News Notes.

Mary Anderson, according to the London Truth, has made up her mind neither to marry the pope nor to take in washing.

At the recent Methodist conference the question of extending the three years' term of itinerancy was defeated by a vote of 109 to 52, and the delegates to the general conference were instructed to oppose any attempt to extend the three years' limit.

Several returning emigrants from the Coeur d'Alene mines were in the city yesterday and were loud in their denunciation of the fraud which had cost them time and money. One of them claimed he had lost $800 in learning the humbug. —[Sun.]

Lee Pettis, one of the defendants in the Emma Bond case, has married a Miss Hill. John Hill, the father of the girl, and a highly respected farmer of Christian county, committed suicide about a year ago on account of his daughter's strange affection for Pittis.

Bob Ingersoll attributes his defeat as a delegate to the Chicago Republican convention to Arthur and Logan, and he feels very bad about it. He is opposed to them both. Nobody wants him. They fear his brawling atheism will hurt any one else whom he proposes to support.

Jamestown, D. T., 18.—Yesterday morning the wife of Frank Alton, living near Pingree, in this county, while crossing the Pipestone creek on horseback, was swept down by the current and drowned. Her little nine-year-old girl was an eye witness to the sad and sudden death of the mother. Up to a late hour this evening the body has not been recovered.

Mandan Pioneer: A large number of Red River half-breeds arrived in the city on Sunday on their way from Fort Maginnis to Winnipeg. They have been four months on the way and they brought with them to this point the bodies of two dead persons, whom they intend to bury when they reach their destination. On Sunday night the wife of the leader died at the camp in this city. The members of the party had plenty of money with them, made hunting, and they left a good deal of it at our stores.

The College of Cardinals now includes the greatest genius and first divine among English speaking Roman Catholics, Cardinal Newman, and in Cardinal Hergenbrother, who was appointed in the same year, it has secured the greatest German historian except Dollinger. Hayn-aid again, Archbishop of Colocosa, and Prince Furstenberg, Archbishop of Ohlmutz, are also regarded as men of much mark. Haynoid is considered next to Strossmayer the ablest speaker and most adroit logician in the council.

Steve Taylor, says the Miles City Press, is on his way back from El Paso, Texas, in charge of a deputy sheriff. Steve was formerly county clerk of Custer, and by virtue of his position managed to render great assistance to the board of county commissioners in making corrupt use of the county funds. When the crash came and the game was shown up, Taylor had quietly left the county and just now returns by compulsion. He will be tried under various indictments for defalcation now hanging over him.

Huron, Dak., 18: Charles Hollenbeck, postmaster at Parker, is in serious trouble. He got behind in his accounts $1,100 to the government and owed neighboring postmasters $400 for borrowed stamps. During his recent sickness his deputy reported to the authorities the actual cash on hand. This brought a special agent to Parker at once, who found a deficiency. He suspended Hollenbeck and put a man named Huntley in charge. When the postmaster's wife heard of it she told the bondsmen to take her house, lot, piano and all her possessions. They took only her house and lot. The mystery is what he did with the money, as he had no bad habits so far as known.

Grafton, West Virginia, 18: Farmers living near Knowlsville, this state, are much excited over the reappearance of the enormous reptile, which for thirty years past has occasionally been seen in that neighborhood. A party of young men saw it a day or two ago on the farm of David Baker. They describe it as being eighteen or twenty feet long, and as thick as a man's body, carrying its head about two feet above ground while traveling. It was first seen in 1855, then being about ten feet long, and many stories regarding it have been revived. Men who saw it in 1874 declare it left a track through the tall grass like that caused by dragging a heavy log. A party is on guard day and night at what is thought to be its hiding place.

Gannie Jeffers, the recognized queen of the gypsies of this country, who died at Greenfield, Tenn., about a month ago, was brought to Dayton, Ohio, for burial. Nearly one thousand gypsies from all parts of the country were in attendance.

Globe: Private advices just received from Washington, from the most authentic, and at least semi-official source, leave little room for doubt that the question of the government of Dakota has been determined, and that Col. P. Donan will succeed Gov. Ordway. It is believed that this will give satisfaction in all parts of the territory.

Washington, 19: Delegate Raymond appeared before the river and harbor committee this afternoon urging an appropriation of $20,000 for the improvement of the Red River of the North; also for a survey for the proposed reservoir system and canal to connect the headwaters of the Red and Minnesota rivers. Mr. Washburn, by consent of the committee, postponed his argument until Monday.

