

PETERSBURG. REVISION OF MAHONE'S OLD BRIGADE—PARADE THROUGH THE CITY—ORATION BY COLONEL STEWART, OF PORTSMOUTH—BASKET AT THE FAIR-GROUNDS—MORE RAIN—EFFECTS OF THE HEAT—JUSTICE IN THE COURTS OF THE STATE—CHURCH—DEATH OF THE OLDEST INHABITANT OF THE CITY.

(Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.) JULY 30, 1877. The thirtieth anniversary of the Crater battle has been fitly celebrated in the city to-day by the surviving members of Mahone's old brigade. The attendants were between two hundred and fifty and three hundred in number, and came from various directions on the early trains. They were met at the depot and properly looked after by committees appointed for the purpose. At 11 o'clock the brigade survivors, attended by the military companies of the city, marched through the streets, receiving many evidences of the gratitude and honor of our people. A band of music marched at the head of the line, followed by the Petersburg Artillery with one gun, which was used in firing a salute of welcome to the veterans. The march was in the direction of the fair grounds, and finally the veterans, arranged with reference to their old regimental formation. They presented a bronzed and heroic aspect, dressed as they were in citizens' attire, and marked only by the plain blue badge provided for the occasion. Colonel J. P. Mitchell, chief marshal, presided over the movements of the line, whose passage excited everywhere the most lively interest.

After the procession the brigade held its annual reunion at the Academy of Music, which had been tastefully and elegantly decorated for the occasion. With flags, portraits, and coats-of-arms. General Mahone, president of the Association, occupied the chair, and introduced the exercises in a brief and appropriate address. Colonel William H. Stuart, of Portsmouth, then delivered the annual oration, which was a glowing and eloquent review of the brigade and its battle and commander. It was loudly applauded. A resolution was adopted that the reunion should only be held once every two years hereafter, and the old officers were all re-elected. After the oration the brigade adjourned to the fair grounds, where an ample collation had been prepared, which was discussed with the zest of old soldiers. The exercises concluded this afternoon, and the members in attendance will generally return home on the trains to-night.

Whereas the adjustment of the public debt of the Commonwealth of Virginia has been unnecessarily introduced into the gubernatorial canvass, and in a few instances has been expressed on this subject in a manner which we think to be the best interest of the State; and believing that the time has come when the people of every section of the State should express their opinion; therefore be it

Resolved by the citizens of Bath county in general assembly assembled, That recognizing the obligation of the State to her creditors, and having every disposition to meet our fair proportion of whatever burden the State may assume, we will not countenance any measure which would increase the public debt of the State, and we will not countenance any measure which would increase the public debt of the State, and we will not countenance any measure which would increase the public debt of the State.

FROM THE BORDER. BAISTON, GOODSON, VA. AND TENN., JULY 28, 1877. Editors Dispatch: I write you a hasty line to-night to say that I am just informed by two reliable gentlemen from Wallace, South Carolina, that the primary election held to-day for delegates to the gubernatorial election from Goodson township, Washington county, that the following gentlemen were elected to represent the township—to wit: Delegates—Arthur Buchanan, John A. H. Gardner, Justice W. H. Gardner, and having every disposition to meet our fair proportion of whatever burden the State may assume, we will not countenance any measure which would increase the public debt of the State, and we will not countenance any measure which would increase the public debt of the State.

Accident at Clover. (Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.) CLOVER, S. C., July 28, 1877. This morning about 9 o'clock it was reported that Jim Dunkey (colored), who, being engaged in cleaning out the well on the premises of W. H. Hudeberg, of this place, went down into the well, and while at the bottom had been overthrown by the falling rocks. He was rescued by the falling rocks had been arrested by the bucket, which was suspended some eight feet above him, thus shielding him entirely. By extraordinary effort the rubbish, which held, was removed to an extent to admit of his exit, which was effected, and he was taken to the hospital. He is now recovering from his injuries, and is expected to be discharged in a few days.

ARREST OF THE EX-SECRETARY OF THE SOUTH CAROLINA SENATE—Philadelphia, July 28.—During the last few days the Mayor and Police have received many different dispatches to arrest Joseph Woodruff, for the past nine years Secretary of the Senate of South Carolina, on the charge of forgery and larceny. One was from Governor Hampton, of South Carolina; one from the State's Attorney, at Columbia; one from the Mayor of Philadelphia; and one from the Chief of Police of Charleston, S. C. Woodruff was arrested last night on board the steamer Virginia, from Charleston, while at the Lazaretto, and was locked up to await the arrival of officers from South Carolina, who are to be sent by train to Harrisburg to secure the necessary papers.

