

SCOTCH ENJOY FINE PROGRAM

Clan Mackenzie Celebration of Burns Anniversary One of Happiest Yet Held.

Clan Mackenzie and visiting Scots who have been attracted away from the land of their nativity last night were taken back to the bonny hills for two hours that were all too brief, and during which contributors to the program that had been arranged by the committees in charge of the annual Burns celebration sang the old songs, danced the old dances and with audience that packed the Masonic temple auditorium overflowing yielded to an atmosphere that was at once charged with reverence and animation; reverence for the poet whose teachings were referred to by Rev. Dr. B. R. MacLellan as being the source Scotland's proud traditions of reverence, and animation that grew out of the holiday spirit ever attaching to this and kindred events.

Selections such as "March of Cameron Men," "McGregor Gathering," "Mary of Argyll," "Laddie," and "Afton Water," sung by the artists whose talent had been obtained, combined with "Ame Going to Marry Arvy," and "Wig, Waggle of the Kilt," by Dan Bannatyne gave to the celebration a tone of realism and a touch of sentiment that carried the audience back in spirit to the ancient steps where the Scottish bard was born 160 years ago today.

Probably no feature of the program that was intended only for entertainment was more keenly enjoyed than the costume dances. George Smith, clad in the traditional kilt, and the Highland fling and sword dance and later, assisted by three other dancers, gave an exhibition of a Scottish quadrille, winning an encore that for heartiness and enthusiasm was not exceeded during the evening except, perhaps, when Dan Bannatyne, also in costume, sang "Wig, Waggle of the Kilt." Mr. Bannatyne is the Harry Lauder of Great Falls, the half dozen or more comic songs he sang in a voice that has lost not a iota of its burr-r-r producing the sort of merriment that makes more for sheer laughter than mere applause.

Vocal selections by Miss Mary Woods, A. Campbell and David Black were more intimately related to the serious or the sentimental side of things, but their songs were of the old school whose teachings caused human emotions to be stirred by "Annie Laurie," "Afton Water," and "My Ain Folk." Miss Woods is not a stranger to Burns-day audiences in Great Falls. Her songs have appeared at former programs and her popularity was attested last night by the demand for an encore each time she sang.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. B. R. MacLellan, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, whose early declaration that he was proud of his Scottish ancestry identified him as one among his fellows. Dr. MacLellan's address was entitled, "The Immortal Memory," and dealt extensively with an eulogy of the poet in whose memory the celebration was given.

"The clew to Burns' greatness is found in two words," said Dr. MacLellan in part: "Inspiration and sympathy. He was above all else a Scotchman. No Englishman could teach him anything. He did not obtain his learning from books, but from nature, and his inspiration came from the Almighty. Among the world's great poets he ranks second only to Shakespeare. His greatness is reflected in the fact that Scotland's present religious tolerance is due to his teachings; his broadness, his strength and human benignity of him destroyed forever the religious narrowness that until his time influenced the people of that country.

"Bobby Burns was born in poverty, and against the background of that poverty we see him emerging with his great store of sympathy and love and understanding. During his youth we see him snatching at the fragments of learning that comprised his education, and then we see him bursting into song so exultant that his lines have since endured, and with each passing year find us more firmly bound with the sweetness of them. He took under his protection the oppressed and the unfortunate. He was on occasion sad and gloomy within him—the powers of gladness. His words gave to the human heart the strongest utterances it has ever found."

Dr. MacLellan recited brief selections from different Burns poems, dwelling to some length on the beauty of their wording.

WORTH MORE THAN ALL MONEY ON EARTH

Mrs. Raspberry Able to Do Housework First Time in Four Years—Gains 35 Pounds.

"I had rather see my wife well and happy like she is since taking Tanlac than to have all the money in the world," declared Henry Raspberry of 1812 Campbell St., Kansas City, Mo. Mr. Raspberry, who has recently been employed as a foreman by the American Packing company, was formerly in the service of the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroad.

"Before my wife took Tanlac," continued Mr. Raspberry, "she had rheumatism in her limbs so bad she couldn't even dress herself. I would have to help her out of bed in the mornings and put her clothes on for her. Her stomach was in such a bad condition that she could hardly digest anything. The gas in her stomach would cause intense pain on her side and such awful spells of palpitation of the heart that she could hardly stand it. She was extremely nervous, her breath was short and very offensive, and she had fallen off in weight until she was hardly more than a frame.

"At the time she began taking Tanlac she only weighed 87 pounds and had not been able to do any of her housework in four years. But she now weighs 122 pounds—has actually gained 35 pounds—and is as healthy and active as she was thirty years ago. The rheumatic pains have all left her and she can do all her work and look after the family without the least trouble. She can eat meats, pickle, all kinds of vegetables and anything else she wants and never have a sign of indigestion. She is not the least nervous any more, sleeps like a child every night and is as well as she ever was. I can't find words to express my thankfulness for what Tanlac has done for me. It is nothing short of wonderful."

