

HOW JACK DEMPSEY LOOKS IN TRAINING FOR BOUT

Jack Dempsey shadow boxing in ring at his training quarters near Bay View park, Toledo, and on the road near camp.

By N. E. BROWN.

Columns of space are being given to the discussion as to whether or not Jess Willard can train down to fighting condition for his coming argument with Jack Dempsey. At the same time, however, very little thought has been given to the important fact that Dempsey may overtake—make himself stale before the bout.

There is a chance that he will, for the simple reason that he is starting earnest training quite early for a man in his position.

Here is a young chap who holds his fighting weight easily because it is near his normal weight. He has been fighting often enough to keep true his judge of stance.

In addition to these facts is the important one that Dempsey, in addition to his fighting, took on a vaudeville tour, during which he had to appear and go through his training stunts twice a day.

In consequence Dempsey arrived at Toledo in good physical condition, but red and lacking pep as a result of his strenuous weeks.

Being young and enthusiastic over his prospects of grabbing off the heavy-weight crown, Dempsey has jumped into his training heart and soul—over a month before the fight. Whether Jack is going so strong is worthy of consideration.

VAMPS DELIGHT GRAND AUDIENCE

Frank Kelly and his Baby Vamps opened to two crowded houses last night despite much opposition in town. The show, as of yore, more than pleased with Frank Kelly the Irish wit heading the cast to good advantage. Florence Kennedy put over several good numbers in a bewitching manner—did this dancsel so coy—wearing several gowns—Oh Boy! You should have seen them "Oh Joy!"

Dan Friendly surprised his many friends with his reappearance with the Kelly company; the audience tendering this comedian a big ovation on his entrance.

Doc Grant, leading man, looks just as good as he did on his former stay here in Great Falls. He sure can wear clothes, and is a great asset to the comedians every moment he is on the stage. Grace Kelly appeared to good advantage in her English comedy roll and received many laughs for her efforts.

The work of the chorus was far superior to the ordinary. Those who witnessed last night's performance spent an enjoyable evening.

ARRESTED UNDER FORGERY CHARGE

George Becker Said to Have Indorsed Check He Found and Cashed It.

George Becker, aged 21, ranchhand, was taken into custody by city police late Thursday afternoon and charged with forgery. Captain Fred Locher relates that Robert Cameron, well known Great Falls sheep man, issued a check for $85 to G. Dickenson, Dickenson alleges he lost the check and Becker is charged with finding it and cashing it.

The check was drawn on the American Bank and Trust company but was originally cashed at the Palace Bar. Dickenson's name, of course, being forged on the back as an indorsement. It was then turned in to the Stanton Trust and Savings bank, but when it later found its way to the American Bank and Trust company, the forgery was detected and Becker's arrest followed.

ROBBERS OF GRAVES FOUND AT WORK IN DESERTED CEMETERY

Had Opened Casket in "Boothill" Cemetery at Billings—Looking for Treasure.

Special to The Daily Tribune.
Billings, June 5.—"Boothill" cemetery, east of the city, was the scene yesterday of a remarkable and mystifying attempt at grave robbery. The robbery was sought to be perpetrated in broad daylight, according to an eye witness, who avers that two men, two women and a boy apparently about 14 years old participated in the affair.

In the early days, Coulson was a city of more or less magnitude on the banks of the Yellowstone, just east of the present site of Billings and one of the necessary adjuncts was a cemetery. "Man was served for breakfast" not infrequently, and a number of hard characters, who died with their boots on, were buried in the cemetery. Hence the name "Boothill."

Coulson finally passed from the map, being superseded by Billings, but there were many stories afloat in the early days about wealth being buried with some of the unfortunates. This is accepted as the theory for the attempted robbery.

The five persons were seen to visit the old cemetery and later, they began digging with a vengeance. They finally reached the object of their search, and removed the lid. Apparently they were disappointed, for the body was not disturbed.

The eye witness notified Coroner Smith and he visited the scene and had the task facing him of refilling the grave after again arranging the boards on the coffin, which was a home made affair. It was in a remarkable state of preservation. The name of the occupant of the grave is unknown, but is supposed to have been that of an old timer.

In addition to those who died with their boots on, a number of persons who died from natural causes, were also buried in the cemetery, but their graves are marked. Hence, the belief that the ghoulish work was for the purpose of securing buried treasure. The grave robbers left the cemetery giggling and laughing, and departed in a car before their identity could be discovered.

ACID STOMACH

Try Drinking a Little Hot Water With Magnesia to Neutralize Acid, Sweeten Stomach and Quickly Stop Indigestion.

When food lies like lead in your stomach and you have that sour, burning or full, uncomfortable, bloated feeling, it is because of insufficient blood supply to the stomach, combined with stomach acidity and food fermentation. In such cases try the plan now followed by thousands of former sufferers from indigestion by simply taking a teaspoonful of pure Bisurated Magnesia in half a glass of water, as hot as you can comfortably drink it. The hot water draws the blood to the stomach and the Bisurated Magnesia, as any physician can tell you, instantly neutralizes the acid and stops the food fermentation. Try this simple plan and you will be astonished at the immediate feeling of relief and comfort that always follows. People who find it inconvenient at times to secure hot water and travelers who are frequently obliged to take hasty meals poorly prepared, should always take two or three five-grain tablets of Bisurated Magnesia after meals to prevent fermentation and to neutralize the excess acid in their stomach.—Adv.
