The Wonders of the Yellowstone Canon and the Famous Geysers in the Park. [Chicago Times.]

A gentleman holding a prominent connection with Professor Hayden's geological survey is detained at the Grand Pacific Hotel by the illness of his wife. To a representative of the Times who called upon him yesterday he gave an interesting account of the operations and adventures of the expedition in the Yellowstone country during the past summer.

When he left the Rocky mountains all but one of the different divisions of the expedition had returned to the usual rendezvous, or winter headquarters, at Cheyenne, whence the members of the scientific corps will proceed to Washington to elaborate the field-notes into reports, embracing maps, charts, and various other illustrations descriptive of the region.

This party of scientists took to the field in July. There were forty men in the different divisions, and eighty animals were required to transport provisions, instruments, and personal effects. The season's work, as a whole, has been highly satisfactory. The geological and mineralogical investigations of the Yellowstone park, which the investigations of the explorer may be at all times most usefully prosecuted. Especial attention was given to this area, and the survey of it is now complete. This spot abounds in

THE MOST PHENOMENAL WONDERS, the fame of which has spread to the uttermost ends of the earth. The examination of the whole district was thorough. Carefully detailed observations, locating all the geysers, hot springs, and mud volcanoes, were recorded, and will be used in the preparation of charts. Numerous sketches and photographs were also made, and the temperature of each of the springs was ascertained. It is calculated that the material and data collected will enable the survey to make a report, and charts, so accurately describing the park that any changes by vandalism or natural causes in the curious features hereafter may be readily ascertained. While this work was being performed by one branch of the expedition, other divisions were engaged in an examination of adjacent districts. The party having covered the primary triangulation covered an area during the season of about eighty thousand acres. One mile bearing one hundred and fifty mountain peaks were determined. The highest of these are from ten thousand to fourteen thousand feet above sea level. Fremont's peak and Mount Washburn are among the very tallest.

The expedition endured many hardships, and met with many thrilling adventures. The crossing of the swift mountain streams in that region was often attended with extreme peril to both human and animal life. The animals were frequently led along the most dangerous ledges, and one time a heavy pack missed its footing and tumbled over a precipice sixteen hundred feet high. The men peered over the brink and saw a pile of BONES AND MULE MEAT at the bottom, but no time was spent in efforts to recover the pack. Wild game was killed and secured by the men, and campfires and shoot moose, elk, deer, and bears. The grand cañon of the Yellowstone was explored by Professor Hayden, who had penetrated it once or twice before in former years. The gorge is 3,000 feet deep, the walls being almost perpendicular. It is a grand and beautiful sight, and a chasm that stars are plainly visible in the sky at any hour in the day. The loneliness of the place is dreadful. Waterfalls are numerous. The four highest and grandest ones are called the Tower, Shoshones, and Upper and Lower Yellowstone falls. The lower fall has a plunge of nearly 400 feet. The others average about 100 feet. The average width of the river in the cañon is less than 600 feet. The celebrated geysers were reexamined by Professor Hayden to ascertain whether the phenomena had developed any new features.

"OLD FAITHFUL," the largest of the group, is still subject to local eruptions. The number of jets of activity occurring as regularly as the ticks of a clock. When at work "Old Faithful" projects a stream of boiling hot water two hundred feet in the air. The party camped for several days within sixty yards of this geyser, and the temperature of the water greatly mitigating the rigors of the weather, which was severely cold and tempestuous, snow having fallen to the depth of two feet in some localities.

LETTER FROM GILMAN, THE FORGER.—William C. Gilman, the forger, writes from his prison at Leavenworth, Kansas, to his wife, Mrs. Gilman. He says: "The year has passed more quickly than I thought it could, and as I look back upon it, it is with thankfulness. You cannot conceive of the relief it has been to me no longer burdened with an awful secret, although the burden was not taken from me by the confession of my own guilt, but by the confession of another, who, I am glad to say, is now in prison. I am contented, and hope that contentment is not inconsistent with deep grief and penitence for the crime I committed—for the crime against a God, my family, my friends, the State, and the Church."

