

A VILLAGE SWEET AWAY

ONE HUNDRED PERSONS MISSING.—The heavy rains which fell on Tuesday and Wednesday last have produced a most alarming destruction of life and property in Yorkshire, Lancashire, Cheshire and Derbyshire. One truly awful calamity has occurred at the village of Holmfrith, near Huddersfield, by the overflow of a reservoir used for supplying the mill with water, and known as the Hojne Reservoir. On Thursday morning, about one o'clock, it burst with a tremendous roar, and water rushed down the valley with terrific force, carrying away an immense mill, built of stone, with all its heavy machinery, &c., several old buildings, two rows of new buildings at Holmfrith, and part of the village of Hinchfield. Nearly all the inhabitants were asleep at the time, and were swept to a considerable distance, a number of bodies having been taken from the river 15 miles from the spot. One hundred persons are missing, and more than sixty dead bodies are said to be lying at the inn.

In the neighborhood of Manchester, the rivers were so overflowed by the rain that many of them overflowed their banks, submerging all the low grounds in the neighborhood. A great portion of the Peel park laid under water. A large portion of Lower Broughton was also submerged, the ground in some places being covered to a depth of nine feet. On the south side of Manchester, near the lower end of the Hope street, a good deal of property was destroyed, and the inhabitants of some of the houses in Little Ireland were compelled to take refuge in the upper stories, in consequence of the basements being flooded. Several of the mills in the neighborhood had to be stopped in consequence of the lower stories flooded. A reservoir belonging to Mr. J. Brooks, at the Hopfield cotton-mill, near Stockport, is said to have burst its banks, destroying machinery and other property to the extent of nearly £1000.—London paper.

The Washington correspondent of the Baltimore Patriot says that James Brooks has been presented with a splendid carriage, and appropriate harness and equipments, as a tribute of respect to her husband for his judicious and patriotic course in sustaining the compromise measures of last Congress, and generally for his statesmanlike and high-minded career in the late war, the best interests of the country, and the whole country without regard to sections or geographical lines. The writer says: "It was accompanied by a complimentary and appropriate letter from Messrs. Tomlinson & Co., carriage makers, setting forth the motive for the public spirited act, without communicating the names of the contributors."

MELANCHOLY ACCIDENT AT A THEATRE.—A melancholy accident occurred on the 14th, at the Theatre Malibran, in Venice, where a company of rope-dancers and tumblers have been for some time performing. A human pyramid having been formed, consisting of three men upon another's shoulders, the man who carried them all began running about with his load, when his foot slipping, or catching somewhere, he lost his balance, in consequence of which the uppermost man fell, and had his brains dashed out upon the boards, and the second struck his breast so severely against the ground that his recovery was despaired of. The horror and confusion of the scene may be imagined, as both the victims of this accident are fathers of numerous families.

FRANK'S TRADE WITH A YANKEE.—"The last time I was in St. Louis," says Dan Marble, "I was sitting in the door of old Frank's country fashion, on top of the counter, legs dangling, when a real nutmeg came booming along, and in a twinkling, or catching a bullet on his fists. Frank was down on his hands and knees, and the Yankee in particular, but he was always "set" for a joke, and loved equal to an Israelite to drive a sharp bargain. The Yankee nodded to me, and I nodded towards Frank, intimating, there was his victim. Frank was busy smoking and figuring on his ledger.

"Hoaw'd'u," observed the pedlar. "No, no, no,—go on," Frank peevishly responded; but that wasn't the Yankee's religion, he wanted to trade, and was bound to do it. "Kalkilate, Squire, I couldn't drive a trade or nothin' with you folks in St. Louis?" "I calculate you calculate about right, for you cannot," was the sneering reply. "Wall, I guess you needn't get huffy about it. Now here's a dozen genuine razor straps, ten dollars and a half; you may have 'em for ten dollars."

"I tell you I don't want any of your trash, so you had better be going," says Frank. "Show how you talk! I'll bet you five dollars if you make me an offer for them ere straps, we'll have a trade yet." "Done," says Frank, putting a V into my hand. The Yankee deposited a like sum—when Frank offered him a piece for his straps. "They're your'n," said the Yankee, as he quietly fobbed the stakes. "But," he added, with great apparent honesty, "I calculate a joke is a joke, and if you don't want them straps, I'll trade back 'em."

