

FARM BUREAU PLANS FOR ONE BUSY DAY

January 13 Will Be Occasion for Important Meeting in Great Falls, and Many Visitors Are Expected.

Monday, January 13, is a date written large in the calendar of the farmers of Cascade county, for on that day the annual county-wide meeting of the Cascade county farm bureau will be held in Great Falls, with a valuable day's program culminating in "The Long Trail" to be presented at the Grand opera house in the evening.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the executive committee of the Cascade county farm bureau held in the federal building yesterday afternoon, Clark Bumgarner of Fife, president of the Cascade county farm bureau, announced that an especial effort is going to be made to secure the attendance of residents of Great Falls at the play which is to be the big feature of the day.

"Business men of the city are especially urged to take the evening off and see a farmer's play," Mr. Bumgarner stated. "A number of prominent business houses of the city are going to be asked to list themselves as patrons of the play, which is probably unique in the history of Great Falls in that it is staged in town entirely under the auspices of a farmers' organization. Of course we expect to have in town for that day and evening just as many farmers as we can reach and if the weather man is kind that should reach a high total. But we want the business men to see the play, too."

The annual meeting will open with a morning session in the council chamber at the court house for a brief address, after which the men and women in attendance will separate for group conferences, each selecting the subject in which he or she has especial interest. The farm bureau committee in charge of the special projects contained in the farm bureau program of work, will handle these group meetings, and will be assisted by specialists from the extension department of the agricultural college. For example, C. M. Storm of Vaughn, the committeeman whose work covers farm crops, will have charge of the group meeting of men interested along that line, and will be assisted by F. E. Fuller, field agent in agronomy; E. F. Lyman of Cascade, committeeman on dairying, will probably have the assistance of W. E. Tomson, field agent in dairying, in this conference; Miss Jane Kenney, in charge of boys' and girls' club work for the county, will work with some members of the state staff of club leaders; J. H. Morehead of Cascade, whose department in the farm bureau is marketing, will cooperate with W. L. Beers, head of the bureau of markets' work in Montana in that group conference; George A. Rowse, veit of the biological service is expected to be here for the meeting on rodent control, a project for which H. W. Boynton of Uim is committeeman. There are other subjects and leaders for which there will be conferences, not forgetting that on woman's work, for which Mrs. Effie Greene of Great Falls is committee leader, and in which she will probably have the assistance of Miss Mignon Quay of Bozeman, assistant state home demonstration agent leader, and Miss Myrtle MacDonald, home demonstration agent for Cascade county.

Out of these group conferences the program for 1919 will be outlined, and a program of work to cover the year will be drawn by the farm bureau. The group conferences break up at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, and the general meeting will be reassembled. The evening is given over to the play, which will be put on by a capable cast from the extension service.

All farmers who are interested in cooperating for more effective work along any of the general lines of agriculture in Cascade county, are urged to attend, regardless of whether they are members of the local farm bureau.

Considerable local interest is awake over the play, "The Long Trail". This is Montana's comedy-drama, full of laughs, and full of situations that touch the heart. One who recently witnessed a rehearsal of the play said, on his return to Great Falls, that his play is guaranteed to strike home to anyone whose home ever was on a farm. It paints vividly the tremendous growth and development that has taken place on the farms of this state in the last half-century.

The executive committee of the Cascade county farm bureau which held its regular meeting in Great Falls yesterday is composed of Clark Bumgarner of Fife, president; C. C. Davis of Great Falls, vice president; J. H. Morehead of Cascade, secretary; C. M. Storm of Vaughn, Carl Gerke of Stockett, Mrs. Effie Greene of Great Falls, Miss Jane Kenney of Great Falls, H. W. Boynton of Uim, E. F. Lyman of Cascade, C. W. Crabtree of Simms and R. B. McIver of Great Falls.

FORT SHAW MEN WILL GET LOAN

Farmers Form Association to Secure Money From Farm Loan Bank.

County Agent Victor B. Sheldon returned last evening from Fort Shaw, where he went to attend a meeting of the farmers of that vicinity in regard to organizing a farm loan association. Mr. Sheldon reports that about 25 or 30 farmers were at the meeting and that during the afternoon an organization was formed which is to be known as the Fort Shaw National Farm Loan association. Twenty charter members were greatly interested in the project, and loans were applied for to the amount of $42,000. Each of the 29 charter members will be stockholders in the association and individually make their applications, which are approved through the federal bank at Spokane. John Hancock was elected president of the Fort Shaw organization and A. F. Fink secretary and treasurer.

A similar meeting is to be held in the county agent's office in the federal building next Wednesday to determine whether the farmers of this vicinity wish to take action.

JAPANESE EXPERT IS COMING TO WAR ON SPOTTED FEVER

Services of Bacteriologist Are Lent to State by Rockefeller Institute.

Helena, Jan. 4.—With the opening here of the state clinical livestock laboratory, it is announced that Dr. Negouchi, a Japanese bacteriologist now associated with the Rockefeller institute, will come here soon to study the spotted fever situation in Montana. Upon his arrival state officials plan to start a determined battle on the malady, which is chiefly prevalent in western Montana. Efforts to identify the cause of spotted fever, which chiefly afflicts animals but has been fatal likewise for human beings in many cases, have so far been unsuccessful, altho it has been made the subject of study here by numerous government experts. The services of Dr. Negouchi have been lent to the state by the Rockefeller institute for an indefinite period.