A LADY KILLED BY HAIR-DYE.—A few days since a middle-aged lady living in the suburbs of Springfield, Ohio, died from some mysterious disease located in the head. The symptoms had long been manifested, but no treatment seemed to have permanent effect. After death an examination was made in which a Cincinnati physician took part, and which resulted in the unanimous decision that death was caused, primarily, by the use, for a long period, of chemical compounds for dyeing the hair. There is said to have been a coating formed over the brain, causing a paralysis of the brain tissue. —Chicago Herald.

WINE-BIBBING ROBBERIES.—Early yesterday morning Mr. Charles E. Wortman's party, consisting of Mr. George Brockenbrough, Esq., and Miss Sallie Read Branch, daughter of Mrs. M. L. Branch, the widow of Major James R. Branch. This event, so anxiously looked for, and one which has furnished so fruitful a mine of material for the fashionable circles, was witnessed last evening by an immense number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties, and famous St. Paul's presented a scene of beauty and loveliness it is seldom our pleasure to chronicle.

THE DECORATIONS. The formal decorations in the church were beautiful and costly, and the amount of gold and silver ornaments, and the amount of flowers, was such that they were the work of an accomplished artist. On entering the church the chancel presented the appearance of a lovely dove, and most prominent to the eye were the flowers of the great red and white carnations, and the amount of gold and silver ornaments, and the amount of flowers, was such that they were the work of an accomplished artist.

A pure white cloth extended the entire length of the middle aisle, and where it ended, just in front of the railing, was a kneeling cushion, and covering it and surrounding which was a piece of rich white silk, bordered with fringe-balls. The chancel-railing was covered with a white-fringed cloth, over which was strewn ivy and running-cedar. The readings-desks, and on each side of the chancel, and to the front, were decorated with autumn-tinted vines, surmounted by huge bouquets of evergreens, ferns, etc.; amongst which calla-lilies were freely interspersed, while in the extreme right and left corners were grouped cymonemum and scirpus sage in profusion.

THE OFFICERS are: President, John A. Curtis; Secretary, W. A. Uphur. Directors: W. C. Wickham, R. A. Dunlop, Lewis D. Greenhaw, Jr., William E. Cutsbaw, Maxwell T. Clarke, Eugene Clayton, W. H. Scott, John A. Curtis, E. Cavanagh, and John N. Parker.

THE THEATRE.—Miss Louise POMEROY in "THE ADRIANCKS."—Miss Louise Pomeroiy will appear at the Theatre to-night in the new and popular play "The Adriandacks." The play is in three acts. The first is a wild retirement in the Adriandacks, where a New York party are sojourning for pleasure. The second is a quiet apartment, where a doctor watches over his patient. The movement of the play springs from the act of a beautiful young widow who is delirious with grief, and is in a state of mind that is almost mad.

THE MOZART THIS EVENING.—First, overture "Pique Dame" (Suppe), orchestra; second, solo violin, "Fantasia Caprice" (Vieuxtemps), Mr. Kesslich; third, gavotte, "Secret Love" (Chopin), William H. Mason; fourth, "Siciliana" (Reissiger), violin, viola, cello, and piano; fifth, pot-pourri, "Faust" (Gounod), orchestra; sixth, "Largo" (Handel), strings, organ, and piano; seventh, waltzes, "On the Beautiful Blue Danube" (Strauss), orchestra.

BRILLIANT MARRIAGE AT ST. PAUL'S LAST NIGHT. MR. GEORGE B. MCADAMS AND MISS SALLIE BRANCH UNITED IN THE HOLY BONDS OF MATRIMONY—THE CHURCH EXQUISITELY DECORATED—SOME INFORMATION ABOUT THE DRESSES OF THE BRIDE AND BRIDESMAIDS—PRESENTS AND RECEPTION.

Richmond has presented an active field for hymen this season, and savants whisper of many more engagements likely to be consummated on this altar this winter. A recent number in the marriage and matrimonial circles, was witnessed last evening by an immense number of friends and relatives of the contracting parties, and famous St. Paul's presented a scene of beauty and loveliness it is seldom our pleasure to chronicle.
