BUTTE BOY CITED FOR HEROIC ATTACK ON MACHINE GUNS

Did Not Relinquish Command, Altho Severely Wounded, Until Foe Gave Up.

Special to The Daily Tribune.

Washington, March 2.—The distinguished service cross has been awarded to Corporal Daniel C. McAuliffe of Butte for an act of extraordinary heroism. With his squad he captured enemy machine gun nests, and altho he was severely wounded, he did not relinquish command until the resistance of the Germans was overcome. The citation says:

"Corpl. Daniel C. McAuliffe, Company M, 16th Infantry, (A. S. No. 44515). For extraordinary heroism in action in the Argonne forest, France, October 4, 1918. Leading his squad on enemy machine gun nests which had been inflicting severe casualties on his platoon, Corpl. McAuliffe opened an effective bombing attack on the nests; and, although severely wounded, he remained in command until the strong point was reduced. Home address, D. T. McAuliffe, father, 936 Hornet street, Butte, Mont.

GREAT NORTHERN READY TO START FILLING CAVITY

Work Commenced at Beaver Bay Trestle Last Fall to Be Completed.

Special to The Daily Tribune.

Whitefish, March 2.—The preliminary work of filling in the Beaver bay trestle by the Great Northern was completed last fall, and this spring the company will have a force of men at work placing the dirt. For this purpose a tract of several acres has been purchased in Ramsey addition, consisting of a sand and gravel ridge. The shovels, to take care of temporary traffic, have been completed with the exception of the installation of a bridge at the southernmost point.

The bridge across Whitefish river will also be replaced by a new one, wide enough to permit the laying of double tracking, which the company will construct running west from the city. The work as outlined above will cost about $300,000.

MANY WOULD BE COMMISSIONERS IN NEW COUNTY

Formation of Pondera Out of Teton Means Board Changes.

Special to The Daily Tribune.

Fairfield, March 2.—Two of the present Teton county commissioners, Ledgerwood and Savory, the former of Conrad and the latter of Dupuyer, will soon be disqualified to act as commissioners of Teton county because they are residents of the newly created Pondera county.

Accordingly there will be two vacancies in the board of county commissioners of Teton county, and already there is a race on for the positions. Thus far there are already three candidates for the positions in this part of the county about.

Among the candidates for whom an active canvass is being made is Charles Klockler of Fairfield, at present deputy county assessor. The Power community is said to have two candidates, at least one of whom is making an active canvass.

The southern part of the county, which includes Fairfield, claims the right to representation on the board, and it is conceded the northern part is entitled to one. The middle and eastern portions already have representation in the hold-over commission, Crane of Collins.

Petitions in behalf of the several candidates are now being circulated, a house to house canvass being made in some cases. These petitions are to be presented to the district judge, upon whom devolves the duty of making the appointments.

LEADERS OF THE RUSSIAN BOLSHEVIKI DURING CONFERENCE

Madame Feodorovitch (1), Zenouloff (2), and Sveldloff (3).

Definite word has been received from the Russian bolshevik forces agreeing to the proposed meeting with peace conference representatives on Princes islands to discuss a possible solution of the Russian problem. This unusual photo shows the bolshevik leaders in session. The picture was taken at the convention of deputies and workmen at Moscow. Zenouloff is head of the Petrograd committee. Sveldloff is head of the all-Russian executive committee. Madame Feodorovitch is one of the leaders among the women.

NEW CITIZENS IN RETURNING ARMIES.

Fifty Thousand Soldiers Who Fought Under the Stars and Stripes Were Naturalized While in France.

When our armies return from the war there will be in the ranks of the victorious soldiers 50,000 or more new citizens of the United States. This country will spell "home" to tens of thousands of men who were aliens when they sailed away to fight for the country that is now their own, for in the midst of battles the Bureau of Naturalization of the Department of Labor has reached out to extend the privileges of citizenship to all foreigners who were defending the principles of liberty under the Stars and Stripes.

Louis Weinberger, sent across seas to carry out the Government's naturalization program, returned recently after three months of hard labor, for it was his duty to follow up 500,000 of the 1,500,000 naturalization blanks especially prepared for the war emergency.