Tanlac is now sold in Great Falls by Model Rx Pharmacy, 312 Central avenue, and Cascade Rx Pharmacy, 110 Third street south.—Adv.

SEAT SALE TODAY FOR BIG FUN SHOW

"Business Before Pleasure" Opens to the Grand on Sunday Evening for Two Nights.

Seats will go on sale at the box office of the Grand opera house today at noon for the big funfest, "Business Before Pleasure," which comes to that show house for performances on Sunday and Monday evenings. It will be well for all who plan to see this big production by Al Woods that the curtain rises at 8:15 and there will then be 165 minutes of the brightest and snappiest humor that has been passed over the footlights of a Great Falls show house in many, many moons. This show is another of the Montague Glass chapters in the life of Abe and Mawruss Perlmutter and in this they are said to be funnier than any of the previous installments. It is promised as a scream of mirth and laughter from start and the one who arrives later than 8:15 will be missing some of the delight of the evening.

It is as movie magnates in "Business Before Pleasure," the third and latest of the famous series of Potash and Perlmutter comedies that "Abe" Potash and "Mawruss" Perlmutter are presented at their funniest and most whimsical. The strange and unfamiliar background of the movie world and their amazing experiences in it bring out more emphatically than the other two plays, those quaint and delightful peculiarities of speech and conduct that have made them the two most lovable and popular creations in the American theater. Their vitality and hold on popular affection is demonstrated by the fact that "Business Before Pleasure" proved even more popular and amusing than either of its two predecessors, "Potash and Perlmutter" and "Potash and Perlmutter in Society." The notable company includes Jules Jordan, Charles Lipson, Helen Gill, Lizzie Wilson, Lottie Vernon, Boris Kelly, Olive Massey, Rita Howlett, Wm. Marcanley, Murray Phillips, Richard Barrows, Joseph Webber, Harry Hammill, Harold Skinner, Jules Unger, Wm. Lambert and others.

Myers Introduces Bill to Enable States to Draft Service Rolls

Helena, Jan. 24.—A Washington dispatch to the Helena Independent says Senator H. L. Myers of Montana today introduced a bill requiring the adjutant and the secretary of the navy to furnish to the adjutant general of the various states, on request, the record of men numbered into the army and the navy during the war, to enable the states to compile full records of all their defenders.

JAPANESE FOREMAN BURIED.

CHINOOK

Special to The Daily Tribune. Chinook, Jan. 24.—Fred H. Scott motored in from his Bear Paw mountain ranch Monday afternoon. Scott remembers many mild winters in Montana but he said that if this kind of weather keeps on much longer the present winter will go down in the records as the most mild winter ever experienced in the Treasure state during his time here—and that has been 41 years. He recalls similar weather during the winter of 1890-91.

name the referee and that his selection should be conclusive. Search for Location Now. "I haven't any idea where the contest will be decided," said Rickard. "The laws of the state in which the battle will be decided will, of course, govern the situation. I will consider well the location in making my selection. I hope to stage the contest in a state allowing bouts of twenty or thirty rounds. "Wherever the battle is fought, it will not be in any auditorium park. I plan to build an especially constructed area with a seating capacity of about 30,000 persons. This will cost close to $25,000. The price of admission probably will be from $10 to $50, although these details have not been worked out.

Frank O. Flournoy, of Memphis, Tenn., Rickard's partner in the cattle and packing business in South America, will be associated with Rickard in promoting the battle.

Champion Weighs 275 Pounds. Willard, looking brown and strong, left his oil business in Texas to come to Chicago at Rickard's request. The champion said that he weighed close to 275 pounds, but that he probably would enter the ring weighing about 245 pounds.

"I presume some people will think that I demanded the earth to box," Willard said. "Rickard met my terms and I accepted. I want to say that I didn't take a cent for fighting Johnson in Havana. In fact, I had to borrow money to get back. The man who meets me, if he wins, will have the same opportunity that I did to make money. I am making money in the oil business and did not care whether I ever fought again.

"It doesn't matter who is selected to meet me. The purse is the thing. I am not boxing for fun. It's business with me."

Willard and Rickard will leave for Texas tomorrow night.

"The $100,000 is the biggest ever offered in a pugilist. Jack Johnson getting $95,000 for defeating Jeffries.

BIG SHOW AT THE ALCAZAR

Manager Johnson has secured for his patrons one of the finest pictures ever produced, featuring that popular star, William Farnum in his latest success, "Riders of the Purple Sage" from Zane Grey's greatest novel. A picture almost full of action and one that will make you grip the seats in passing thru the climax. Today will be the opening and those desiring seats had better start early, or better yet, attend the matinee, the easiest way.—Adv.
