GOVERNOR MANN VISITS STAUNTON

Stops Over Here on His Way From Harrisonburg to Richmond And Has a Talk With Some of His Political Friends--His Views on The Coming Meeting of The House of Governors

Governor Mann came to Staunton last night after a day spent in Rockingham county, and registered at the Hotel Augusta where he had a talk with several of his friends, including Senator Bohls and Mr. S. M. Donald. He left here for Richmond on C. and O. train No. 2, early this morning. The governor has had a rather busy time of it in the last two days. He left Richmond Tuesday night and went to Front Royal where he attended the Ladies Memorial Bazaar and made an address. He also visited the excellent poultry show in progress at Front Royal and says he saw some mighty fine fowls. He went to Harrisonburg yesterday morning and in the course of the day made four speeches. Early in the morning he drove out to the Shenandoah Collegiate Institute at Dayton where he made an address, and on his way back stopped at the public school between Dayton and Harrisonburg. There he found the pupils drawn up before the school, waiting to greet him as he passed. He stopped and spent a few minutes very pleasantly there, and made a speech to the children which delighted them. He was accompanied on this trip by Messrs. George N. Conrad, G. H. Hulvey, C. J. Heatwole, Charles E. Fahrney, Frank H. Heatwole and Charles W. Wampler.

Next he went to the Horticultural exhibition in Assembly Hall, inspected the splendid display of apples now on exhibition here and made an address in which he spoke of the magnificent possibilities of the valley as a fruit growing section. From there he went to the Boys' corn show in the News building, where the youngsters are making a very creditable showing. He told the boys the country was looking to them to produce the big crops of the future and to show their fathers how to run the farms, and to grow corn as well as other things.

"And they do it too," he said last night in speaking of his day's experiences. "The future of agriculture in this state, as well as elsewhere, is in the hands of the boys now on the farms. These corn shows and other exhibitions of products of the soil are good things and ought to be encouraged. The show at Harrisonburg was a good one but it could have been better. The boys did not start in time. The movement looking to the show did not start until last April. If you want to do the best with corn, you ought to start the fall before, get the ground plowed, so as to have time to get it in fine condition by planting time. One chap raised 79 1-3 bushels shelled corn on an acre, a fraction over sixteen barrels, and part of his land overflowed. Down in Dinwiddie one boy raised 167 7-9 bushels to the acre. That, I believe, is the record. Another boy, in Halifax raised 129 bushels and his father raised 168. It seems that the best corn crops in Virginia are raised on the poorer lands of the state. Up here in these rich counties the farmers depend too much on their land. Down in the poorer counties the farmers have to work their corn for all that is in them or they do not get anything. There the man makes the crop."

Governor Mann will go to Frankfort, Ky., the week after Thanksgiving to attend the conference of governors which will be in session there from November 29 to December 3d. He thinks these meetings ought to be productive of much good, especially in the matter of securing uniform laws. "There is one menace to the usefulness of these meetings," said the governor last night, "and that lies in the social feature. Already I have received two invitations to receptions, and I have no doubt others will come. Of course we are all delighted to accept the hospitality of the people among whom our meetings will be held, and these receptions are delightful, so pleasant in fact that our minds are apt to be diverted from real purpose of the gathering and the business we are supposed to do. There is much that can be done by a conference of the governors of the various states--recommendations for legislation, the reaching of a better understanding of the problems that concern us all--yet it is so easy to be led away from work by the generous hospitality that is offered us."

A. L. GOODLOE INJURED
Well Known Culpeper Man Has a Serious Fall
Culpeper, Va., Nov. 18.—A. L. Goodloe, president of the Goodloe Wholesale Company and president of the Business Men's Association of Culpeper, was badly injured at his wholesale home on Davis street yesterday. Mr. Goodloe's foot slipped on the upper step of the circular steps, leading from the main floor to the office floor above, and before he could recover himself, he fell backwards to the lower floor, sustaining severe injuries.

Mrs. W. W. King has returned from a tour of various cities visited in the interest of the Federation of Women's clubs.

