Public Apology Demanded for Branding of Soldiers as Draft Evaders.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Butte, Jan. 19.—A public apology for having branded 65 of Butte's fighting men as draft evaders was demanded from the republican contestants for the legislative seats from Silver Bow county and from Attorney General S. C. Ford, in a set of resolutions adopted by the army and navy association in Butte this afternoon. The resolutions declare the intent of the contestants to be the making of political capital at the expense of "brave boys who were willing to sacrifice their lives."

DEALERS FAVOR CHECKING UP ON COST OF LIVING

Resolutions Passed by Retail Merchants Approving the Legislature's Action.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Helena, Jan. 19.—Retail merchants of Montana are thoroughly in accord with the legislative investigation into the high cost of living, according to resolutions adopted at the closing session of the Montana Retail Merchants' association here. The resolutions also ask for appointment of standing committees in the legislature on merchandise, and for an amended hail insurance law. The resolutions:

"Whereas, There has been called to the attention of this association that the mercantile interests are not represented by a committee in the Montana state legislature; be it

"Resolved, That the senate and house of representatives be asked to include a committee on merchandise among the standing committees appointed in each house; and be it further

"Resolved, That the legislative committee of this association bring this petition to the attention of both branches of the legislature and urge the appointment of such committee at once."

Resolution on Garnishment.

"Whereas, The government railroad administration has ruled that the wages of railroad employes are exempt from garnishment; and

"Whereas, This ruling results in hardships and loss to the retail merchants, and conditions concerning the war are changed; therefore be it

"Resolved, That this association protest against such ruling and petitions that it be rescinded.

"Whereas, During the past year a great many of our farmers insured their grain against loss under the state hail insurance act; and

"Whereas, Owing to the unprecedented number of claims filed with the hail insurance board by reason of the unusually heavy loss throughout the state, those who insured in this manner will receive only about 40 per cent of the full value of their insurance; and

"Whereas, We believe that the majority of such farmers placed this insurance with the state in the belief that the state was the safest insurance they could get and urged by the representatives of the state hail insurance board to do so; therefore be it

"Resolved, By the Retail Merchants' Association of Montana that we strongly recommend to the members of the state senate and the house of representatives who are engaged during the present session, which will prevent a recurrence of this loss by our farmers, and that provision be made to set aside from the surplus of following years to make good the shortage on this fund for the year 1918, and that such fund be collected from premiums collected from those insured in the future to the end that confidence may be returned in the state hail insurance and the farmers of the state be reimbursed for their loss during the year 1918.

Position on H. C. L. Probe.

"Whereas, The Montana state legislature is making an investigation of the high cost of living and whereas the retail merchants of Montana were deeply interested in the findings of this investigation; and

"Resolved, That this matter be referred to the executive committee with the recommendation that they see that the findings of the investigating committee be published in such a manner as they may see fit in order that the consuming public is completely advised."

Lifting Regulations on Fuel February 1 May Lower Prices

Special to The Daily Tribune. Helena, Jan. 19.—According to State Fuel Administrator M. H. Gerry, Jr., removal of zone restrictions along with the lifting of regulations, which has been ordered from Washington to take effect February 1, may result in lower prices at that time, but in case of severe storms prices might jump.

"What effect raising the restrictions will have on Montana is problematical," he said. "My position has been that it would be unsafe to remove restrictions in the middle of the winter, but evidently the officials in Washington feel that the coal business can be controlled by standing prepared to restore price restrictions should abuses occur."

Will Seek Horses He Abandoned When Called Into Fight

Special to The Daily Tribune. St. Paul, Jan. 19.—Eight horses which he had to leave to their own resources on his Montana homestead when suddenly called to the colors last year will be sought by John J. Secora, an overseas veteran, when he reaches his old home next week. Secora, limping from a wound in the thigh, passed thru St. Paul yesterday having been discharged from the service.

Secora lived many miles from a town or railroad in Montana and on one of his frequent visits to town he found his call to service awaiting him. He had to drop all personal business and go at once. He had no time to get some one to look after his horses and homestead.

BUTTE PHARMACY HELD UP BY TWO BOYS IN TEENS

Special to The Daily Tribune. Butte, Jan. 19.—Two youths, not more than 19 years old, last night held up the Runkler's pharmacy on South Main, compelling the proprietor, W. G. Runkler, to turn his back to the way while seizing his money. The boys were dressed in the muzzles of two revolvers held by one boy.

The second hold-up rifled the safe, securing $18. He objected to searching Runkler when commanded to by his companion, saying: "We have enough, let him go."

Then turning to the drug store owner, he said: "Don't worry, old man, you will get this back soon enough." Both men, unmasked, then walked out of the front door and disappeared. They have not been captured.

