LIQUOR STOCKS ARE CARTED AWAY TO HAVRE HOMES
Drays, Automobiles and Even Baby Carriages Utilized After Midnight.
 Special to The Daily Tribune.
 Havre, Dec. 31.—This city, one of the westmost in the state, went dry along with the rest, at midnight last night. All day long the saloons and wholesale liquor stores of the city and a land office business in the sale of liquors in case lots and over the bars. Drays and automobiles were kept busy until midnight carting the wet stuff to different parts of the city. When the hour for the final abrogation of King Booze came he was loudly acclaimed by his adherents and guarded by a select company of devotees. All were determined he should retire in good humor and that no lurking prohibitionist should throw bricks at him.
 The retail bars of the city did a tremendous business and no railroad pay-day ever witnessed the crowds that lined the bars—some places three deep—until the hour of midnight for fear they would miss one last drink of the cup that cheers. In some waters two bartenders were usually on duty, five worked Monday night and they were kept on the jump at that. As the hour of midnight approached some of the drinkers became a little tipsy by one o'clock. The streets were deserted. The night police say the rest of the night was quiet.
 Some late buyers came down town in their autos with the side curtains drawn, slipped the bottle or case out the side door of the car and into the car and sped home unostentatiously. Others came in a Ford and loaded on all the little car could carry. Still others came with Johnny's little red express wagon and one man was seen going up First street with a case of beer in a baby carriage. It was a common sight to see men homeward bound with a package under each arm. All seemed to have taken notice of the warning sign in all the saloons. "Carry your goods home—we won't be able to deliver it all before Tuesday."
 Speaking of the passing of the saloon Pat Yeon, owner of the Yeon Liquor Store, The Buffalo, the Board of Trade, and the Havre Hotel bar, said Monday night:
 "I've been in business in Havre for 19 years and have never been arrested. Many think I have a lot of stock in reserve, but Monday's demand cleared me all out and all that is left is a little Vermont, bitters, creme de menthe and such stuff. A rough estimate of my sales at the wholesale counter Monday is $7,000. If I could keep open for a few more days like this I would buy another section of land but I promise to keep my record clean and take no chances. At first I thought I could dispense 2 per cent near beer after tonight, but I am satisfied it is against the spirit of the law and I am perfectly willing some one else should take the chances of getting into trouble with the law by evasions. I am now closed tight. I would have to buy new stocks if I opened up again. I have several offers for the rental of my places of business under consideration."
 Nearly every place where liquor was on sale Monday was entirely sold out. Only the empty shelves and still cupboards bars was all that was left today.

URGES GREAT NAVY FOR U. S. BY 1924
JOSEPH O'NEILL, PIONEER FREIGHTER AND MINER, IS DEAD
 Had Been in Montana Since His Arrival at Alder Gulch in 1864.
 Special to The Daily Tribune.
 Lewistown, Dec. 31.—Joseph O'Neill, a pioneer of the state, died here early this morning after an illness extending over some time. He was a native of Ireland, 78 years of age, and came to the United States when eight years of age.
 O'Neill went to Alder Gulch in 1864 and had resided in Montana ever since. He mined at Alder Gulch and then joined in the rush to Last Chance, where he did some placer mining, later operating the first line kila in that section. He established a fast freight line between Helena and Deer Lodge and later carried the mail from Helena to Rimini.
 Mr. O'Neill freighted in the early days from Salt Lake to Montana and at the time of Indian raids in the territory he furnished the government with teams and ran supply trains for the army. When the railway was built into Helena he established a large transfer and livery business. He continued in that until he came to Lewistown, 20 years ago and established a stage line between Lewistown and Gilt Edge, which he gave up recently.
 The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon from St. Leo's Catholic church.