There is a movement on foot to enlarge the accommodations at Fort Snelling, preparatory to removing the soldiers of Dakota to that point. Gen. Terry has spent several days recently at Washington, conferring with Gen. Sheridan on the subject. It is thought to be a move in the interest of economy. Gen. Terry is to prepare estimates for the extension of Fort Snelling, to be submitted to the house committee at Washington.

Savannah News: The Cobb county cyclone was in the shape of an enormous globe. Its motion was rotary. The globe was black as smoke, while vivid lightning flashed from it. The stem would run up to the globe and down again, and seemed to gather additional force by such action. The whole was encircled by a crimson cloud, grand and beautiful to behold. The noise of the cyclone was similar to that made by a coal-burner engine.

Jamestown Alert: The papers all along the line of the Northern Pacific railroad speak in the highest terms of Chas. S. Fee, general passenger and ticket agent of that great railroad corporation. Mr. Fee is fast becoming one of the most popular managers of passenger traffic in the northwest, and his accession to this position has added largely to the popularity of the Northern Pacific as a line of travel both for tourists and prospectors.

New York, 20: Three hundred immigrants were landed at Castle Garden to-day. They came from Liverpool on the steamship Nevada. Several Mormon elders cared for the large party. They leave in a special train for Utah to-morrow afternoon. There are more women than men in the party. The average age of the women is about twenty-five and the men twenty-eight. They come principally from Germany and Austria, although there are representatives from about every country in the world.

Dakota Religious Items.
There is a strong movement on foot in Ree Heights, to build a Catholic church.
Bishop Walker is very anxious to establish an Episcopal church in Mandan.
Rev. H. A. Newell, of Fargo, organized a Presbyterian church in Minn. Sargent county, a couple of weeks ago.
Friends of the late Rev. J. N. McLoney propose to erect a monument over his grave in the cemetery at Sioux Falls.

A very successful religious revival has been had at Custer, in Lawrence county, and some of the most prominent citizens joined the church.
Between $500 and $600 dollars were subscribed in the Fargo Congregational church one Sunday morning recently, to aid in the building of a new church edifice.

There was a large attendance in the Pierre Catholic church on Palm Sunday. Each person present was presented with one of the palms brought from South Carolina for the occasion.
Rev. P. E. Holp, of Plankinton, has received a unanimous call to the pastorate of the Congregational church of Sioux Falls, made vacant by the death of Rev. McLoney. It is believed he will accept.

Pierre Record: One of the interesting features of the Japanese bazaar and festival to be given by the ladies guild of the Episcopal society on Tuesday evening, the 15th inst., will be the presentation to each guest at the supper, of an elegant Japanese cup and saucer as a souvenir of the occasion.
Valley City Times: The Rev. B. F. Cooley of Fargo, preached to a large congregation at All Saints' church recently. The church is draped in mourning in respect to the memory of the late Rev. Robert H. Clarkson. Over the chancel window is the sentence, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord," and on the altar front the Latin word, "Resurgam."—(I will rise.) These emblems remain until Easter eve. All the Episcopal churches of North Dakota pay a similar tribute of respect.

Thoughtful Notes.
Never accuse others to excuse yourself.
Sincerity is the way to Heaven. To think how to be sincere is the way of man.
If a falsehood paralyzed the tongue what a death-like silence would pervade society.
Goodness consists not in the heart to intend to do the will of God, but in a heart to do it.
Live on what you have; live if you can on less; do not borrow for vanity will end in shame.
His heart was as great as the world, but there was no room in it to hold the memory of a wrong.
What is being religious but always seeing God's infinite love in everything and loving him all the time.

Any man may do a casual act of good nature, but a continuation of them shows it is a part of their temperament.
He always wins who sides with God, God's will is sweetest to him when it triumphs over his cost.
"A life without delicacy may be a good one, but it is extremely disagreeable to those who come in contact with it. It rasps all whom it touches."
The annual income of Trinity parish, New York, is $500,000. The total expenses of the parish are $158,632. It has eighteen clergymen, 342 Sunday school teachers, and 4,521 scholars.

That person has the greatest honor and purest morals who is ready to pardon all mistakes in other people, as if he himself offended daily, and at the same time so vigorously abstains from all appearance of evil, as if he forgave nobody.

