 25, 1910.—Sunday, April 24, has been set aside as a day for sermons against disease, and every minister in the State will all be asked to tell his congregation on that day, how consumption may be cured and prevented. The State Anti-Tuberculosis Association, which is making this request, is preparing literature for the clergy who are interested in the crusade against consumption and is urging the ministers of every creed to co-operate in celebrating the day.

The National Anti-Tuberculosis Association has chosen April 24, as the "Church Day," and has asked every State Association to name the same day. The Executive Committee of the Virginia Association on yesterday approved plans for exercises in all the churches of the State.

At the headquarters of the Association, the following additional statement was given out today: "The association has made this request of the clergy because the officers all believe that the ministry is one of the strongest forces for better health in the State. We believe that if the educated ministers of the State, on April 24, will make references in their sermons to the ravages of consumption, the people of the State will receive an amount of information which will be of the greatest possible value in reducing the spread of consumption." Many ministers have already agreed to preach on consumption, while dozens of letters are being received daily from other clergymen asking for Anti-Tuberculosis literature. We have every assurance the Tuberculosis Sunday will be a success.

Big Coal Deal.

A dispatch from Roanoke Saturday says: One of the largest coal transactions which has taken place in the Virginia-Kentucky fields recently was announced yesterday. The deal called for the expenditure of $5,000,000, which was made by the Berwind White people, for 100,000 acres of coal lands in Kentucky, on Peter's Creek, between the waters of the Tug Fork and the Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy, near the West Virginia and Virginia lines. The price paid per acre was $50. The deal was carried through by John Mayo and Taylor Vinson. Bluefield people were interested in the sale of the land, which they have held for a number of years.

Judge Aiken of the corporation court of Danville, has ordered a local option election in that city for Thursday, April 28. Danville is now dry.