According to the plan worked out by the bureau, in conference with the Judge Advocate General, a scheme to expedite the usual process of naturalization was made practicable and legal. The required formalities were reduced to the simplest terms. The preliminary declaration of intention was waived and it was made possible to issue the final papers without any lapse of time. The applicant could execute one paper in duplicate, together with affidavits, and take the oath of allegiance—all in short order.

The first serious problem was to reach all the aliens in the distribution of the blanks, but this was soon solved by sending the papers through brigade headquarters and thus reaching the company units. In many cases extra blanks were sent for, and so far the exact number actually used has not been obtained. Although naturalization was not in any way compulsory, it was soon evident that there was a general desire to attain citizenship wherever foreigners were serving, and that was everywhere on the front of the United States. Among the applications nearly every nation on the globe was represented. Because of the haste with which so many soldiers were made citizens, however, it must not be supposed that the bars requiring that men accepted by the nation should be worthy of enrollment as Americans were let down. Owing to military regulations, each man's history had been carefully tabulated and then the men who were making the world safe for democracy belonged to a class that was as a whole trustworthy.

One of the interesting phases of this wholesale naturalization enterprise had to do with alien enemies. Even these who could prove their loyalty were enrolled to citizenship, and a number of Austrians and Germans took the oath of allegiance to the flag. Owing to the efficiency of the Bureau of Military Intelligence there was little danger of mistakes in the admission of undesirable men.

There is a Difference in STARTING BATTERIES

And that difference is the big difference between true dependability and the "mazy" sort of service.

To build and automobile battery that is simply powerful is not difficult—no more so than to create one with the sole object of durability in view. But to combine both these features in a compact, practical form is a real feat of storage battery engineering.

IN THE "Exide"

these features are combined to a greater degree than in any other battery. Watch the Saturday Evening Post, March 1st issue, Literary Digest, March 3, and Motor Life, March issue, for full page Exide advertisements.

Buy an advertised battery and you are sure of the quality and the service that goes with it.

THREE ROUNDUP MEN RETURN AS OFFICERS

Anderson, Welch and Dye and Private Taylor Miss Chance to Fight.

Special to The Daily Tribune.

Roundup, March 2.—R. S. Anderson, formerly engaged in promoting an oil company near Roundup, has returned to this city, with a discharge from the army. Anderson left here last summer with the draft troops and entering an officer's training school soon received his commission. At the time of his discharge he was first lieutenant.

Captain Welch, also a former resident of this city, has returned from Camp Fremont, where he was stationed for several months, attached to the medical corps. Captain Welch attempted to obtain assignment to service in Siberia.

Lieut. F. L. Dye is a third officer who has just returned from camp. Lieut. Dye was a member of Company B, during the Mexican order trouble. He entered an officers' training camp after the outbreak of the war with Germany and was commissioned. While he was within four hours of sailing for France the armistice was signed and he was ordered ashore.

Eugene Taylor, formerly an employe of the Wall store, is another soldier who has just returned from overseas. Altho over draft age, he enlisted and after a long course of training, was sent overseas with his contingent, arriving at West November 9. After he had been in France two days, the armistice put an end to his hopes of getting a Hun. He was sent back two months later.

Whitefish Wants Its Mountain Time Again

Special to The Daily Tribune.

Whitefish, March 2.—In common with other western Montana cities, Whitefish is very desirous of getting back into mountain time. The change inaugurated by the interstate commerce commission on January 1, when this section was transferred from mountain to Pacific time, has proved a handicap. At a meeting of business men and other citizens, resolutions were drafted for presentation at a hearing to be held by the commission on March 10.

GRANDMOTHER KNEW

There Was Nothing So Good for Congestion and Colds as Mustard

But the old-fashioned mustard-plaster burned and blistered while it acted. Get the relief and help that mustard plasters gave, without the plaster and without the blister.

Musterole does it. It is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. It is scientifically prepared, so that it works wonders, and yet does not blister the tenderest skin.

Just massage Musterole in with the finger-tips gently. See how quickly it brings relief—how speedily the pain disappears.

Use Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet, colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).
