CHICKEN THIEVES AGAIN OPERATING

Over Five Dozen Birds Stolen From Six Places Since April 5.

Chicken thieves are again abroad in the land. Their appearance in Great Falls was first noted April 5, on which date 10 birds were taken from 410 Ninth avenue south. The next night seven fowls disappeared from 527 Fifth avenue southwest and 20 were stolen from a coop at Seventh avenue south and Tenth street. At the first place visited the thief killed a number of the chickens before leaving the premises. The thieves' bag of birds taken on April 6, was apparently sufficient to last over the 7, for no more losses were reported until April 8, when a round dozen chickens were pilfered from 326 Ninth avenue south. Two places were visited on the night of the 9th, six fowls being taken from 3029 First avenue south and eight from 2021 Eighth avenue north. Complaint was lodged with the police yesterday morning by the latter owner, but all efforts by the department to apprehend the marauders yesterday were as futile as were the attempts to locate them following the former disappearances.

MEETING IN ULM TONIGHT J. C. Taylor, assistant county agent leader from Bozeman, was in the city yesterday and will go out to Ulm tonight with County Agent F. E. MacSpaden and Miss Alberta Borthwick to hold a farm bureau meeting in the Ulm hall. The meeting will be held at 7:30 and the problems to come up for discussion will be principally on corn and sunflower crops for silage.
