COMPELLED TO KILL OLD HOUSEHOLD PET

A vicious shepherd dog owned by William Ish at Sun River, was killed yesterday by Sheriff J. P. Burns on complaint of people who declared that the animal had become a public nuisance. J. Bruggess was bitten in the hand by the dog before the sheriff was called and no protest against its being put out of the way was made by the owner, although the animal had long been a household pet. The dog was loaded into the sheriff's automobile that it might be taken away from the premises and difficulty was experienced in getting the animal out of the car when a place had been reached where it might be killed in safety. The dog savagely attacked the sheriff when an effort was made to unfasten the rope with which it was fastened in the car and it was only by fastening a noose out of a sack carried in the machine that a way was found for unloading the animal.

The finished product will be distributed to the public. The state university, state college, normal school and school of mines will be housed in the same building at the fair this year.

Doctor Issues Warning And Tells How to Stop Tobacco Habit

New York: Dr. Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: I am often asked if I know anything to stop the tobacco habit and I always recommend Nicotol, which I have prescribed with great success. Nicotol contains no habit-forming drugs, is absolutely harmless and produces astonishing results in a very short time. The use of tobacco deprives the body of its vitality, vim, vigor and ambition of the slaves who are entrained by its seductive effects. It undermines the health and leaves the victim an easy prey to general debility, throat and lung troubles, nervousness, insomnia, heart trouble, kidney trouble, headache, tongue and it was only by fastening a noose out of a sack carried in the machine that a way was found for unloading the animal.

UNCOVER AZTEC IDOL IN EUREKA SAND PIT; HOW'D IT GET THERE

Heathen God Now Squats in First National Bank of Kalispell, Minus an Ear.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Kalispell, Aug. 12.—It's a far cry from the temples of the Aztecs to a Great Northern sand pit in Montana, but that's the route traveled in some devious manner by a "moon" idol made of mud that no squats in the First National bank of this city, receiving the "what the hell" of the curious instead of adoration ones ago. The god was dug out of a railway sand pit near Eureka by J. E. Whit. He sent a photograph of it to the Smithsonian institute and was told that the image probably was made by the Aztecs about ten thousand years back in the dark. It is speculation whether the Aztecs then lived in the Tobacco valley or if a resident of that section brot it back as a souvenir of some foray into Mexico. The image which undoubtedly represents an ideal of the deity, is about 10 inches high. The god is seated tailor fashion holding a small vase in his clasped hands. Perhaps he was a good idol, as they went in those days, but many of the prayers to him must have gone in one ear and out the other. One auditory organ is battered and the other is gone. Otherwise the idol has suffered no more than natural attrition.

MY WIFE SAYS - If She Had to Go Back to the Teakettle for Hot Water She'd Use Candles for Lighting

AND that is just how she feels about it. She has modern Lighting in her home and wouldn't think of having anything but modern water heating equipment to accompany it.

My wife believes in efficiency in the home—just as I believe in it for the office. So she has her Automatic Gas Water Heater that furnishes all the hot water she wants with the turn of the tap. It saves her time, labor and inconvenience, she tells me. I know it "hits the spot" with me when it comes to shaving or bathing and I need hot water in a hurry. I vote for the Gas Water Heater as guardian of home comfort and happiness. I know your opinion coincides with mine. Don't delay—put it into practice.