HIS FLIGHT ENDS IN DEATH

Ralph Johnstone, Holder of Altitude Record, Killed at Denver

Denver, Col., Nov. 18.—Ralph Johnstone, holder of the world's altitude record was killed at the aviation meet at Overland Park yesterday. One wing tip of his machine crumpled while he was doing his famous spiral glide and he dropped like a lump of lead to the earth, 300 feet down. He made a brave battle for his life, but it availed him nothing. He was dead when the people got to him and he lay every bone in his body was broken. Johnstone was fresh from his victory at Belmont Park where he had broken the world's record for altitude with a flight of 9,714 feet. The fatal flight was the second Johnstone had made today. He had gone to a height of over 900 feet, and as he started downward, a trace on the left side of the lower plane gave way and the wing tips of both upper and lower planes folded as though they had been hinged. For a second Johnstone attempted to right the plane by warping the other wing tip. Then the horrified spectators saw the plane swirl like a wounded bird and plunge straight toward the earth.

Johnstone was thrown from his seat as the nose of the plane swung downward. He caught on one of the wire stays between the planes and grasped one of the wooden braces of the upper plane with both hands. Then, working with hands and feet, he fought by main strength to warp the planes so that their surface might catch the air and check his descent. For a second it seemed that he might succeed, for the football helmet he wore blew off and fell much more rapidly than the plane. The hope was momentary, however, for when about 300 feet from the ground the machine turned completely over and the spectators fled wildly as the broken plane, with the aviator still fighting grimly in its mesh of wires and stays, plunged among them with a crash.

Scarcely had Johnstone hit the ground before morbid men and women swarmed over the wreckage fighting with each other for souvenirs. One of the broken wooden stays had gone almost through Johnstone's body. Before doctors or police could reach the scene one man had torn this splinter from the body and run away, carrying his trophy with its victim's blood still dripping from its ends. The crowd tore away the canvas from over the body and even fought for the gloves that had protected Johnstone's hands from the cold. The machine fell on the opposite side of the field, away from the grand stand, and there were but a few hundred near the spot, but physicians and police were rushed across as soon as possible. Physicians declared that Johnstone must have been instantaneously killed. His back, neck and both legs were broken, the bones of his thigh were forced through the flesh and the leather garments he wore.

REPLIES TO MAYOR WATT

Woodrow Wilson Expresses Appreciation of Congratulations

Upon receiving the news of the election of Prof. Woodrow Wilson as Governor of New Jersey, Mayor H. H. Watt of Staunton sent him a telegram of congratulations, telling him how much the people of his birth place were interested in his success. Mr. Watt received the following note in reply:

Princeton, University,
Princeton, N. J.,
Nov. 16, 1910.

My dear Mr. Mayor:—
Your message of November 8th gave me a great deal of pleasure. I look back very often to the place of my birth and nothing could have gratified me more than such a message. I hope that in the years to come I shall be able in some small measure to justify the confidence placed in me by the generous judgment of my fellow Virginians.

Cordially and faithfully yours,
WOODROW WILSON.
The Hon. Hampton H. Watt.

HAMILTON—COOK

Staunton Girl Weds Waynesboro Man in Carrollton, Missouri

The Carrollton (Missouri) Daily Democrat has an account of the wedding of Miss Mary Ellen Cook, the charming daughter of Mr. James F. Cook of Staunton to Mr. Guy Wilson Hamilton, of Waynesboro, where he is actively engaged in the hardware business with Mr. Fred Cook, brother of the bride.

The wedding took place at the home of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Mary Lindsay, in the presence of the immediate family only, the Rev. Lytle of Kansas City, performing the ceremony.

Prior to the ceremony Miss Bob Lindsey sang "Because," which was followed by the entrancing strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Mrs. Valbracht. Little Louise and Martha Valbracht as two tiny fairies strewed flowers in the path of the couple. Little Mary Amanda Lindsey was ring bearer. The bride carried a shower bouquet of roses and maiden hair ferns, tied with beautiful white ribbon and was attired in a handsome blue traveling suit. The groom wore conventional black. Following the ceremony the wedding cake was out resulting in the dancing needle falling to Miss Bob Lindsey.