The Episcopalians are doing work among the Chinese in Philadelphia. It was begun three years ago by a woman. About forty Chinamen are under instruction in three Sunday schools, and a number will soon be ready for baptism.

The quality of true gentlemanliness is something which can be better felt than described; we instinctively recognize and honor it wherever it resides, and whoever would partake of it in his own character must learn that the straightest road lies through the humble virtue of sincerity, simplicity, honorable principles, and kindly sympathies.

Riches, without meanness and thankfulness, do not make any man happy; but riches with them remove many cares and fears. Therefore my advice is, that you endeavor to be honestly rich or contentedly poor; but be sure that your riches be justly obtained or you spoil all. For it is said: "He that loses his conscience has nothing left that is worth keeping."

There are some great troubles that only time can heal, and perhaps some that can never be healed at all; but all can be helped by the great panacea, work. When grief sits down, folds its hands, and mournfully leads upon its own tears, weaving into a funeral pall the dim shadows that a little exertion might sweep away, the strong spirit is shorn of its might, and sorrow becomes our master.

Life underlies all action, death terminates it. Everyone admits this; but few seem to realize that between fullness of life and death exist enumerable shades and degrees—that just in proportion to the wealth of vitality that any one possesses will be his powers in various directions. We rightly condemn suicide; but we forget that every drop drained from the cup of life, diminishes its fullness, partakes of the same character. If we have no right to take the whole, what can give us a right to take the portion of it, or even the smallest part?

We are far too narrow in our conceptions of what justice means. It makes many claims upon us which no law can ever enforce and which which public sentiment can never meddle. It demands much more than the discharge of pecuniary obligations. It enters into every detail of life, and regulates our conduct in all the relations we bear to others. It pronounces upon our behavior to relatives and friends and the community in which we dwell. It enforces debts of gratitude, of affection, of thoughtful consideration, of kindness, of compassion, as well as those of shillings and pence. To call a man just who is not kind, or tender, or pitiful, or loving, is a misnomer. True justice implies the due exercise of all these sentiments in their proper season, and the cheerful discharge of that conduct which they suggest.

Fergus Democrat, 17: Miss Bertha Hill, a book agent, fell at the roller mill Saturday evening, and sprained her ankle severely. Much sympathy is expressed for the young lady, who is alone in the city.

For The Ladies.
Ceilings of glass are the latest. They are not intended for people who throw stones.
The stylish young ladies of Philadelphia wear little gold kangaroos on their watch chains to remind the gentlemen that this is leap year.

A Philadelphian has discovered that a "wealth of sunny golden hair" changes to an unmistakable red in color about six months after marriage.
It is said there will be three women to one man in heaven. Leap year will mean something up there.

Mrs. Rogers, the Texas cattle queen, is fifty years old. Her husband, twenty-three years her junior, gave up preaching, but she permitted him to be elected to the Texas legislature.

Miss Rachel Bailey, M. D., is practicing medicine at Spiceland, Indiana, in partnership with her brother. Miss Bailey was the first woman graduate of the Indiana college of physicians and surgeons.

Colored straw, matched to the dress, is fashionable, and is to be found in all shades of gray, and in dark green, blue and brown; clusters of feathers are put on very much in front, and a simple band of velvet goes round the crown.

The bang has fallen into disfavor among the fashionable ladies. They never knew the real hideousness of the thing until it was adopted by the giddy young men who sharpen their teeth on cane handles and umbrella handles.
A bonnet of very dark green straw and silk is trimmed with bright red poppies; upon dark blue cream and velvet is laid a cluster of straw white and pale pink roses; and over dark brown a bouquet of pale yellow primroses.

Miss Annie Newcomb, who is now studying abroad, has marvelous mathematical powers, and computes an eclipse with the same ease that a vesper girl slips a chunk of gum into her slipper when she sees the teacher approaching.

Mrs. Blaine is tall and not slim, and she is grave and dignified in manner. Born in New England and well educated, she met Mr. Blaine in Kentucky, and was his first love. Her companion and cousin is Miss Abigail Dodge, the "Gail Hamilton" of literature.

Mrs. Laura C. Holloway has resigned her position as literary editor of the Brooklyn Eagle, which she held for many years, and will devote herself to finishing two or three books. Her last beautifully illustrated book is entitled "The Wives and Methods of Great Men."