FRANK'S COUNTERTEINER.—"There it is," said the Yankee, as he received the straps, and passed over the money. "A trade's a trade,—and now you're wide awake in earnest, I guess, the next time you trade with that ere pic, you'll do better than to buy razor straps." Away walked the pedlar with his straps and his wagger, amid the shouts of a half dozen fellows who dropped in.

FATAL ACCIDENT AT THE NAVAL SCHOOL ANNAPOLIS.—On Wednesday afternoon, whilst professor Lockwood was engaged at the Naval School in the instruction of a class of midshipmen in gunnery, a most shocking accident occurred, by which Mr. Frederick Cobert, the gunner, was instantaneously killed. The Professor was instructing the class how a gun which had been spiked might be rendered capable of effective service in a few moments, by means of a trail of loose powder extending from the chamber to the muzzle, and thus firing out the spike. The gun had been fired and spiked, when Mr. Cobert inserted the scoop of loose powder, which ignited from small particles of the burning cartridge unfortunately remaining in the gun, causing his death.

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON.—A document is published in the papers, showing that in the shape of other, the Duke of Wellington has received £2,613,675 of the public money, including interest on £790,000 Parliamentary grants. His Grace now holds six public offices, the pay for which amounts to £8,365 15s. per annum.

PLENTY OF LAND YET.—According to the report of the Commissioners of the General Land Office, there will be 42,000,000 acres of land for sale the present year. The minimum price per acre is £1 2s, which places it in the power of every man who wills it to own a farm.

WORLD'S FAIR IN NEW YORK.—In reference to this interesting enterprise the New York Courier supplies the following information: We are glad to be able to inform our readers that the plans for the projected "Exhibition of the Industry of All Nations" are matured, and will soon be laid before the public. A charter is drafted and will be immediately applied for, and considered how beneficial to the country such an exhibition properly conducted must needs be, there can be no doubt that the application will immediately be granted. The building which it is proposed to erect will cover not less than one hundred and sixty thousand superficial square feet; and it is estimated that this can be erected and prepared for the exhibition for two hundred thousand dollars. A large portion of this sum, which is all that is necessary to secure, has been already subscribed. Contributions from more than three hundred cities of the English, French, Italian, German, Hungarian, Swiss, and Danish exhibitors at the Great Exhibition in London, including many cases of the most costly and magnificent articles displayed in the Crystal Palace, are now awaiting transportation to this country upon the announcement of the readiness of the building to receive them.

That the enterprise has fallen into the best possible hands, the names of the following gentlemen, who have consented to serve as the General Committee previous to the procurement of a charter, are a sufficient guarantee. They are Messrs. Francis W. Edmonds, Mortimer Livingston, August Belmont, Watts Sherman, Alfred Pell, Theodore Sedgwick, William Kent, George Bancroft, Alexander Hamilton Jr., E. K. Collins, Johnson Livingston, Wm. C. Bryant, John C. Develin, and George P. Putnam.

That the prospective success of this magnificent undertaking is great and so well founded, must be a matter of rejoicing to all those who appreciate the benefits which such an exhibition will confer upon our manufacturers, merchants and agriculturists. We shall give our readers early information as to the steps which are taken in the matter.

THE TEXAS DEBT.—The amount of the public debt of Texas, as scaled in the Auditor and Comptroller's bill, which is now confirmed by the State, was $6,827,278 64. The amount appropriated in the bill for the liquidation and settlement of the debt is, with interest, only $4,539,076 54. The sum of $2,288,202 10 is reported debt appears therefore to be unprovided for in the law. On looking over the Auditor's report, we find a class of debts recognized and their value fixed, but not regularly filed and audited. Two of these items amount to $2,117,189 37. These nearly account for the apparent discrepancy. We suppose that the amount not appropriated for, represents a debt which does not exist, but of which the evidence is not yet filed so as to require an appropriation to pay them.—New Orleans Picayune.