The happy couple left shortly thereafter for an extended visit to points of interest through the east and will be at home to their friends in Waynesboro, Va., after January 1st.

DR. COOK GETS A REBUFF

Copenhagen University Will Have Nothing to do With Him

Copenhagen, Nov. 18.—Dr. Cook recently wrote to the university commission which examined his papers and to ex-Minister of Commerce Hans offering to come here and meet his critics. The commission replied: "We have nothing to do with you." M. Hansen telegraphed: "Never come here unless you have something absolutely reliable to tell us. The feeling against you is more intense than ever after the evidence of your 'Eklipse'."

APPROVED BY PATENT OFFICE

Rockingham Man Invents Attachment to Lessen Submarine Danger

Dr. Sively S. Peterson, of San Francisco, Cal., a native of Dayton, Rockingham, Va., has made an invention. Dr. Peterson has three sisters in Harrisonburg: Mrs. Paul Dutton, Mrs. George Hess and Mrs. Eugene Billheimer. The San Francisco Examiner publishes the following concerning the invention:

"Dr. Peterson's invention is an attachment to the submarine, consisting of a circular compartment two feet or more in diameter and about five feet in length, extending from the top or deck of the boat and having double doors, one opening to the boat and one to the sea. In case of accident, which prevents the boat from rising, a person desiring to escape enters this compartment, closes the boat door behind him, and then opens a valve, which permits the sea water to flow in until the air in the chamber has condensed to the same density as the water. He then twists a lever and the sea door opens, permitting him to float quickly to the surface."

GRAND JURY HAS SCHEMCK CASE

Former Employes of Rich Man's Household Summoned to Testify Against Their Mistress Who is Accused of Poisoning Her Husband -- Her Bad Family Record Brought to Light

Wheeling, W. Va. Nov. 18.—The special grand jury called to consider the evidence in the case of Mrs. Laura Farnsworth Schenck, charged with administering poison to her husband, John Schenck, met today.

It is the purpose of Professor J. B. Handlan to present only evidence as will bring about an indictment. The witnesses reported to have been summoned were former employes in the Schenck household.

It is reported that samples of the water alleged to have contained arsenic were secured by the defense as well as the state, and that analyses were made by chemists. While it will be a matter of a long time before Mr. Schenck is able to leave the hospital, Dr. Frank LeMoyné Hupp reported last evening that the patient is improving.

It is hoped that within a few days, if his improvement continues, he may be placed in a rolling chair and given a breath of open air. It will take a long time to get all of the arsenic from his system. The records of the state penitentiary at Moundsville, show Henry Farnsworth, the father of Mrs. Schenck, died while a prisoner there. He was serving a sentence for second degree murder, having been convicted of killing his own child, an offspring by the second wife.

The records show that Farnsworth was first received at the institution in fall of 1884 on a charge of bigamy, being sent up from Wirt county. He had married his wife and children and going to Wirt county married again without first obtaining a divorce. He served one year, being released in the fall of 1885. To the second union several children were born, Mrs. Schenck was his youngest child by his first wife.

Convicted of murdering his own child, whom he shot with a revolver, Farnsworth was again sentenced to the penitentiary, this time from Ritchie county. He entered the prison in the spring of 1893 and died in 1894. The criminal records also show other Farnsworths who came from Pleasant's county, the same section from which Mrs. Schenck hails, have served sentences for various crimes.

Joseph Farnsworth was sent to the penitentiary from Pleasant's county in 1886 for horse stealing and served five years for the offense. Noble Farnsworth, another relative of this family, was released from the penitentiary a few days ago, after serving a two-year term at Moundsville for forgery.

Three other Farnsworths, all relatives of Henry Farnsworth, are serving sentences in the Ohio penitentiary, it is said, for robbery.
