WILL HERD CATTLE.

Mr. David Johnson of De Ville, asks that the 14th of May to contract for and take care and sheep to herd for the present season, at his place above mentioned. Mr. Johnson did the same thing last year, charging $1.50 per head where the salt was furnished and $1.00 where he furnished the salt himself, and will retain the same rates the present season. Mr. J. has a large herd of cattle of his own, is a good stockman and a most reliable citizen and heartily recommends him to persons desiring to place stock out for the season. Remember the place and time—Marlow & Schleicher's meat market, Wahpeton, Dak., May 14, 1884.

Together with the above, Mr. Johnson asks us to state that he has a three quarter blooded Norman stallion, three years old, weighs 1800 pounds, which will stand on his farm for the season.

LOCAL NEWS.

Seeding is half done in the Michigan Settlement.

Miss Mills, recently from Michigan, opened school at Fairmount Monday. Miss M. is a good teacher, and likes the school very much.

The tax collector of Roberts county will be at Walter Pailham's, Michigan Settlement, shortly, to receive money from the farmers in that section.

Thos. C. Woodruff and George Simmons of Pennsylvania, and Levi Spooner, of Breckenridge, Minnesota, have been admitted to practice in the courts of Dakota by certificates from other states.

Lisbon Star: The Sunday News has ceased to exist, having died a natural death for want of support. This is the second time within one year that it has been demonstrated that Lisbon can not support three newspapers.

The G. A. R. has made arrangements with the Odd Fellows to occupy their hall Thursday evenings, and met there last evening. The post is building up rapidly in members, and promises to be one of the best in the territory, ere long.

Dr. Arbuckle called at the Times office Wednesday and asked us to state that he would, in the future, be found at the office of Dr. E. L. Taylor, over the Bee Hive store. The doctor was in quest of a dwelling with a view to locate at Wahpeton, since the burning out at Breckenridge. This is right. There is room and to spare in Wahpeton and Richland county for all such wide awake and well behaved men as Dr. Arbuckle. His family will be a valuable acquisition to the city.

Frank Crafts, in shipping household goods from Napollan, Michigan, to Wahpeton, has the misfortune to know the same were caught in a wreck and rendered a total loss. We presume he will be awarded damages from the company. Frank had been at Ann Harbor medical college having his eyes which had sustained a misfortune professionally treated and had about fully recovered the same; been married and was on his way with his better half to make his home in the rich and prosperous Michigan Settlement, when this unexpected accident overtook his baggage. THE TIMES sympathizes with you, Frank, in your loss, and congratulates you that the happy bride was not caught in the catastrophe.

Chas. Loomis—Town Clerk, Henry Albrecht—Assessor, Freeman Orcutt—Treasurer, Joseph Schmitt—Marshal, Geo T Swasey—Justice of the Peace.

Odd Fellows Anniversary.

The 6th anniversary of Odd Fellowship in America was well observed Saturday of last week in every section of the United States, and the Wahpeton members observed the occasion in a very interesting and successful manner. The entertainment consisted of vocal and instrumental music, recitations, speechifying, &c. S. H. Snyder opened the evenings performance with an appropriate address, followed by music from the orchestra.

Miss Beck with favored the audience with "I'll take you home," assisted by Messrs. Crocker, Seager and Seely. According to our judgment, Miss B. is a very promising vocalist. Songs, solos and music by local celebrities and the orchestra followed, when Chas. Danerel favored the audience with an interesting address, showing the good work and qualities of the organization, and the financial standing of the institution at large, which was most satisfactory. Capt. Gregg gave a reading, "Father Till's Collection," that was amusing in the extreme. P. J. McCumber then got to the front with one of his most happy addresses, treating of Odd Fellowship. Mr. McCumber, though a young man, is one of the keenest speakers in Wahpeton and did the subject complete justice.

Notwithstanding the severe rain storm that prevailed Saturday morning, a large audience was in attendance and was exceedingly well pleased.

Fire at Breckenridge.

Wednesday morning at 3 o'clock the citizens of Breckenridge and Wahpeton were started at the sounding of whistles from locomotives and the round house and an occasional cry of fire. Shortly, it was seen that fire had started in Breckenridge and that the same promised severe loss. It had originated in Richard Walsh's saloon, opposite Peter Hanson's store, and swept the entire block on main street to the corner opposite the Minnesota House, burning down ten buildings. Efforts, from the commencement, were directed toward saving buildings to the north on the same block, and the removal of goods, &c. from the adjoining building to the west, facing the street. Thus the fire not allowed to spread into the block, swept everything on the street. Richard Walsh had an interest in the building to the extent of two or three hundred dollars, which, together with his stock, except the billiard table, was lost, and held insurance for $700,—we have been unable to learn the amount of stock. And there was $200 insurance on the building, held by the Best estate. The second building was a carpenter shop owned by Boudiette & Robert, valued at $150, total loss. Third, unoccupied saloon building, valued at $200, owned by Jay & Falley, no insurance. Fourth, O. B. Todd, Hardware establishment, building valued at $1,200, insured for $800, $1,000 on stock, $300 on furniture and $200 on tinner's tools. Fifth, Mrs. C. B. Falley, building valued at $300, $200 insurance and $400 insurance on books and physicians instruments owned by Dr. Falley. Sixth, Dr. Arbuckle, building valued at $2,500, insured for $1,500, $1,000 on furniture, $600 on barn, which sustained slight damage. Seventh, Allstat, building $800, insured on stock of light goods and barber's fixtures, $800. Eighth, Tim O'Leary, building $2,000, insured for $1,000, and $500 on stock. Ninth, Everdell & Valentine, building $1,000, insured $550, and $1,650 on library and furniture. The lower floor of this building was occupied by The Record newspaper, and was insured for $450. Tenth, L. B. Everdell, meat market, occupied by Marlow & Schleicher, valued at $1,000, insured for $800. No loss on stock, and the family living up stairs saved household goods.