GREAT DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY.—Spartanburg, Pa., July 30.—Early this morning Strathaven dam, on Big Crum creek, gave way, causing great damage. John Green & Co.'s cotton and woollen mill at Avondale, Delaware, was flooded, and the machinery and stock damaged. The water was so high that it was necessary to demolish the dam. The water was so high that it was necessary to demolish the dam. The water was so high that it was necessary to demolish the dam.

SCARCITY OF CATTLE AT BOSTON.—Boston, July 28.—Twenty car-loads of dairy cattle were received at the Watertown stock yards to-day. Runners have been sent through New England and Canada to purchase for the market. The city of Cumberland—Distress in the Mining Region.—How a condition of distress and suffering the unemployed miners which is really appalling. The indications are that it is necessary to afford immediate relief to large numbers throughout that whole region, who are in a great condition of want.—Baltimore Sun.

Farmville District Conference. HOBSON'S CHAPEL, POWHATAN COUNTY, VA., JULY 29, 1877. Editors Dispatch: After a very warm ride of two hours, on horseback, I arrived here, where the Farmville District Conference is to commence to-day. The church is a beautiful brick one, and has been recently painted and repaired. It is situated in a community noted for its refinement, hospitality, and pretty girls. A spacious arbor has been erected in the adjoining grove of native oaks.

The conference met at 11 o'clock. Rev. E. M. Peterson conducted the services. Rev. Thomas H. Boggs and J. E. Clark, Esq., were elected secretaries. The following lay delegates answered to their names: J. W. Green, J. E. Clark, H. Royal, H. J. Rhodes, H. Lambert, W. Webb, S. W. McNamee, Virginia Clergyman, insured at Wilmington, DEL., BY A RAILROAD ACCIDENT—THE WAR IN THE EAST, &c., &c.

The Late Railroad Strike. A DISPATCH FROM GENERAL HANCOCK—ALL QUIET ON THE LINE—SPIRIT OF THE DISORDER BROKEN. WASHINGTON, July 30.—General Hancock stated in a dispatch received this morning at the War Department: "I have heard from Cumberland and Pittsburgh this morning. Everything on the railroad within reach of my communication seems to be quiet and progressing well. A very little time and reflection, I think, will accomplish the object."

ALL QUIET AT CHICAGO—ANOTHER STRIKE. CHICAGO, July 30.—But little trouble was experienced this morning in resuming the order of things prevailing before the labor disturbance. The expected engineers' strike has not yet occurred, and all the roads except the Lake Shore and Chicago and Burlington and Quincy have resumed both freight and passenger traffic, though the latter has been annoyed by the recalcitrants of "lumber-shovers" on the south branch of the Chicago river.

THE STRIKE IN NEW JERSEY. ELIZABETH, N. J., July 30.—In New Jersey the strikers are quiet merely from the presence of the military. At Phillipsburg, Hamilton, and Trenton, the strikers are running their machinery, and the strikers are trying to convince the military that their presence is unnecessary, and the military are trying to convince Governor Bedle that such is the case. The truth is, however, that in the Lehigh Valley there is no disposition to return to the strikers' work, and no intention on the part of the railroads to resume unless there is a general return to work.

THE SITUATION ON THE BALTIMORE AND OHIO. BALTIMORE, July 30.—Baltimore and Ohio officials at Camden station furnish the following of the situation on their road to-day: The strike is virtually ended between Baltimore and the Ohio river. Trains are going out from Grafton, Keyser, Cumberland, and Martinsburg, in large numbers and without the assistance of the military. We anticipate no further trouble. Numbers of the old men are returning, and more offering than we have use for.

PHILADELPHIA, July 30.—Advices received here state that the strike on the Texas-Pacific is ended, and the men have resumed work on the basis of the present reduction. FROM PITTSBURGH—THE STRIKE TO ALL APPEARANCES ENDED. PITTSBURGH, July 30.—Everything is quiet, and the strike among the railroad employes of that city has ended. The Pittsburgh division of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad the freight cars and west are now arriving and departing on schedule time.

ARRIVAL OF A FLEET AT BATUM. LONDON, July 30.—A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph from Batum Sunday says that Houty Pasha's fleet has arrived there.

NEW AND ELEGANT PIANOS. ARRIVING AND FOR SALE LOW at the bookstore of J. 27 WOODHOUSE & PARHAM. A SUPERB MARTIN GUITAR FOR SALE LOW at the bookstore of J. 27 WOODHOUSE & PARHAM. TRUNKS REPAIRED AT TRUNK FACTORY, No. 8 SOUTH TENTH STREET, BETWEEN MAIN AND CARY. BOUTNREE & MCGINNIS. J. 20-22 Practical Trunk-Makers. BISHOPHEADS, $7 to $10 per pair, at the bookstore of J. 27 WOODHOUSE & PARHAM. MULEHOSES, $5 per keg.

