

FAILURE TO FIGHT LOSES HIM RIGHTS

John Tveit of Glasgow Claimed Exemption From Military Duty, Now He Cannot Complete Naturalization and It Cancels Homestead Entry.

Copies of an important decision made by the general land office at Washington have just been received by the Great Falls land office in which the action of an applicant for a homestead in connection with the call to military service proves to be a force that nullifies steps he had taken in connection with being naturalized and therefore deprives him of the right to take land. In this instance the homesteader claimed exemption from military service for the United States because he was an alien, he said. He had, however, filed his first papers to become a citizen, but it would appear when citizenship meant going to the front to fight, he preferred not to have the citizenship.

His naturalization by the court because of his claiming exemption and therefore he was disqualified from being a homestead entryman as well as all right to become a citizen of the United States. Here is the text of the bulletin sent out from Washington on the case:

In considering homestead entry Glasgow 037570, of John Tveit, who had filed a declaration of intention to become a citizen, it was found that the court on the application of the entryman for naturalization, denied his petition on the ground that Tveit in his questionnaire had claimed exemption from military duty under the draft on the ground that he was an alien. The commissioner in his decision of December 9, 1918, stated and held:

"The entryman was born in Norway, and on October 9, 1914, he declared his intention of becoming a citizen of the United States. It is shown he claimed exemption from military service because he was not a citizen of the United States, and under the act of August 31, 1918, (Public No. 210), this fact operates to cancel his declaration of intention and bars him from ever becoming a citizen of the United States. It appears that he is not qualified to hold a homestead entry, and accordingly, his homestead entry 037570 is hereby held for cancellation, subject to the usual right of appeal, and you will so notify him."
