DR. McCARTEN SPEAKS BEFORE WOMAN'S CLUB.

Following the board of directors' meeting of the Woman's club yesterday, and the sing led by Mrs. A. E. Barkmeyer, Dr. R. E. McCarten gave a very interesting talk to the women concerning what the local physicians learned the past winter while caring for the influenza cases and also telling a little of what they hope to do to combat this disease in the future. During his talk he said that the cause of influenza is yet unknown to the medical world but that it is nothing new and has been fought by the doctors for many years, and especially in 1880 and 1884, two other times when this epidemic swept the country. It is an acute and infectious disease and middle-aged and young men and women are more susceptible to it than old people or children. The old people and children have it but it seems to be in a different form and is not quite so fatal. Dr. McCarten also stated that it was a very virulent type and at the present time, because of its severity, is killing off nearly all the Indians and Eskimos in Alaska and is also very fatal among the poorer class people in Russia.

One of the principal diagnostic points of this disease and perhaps the one that is more readily noticed is the reddening of the eye-ball. There are three different types of influenza known, as: Intestinal form; chest form, and nervous form. Under the first form the patient suffers terrific pains in the stomach and intestines and this is considered the worst form of the three. In the second form the lungs are affected and the patient either recovers quickly or develops pneumonia. The pneumonia in this classification of the disease is similar to the lobular pneumonia or common form. The pneumonia developed by influenza patients seems to fill the lungs with secretive juices and the patient drowns in his own secretions. Under the third classification the nerves are affected but the patient usually recovers from this in from three to four weeks after having it.

Dr. McCarten also explained that complications of any sort might follow influenza, and that 99 per cent of the cases that came under his personal observation have resulted in complications of the kidneys. He especially warned the women to guard against tuberculosis which has frequently been found as a result of the influenza. At the present time the state tubercular institution is filled with patients and there are several cases in this city who are on a long waiting list to be taken care of at this place.

"Scarlet fever never left the after effects," said Dr. McCarten, "that the influenza leaves after the worst part is that after a person has once had scarlet fever he is immune but there is no immunity from influenza for it may be contracted as many times as the patient is exposed to it. Doctors have found the rigid quarantine to be a failure and the method of placarding the houses as was used in Great Falls last winter has been found to be the best plan. Because it is such a virulent disease leakage of the heart is often one of the after effects, but if the patient is affected will stay away from work or any exertion and go to bed immediately he may get well. When questioned as to whether the influenza would recur, he stated that the people could look for its recurrence at any time possibly for the next 20 years and that the second attack is always much more severe than the first.

After Dr. McCarten's talk the Mother's and Social and Economics sections nominated its officers for the coming year.

Mrs. C. O. Dahlberg announced the food sale which the club is giving at Strain Brother's store next Saturday for the purpose of securing money for the scholarship fund.

INDIAN TRIO PAY CAFETERIA VISIT

"It's a far, far cry from the brightly burning campfire with its inevitable kettle of soup made from a large variety of doubtful ingredients and the meals taken out on the silent prairie to the modern cafeteria with its bewildering display of thoroughly cooked edibles and its rush and hurry."

Something like the above thoughts must have been running thru the minds of the three red men—one a recently returned soldier—who wandered into the Y. W. C. A. cafeteria yesterday noon and found themselves confronted with a most inviting array of salads, desserts, meats and vegetables.

The three were evidently new to cafeterias, and after sitting at a table for some minutes without being overtaken with any form of service they followed the advice often given by a mother to her hopeful who is stepping out alone for the first time into the whirl of society: "If you don't know what to do watch the other folks."

The three watched the other folks and then proceeded to do likewise. They looked long and evidently with some enlightenment on the menu blackboard and then carefully and painstakingly armed themselves with aluminum trays, napkins, carefully selected a collection of knives, forks and spoons.

They were then ready to enter the fray and, gazing earnestly on those who had gone before, they saw that they were to take what they wanted or to make their wishes known and their trays would be promptly filled. Beginning with pie, they selected, with that care and a well-balanced meal, and after anxious moments of opportunity and deep meditation, found themselves thru the ordeal safely.