Swindlehurst Is Bound Over for Trial Bail Fixed at $10,000
 Livingston, Dec. 31.—After a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace O. T. Ragland, Postmaster Joseph E. Swindlehurst has been ordered bound over to the district court for trial on a first degree murder charge in connection with the death of Reginald S. S. Crawford, Mike Demarco, John Stewart, L. E. Spelman, Bert Egwald, Harvey Montgomery, Henry Heinz, Theo. Aberg, Carl Black, L. G. Pennington, G. B. Campbell, William Shirar, George Russell, William Nissen, Oscar Albert, James Atwood, George Noller, O. F. Habedank, John Vestman, William Brown, O. L. Brown, C. Bjerke, J. P. Dunn, Charles Hayden, Irving Miller, Andrew Wamben, G. O. Terry, Jim Murphy, Charles Weston, Walter Sandwick, S. J. Vasbinder, Ray Conrad, and Dr. Mimook.
 The court admitted the defendant to bail, which was fixed at $10,000. Twenty minutes later Swindlehurst was out of jail, on bonds furnished by John A. Lovelace, Thomas M. Swindlehurst, E. A. Scheuber and R. P. McClelland. He went to his home immediately.
 This marks the first step in what promises to be a legal battle attracting interest beyond the boundaries of Montana. When the arraignment was made in the city council chambers the defendant answered in a low voice, "not guilty." At his side was Thomas M. Swindlehurst, his brother, who sat hour after hour while the testimony concerning the tragic alteration was taken and while the attorneys made their arguments.
 The little council chamber presented a dramatic spectacle when court opened. At the defendant's side was an array of lawyers consisting of Col. C. B. Nolan of Helena, law partner of United States Senator Thomas J. Walsh, former speaker of the Montana house, James F. O'Connor of Livingston, and City Attorney Frank Arnold.
 While the legal battle is yet to come, slight skirmishes developed during the preliminary hearing. Each witness was closely cross-examined by Colonel Nolan for the defense. For the most part, the cross-examination had to do with the testimony of the trio of Livingston physicians, Drs. R. D. Alton, B. L. Pampel and S. E. Leard, who performed the autopsy on the body of Mr. Harvey and two of whom attended him before death. The defense sought to bring out their argument that Mr. Harvey's condition as regards heart was arrested, induced by the excitement of the contest, was the probable cause of death rather than the severity of alleged blows delivered by Swindlehurst.
 Closing arguments by Colonel Nolan and Judge O'Connor also alleged testimony of witnesses for the prosecution was contradictory in many important particulars. Colonel Nolan also argued that the testimony did not warrant binding over the defendant on a first degree murder charge, and that most serious offenses for which he should be tried would be manslaughter. Judge O'Connor went a step further by petitioning for dismissal of the case on the ground that the injury of Mr. Harvey was not intended by the defendant.

Suit Over Montana Timber Compromised
 San Francisco, Dec. 31.—After having been in the courts since June 24, 1910, the suit of the government against A. B. Hammond's San Francisco corporation, for $211,854.10 for the alleged encroachment of government timber in the Blackhawk mining district of Montana, was compromised here today for $7,000.00.
 The government accused Hammond of appropriating 21,185,410 board feet of timber between 1885 and 1895. It was awarded a verdict of $51,040. Hammond appealed and won. The government made preparations to institute a new suit but a stipulation was entered into to the effect that all litigation should cease upon the payment of $7,000.00 to the government by Hammond.

LEGISLATIVE ACT NEEDED TO ABOLISH TAX ON MORTGAGES
 New Constitutional Amendment Merely Provides That They May Be Exempted.
 Special to The Daily Tribune.
 Helena, Dec. 31.—It is up to the incoming legislature to say whether or not mortgages shall be exempt from taxation. Gov. S. V. Stewart issued a proclamation Saturday announcing that the voters of Montana have amended the constitution to permit the abrogation of the taxation of mortgages, but an act of the legislature is necessary to put it into effect, for the constitution, as amended, simply provides that mortgages "may be exempt from taxation."
 If the legislature passes such a law, it will mark the close of a fight that has been waged for a quarter of a century. Under the old provision of the constitution, if a Montana man loaned money in the state and took a mortgage as security, the mortgage was taxable. This provision did not extend to banks. It resulted in scores of men with money to lend making loans in the names of relatives living in other states than Montana, to beat the tax collector. It resulted also in the tax being collected from men who were least able to pay it, professional money lenders evading it.
 At session after session of the Montana legislature an amendment to the constitution was proposed abolishing this provision, but for some reason the bankers of the state were opposed to it, and always succeeded in having the bill killed. Each succeeding session, however, the measure had advanced farther before being killed than it had in the previous session.
 Finally, four years ago the measure providing for a submission to the voters by the necessary two-thirds vote. But so many other things besides mortgages were to be exempted from taxation the voters themselves knocked the proposition upon the head. Two years ago, the amendment, limited exclusively to the exemption of mortgages, was again proposed in the legislature, carried by the necessary two-thirds vote, and ratified by the voters at the November election.

Such Women Just Have to "Give Up"
 "Man may work from sun to sun, but woman's work is never done." That's why women are overworked, nervous, all run down, no appetite, and can "hardly drag around." Vinol creates a hearty appetite, strengthens the digestive organs, induces sound sleep, invigorates the nerves, and in this natural manner creates working strength.
 Narragansett Pier, R.I. Jacksonville, Ill.
 "I was all run-down, back ached, and tired all the time. I keep house for my husband and four children and could hardly keep around. Finally I tried Vinol and it has restored my health and helped me wonderfully, so I recommend it to others who are in this condition." Mrs. Hannah Randall.
 "I keep house for my little family, but got into a weak, nervous, run-down condition, tired all the time and no ambition. My doctor told me to try Vinol, and in a week I felt like a new person. I am now strong again, look after my baby, and do all my housework." Mrs. G. H. Lamson.