IRRIGATION FOR MILK RIVER LAND APPEARS CERTAIN

Objections of Paradise Valley Private Ditch Owners Seem to Be Pacified.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Harlem, Mont., Jan. 19.—At a meeting of the landowners of the Milk river valley Saturday definite steps towards the creation of an irrigation system were taken. This district is being created in cooperation with the U. S. reclamation service to reclaim lands which were originally supposed to have come under the Milk river project. The opposition presented by those who already have irrigation systems in the valley was overcome and the atmosphere so clarified that it is now believed there will be nothing to prevent the project from going thru.

There was a large attendance at the meeting from every part of the valley and representatives from various private irrigation projects were present. Ex-Governor Norris was present as legal advisor for the irrigation committee consisting of Dr. A. P. Rooney, of Harlem; A. W. Ziebach and Vernon Butler, both of Chinook. Mr. Norris explained the various phases of law relating to the organization of the district and how it would affect the landowners in general.

The opposition was mainly from the landowners in Paradise valley, on the south side of Milk river, who at the present time claim they have an efficient irrigation system of their own, and believed they would fare better in the expense of building a new system if created where the water comes from one common source, therefore it did not seem advisable in the opinion of Governor Norris to make two districts for the reason that unforeseen obstacles might arise later which might not meet with federal authorities' approval.

Attorney W. B. Sandis, of Chinook, who is particularly interested in the irrigation system of the Paradise valley, championed the cause of those landowners who already have what is termed partial irrigation systems of their own. This matter was settled in a satisfactory manner by adopting a resolution to the effect that the irrigation district, when organized, takes over private irrigation projects that the owners of these private irrigation projects be compensated to the extent of 50 per cent of the cost of construction of their ditches when the ditches are of benefit to the irrigation district and when the ditches can be used by the irrigation district value in the cost of construction, and in both cases deterioration shall be figured.

The petitions asking the court to create the Blaine County irrigation district will be ready for distribution in a few days. A committee to create these districts was appointed as follows: W. D. Sneathman, of Chinook; J. M. Sharples, of Zurich; R. E. Musgrave, of Paradise valley; Dr. W. M. Williams, Harlem territory under the Harlem ditch; R. B. Gannaway and A. J. Laroche, Harlem in general; George Collier, Savoy; J. C. Cronk, Coburg.

BUTTE OFFICERS FIND COFFEE HAD ALCOHOLIC FLAVOR

Police Chief, Investigating Alleged Fraud, Learns Why "Royal" Is Popular.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Butte, Jan. 19.—"Royal" coffee henceforth is under suspicion in Butte, in consequence of an investigation of the Golden West coffee house on South Main. Chief of Police Murphy tasted a cup of the steaming liquid and pronounced it "excellent."

The royal coffee, the feature of the house, carried in it a "nip" of the forbidden booze, said to have come from a bottle of Old Crow which the police found. Nick Russos, the proprietor, was in a fair way to become rich, but he allowed bad banking methods to creep into his business affairs. He landed squarely in the police court, to be fined $50 for selling booze and on general principles. Then he was turned over to the county authorities for further action.

Russos had one patron, an elderly man, who had a bank account of $500, which the coffee server that should be deposited in a bank other than the one favored by the man who possessed the money, and that he should do the depositing. Russos, it is charged, deposited the funds in another bank, but it developed that he placed it in his own name instead of that of the owner.

Herman Koenberg, the glib one, yearned for more coffee, and winking at the waitress, called for "royal." When settlement time came, Koenberg told the woman that her boss had his coin. She told him to come cross with "two-bits" for the cup of coffee or "duck." Koenberg got angry and telephoned for the police chief to come down and enjoy the coffee with him. The story of the bank account came out when the chief questioned the man.

SUPERINTENDENT SAYS STATE NEEDS ANOTHER NORMAL

Miss Mary Trumper Disagrees With Board's Stand Against Recommendation.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Helena, Jan. 19.—Miss Mary Trumper, state superintendent of public instruction, is not in accord with the resolution adopted Friday by the state board of education, of which body she is a member, stating that it will not at this time recommend to the legislature the establishment of any higher institutions of learning. Miss Trumper believes that even tho it may pinch the state financially, at least one normal school, and two if possible, should be established. If one, it should be centrally located and the state it will serve, she says, and if two, they should be centrally located with relation to the different parts of the state which they serve.

In her biennial report Miss Trumper has already pointed out that to supply the schools of the state with teachers graduating annually as many as were graduated at the Dillon school in 1918, Miss Trumper's stand will be good news to the half dozen or more towns which are now asking the legislature to establish normal schools in their communities.

Miss Trumper's report also points out that with all teaching positions filled, Montana still requires 1,800 new teachers annually; that in November, 1918, there were still 165 schools not supplied with teachers and that hundreds of children annually are deprived of an opportunity to obtain schooling. She says the Dillon normal in 1918 graduated only 60 teachers, about as many as were needed in the new schools created by Dawson county alone. She advocates rural teacher training courses in the high schools as an emergency, but adds this is inadequate.

The report asserts "there is great need of a second normal school in Montana," and that Montana is far behind most of the states in the facilities provided for training teachers.
