Held for Selling Beer

The popularity of Jim Boyer's restaurant, a colored resort on Johnson street, excited the suspicions of the police about a week or ten days ago and a couple of bottles of "Alto Malt," to which the popularity seemed due, were sent to the state chemist at Richmond for an analysis. The chemist reported "Alto Malt," which it develops Jim had sold daily, not excepting Sundays, and in quantities very satisfactory to him, to be a low grade of beer. Accordingly Boyer was arrested Monday afternoon and is now locked up pending trial.

DEATH BY DROWNING IN NORTH CAROLINA

Chas. F. Spencer Loses Life At Bryson Summer School

The sad news reached STAUNTON on Sunday morning that Mr. Charles F. Spencer, a young man, well and favorably known in STAUNTON, had been drowned on Saturday evening at a summer camp at Bryson in North Carolina, where he, with others, had a number of boys who took this mode of spending the summer, and studying at the same time. Mr. R. W. D. Taylor, who is also well known in STAUNTON, where he taught in the Public School, was in the same camp. The exact circumstances of the drowning, we have not yet been able to ascertain, but from the best information we can gather, it was a boating and not a swimming accident. The body, we understand, has been recovered and will be brought to Lexington for burial, where his parents Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Spencer live. Mr. Spencer was a teacher at the time of his death at the Woodbury Forest School, near Orange, Va., where he had been several years. He was a graduate of Washington and Lee University, where his standing was extremely high and he had so impressed his personality on Maj. F. H. Smith, superintendent of the STAUNTON City schools here, that through his influence he was elected to a position in them. This position he filled with eminent satisfaction, for several years and made many friends in STAUNTON, where he has never since been held, in the highest esteem. After leaving the public schools, he taught at the STAUNTON Military Academy and at the Augusta Military Academy at Fort Defiance, and was later tendered a professorship at Woodbury Forest School where he has since been teaching, all of which positions he filled with marked ability and success. He was about thirty three years of age and was born in Lexington, Va. No young man stood in higher esteem in this community, and the death of none could have been more sincerely regretted.

LATER

Mrs. J. P. Shuckhouse on North Washington street is in receipt of a letter from her daughter, Mrs. R. W. D. Taylor, giving the details of the tragedy near Bryson, N. C., in which Mr. Charles F. Spencer lost his life last Saturday. It seems that for days Mr. Spencer and other members of the camping party had been planning a little exploring expedition to go down the Tuckasegee River, on which they were located. Mr. Spencer, who is a man of splendid physique and an ardent lover of outdoor sports, looked forward to the trip with great interest and was the prime factor in its inception. The party was made up of five boat loads Mr. Spencer and Mr. Taylor in the first or leading boat, two instructors in the second boat and the other three boats filled with the older boys of the camp. They had gone about ten miles down the river in the best of spirits when they began to encounter rough water, the stream became very rapid and strewn with boulders.

They passed safely through some rapids when they came to a part of the river called "the narrows" which was considered very dangerous and against which Mr. Spencer had been warned. At this time Messrs. Spencer and Taylor were ahead of the rest of the party, Mr. Spencer steering and Mr. Taylor rowing. Mr. Taylor asked Mr. Spencer if he was going to attempt to go through the narrows to which he replied in the affirmative. They continued forward, the current becoming very much swifter until in a few minutes they were in the midst of waves two and three feet in height. The boat was struck by one of these, capsized immediately but they both came up again. Mr. Spencer smiling and jokingly considering the incident as a joke. They were in a dangerous position however and when the boat was again knocked over by the rough water, Mr. Taylor was caught some way in the rocks. Letting loose his hold on the boat he was able to extricate himself and was quickly swept down stream. He saw Mr. Spencer about thirty yards further up stream and nearer the shore. It is not known whether Mr. Spencer struck a rock and was injured or whether he became stricken with cramp, but when Mr. Taylor got to shore and began looking for Mr. Spencer, he was nowhere to be found. The remainder of the party had not attempted the dangerous chute. Mr. Taylor anxiously inquired if any of them had seen him but none of them had. He then went back and continued his search for about an hour, most of the time in the water. Later a searching party of villagers and campers was organized consisting of about fifty men but all efforts to locate the missing man were futile. Up until Sunday at noon no trace of his body had been found.