The iron light-house at Caysfort reef, which is now in charge of Lt. Meade, an accomplished engineer, is nearly completed and will be lighted up on the 10th of March. The lantern is 115 feet above the level of the sea, having 18 reflectors of 21 inches in diameter, and will show a light that can be seen up to 30 miles from the coast, and is situated in a position which is not only extensive and dangerous shoals on the coast of Florida, about 4 miles N. E., of where the light ship has been stationed for many years past, and 7 miles from Cays Largo. It will cost when completed, about $160,000, which is nothing when we take into consideration the great service that will be derived from it, the commerce passing through the Gulf of Mexico, which at this time amounts to upwards of $300,000,000 per annum.

The dwelling of Mr. James P. Bartlett, at Clarksburg, Vv., was destroyed by fire a few days ago. One of the most pleasing features of the celebration of Washington's Birth Day in New York was the presence and participation in the exercises of an old revolutionary soldier, one hundred and one years old, named Henry Gibson.

THE triumphant success of the great Arabian Remedy for man and beast. H. G. FARRELL'S CELEBRATED ARABIAN LINIMENT. Is causing converts to spring up all over the country, spreading their grateful influence over the land, robbing the pockets of the honest and unsuspecting, by imposing upon them a worthless and dangerous medicine. For the genuine H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, Fellow Citizens! Look well before you buy, and see that the label of the bottle has the letters H. G. before Farrell's, for if it has not, it is counterfeit. The label around each bottle of all my liniments reads thus: "H. G. Farrell's Celebrated Arabian Liniment;" and my signature is written upon the label also, and those words are blown in the glass bottle, "H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment." This truly great medicine still goes on, conquering disease, and snatching many a poor, powerless victim from the grave. By its powerfully stimulating and restorative qualities, it relieves the use of liniments which have been palmed for years; and by its singular power of reproducing the Synovial Fluid of Joint water, it cures all diseases of the Joints with surprising rapidity. For Rheumatism, Gout, Sprains, Swellings, and Stiffness, it has proved itself a specific; and for affections of the Lungs, Liver and Kidneys, it is a most valuable and powerful auxiliary; also, for all diseases of the Glands, a most reliable and efficacious remedy. And in cases of almost any disease where an external application is required, this medicine stands unparalleled.

From the Hon. Peter Minard, one of the Oldest Settlers in Illinois. It gives me pleasure to add my testimony to the virtues of your great medicine. One of my blooded horses had a swelling over the cap of the knee, about the size of his leg. Some said it was a strain, and some, that it was the joint water from the knee, and could not be cured. I tried oil cedar oil, and all the liniments and ointments, and they did no more good than water. My friend, Mr. Green, then recommended H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment, and I was happy to find it take effect after a few days, and it finally cured the noble animal entirely. I think it is decidedly the greatest remedy for horses as well as human flesh, I ever knew.

[Esp. Barker, of New Canton, Ill., says.] Mr. H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment has cured several of my friends, which every day I find had failed in; one was a white swelling and contracted cords in the leg of a boy twelve years old. The leg had withered away, and was so contracted that he had no use of it. Three doctors had tried the grease, when the boy's father was induced to try H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment. Before the first bottle was used up he came into Mr. B.'s store, and said that he had used it in vain, and he was fast sinking to the grave, when the boy's father was induced to try H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment. Before the first bottle was used up he came into Mr. B.'s store, and said that he had used it in vain, and he was fast sinking to the grave, when the boy's father was induced to try H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment. Before the first bottle was used up he came into Mr. B.'s store, and said that he had used it in vain, and he was fast sinking to the grave, when the boy's father was induced to try H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment.

Being fully satisfied that H. G. Farrell's Arabian Liniment is the best medicine in the world, I have had it for several years, and it has cured me of all my rheumatism, and a most severe pain in my breast and shoulders, which was so bad that I could hardly do any work at all, and would often have to lie in bed for weeks at a time. I have used it in my own family, and it cured me sound and well. I had at the time of using your liniment, one of the worst coughs ever I had in my life; and it cured that too. I rub it on my chest, and it has cured my cold, and is also excellent for finger-biten feet, sores, swellings, sore throats, mange, erysipelas, &c. ISAAC CLAYTON, KICKAPOO, Peoria Co., Ill.

