HOME FROM WASHINGTON

Miss Helen Luckett returned on Saturday night from Washington, D. C., where she has been serving the United States government as a typist. Miss Luckett, with Miss Florence Bondy, took the examinations for typists and clerks for the government more than a year ago, both being assigned to positions at Washington, D. C. Miss Luckett returned home now because of the illness of her mother.

For three months Miss Luckett served the government on the mail and record of the ordinance department at Chicago, but because of her health she was forced to return to Washington and resume her work there. On January 13 last, she was transferred, as a typist in the Adjutant General's office.

AT GRAND THEATER AGAIN TONIGHT

BUD FISHER'S LATEST & GREATEST SUCCESS MUTT & JEFF IN THE WOOLLY WEST

A. Mutt and Little Jeff, those two prime ministers of fun and mirth from Cartoon Land, came to the Grand opera house last night for a two-evening engagement in their new creation, "Mutt and Jeff in the Woolly West," and they were greeted by a capacity house that once more seemed to be more than pleased to see their favorite of the newspaper comics in real life and the Mutt of Richard Freeman and the Jeff of Jerry Sullivan stir up many evidences of genuine favor from the crowd. And it was a warm blooded audience from the standpoint of appreciative applause for time and time again they broke loose in generous demonstration when Jeff would pull some of his witticisms or Mutt would pull some joke on his diminutive pal.

GRIP, INFLUENZA

Hamlin's Wizard Oil a Reliable, Antiseptic Preventive. During influenza epidemics spray the nose and throat several times a day with one part Wizard Oil and two parts water, using an atomizer. If you haven't an atomizer, gargle the throat and snuff the mixture up the nose. This treatment sets up an antiseptic wall of defense against "flu" germs.

Chest colds and sore throat lead to grip. Stop them at once with Wizard Oil before they can develop into dangerous influenza. Get it from druggists for 30c. If not satisfied, return the bottle and get your money back.

Ever constipated or have sick headache? Just try Wizard Liver Whips, pleasant little pink pills, 30c at druggists. Guaranteed.

MOTHERS, DO THIS—

When the Children Cough, Rub Musterole on Throats and Chests

No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt, sure relief. It does not blister.

As first aid and a certain remedy, Musterole is excellent. Thousands of mothers know it. You should keep a jar in the house, ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsillitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia).

30c and 60c jars; hospital size $2.50.

DIAMOND-CUTTING SCHOOL FOR LEGLESS SOLDIERS.

The legless soldier, that tragedy of the war, may enable the diamond-cutting industry to stand on two legs in England as it did in past centuries when London was the rival in this industry of Amsterdam and Antwerp.

A building capable of accommodating 1,500 workers has just been added to the diamond-cutting school for crippled soldiers established by the English government at Brighton and placed under the supervision of Bernard Oppenheimer of London and South Africa. De Peers Diamond company, the dominant factor in the diamond business, recently contributed $12,500 to the school. Mr. Oppenheimer, who organized the school, has donated with the aid of his friends $100,000 to the undertaking.

Several hundred maimed soldiers are now learning diamond cutting at the institution and many more have applied for admission. All the soldiers have lost either one or both legs. So far fifty diamonds have been cut, one of the stones having a value of $3,500 and another of $7,000.

The first diamond cut and polished at the school was presented to Mr. Hodge, the pensions minister; the second to Sir Arthur Pearson, the blind millionaire philanthropist, who has been devoting himself to the education of blinded soldiers.

Spurred on by this English experiment in providing maimed soldiers with a profitable trade, the French government has established a diamond cutting school in the Jura mountains, where gem-cutting has been practiced for centuries. Another school is projected for Paris, the French minister of finance having approved the plan. Thus both London and Paris promise to become formidable competitors with Amsterdam and Antwerp in diamond cutting in the next few years.

OFFERING PRIZES FOR MANUSCRIPTS

American Sunday School Union Seeks Two Best Writings on Live Topics.

To aid in solving after-war problems, the American Sunday school union offers $2,000 in prizes for book manuscripts as follows: One thousand dollars for the best manuscript on "Christianity and Modern Industry"; how to apply Christian principles to the relations of employer, employee and consumer. This work is to deal with actual achievements, as well as with principles and methods, and shall include the rural as well as the urban situation.

Another $1,000 will be divided into two parts, $600 for the best manuscript and $400 for the next best on "Everyday Heroism"; the challenge to the heroic presented by the common tasks of life. This manuscript must have a special appeal to young people and shall emphasize the present-day calls to community service and world-wide brotherhood.

All manuscripts must reach the American Sunday School union, 1816 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, not later than December 1, 1919. The results will be announced as soon thereafter as the judges reach their conclusions, and the prize volumes will then be published and sold at prices which will promote their wide circulation. Fuller details may be secured by writing to the society's headquarters in Philadelphia. These prizes are offered under the John C. Green income fund, under which a dozen similar prize volumes have been previously issued.
