RESERVATION MEN DENY BLACKFEET INDIANS STARVING

Scout Charges of James Willard Schultz; Government Prepared for Any Emergency.

Special to The Daily Tribune. Browning, Sept. 9.—Local business men are indignant at the charges of James Willard Schultz that three-fourths of the full-bloods on the Blackfeet reservation are starving. Supervisor H. G. Wilson, who is in charge of the local Indian Agency, is in close touch with the situation and has the co-operation of Commissioner Sells who spent four or five days in August visiting every section of the reservation, studying the needs of the Indians and meeting them personally to inquire into their wants. The government it is stated is prepared to relieve all cases of want that may develop, and while the Indians are not, as a class, as well prepared for the hardships of a Montana winter as in previous years, there have been no cases of suffering as yet. In the southern part of the reservation, where many of the Indians have derived a livelihood by employment on the tribal herd outfit or in selling their hay to the government for the tribal herd, conditions will probably be serious this winter as it is planned to dispose of the tribal herd this fall, and there appears to be no other market for this hay.

Western Union Opens an Up Town Office for Browning Folks

Special to The Daily Tribune. Browning, Sept. 9.—The Western Union Telegraph company has opened a downtown office in Browning, next to the First National bank. The Western Union formerly served Browning through its office at Browning depot, two miles from town, but owing to insistent pressure exerted by local business men, the company was persuaded to send its district manager, Hardy, to Browning this spring to look over the situation. Mr. Hardy succeeded in negotiating with the reclamation service a contract providing for the use of its pole line between Browning depot and town, thus avoiding the necessity of erecting poles, which he stated would have been prohibitive for the comparatively small amount of revenue derived from the local office.
