SCHOOL FUNDS FOR COUNTY APPORTIONED

Amount Less Than Last Year Because of Some Special Conditions Existing Then—Library Fund Also Is Distributed.

Cascade county has an apportionment of $1,225,265 for school purposes for the year 1919, or $12,000 less than for the year 1918. This is due to the fact that the special fees and fines of an accumulation of several years were added to the school apportionment last year and also that some of the districts maintained no school session for the required four months, and one of the districts, district 44, which is located in the Soldier Creek country with an assessed valuation of $777,777, while still remaining a school district, has had no apportionment for the past three years, because there are no children of census age attending school in that community. At one time this district supported the largest rural school in the county. While there are 32 school districts in Cascade county, there are only 89 of these that are really operating schools. The number of school census children residing in Cascade county is 10,663, making an apportionment per capita of $114.56, which is nearly $2 less than that of last year. The apportionment for Cascade county and the state apportionment will be made some time in the early part of March. This is usually about $5 per capita. The apportionments made by the counties and the state are not nearly enough to maintain the schools, and this deficit is made up by special school levies by the various districts.

The following is given the apportionment for the school districts:

CLEAN SLATE FOR NEW YEAR'S WORK

Commercial Club Directors Hold Evening Meeting—Auditorium Considered.

At the regular meeting of the commercial club directors held in the club rooms last night the question of the advisability of building a city auditorium was taken up, and a committee was appointed to investigate and submit a report as to the feasibility of building such a structure. Roy E. McKnight was chosen as chairman of the committee to work with the other members, Frank B. Brown and B. J. Boorman. For some time it has been considered necessary to have some sort of central gathering place for conventions, entertainments and meetings held on a large scale, and if some suitable place were available it is the opinion of the commercial club that Great Falls would be the meeting place of many more associations and organizations of various kinds than at present. The terminal elevator bill to be presented before the legislature now in session as submitted by a special committee appointed to draw up the bill was ratified by the directors, with but one or two slight changes. Last night's meeting presided over by the president of the club, Shirley S. Ford, was the first meeting for some time held in the evening, as most of the business meetings have hitherto been called in the afternoon. It was the desire of the directors to meet last night to finish up the business left over from last time and thus to have a clean slate for the new year.

MEN WHO ELUDED MILITARY SERVICE TO BE PROSECUTED

Adjutant General Drawing Up Record of Part Everyone Took in War.

Helena, Jan. 6.—Within the next three months Adjutant General Phil Greenan of Montana will have a complete record of the part every Montana man took in the war and whether or not he was drafted, enlisted or was delinquent. The names of the delinquents, with complete records of their actions, classified as technical deserters from the military service, will be sent to the United States district attorney for prosecution in the federal court. Adjutant General Greenan is acting in accordance with instructions from Provost Marshal General Crowder, head of the selective service act, which were received yesterday. "We will make sure to check up every man who has been reported as a deserter," Adjutant General Greenan said.

SCIENCE NOTES

All the odors of cooking are carried off into a chimney from a range invented in Paris which is enclosed with glass doors on the principle of the chemist's draft closet. Guns that are automatically loaded with acetylene gas and discharged have been invented in Scotland for fog signals, wireless waves from central stations starting their mechanism. Because some roads in Argentina have deeper dust in summer and deeper mud in winter than any others in the world, the wagons used on them have wheels from six to 15 feet in diameter.

EULOGIES OCCUPY TIME OF CONGRESS

Political Effects of Roosevelt's Death Discussed Even While Capital Mourns.

Washington, Jan. 6.—Washington, representing the nation at large, gave solemn and earnest expression today to the country's regret at the death of Theodore Roosevelt and its admiration for his character and achievements. Flags on every government building throughout the United States and every army post and on every naval vessel were ordered placed at half mast. The senate and house adjourned after eulogies of the former president had been delivered by both republicans and democrats and committees had been appointed to attend his funeral, and the supreme court took unprecedented action in adjourning without the transaction of any business. Formal tributes were paid: Colonel Roosevelt by government officials, members of congress and cabinet officers. President Wilson was called the news by the executive officers of the White house. Many touching statements of personal grief were made by men and women who had been associated closely with the former president during his life in Washington, particularly those during the time of his residence in the White house, and members of the diplomatic corps expressed the admiration which the people in foreign lands held for him. The bust of Colonel Roosevelt in the senate corridor was draped in crepe. The National Press club, where the former president frequently had been a guest and a speaker, postponed its annual inauguration of officers and the frolic to follow which was to have been a humorous version of the Versailles peace conference with Colonel Roosevelt as one of the characters. Political effects of Colonel Roosevelt's death began to be discussed even while the capital mourned the passing of one of the leading figures in American public life. Inasmuch as Colonel Roosevelt had been mentioned prominently as a possible presidential nominee in 1920, it was inevitable that his passing should cause speculation as to other candidates for the republican schism of 1920 and the return of the democrats to power. Colonel Roosevelt admittedly had been out of harmony with some elements of his party, Republican leaders asserted that the death of the founder of the progressive party would mean the complete reunion of the republicans. Discussion as to possible standard bearers in 1920, which began with the spread of rumors several days ago that Colonel Roosevelt was about to announce formally that he would not be a candidate, started anew and several prominent senators, influential governors and others were mentioned. One of Colonel Roosevelt's real contributions to the beauty of Washington was the remodeling of the White House. The executive offices were added and the interior redecorated under his direction. He did not allow the new office wing to interfere with the famous tennis court where he frequently exercised and which was destroyed by the enlargement of the offices in a succeeding administration. Life in Roosevelt's daughter, Mrs. Nicholas Longworth and her husband, Representative Longworth of Ohio, left Washington on an early train for Oyster Bay.