Be careful! The public are particularly cautioned against a base Counterfeit which has lately made its appearance, and is called by the Impudent and dishonest dealers in unprincipled dealers will impose the SPURIOUS mixture upon you for the genuine, but always ask for H. G. FARRELL'S ARABIAN LINIMENT, and take no other, as the genuine always bears the name of H. G. Farrell, and is wrapped in a blue wrapper, and the words blown in the glass bottle. "H. G. FARRELL'S ARABIAN LINIMENT, PEORIA." All on the genuine, and beware of cheap change, a Book containing much valuable information for every class of citizens. Price—25c., 50c. and one dollar per bottle.

CONSUMPTIVES, READ!—McCLOY'S PECTORAL CORDIAL.—A Purely Vegetable Compound.—For the cure of Consumption, and its various characters, such as Tubercular, Bronchitic, Chronic, Catarrhal, Pleuritic, Pleuritic Consumption, or Chronic Pleurisy, and Throat Consumption, or Ulceration of the Wind-Pipe, and all diseases of the Lungs and Chest. In offering to the afflicted this valuable Medicine, we do so at the earnest solicitation of many who have experienced its great curative powers. It is not our desire to tamper with the lives, constitutions, and property of our fellow-men, but to give to the afflicted a remedy which will remove the unpleasant feeling and hoarseness occasioned by long and loud speaking.

Mr. E. Stokes McCloy.—Dear Sir.—Hearing you are about offering your valuable Medicine for sale, I deem it my duty to you, as well as to the afflicted, to inform you, in full and plain language, of the extraordinary cure it made of me. It is known by many that I had for a long time a distressing Cough, accompanied by a very acute pain in my side, and a high fever, with loss of appetite, and when my coughing would come on, I was so much prostrated that I could not stand, and I would raise a very large amount of matter, in pieces almost as large as my finger, having the appearance of my lung, and I felt as if I was going to give up all hopes of ever getting well. About that time I commenced taking your Pectoral Cordial, more to please my friends than from any expectation of obtaining relief; but I had not long used six bottles made an entire cure of me, and I am fully convinced if I had not taken your medicine, I could not have recovered.

You may use this certificate in any way that you choose, and refer persons to me, if you think proper, and I will give them any information in regard to my case that they may desire. WM. MCCORMICK, No. 17, North Eighth street. From the Philadelphia Mercantile Advertiser. We would recommend to the notice of our readers, particularly those who are afflicted with pulmonary diseases, McCLOY'S Pectoral Cordial, a peculiar and valuable medicine, which has cured many great success, and is now offered to the public. We have had an opportunity of testing its efficacy in our family and can speak with assurance. For sale in this city by PURCELL, LADD & CO., E. J. Picot, Bennett & Beers, and Thomas & McCarty. SECOND-HAND PIANOS.—I have several good second hand Pianos for sale, fe 25 A. MORRIS. FURTHER SUPPLY OF BRUNN & CLARK'S PIANOS.—E. H. TAYLOR has received a further supply of Nones such as Superior Pianos, of 6j and 7 octaves, Rosewood cases. These celebrated instruments have always received the preference from the most celebrated pianists in the country. They have, when competitors, invariably received the first premium at the Fairs of the American Institute, and latterly received the Gold Medal Prize at the World's Fair London, 1851. For sale in Richmond, Va. by H. TAYLOR, Piano and Music Store, fe 17 160 Main street opposite the Banks.

PIANO FORTE.—The subscriber is in receipt of one of those splendid Pianos, manufactured by the celebrated and distinguished manufacturer, Fred. Brauns, from Germany. These Pianos have gained a celebrity in Baltimore (where they are manufactured) and elsewhere for richness of tone, beauty of workmanship, durability and cheapness, unsurpassed by any in our country. Parents and guardians say that an old Piano will answer for the child to learn on. By this course the learner is checked in progress by the discordant sounds which are so common to the above described piano, and which are so often the cause of nervous inconvenience, call at my store and purchase one of "Braun's" celebrated Pianos. R. D. SANXAY, Bookseller and Stationer, fe 26
