Surrendered on Pledge of Personal Safety and Retention of Property Legally Possessed.

Guatemala City, April 17.—President Estrada Cabrera capitulated to the revolutionary forces of Carlos Herrera Wednesday, after the latter had enveloped his stronghold of La Palma. The president agreed to surrender, the revolutionaries guaranteeing his personal safety and also retention of all the property legally obtained by him.

The capitulation followed intermittent fighting which began April 9 when Cabrera, well equipped and with numerous supporters, was holding the forts of San Jose and Matamoros, with an entrenched position at La Palma, southeast of the capital. The revolutionists, lacking arms, seized small quantities in the vicinity of the capital and in the southern and eastern suburbs. The Herrera forces surrounded Fort San Jose and compelled its capitulation April 12, the revolutionists driving a wedge between Matamoros and La Palma, and surrounding the latter place.

The loss of life among the combatants was not heavy, but there were many casualties among civilians during the bombardment of the capital and in the street fighting. Red Cross stations were installed in the American club and in other buildings.

The officers said they had reports of trips made into the desert stretches of the Imperial valley and rumors of similar expeditions into Death Valley by the public group. The description of Huirt, who is said to have a number of aliases on these trips, it is said the man went into the desert each time with a woman passenger and each time returned alone.

It is believed also that Huirt made frequent trips to the Tijuana, Lower California, and that information relating to the missing women might be obtained in the underworld there or at Mexicali.

Huirt, who is accused of having entered into at least 25 marriages, is still too weak from attempts at suicide, to be questioned. Attendants at the county hospital where he is under guard, Saturday bound his wrists together with wet cloths, fearing another possible attempt at self-destruction.

Gonzales Inaugurates Movement to Oust Dictator and Put Provisional President in Place to Guarantee Safety of Elections in July; Sonora Would Come Back at Once Then; Tepic Objective.

Nogales, Sonora, April 17.—(By The Associated Press.)—General Angel Flores, with 5,000 Sonora troops, captured Culiacan, capital of the adjoining state of Sinaloa, Saturday morning, according to official announcement from Sonora military headquarters at Hermosillo.

The Sonora revolutionists proceeded immediately to march to Mazatlan, an important port on the Sinaloa coast. After occupying Mazatlan, it was announced the Sonora troops will march on Tepic. Large numbers of troops for the revolutionary movement against the Carranza government are expected to be obtained there.

Hundreds of former Carranza soldiers have joined General Flores since he invaded Sinaloa Tuesday last, it was said. GAIN CARRANZA SUPPLIES. The telegram said Carranza forces joining the revolutionists brought with them full equipment, including arms, ammunition and food supply. The Sonora forces when they entered Sinaloa, Tuesday, were said then to number less than 2,500 men.

Five hundred troops were sent from here Saturday under Colonel Jesus Aguirre, to reinforce the garrison at Mazatlan and other troops concentrating there against an invasion of the state in that direction by Carranza forces. It was stated that 1,500 troops were sent from Hermosillo Saturday under General Manzo to reinforce General Flores.

So. Pacific Commandeered. Private telegrams from Hermosillo said information had been received there from Mexico City that General Gonzalez, a candidate for the presidency of Mexico, had inaugurated a movement to remove President Carranza and put in his place a provisional president who would guarantee fair elections in July. The movement, it was said, had been endorsed by several northern states. Liberal leaders here said that if Carranza were removed, the Sonora movement would cease immediately.

Former Ambassador Wilson Says to Support It is Un-American; Favors Meddling. Washington, April 17.—Accusing President Wilson's Mexican policy as being the source of the ill of that country and as unpatriotic, and urging either moral or financial support for some group or direct intervention, former Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson, who served for the United States in Mexico City during the assassination of former President Madero, declared to the Fall senate committee of investigation that he was informed President Wilson has written a plank for the Democratic national convention to adopt, endorsing and demanding a continuance of his course toward the neighboring republic and Carranza.

President Wilson to support it is un-American; favors meddling. The peculiar motives which induced President Wilson to adopt the policy or rather lack of policy toward Mexico during the last seven years, he said, "arise evidently from the obsession that all knowledge and all power rests in the executive. I believe that he came to office with the idea that he had a mandate from the American people to reverse all the foreign policies of his predecessors."

Discussing the peace treaty controversy, the former ambassador said "the present writer articles ten of the treaty itself and though there are many more important sections than it, he has caused widespread disaster by insisting that the whole treaty be rejected rather than let the senate modify that one section."

Anybody who supports the Mexican policy of President Wilson is unpatriotic and un-American. Eighty per cent of Mexico's population is illiterate and Indian with a distinct division between the Indian of the north and the southern who have no concept of Mexican politics or altruistic theories, but do comprehend justice if it is accompanied by firmness.