Women seem to be developing their inventive powers. Laura J. Gott of LaGrange, Ohio, has taken out a patent for a fire escape; Helen M. Snyder of Fine Bluff, Arkansas, for a shoe lace fastener; Gertrude Campbell of Chicago, for a stocking supporter; and Marion Wallack of Cambridge City, for a railway frog.

Napkins are now being made of spun glass, at the price of one hundred dollars per dozen. They are of a delicate pearl color about the size of an ordinary breakfast napkin, and almost as pliable as silk. The filling consists of minute glass threads crossed by a silk cord; and the fringe or glass fibre is about two inches long.

According to the Burlington Free Press boarding school girls do learn something. A Vermont farmer wanted to get a couple of shingles tacked over a leaky place in the roof, but no one dared to try it, the roof was so steep. That very day the farmer's daughter came home from boarding school, and did the job before she sat down to supper. She said she was used to crawling over steep roofs. It was the only way the girls could get out after 9 o'clock.

London is to have an electric ballet at Easter time. The stage will be darkened for a moment, only to be instantaneously illuminated with hundreds of ballet girls in armor, and every point of it pricked with stars of electric light. An ingenious Frenchman is the author of this device. When he arrived at the Charing Cross station, with his ballet dress and machinery, he was promptly arrested as a Parisian fan, and had to prove his connection with the theatrical trade before he was released.

The banging of a girl's hair changes the whole nature of the little wretch, and she becomes a gun that is loaded. You take a picture of "Evangeline" and bang her hair and she would look as though she would "run at" people. How would Mrs. VanCott, the alleged female preacher, look with her hair banged? It is just the same with boys. You take a nice pious Sunday school boy, who can repeat 300 verses in the new testament, and cut his hair with the clipper, and he looks like Tug Wilson.

By the by, it is rumored that bangs are surely going out of fashion this spring, and that the hair will be worn brushed plainly back from the forehead. While bangs are not necessary for women who possess low, pretty foreheads, they are an absolute necessity for women who possess high, ugly foreheads. There can be no denying the fact that when the hair is arranged prettily and becomingly over the forehead, it greatly softens the outlines of the face, and lends an additional charm to it. It is all nonsense for people to say that the most sensible women wear their hair brushed smoothly back from their brows. The most sensible women are those who know what is becoming to them. If they look well with their hair banged or curled they wear it so; if they do not they fail to follow the prevailing fashion, and dress their hair entirely out of fashion except for street wear. It is almost impossible to wear the hair on the top of one's head with the fashionable hat of the period. Very few ornaments are worn in the hair. Those that are worn are mostly silver or amber hair-pins.

Crookston Chronicle: Our farmer friends will bear in mind the fact that President Hill of the Manitoba R. R., has expressed his intention of placing one of his Polled Angus bulls in each county along the line of the Manitoba road, for the use of those who wish to improve the breed of their cattle. The breed referred to is very hardy, a good milk maker makes good beef, and seems to be peculiarly adapted to this climate. It is certainly important that our farmers should raise stock as well as best in this latitude, it is very likely that they will take advantage of it. Those to whom this stock has been exhibited are enthusiastic in its praise and predict that its introduction here will have the effect to encourage the raising of beef and dairy cattle among the farmers.

Fish Without Eyes.
Aberdeen Republican: All who doubt that fish are thrown up by the artesian well let them go to the Hotel Artesian and Major Barrett will show one that he is preserving in alcohol. This fish was forced through the pipes from the well to the washroom of the hotel, and was seen as it came from the faucet into the wash basin. It is about one inch and a half in length, perfectly formed in every particular, except that there are eye sockets, but no indications of there ever having been any eyes. While examining this fish the other day, Mr. Milton Bliss, the father of C. A. Bliss, of this city, related that during last summer there was found in his well on his claim, a fish, and that there was no possibility of its having come there any other way except some subterranean connection. This is a question for the scientist, and we would be pleased to hear some explanation of this phenomenon. Is it that we are connected with some of the rivers, the Elm or the Jim river, or with some of the lakes? If this is not the case, how can the presence of these fish be accounted for? The artesian well is 500 feet deep and the water comes with such pressure through the pipes that it would be impossible for anything to be put into the well. The fish found in the mammoth cave of Kentucky are without eyes and this would indicate that the fish cast up here are of the same underground species. Who will explain?