CURRENT EVENTS. THE DYING STRIKE. THE RAILROAD MEN GENERALLY RETURNING TO WORK AT OLD FIGURES—GENERAL HANCOCK TELEGRAMS THE WAR DEPARTMENT THAT EVERYTHING WITHIN REACH OF HIS CONNECTIONS IS QUIET AND PROGRESSING WELL—SPIRIT OF THE DISORDER BROKEN IN THE NORTH AND WEST—COMMODORE SWIFT OF THE UNITED STATES NAVY IS DEAD—APPLICATION FOR A RECEIVER FOR THE CHARTER-OAK INSURANCE COMPANY WITHDRAWN—REV. W. MCBANE, VIRGINIA CLERGYMAN, INSURED AT WILMINGTON, DEL., BY A RAILROAD ACCIDENT—THE WAR IN THE EAST, &c., &c.

MOVEMENTS OF FEDERAL OFFICERS, &c. CHICAGO, July 30.—Searched a vessel of the late troubles has been visible to-day. Generals Sheridan and Crook arrived this morning from St. Paul and General Pope from St. Louis. The latter will still have the immediate control of the United States troops here and in this vicinity by virtue of his position in the Omaha, where he will look after some reported Indian troubles in the Eastern Territories.

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

FINANCIAL. RICHMOND STOCK EXCHANGE. SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1877. American Gold—United States Consols, 6 3/4 bid; 64 asked; Virginia consols, new 40 bid; Virginia consols, old 40 bid; 11 1/2 bid; 11 1/2 asked; Virginia tax-receivable coupons, 80 1/2 bid; 80 1/2 asked.

MOVEMENTS OF FEDERAL OFFICERS, &c. CHICAGO, July 30.—Searched a vessel of the late troubles has been visible to-day. Generals Sheridan and Crook arrived this morning from St. Paul and General Pope from St. Louis. The latter will still have the immediate control of the United States troops here and in this vicinity by virtue of his position in the Omaha, where he will look after some reported Indian troubles in the Eastern Territories.

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

FINANCIAL. RICHMOND STOCK EXCHANGE. SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1877. American Gold—United States Consols, 6 3/4 bid; 64 asked; Virginia consols, new 40 bid; Virginia consols, old 40 bid; 11 1/2 bid; 11 1/2 asked; Virginia tax-receivable coupons, 80 1/2 bid; 80 1/2 asked.

MOVEMENTS OF FEDERAL OFFICERS, &c. CHICAGO, July 30.—Searched a vessel of the late troubles has been visible to-day. Generals Sheridan and Crook arrived this morning from St. Paul and General Pope from St. Louis. The latter will still have the immediate control of the United States troops here and in this vicinity by virtue of his position in the Omaha, where he will look after some reported Indian troubles in the Eastern Territories.

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

FINANCIAL. RICHMOND STOCK EXCHANGE. SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1877. American Gold—United States Consols, 6 3/4 bid; 64 asked; Virginia consols, new 40 bid; Virginia consols, old 40 bid; 11 1/2 bid; 11 1/2 asked; Virginia tax-receivable coupons, 80 1/2 bid; 80 1/2 asked.

MOVEMENTS OF FEDERAL OFFICERS, &c. CHICAGO, July 30.—Searched a vessel of the late troubles has been visible to-day. Generals Sheridan and Crook arrived this morning from St. Paul and General Pope from St. Louis. The latter will still have the immediate control of the United States troops here and in this vicinity by virtue of his position in the Omaha, where he will look after some reported Indian troubles in the Eastern Territories.

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

FINANCIAL. RICHMOND STOCK EXCHANGE. SATURDAY, JULY 30, 1877. American Gold—United States Consols, 6 3/4 bid; 64 asked; Virginia consols, new 40 bid; Virginia consols, old 40 bid; 11 1/2 bid; 11 1/2 asked; Virginia tax-receivable coupons, 80 1/2 bid; 80 1/2 asked.

MOVEMENTS OF FEDERAL OFFICERS, &c. CHICAGO, July 30.—Searched a vessel of the late troubles has been visible to-day. Generals Sheridan and Crook arrived this morning from St. Paul and General Pope from St. Louis. The latter will still have the immediate control of the United States troops here and in this vicinity by virtue of his position in the Omaha, where he will look after some reported Indian troubles in the Eastern Territories.

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."

THE LONDON MONEY MARKET. LONDON, July 30.—The Times's financial article says: "The discount market is extremely quiet. Hardly any business is to be met with, and money finds employment with great difficulty, or not at all. Never was the time when the market was so utterly without discount business, and the withdrawal of a billion from the Bank of England with no notice at all, though the floating capital available for lending was by no means large. A long continuance of this stagnation must prove the reverse of wholesome. In many ways weak spots in mercantile credit are carried over, and trade is carried on, to some extent, on a false basis."