TWENTY ENTER DENIAL PLEAS

Bootlegging Charges Bring Statements of "Not Guilty" in Court.

Twenty men, all charged by the county attorney with bootlegging, were arraigned before Judges H. H. Ewing and J. B. Leslie in district court Wednesday afternoon. The men were among the 27 persons apprehended last week by sheriff's officers, the majority of them in raids upon various places. The remaining seven will be arraigned before the end of the week.

All arraigned Wednesday entered pleas of "not guilty," either in person or thru their attorneys. Those making pleas were: Eli Mare, Robert Palat, Charles Polatto, John Guerin, Tony Stipich, Philip Donalby, Tex Hunter, John Thonni, August Tuss, Robert Blackwood, Joe Heroni, John Hatter, August McIntyre, Fred Thielbar, Thomas Martin, Frank Dalton, Joe Pippinich, J. H. Thompson and Jeff Hueblich.

BEBB IN CITY J. C. Bebb, representing the state fire marshal's office, was in Great Falls Tuesday enroute to Geraldine. He will make an investigation into a fire occurring on a ranch near that city last winter.

There won't be much change in the styles worn by the girls this summer. And their elbows will be just as dirty-looking as they were last summer.
