BISBEE AND VICINITY

FORGING AHEAD.

There is no let up in the daily arrival of strangers in Bisbee. They come to see Bisbee first, with its great mining industry, and they then visit the adjacent and tributary towns, where they find the greatest activity in every business enterprise. The push of the westerner is a revelation to many, who open their eyes in wonder at the utilization of every inch of ground in a mining camp, and their wonder increases when they inquire the price of property and the rents received on same. Today every carpenter and mechanic in Bisbee finds himself rushed with contracts or in his daily work. Many important buildings have been delayed in their construction for want of either men to proceed with the work or material. During the past year in this town there has been a decided tendency towards more substantial buildings, and many of the present lumber buildings would be replaced with brick or stone structures if it were possible for present tenants to secure quarters for their business during the required time to tear away the old and rebuild the new. The population of Bisbee is growing very fast. The people are wide awake and never lose sight of the fact, or the opportunity to impress the fact on strangers, that within the next five years Bisbee will be twice its present size, both in population and volume of business. While Bisbee people continue to gash the mountain sides for foundations for new buildings to accommodate the incoming population, our neighbors—Naco, Douglas, Nacozari and Cananea are all making an equally rapid growth. All these towns are supported by the mineral industry of this section, and as new mines are continually being opened up one can hardly imagine when the present rate of growth will subside. The Calumet and Arizona will soon very largely increase their present working force, the South Bisbee company will do likewise, the Copper Glance will soon need many more men, and with the completion of the El Paso & Southwestern railroad many new enterprises may be expected to be inaugurated in this mineral country. The population in this end of Cochise would be a revelation to Arizona if the people were counted.

THE REVIEW wanted to see Major James McClintock appointed secretary of the Territory. The people of Arizona wanted the gallant Major thus honored and recognized, not only for his bravery and courage in placing himself in position to stop almost the first Spanish bullet shot in the war with Spain, but because of his real worth as a man and a citizen. He had almost the undivided support of the press of the territory, of which he has been an honored member for many years. But while we regret the turning down of McClintock in the matter of the secretaryship, it is pleasant to read that the President has concluded to find a "good place" for him, and the better the place the more gratifying it will be to the people of Arizona.

WHILE every industry in Arizona has grown and shows marked improvements during the past year, it is gratifying to note that none has made a more pronounced advance than the industry of publishing newspapers. Nearly all the old papers have been improved and several creditable new ones have been established, with one or two more in embryo. The newspapers of Arizona have done a great deal for the progress of Arizona and are today keeping up the work by recording from day to day and week to week the many new enterprises that are being undertaken for the future development of our marvelous resources. The REVIEW is contemplating important improvements in the near future.

IN the matter of endowments, the Leland Stanford Jr. University, of California, exceeds the total endowments of any other institution of learning. Stanford now has about $60,000,000 to its credit. The entire plant and invested funds of Harvard, which was founded nearly three centuries ago, are said to come to about $14,000,000, and the only school which vies with Stanford in endowments is Girard college. The gift of Stephen Girard is reckoned now at $25,000,000, and the institution has productive funds which amount in the aggregate to nearly $16,000,000.

THE report of the grand jury is worthy of a most careful perusal by our board of supervisors. While the board escaped direct censure, still they have it in their power alone to remedy many of the evils complained of. The scope covered by the grand jury report is about the same as covered by the grand juries in Graham and Gila counties recently, when a general complaint was made of the loose way in which public business was carried on by the precinct officers in those counties.

SEVERAL Arizona papers believe that Brodie will be appointed governor now in a few days. It will be a welcome change, no matter when it comes—Courier.

Several Arizona papers believed that Jim McClintock would be appointed secretary, but Roosevelt turned the Rough Rider down for an energetic Murphy roster.
