

Official Reports of Outrages.

The organ of JAY GOULD congratulates itself that Mr. HAYES did not, without having some basis for his charge, allude in his annual message to outrages committed upon voters in the South by the managers of the Democratic party.

We quote from the New York Tribune: "Our Washington dispatches state that the President will transmit to Congress, when that body reassembles, a large mass of evidence respecting the southern outrages, much of which was ready for Congress when the session opened."

Yes. These reports will be rich reading. The officials who have sent them to the President are the same who are described by Mr. COKE of Texas as plunderers of the whites of the South.

How, the day for these investigations to "pay" the unprincipled Radicals is past and gone. The BLAINE committee may report what it will, and it will not add any worth speaking of to the strength of the Republicans in any part of the country.

The great and unusual distress which prevails in every department of the industry in Great Britain at the present time is attracting the attention of the civilized world.—St. Louis Globe.

Last summer, during the Greenback craze, Major DANIEL contrasted the United States with England, declaring that the latter had three times as much currency per capita in proportion to the taxes to be paid as the former.

Remember that JAY GOULD is running BLAINE for the presidency, and you will understand why the New York Tribune fills its columns day after day with villainous libels upon the people of the southern States.

The Virginia Law Journal for December contains reports of one case in the Supreme Court of the United States, six in the Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia, and many other articles interesting to the legal profession.

The investigation into the State finances of Oregon has elicited a report showing that $67,000 have been unaccounted for or paid out without authority of law.

In a suit for damages for injuries received by a girl employed in the Granite mill at Andover in 1874, the Supreme Judicial Court of Massachusetts has decided that mill proprietors are not responsible for the safety of employees, or required to provide means of escape if the mill is properly conducted for ordinary business.

A Republican paper in Cincinnati has discovered that the tall wags the Republican dog before we called attention to that fact. The leaven is working.

The discussion of the probabilities of the next presidential nomination brings out the fact that some of the aspirants or friends of aspirants are looking to the vote of the South to carry them through.

There are in the Electoral College 369 votes. Of these the southern States have the following:

Alabama.....10 Maryland.....8 Arkansas.....7 Missouri.....7 Florida.....5 North Carolina.....10 Louisiana.....8 Texas.....5

These States aggregate a vote of 138, and are expected for a Republican at the general election. There are, therefore, 138 votes certainly Democratic, against 231, of which the Republicans are sure or for which there is a fighting chance.

Forty-seven votes taken from the northern States, and added to the southern would make a majority. Thus, if a candidate could control the vote of the southern States, he would require only forty-seven from the North to nominate.

Representation in the Republican National Convention has been based on the electoral vote to which each State is entitled. Thus, a Democratic State is as powerful in a nominating convention as a Republican State, and in choosing the candidate Democratic votes count as much as Republican votes.

This is a matter that is in the hands of the National Committee, and it should be considered and acted upon at an early day. The sooner the better, because candidates have not yet had their wires. It may be, indeed, that there are no candidates in the field.

While the Republican party will have it within its power to choose the next President, the election of their candidate cannot be said to be a foregone conclusion.

At a public meeting of the citizens of Cumberland county held at the Courthouse on the 23rd day of December 1878, the following resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we, the citizens of Cumberland county, Va., located in one of the principal and thriving sections of the country, feel the burden of the unjust and unequal levy upon the prime staple of our section, which is alone adapted to the growth of tobacco, and to which the masses of the people alone look for support; and that a continuance of this unjust tax will soon destroy the value of our lands, as the production of this crop is the only thing that gives them value, and alike destroy all hope of the laboring class obtaining support for self and families.

Resolved, That we assert our loyalty to the Government of the United States, and our just portion of the public revenues; but we most respectfully maintain that taxation should be uniform, and that the spirit of the Constitution forbids any discrimination against one staple of the country to the exclusion of levy on another staple, thereby burdening part of the people to the advantage of other; that we as landholders and laborers, feel aggrieved at this unjust tax, and pray your honorable bodies to afford the relief in removing all tax from this staple.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to our representatives and senators in Congress, with the earnest request to use their best exertions to afford the relief that justice and fair-play demand.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Richmond Whig and Dispatch and the Farm and Garden, with the request that they publish the same.

The Baltimore Gazette thus unabashed talks out in media: "We have received from an enterprising literary Bureau in New York a proposition to furnish Rev. Mr. Talmage's sensational sermons for publication three days in advance of their delivery. The terms are as follows:—The long as Mr. Talmage is in the show business he should pay to have his so-called sermons printed in the newspapers. To ask publishers to pay for the privilege of advertising him is a remarkable display of what the people in the amusement line designate as "gall."

"[That "bureau" has bothered us no little with similar propositions.]

Ten thousand skaters were on the Schuylkill river within the limit of the Philadelphia Park on Monday night. The at-holes and dangerous places were marked by neat little flags, placed there by the Skating Club and Humane Society. Boats, ropes, and other appliances were on hand, to be used in cases of accident.

The first arrival of a cargo of American wheat at Marseilles, France, has inaugurated a brisk demand, and arrangements have been made for twenty-five cargoes, to be conveyed by English steamers.

At a meeting of prominent Catholics at Cincinnati a committee was appointed to prepare a circular for distribution among the members of that Church soliciting aid in the financial relief of Archbishop Purcell.

It is curious to note the growth of secret societies among the colored people. There are nine colored Masonic lodges in the city, with an aggregate membership of 251. There is also a Royal Arch Chapter and a Knights Templar Commandery; also, several lodges of Odd-Fellows, and between twenty and thirty secret societies—benevolent and social—among the sisters and brethren.

Membership of these colored Baptist churches in the city will aggregate nearly or quite 5,000. Gilfield church alone has over 2,200 members.

Mr. J. H. Maclin, a well-known tobacconist of this city, was married this morning to Mrs. Anna McLeod, of Vicksburg, Miss. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Eaton, and the happy couple soon after left on a bridal tour to the Southwest.

The police have just succeeded in breaking up a gang of notorious little thieves, who for some time past have made a regular business of picking the pockets of ladies on the streets. Some twelve or fifteen colored boys between the ages of twelve and fifteen were banded together for this purpose, and their robberies have been frequent and very bold. Most of them are in jail. One lady recently lost bank certificates to the amount of $250, and a score of others have lost less amounts.

Bishop Keane has consented to deliver a lecture in this city at an early day. Mrs. Martha Rainey died at her residence, on Harrison street, to-day before noon, aged fifty-eight years. She was a lady of eminent piety, and greatly respected.

STAUNTON.

BURNED TO DEATH—ACCIDENT.

Two deaths among the colored people occurred here during the burning in the last few days. Both accidents occurred on Christmas-eve. In the case of Luey Braden, a servant girl, she was dancing at a ball on Green street, and fell from the top of a table, fatally injured. In that of Elizabeth Eilers the explosion of a kerosene lamp caused injuries that resulted in her death.

This morning as Mr. Reuben Padgett was driving a team drawing ice up Gospel Hill one of the horses fell on him, badly wrecking his leg.