Sioux Valley News: The tallest man in the late Huron convention was W. E. Benedict, of Canton. The largest was Major Edwards, of Fargo. The jolliest was Col. Plummer, of Fargo. The sickest one was B. F. Pettigrew. The most disappointed one was Hugh J. Campbell. The sorriest one was John Cane. The most bewildered one was Dr. Harding, who can't see yet why his fourteen votes failed to send him to Chicago. The happiest man was E. W. Caldwell, of Sioux Falls, who was almost tickled to death because we gave him a dose of the same medicine administered to us at Grand Forks. "I feel good," said he, and he hugged the front part of his back as though he had recently interviewed a green cucumber.

NOTICE.

Should two or more correct answers be received, the reward will be divided, the money will be forwarded to the winner May 15, 1884. Persons trying for the reward must send 20 cents in silver (no postage stamps taken) with their answer, for which they will receive the June Monthly in which the name and address of the winner of the reward and the correct answer will be published, and in which several more valuable rewards will be offered. The May Century.

Portraits of famous soldiers have been a feature of recent numbers of the Century, and the frontispiece of the May number (originally a new volume) is a portrait of a famous warrior, Chief Joseph, Nez-Perce, whose character and valor are respectively described by Lieut. C. E. S. Wood.

Henry James's new three-part story is begun in this number. The title character, "Lady Ebor," is the charming daughter of an English marquis, and the hero, Simon, a young American millionaire who makes a pretense of practicing medicine. It is clear from our charts that the story that the novelist has undertaken to describe a new phase of international society. The entire story of the number is "Rose Maider," an illustrated romance of artist life. Mr. Coble contributes the seventh part of "Dr. Sevier," and Robert Grant's story of "An Average Man" approaches its conclusion.

Of special value among the popular illustrated papers is Julian Hawthorne's description of the "Life of Henry James," which contains much new and valuable biographical material. The continuation of Mr. Benjamin's narrative of the cruise of Alice's deck with the vessel of Newfoundland—"The Bay of Islands in Calm and Storm."

A careful series of papers by Mrs. Schuyler van Rensselaer on "Recent Architecture in England" has long been in preparation, and opens in the May number with a consideration of the merits of many new public buildings. Dr. Charles W. Martin continues his important article on the "Meters of the International Parthenon," which illustrations are given of the head in the Louvre, which has recently discovered, is a fragment of one of the Parthenon marbles in the British Museum.

In timely essays the May number is unusually rich. Thomas Hughes writes of "Traditions in England," Mrs. Helen Jackson (H. H.) makes a clear statement of the religious convictions and consolations of the Mormon women in an article entitled "The Mormon Women." John Burrows writes suggestively of "The Growing Tyranny," Frank B. Stockton satirizes the "Open Letter" in a "short essay" "On the Training of Parents." "Topics of the Time" contains "Editorial Progress," and "The Dorseliner Copyright Bill." And among the "Open Letters" are articles on education, prohibition, and temperance, by Mrs. Robert H. Haring, Wm. M. Baker, by Mrs. Robert H. Haring, and reviews of "The Bread-winners" and other new novels.

The poetry is contributed by Austin Dobson, Rose Hawthorne Lathrop, Christina G. Rossetti, Edmund Gosse, Andrew Lang, Lucius P. Hale, Richard Watson Gilbert, John Vance Cheney, Robert Underwood Johnson, Frank Dempster Sherman, and others.

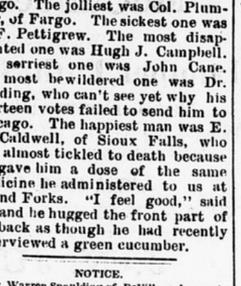

Ortonville North Star: The tracklayers have arrived and work will be resumed on the Fargo and St. Louis as soon as the weather becomes fair. The tracklaying will be under the immediate supervision of R. J. Parker. The company have recently purchased twelve new engines and two hundred and fifty surveyors will soon run the line, and that the grading will be commenced south before June 1.

Sioux Valley News: The tallest man in the late Huron convention was W. E. Benedict, of Canton. The largest was Major Edwards, of Fargo. The jolliest was Col. Plummer, of Fargo. The sickest one was B. THE HOOSIER SEEDER.

Wyndmere, D. T., March 25, 1884. W. A. SEELY & CO. Wahpeton, Dak. Gentlemen: The two Hoosier seeders I bought of you, gave entire satisfaction. In quality of material used, and in mechanical construction and sort of work in the field, I believe them to be without an equal. I sowed them perfectly even and without streak when the wind was blowing a gale and distributed six quarts of flax seed per acre, also as evenly as I could be put on the ground. Yours truly, J. B.
