LOCAL NEWS.

A Manitoba wave struck central Dakota Monday morning, and the boys got out their overcoats in great shape.

Monday of this week French & Smith's sand boat sank loaded, and the boys had some difficulty in raising the same.

John Leno is a tailor just from the old world, and is at work for E. Bischoff, the tailor. Mr. R. is well pleased with his new help.

George Iharrf had the misfortune to fall while jumping from a train at Breckenridge, Wednesday morning, and sustained a severe shaking up. We are glad that George was not worse hurt.

John T. Reeder, one of the efficient and courteous clerks at Anton Miksche's store, went to Indiana a few weeks ago returning Friday last with a bride. THE TIMES wishes Mr. and Mrs. Reeder prosperity and long life.

Joseph Schoklich, who the past two or three years done good service back of A. Miksche's counters, departed early this week for the old world—Germany. Joe may not return, but he will be remembered here as a good boy and efficient salesman.

Wm. Riddel has laid a brick foundation for the new Episcopal church, on Fourth street—opposite Dr. Swaine's residence. The building will not be of brick as originally intended, but of frame structure. It is to be a neat structure, nicely furnished.

Fred Mack and Wm. Jamison, the champion bicycle riders of Wahpeton, went to Dwight, eight miles, and returned in two and a half hours, the other day, spending half an hour at that thrifty suburb of Wahpeton. Mr. Mack is an especially fine rider. He rides the concern as easily as most people would sleep in a feather bed.

M. L. Dohm, the well digger, has put down a tubular well at the F. & S. water tank, and at 80 feet struck water that at once flowed within eight feet of the surface, enough, he thinks, to supply the tank, with the aid of a wind mill, which will at once be put up. Mr. Dohm has also just finished a flowing well on the farm of Fred Russell, eight miles west of town, went down 166 feet.

A Tin Wedding. Mr. and Mrs. John Kotschevar entertained a large number of friends at their tin wedding Wednesday evening of this week. At an early hour the spacious and handsome parlors were crowded with ladies and gentlemen, and the reception room became a receptacle for numerous tin articles useful in the household, as presents to the bride and groom, important among them being a high hat for Mr. K. The supper table was richly and abundantly supplied with good things, a very attractive feature being a mammoth cake standing on a tin holder, provided for the occasion, the cake being very prettily ornamented with twisted and looped strips of tin, presented by the mother of the bride, Mrs. C. Harff. There was not only an abundance of eat, but champagne sparkled in the light as the happy party enjoyed themselves. The guests departed at about 11 o'clock for their various homes, with many good wishes that the host and hostess live long and with their friends enjoy other anniversaries.

Born. At Wahpeton, October 18th, 1884, to Mr. and Mrs. Frank McKee, a daughter.

At Wahpeton, October 18th, 1884, to Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Workman, a son.

DIED. At Wahpeton, November 23d, 1884, Emma, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Formanek, aged seven months, of spasms.

The little girl was taken ill the day before she died with spasms that lasted five hours, then quieted down and seemed to sleep until the spark of life took its flight. The parents have the sympathy of a large circle of friends. The funeral occurred yesterday, Father Hepperle officiating.

For Sale. A good second hand self-feeding coal stove, cheap. Inquire of Dr. Swaine.

Notice. There is a William John Jahr, Sr., and William John Jahr, Jr. The latter wants his name changed to Charles William Jahr, and takes this means of notifying his friends and the public of that fact. It will be an accommodation to all parties concerned, as the names lead to confusion in mail matters.

A Few Facts.

There is not a particle of doubt in the mind of any one at all acquainted with the facts, that the Gazette and the vacillating old man that pretends to conduct it, compose two illustrations (or one illustration, as you please) of moping mendacity and hypocrisy. This two-faced canting old liar does not deserve a publisher's place in a respectable community. One lie, in substance, is found in the fact that he says we offered to sell the support of THE TIMES to the Meyers, McCumber, Snyder, Ink and Buxton clique, which is a fabrication pure and simple, manufactured from whole cloth. That crowd, including the miserable lying Gazette (the latter having been this clique's mouthpiece for three years) could not, to save themselves from purgatory, raise half enough money to buy THE TIMES support contrary to its will, and its will is opposed to the shallow and deceitful operations of that crowd in this little contest.

