

SOFT DRINKS GIVEN KNOCKOUT FOR KEEPS

County Attorney Says All the Popular Brands Usually Mentioned Are Prohibited Under Law and "Cannot Be Sold"—Sheriff Will Enforce Rule.

There are no favorites named in the announcement made yesterday by County Attorney H. G. Bennett in setting forth the position of that office on the question of the so-called two per cent drinks that are being vended in the city. They are get one and the same solar-plexus and are down for the count. It appears that the county attorney would have all understand now that it makes no difference whether they are brewed in states made famous by a particular brand, or are the product of a home concern, all look alike to the law and all are under the ban by decree of the voters expressed at the election two years ago. Here is the opinion handed out by Mr. Bennett and given circulation thru the office of the sheriff:

Many inquiries have been made of the sheriff and county attorney recently as to whether or not soft drink parlors and business houses may lawfully sell various substitute preparations now being put on the market in the place of beer, such drinks being variously named or designated as bevo, amber, cervia, rainer special, famo, hero and other fermented and malt liquors. The products manufactured by both of these concerns have been taken off the market, altho they contain less than two per cent of alcohol, and that a clear understanding may be had on this question, it is the opinion of the county attorney that all of these products come within the prohibited classes of liquor, to wit, fermented or malt liquors and can not be sold.

There is no ground left for the doubter to stand upon. The county attorney's opinion is sweeping in its scope. He says in specific terms that all such goods are in "the prohibited classes of liquor, to wit, fermented or malt liquors and can not be sold." The conclusion is obvious. Anyone vending or offering to vend any liquor falling within the scope of this opinion is acting in violation of the prohibition law and so acting, is subject to prosecution, a thing which necessarily will follow promptly, now that the county attorney has announced his position and is ready to defend it from the legal angle.

Just what effect it will have on the plans of the many places which have announced their intention to sell "soft drinks" remains to be seen but if the edict is enforced—and Mr. Bennett and Sheriff Burns say it will be enforced with vigor and determination—then soft drink parlors either will have to get by on the soda fountain, grape juice and a few other lines or they will have to follow the saloon into the land where the woodbine twine.

SHOE CONSERVATION

W. H. Kelley, a lumber salesman, of Omaha, found Neolin Soles so tough and durable that one pair of soles served on a second pair of uppers after the first pair of uppers had worn out in ten months of hard walking. And he says, "Those same soles will stand another ten months of constant daily wear."

This is unusual service even for Neolin Soles but Mr. Kelley's experience should indicate to you a method of cutting down those rising shoe bills you have to meet. Simply make sure the new shoes you buy are Neolin-soled and have worn shoes repaired with these soles which are scientifically made to be comfortable, waterproof and exceedingly long-wearing. They are made by The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, who also make Wingfoot Heels, guaranteed to outwear any other heels.

LUMBERMEN PUT IT OFF A YEAR

Western Retailers Will Not Hold Meeting at Boise in February as Planned.

There will be no convention held by the Western Retail Lumbermen's association this year. That information has come to the local members who last year entertained the convention in this city. The meeting scheduled this year was to have been held in Boise, Idaho, on Feb. 20-22, inclusive, but it has been called off. The influenza is reported to be very bad in that city and also at Portland, a city that is always well represented at the meetings, and because of that fact, it was decided it would be better to postpone the meeting until next year. Accordingly, that has been done, and when it is held in 1920, Boise will retain the honor of entertaining the big gathering.

STRONG CAST IS PROMISED HERE

"Business Before Pleasure" Comes to Grand on Sunday for Two Nights.

Merely to mention "Abe" Potash and "Mawruss" Perlmutter, is to suggest infinite possibilities of enjoyment to the thousands of playgoers who have come to know them intimately and to love them for their quaint philosophy, their amusing fables and their humor. In their third and latest vehicle "Business Before Pleasure," the conspicuous comedy hit of the New York theatrical season of 1917-1918, they scored the greatest triumph of their long and familiar career. There must be therefore, a great deal of pleasurable anticipation in the announcement that "Business Before Pleasure" will be presented at the Grand opera house on Sunday and Monday evenings under the direction of A. H. Woods. The authors of "Business Before Pleasure," Montague Glass who created the original characters in his immortal short stories, and Jules Foker Goodman, the noted playwright, have lifted the famous partners from their familiar surroundings in the cloak and suit business to a new and vastly more interesting world—that of the movies. In "Business Before Pleasure," "Abe" and "Mawruss" are presented as embryonic film magnates, and from the moment they begin to hire a vampire to the final adjustment of their difficulties, their bickerings and quarrels and friendship and quaint observations on life and things in general furnish a greater fund of amusement than any comedy presented on the American stage in a generation. "Abe" Potash will be portrayed by Jules Jordan and "Mawruss" Perlmutter by Chas. Lipson and they will be supported by a notable company including Helen Gill, Lizzie Wilson, Lottie Vernon, Doris Kelly, Olive Masses, Rita Howlett, Wm. MacAnley, Murray Phillips, Richard Barrows, Joseph Webber, Harry Hamill, Harold Skinner, Jules Unger, Wm. Lambert and others.

ANGERMIER BACK, THE ARMY WIRES

Parents of Local Boy Have Message Telling of Son's Arrival in Boston.

Private Francis J. Angermier is back in the United States. His parents received word yesterday of his safe arrival at Boston. The news came in the form of a message from the Salvation Army workers at Boston where Private Angermier landed. It told that the boy was back and happy in the land of Uncle Sam and that made the parents happy, altho they knew that their son was getting along well the last time they heard from him. He left Great Falls with the boys who went away last May and was soon overseas. He got to the front and also had the misfortune to be wounded but looked after another way he had the good fortune to escape alive. After a time in the hospital he was sent to a replacement camp and was waiting to be sent to the front again when the war ended.

Private Angermier served with the 347th machine gun company of the 91st division. He was wounded on September 28.

Private Angermier prior to entering the army was employed as bookkeeper at the First National bank.

Another son of Mrs. Angermier, Henry, is also serving with the colors and is stationed in a training camp near St. Louis, Mo.

FIGURES TOO HIGH, SAY LOCAL PEOPLE

Have Reports of Railroad Earnings Challenged by Men in Same Line of Work.

An item concerning the pay of railroad men at Havre which was printed yesterday in The Tribune brought a protest from local railroad men who declared that the writer was in serious error as to his facts. The story said that the railroad men at Havre all receive in excess of $100 a month and many of them get in excess of $200 a month. The local men assert that the statement can not be correct as the average pay is only $3.88 a day and that most of the men do not work steadily. The local men say that it is unfair to the railroad men to have such reports circulated of such large earnings when they do not receive such amounts and they ask that the statement be modified.

When you are wearied from over work, feel listless and languid, can't sleep or eat as you should, you are getting run-down—an easy prey to dangerous disease germs. Hollister's Rocky Mountain Tea—nature's herbs—should be taken without delay. Cascade Pharmacy.—Adv.