The drowning was a great blow to the campers and particularly to Mr. Taylor as the two were the closest of friends and considered inseparable.

PROTEST AGAINST BRYAN

Democratic State Committee "Up in the Air" Indianapolis, Ind., July 10.—Members of the Indiana Brewers' Association have formally protested before the democratic state central committee against the bringing of William Jennings Bryan into the state to make speeches this fall, and the committee is "up in the air" over the proposition. Other democrats believe that the failure to ask him to come here would be disastrous to the legislative tickets in "dry" counties.

HIGHLAND COUNTY EXCITED

Great Interest in Case Against Jared A. Jones Estate

Excitement is running high in Highland county this week. The case of the late Jared A. Jones is being tried and a crowd is attending the court, during its trial. In addition to the prosecuting attorney, there are Hon. Daniel Harmon of Charlottesville and Mr. James B. Stephenson from Harrisonburg for the county, and Messrs. E. H. Hiner of Franklin, H. H. Kerr and Chas. Curry Esq., of this city, for the Jones Estate. Some time ago after there had been a good deal of excitement caused in settling the accounts of Mr. Jones, Mr. James B. Stephenson wrote and was published in Harrisonburg Times an article of considerable length, reflecting on the personal character of Mr. Jared A. Jones deceased. This we are informed, led to a personal encounter Sunday evening, between Mr. Andrew L. Jones, an attorney at Monterey and a son of the late Jared A. Jones, in which Mr. Stephenson suffered some injury, the effect of which could not be ascertained. There has fortunately been no event in Highland that has caused as much feeling, in years. It has drawn into it many of the most prominent people, a circumstance which is to be deeply regretted.

HIGHLAND EXCITED

OVER J. A. JONES CASE

Personal Encounter Between James B. Stephenson and Andrew L. Jones, Case Likely to be Argued in Staunton

Monterey, Va., July 12, 1910. EDITOR DISPATCH. Shortly after Judge Anderson convened court on yesterday morning, a lively fracas occurred on the Court House ground. On May 20th the Harrisonburg Times published a letter attacking the character of the late Jared A. Jones. After several demands the editor divulged the name of the author of the article, viz. James B. Stephenson, an attorney of Harrisonburg, who was associated here in May with the Commonwealth Atty. in presenting claims against Mr. Jones's estate before the Board of Supervisors.

Shortly after eleven o'clock Andrew L. Jones, one of the administrators, met Jas. Stephenson in the Court House yard and charged him with slandering his fathers name. Mr. Stephenson made a motion as if to draw a knife or pistol, whereupon Andrew struck him knocking him down, and jumped on him but was pulled off by some of his friends; Stephenson then made an effort to get at him when Andrew Jones broke away from the men who were holding him struck Mr. Stephenson again and knocked him down. Andrew Jones's friends again pulled him off, and while holding him on his feet and drew a knife, and after using a vile epithet, said to Andrew "I will put you where I did your father." Wm. F. Jones, the other administrator then took a hand and struck Mr. Stephenson again and he was knocked down for the third time. Mr. Stephenson was then taken away by his friends, somewhat bruised.

It is understood that Mr. Stephenson boasted on the streets of Harrisonburg, last week, about what he was going to do with the Jones boys here this week.

The preliminary proceedings in the suit against Mr. Jones Adm's came up this morning, and it looks as if the case will be argued in STAUNTON to avoid excitement. On May 12th Mr. Ben Hiner Franklin, W. Va., warned the board that it would probably create a feud in this county, if they instituted this suit, and the excited condition of the people at present, justifies his prediction.

A number of STAUNTON automobiles have been here within the last few days, and considerably enervated the town.

Quite a large gathering is in attendance at Court. Messrs Hugh Kerr, Charles and Granville Curry and W. H. Landes represent the STAUNTON Bar.

The town is greatly improved by the electric light and water plant, both of which were installed by Forest Kyle.

Mr. Kyle is building a handsome residence adjacent to his Electric Light office.