Old Barleycorn, Goodbye

Goodbye, Old Barleycorn, goodbye. Your mourners they are legion; They'll miss your cooling moisture, John, Through this dry land region; They comfort spurn, their throats aburn, While they are deeply grieving, They're in the throes, they drowned their woes 'Ere you, John, took your leaving.

Your grave, John, will be long kept green By longings and by wishing, And prayers will for you, John, be said On busy trips and fishing; And thus they mourn, Old Barleycorn, They can't forget, the trying, Their parching lips in mem'ry sips The joy they knew in buying.

The writer of the above verse, Mr. H. A. Frenz, says that the curse of Drink lay in the joy of buying, and I have no doubt that many will agree with that philosophy, and I am going to ask all those who believe in that statement to try that rule in the purchase of Goods for Men from me. They will, I'm sure, find greater joys in the buying of clothing of my brand than Old John Barleycorn could possibly radiate.

M'ADDOO'S PHOTOGRAPHIC MIND.

Another help to speed in the transaction of business is the possession of the so-called photographic mind. I knew a newspaper man once who could take a pile of New York newspapers, glance through them almost as rapidly as he could turn the pages, and when he had finished, have in the back of his mind a complete record of every important item, with a sure recollection of the position in each paper where each item appeared. In reading memoranda and letters, Mr. McAdoo possesses this quality to a superlative degree. He can glance hurriedly through a mass of papers, and at the end have firmly fixed in his mind the one or more salient points which must be discussed or decided. He possesses the same faculty for getting at the point quickly in a discussion or argument. Once, I remember, he was hastily summoned before a congressional committee to discuss a question which he had turned over to a subordinate and with the details of which he was not familiar. Hiding to the capitol with him while he drove his automobile through a maze of traffic, I read to him the memoranda of his assistant on the question. Arriving at the capitol he was ushered immediately into the committee room and asked to state his views. He plunged immediately into the argument and set forth with the greatest clarity the facts presented in the memoranda I had read to him, and then concluded with one or two added points which clinched the argument so conclusively that the committee, including the political opponents, gave him what he wanted.—Bruce Clagett in Leslies.

Could Hardly Walk on Account of Rheumatism—Gains Eighteen Pounds by Taking Tanlac.

"I would have willingly given five hundred dollars, if necessary, for the wonderful good Tanlac has done for me," said M. Grant, a well known baker, who lives at 109 W. Montgomery St., Spokane, a few days ago. "For more than twelve years," he continued, "I suffered all the tortures of rheumatism, and all the misery that goes with a bad case of stomach trouble. My feet and ankles were so badly swollen and the pain so severe that I could hardly walk, and my arms were so stiff and drawn that I would have to get somebody to help put on my coat. I also suffered with the worst sort of pains in my back and hips, and I hardly ever got any sound sleep. "I had a bad case of stomach trouble also, and all my food soured and made me miserable for hours after eating. I have often gone for forty-eight hours without eating a bite—was afraid to try it. "Eight years ago I gave up my home and business in Pendleton, Oregon, and later made two trips to the Catalina Islands, a widely known health resort, hoping that I might get some relief from my suffering there. I honestly believe I have taken a wagon load of different kinds of medicine, but nothing I reached me trouble until I found Tanlac. Actually three bottles of this medicine has done what all these other things failed to do. I have no rheumatism now—not a sign of it, my appetite is as good as it ever was, and nothing I eat hurts me. Why, I can eat cabbage now without any bad after effects. Every night when I go to bed I know that I am going to get a good night's sleep. I have gained eighteen pounds, am as well and hearty as I ever was in my life, and am working ten to twelve hours every day. "Tanlac is certainly a blessing to all suffering humanity, and I am more than glad to recommend it to everybody. "Tanlac is now sold in Great Falls by Model Rx Pharmacy, 312 Central Avenue, and Cascade Rx Pharmacy, 110 Third street south.—Adv.

HOW WE GASSED THE HUNS.

Twenty-five miles from Baltimore a 300-acre Maryland farm was converted in 11 months into a $60,000,000 factory for toxic gases, chiefly phosgene, mustard oil, chlorine and phosphorus, none of which have any commercial value, and which are used solely and only to kill and horribly incapacitate. The Germans had forced the United States to this competition, France and England, tho they tried their best to manufacture toxic gases in quantity, were never able to make more than 25 tons a day between them, France 9 tons and England 20 tons. Germany, it is believed, was making probably 30 tons a day. But in this one Baltimore plant Uncle Sam, in October last, was turning out 200 tons a day!

WEATHER BLASTS 'HOPES OF SKATERS'

Skating is no more on Gibson lake, or at least until the nice balmy weather which Great Falls has been having ceases. The last few days, of warm sunshine, have melted much of the ice and the constant swarm of young and old folk who have been exhibiting themselves on the lake trying to get "one last skate" before it was too late have made deep ruts and bumps so that the surface, once smooth and glassy, is now so rough that it is an impossibility to skate with any satisfaction. The park board last evening tried to flood the lake again but found it to be of no use. Those who wish to skate will have to wait until the weather is more appropriate.