We do not blame the farmers for feeling ashamed of the fact that they were taken in by that outfit of would-be politicians,—and it cannot be successfully denied that they were taken in, the work stands for itself in that the whole crowd were nominated for office except Meyers. Any farmers' movement that we have ever heard of except the one in question, has gone down owing to its political alliances. Just the moment that would-be politicians get aboard of a farmers' movement, its usefulness is ended. And the miserable lying Gazette may talk about its "Snow Forts" and other nonsensical nonsense, but it cannot hold the organization together in casting this vote. The farmers now in the alliance should and perhaps do realize that the organization as such, may do much to ferret out and establish the standing and qualifications of men seeking office, and then vote intelligently and to the point, but when it comes to going bodily, into politics, including conventions, etc., of their own, they will be worsted every time. It ought to be an insult to the farmers' movement to ask it to support any clique, whatsoever, under any circumstances. The organization cannot afford to do anything of the kind. It is on earth for mutual good with the balance of humanity—and not in the interest of any clique. Let all voters look up the best men and vote as an American citizen, regardless of canting hypocrisy.

Morrill's Temperance Candidate to the Editor of THE TIMES. In view of the fact that the Gazette is endeavoring to put before the citizens of Richland county a man for the office of register of deeds, in the person of one Hofford, and in fact recommends him to the public as a man of unbounded integrity and morality, and a man fit for the office of register of deeds, I would like to say through your columns that I am not making a personal attack upon Mr. Hofford, but do say that a paper edited by a man like Morrill, having a great interest for the county affairs, as he states, and wanting men to fill the different offices of the county that are temperate and free from all excessive indulgences, is surely an enemy to the interests of Richland county when he openly recommends Mr. Hofford for the office of register of deeds; because, if he will impartially and with the interests of Richland county in mind, look into the history of this man Hofford, he cannot with all that God-like goodness in his heart (as he pretends) say to the voters of Richland county, Mr. Hofford is our man. Now admitting that all men are subject to mistakes, yet this mistake of the editor of the Gazette is so palpable that no good thinking man can for one moment say that there is a possible excuse for this "Morrill Gazette man." The Gazette speaks of how innocent Mr. Hofford was brought into keeping a saloon at Colfax. He does not say how long Hofford ran the saloon after getting into such disreputable business, nor does he state that Mr. Hofford could not dispose of the liquors that he had so shamefully to take upon his hands, but in substance says that Mr. Hofford had to keep saloon simply because it was pressed upon him. Shame on such a statement! Voters of Richland county, do you suppose for a moment that you could be pressed into saloon keeping against your will? Would you not, if you had a stock of liquors on your hands, as the Gazette says Mr. Hofford had, dispose of it to some one else if you did not want to keep saloon? Yes! and the Gazette from its own personal observation knows that it does not take a very long time in this country to sell liquors, even at wholesale rates.

And besides these facts, it is well known, as a correspondent in the Mercury says, that Hofford is indebted to wholesale men for liquors, and that they seem to be unable to collect for the same. MORE ANON.

City Council.

All are cautioned not to cash these tickets. Finder will be liberally rewarded for leaving the same at J. M. Johnson's store at Dwight. OLE OLSON.

Mule Taken Up. The undersigned has taken up a bay mule at his farm in Berlin township, range 42, town 29, section 25, about a mile and a half from Wm. Danie's place. The animal is quite old, a little lame on right front foot. The owner will please call, prove property, pay charges, and take the same. WAHPETON, Oct 4, 1884. JOHN RADKE.

Music Lessons Given. Miss Elsie Darbellay asks THE TIMES to state that she is prepared to give music lessons on the piano or organ at her home, opposite the opera house, or at the dwelling of her patrons. Miss Darbellay is a fine musician and an accomplished lady, and we feel certain that she will give her pupils splendid satisfaction. 28