With relieved faces they passed safely by the cashier's desk and, having amassed an alluring collection of desirable viands, they found themselves a table and then, sorting out their silverware and the different articles of their repast, proceeded to get busy.

Everything went smoothly from that point except for one thing—the sugar bowl. Sugar bowls being a new post-war addition to all cafeteria and restaurant tables, there have been a large variety of entirely new models recently invented.

The ones in the Y. W. are tall, graceful articles, made of glass and somewhat resembling a vase except for the silver top arrangement with a hole having a diameter of something less than half an inch. The contents came out slowly and in a thin stream—too thin to be properly appreciated by one of the trio, who grasped it firmly with both hands and shook it in the manner sometimes used with a refractory salt cellar after a long wet spell.

BERT LYTELL HERE TOMORROW

The movie fans will remember Bert Lytell when he appeared in "The Lone Wolf" which played here several months ago. Mr. Lytell has made a reputation that will be hard to beat and his ability as a movie star is now a certainty. Playing in his latest production "The Spender" which story had an extended run in the Saturday Evening Post, the critics say that he played in a production that proved to be 100 per cent—and that is a point that few pictures ever attempt to get. If you want to see a production that is charming, funny, human, touching and impressive, don't miss this one. The first showing, at the Alcazar, starts tomorrow.—Adv.

MISS HUNTER AND MISS HUGHES, TOO

Both Will Speak in Great Falls
Soon in Connection With the Child Welfare Week.

Miss Eleanor Hunter, the federal speaker, and Miss Margaret Hughes, director for the department of public health for the state of Montana, will be in Great Falls. The women's committee of the national defense is making arrangements for a reception to be held for them when they visit, but the time and place where Miss Hunter will speak is to be announced later.

Miss Hunter is a graduate of the Wellesley college, and was a member of the research department of the Chicago school of civics and philanthropy in 1917-18. For four months she was vocational advisor to handicapped children in the Chicago public schools, under the supervision of Miss Anne S. Davis, the director of the vocational bureau. During the time she made a study of the special problems confronting the handicapped child who leaves school to go to work, and of the opportunities in industry open to him. She has also acted as an interviewer in the employment certificate office of the bureau and has thus been actively concerned in the administration of the child labor law in Chicago.

Nuxated Iron increases strength and endurance of delicate, nervous, run-down people in two weeks' time in many instances. It has been used and endorsed by such men as Hon. Leslie M. 2 Cakes Cuticura Soap and 2

"I had been a sufferer from pimples and blackheads on my face and arms for three years. The pimples were scattered over my face, and they itched so that I used to scratch and I did not even sleep. I found out about Cuticura so I sent for a sample. I then bought more, and after using two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Laurence Granado, 117 W. Elmira St., Los Angeles, Cal.

Death Took Toll

Of more people in civilian life during the short period of the epidemic of influenza from that disease than were killed by bullets and disease during the entire four and one-half years of war.

Any man going to war would insure himself to the limit of his ability to pay the premiums.

Medical authorities are agreed that the influenza epidemic will recur for the next three or four years.

It should not be necessary to urge people to insure under normal conditions. The abnormal conditions now existent should cause every individual who carries no life insurance or very little, to make application for every dollar of protection that he can pay for. You do not have to be urged to buy bread and meat for the sustenance of your family and yourself, yet the protection that life insurance affords your family is just as necessary as the purchase of provisions for them and yourself while you are living.

The Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company issues, in connection with any standard form of life policy protection from the financial strain resulting from sickness, accident, permanent total disability and old age. This combination of insurance affords complete coverage. The insured receives benefits while he lives as well as his dependents being provided for at his death.

Save that seventy-five cents a day that many of you spend uselessly and buy protection to the extent of $5,000 life insurance, $100 monthly benefits for sickness or accident disability and $50 a month benefits as long as you live for permanent total disability caused either by sickness or accident. The $5,000 death benefit doubles in case death is caused by any accident. The purchase of life, accident and health insurance is a business necessity, not a matter of sentiment. Protect your family and yourself while you are in good health. You have no promise for tomorrow.
