St. Louis World's Fair Will Go.

St. Louis, Jan. 18.—The Exposition company today adopted resolutions to the effect that the postponement of the World's Fair until 1904, which was reported by the associated press yesterday, was a mistake. They state that there is no grounds for any such statement and the St. Louis Fair will be a go in 1903. Ex-Governor Francis, now at Washington, was seen regarding the statement, and emphatically denies the report.

DOWN A SHAFT.

A Miner Loses His Life by Accident at Morenci.

Morenci, Ariz., Jan. 18.—Siprius Butero lost his life today in the Manganes Blue mine. Buteros had charge of the top of the shaft. He received an order from one of the other miners for some powder and fuse which was stored in the Blue mine. Tom Davis, the shift boss, was down in the mine when the order was received and Buteros went down in the cage to the first station where he found the foreman and got from him the powder. Buteros returned to the cage with the powder and put it in the cage when he discovered he had forgotten the fuse. He returned to Mr. Davis and received the fuse and that was the last time he was seen alive.

When Buteros returned for the forgotten fuse he evidently forgot to lower the bar at the station. Between the time he put the powder in the cage and returned with the fuse a miner on top had signalled the cage up and when Buteros returned with the fuse he walked into the shaft, falling seventy feet and was instantly killed.

$2,000,000 Case Against Carnegie.

New York, Jan. 18.—A remarkable case came to light today when the heirs of Robert Stafford brought suit against Andrew Carnegie for the possession of Cumberland Island, off the coast of Georgia. In 1848 Stafford came from England and bought the island to raise cotton. Soon after he married the famous white slave and went north to live. He died a few years ago leaving three daughters, one an English countess. Five years ago Carnegie bought the island for forty thousand dollars believing he had a clear title. He turned the island into a beautiful spot, now worth two million. Stafford's heirs now sue for rights.

Moreover, she says, her children were referred to as "Hit the Fitz," which was a source of annoyance.

Presents for Employees

Old Timers in the Employ of the Copper Queen Company Receive Token of Appreciation

The Copper Queen company never tires of showing to their employees that their long and faithful services are appreciated by the management of the company, and the way the Copper Queen has of showing its appreciation is not by words, but by deeds, which speak from the heart. On the 17th of this month the following letter was addressed to about one hundred and twenty-five of the employees of the Copper Queen company, who by their long association with the affairs of the company, and faithful services performed, have earned that high esteem that is always due honesty of purpose and duty well performed, but so often goes unwarded. The following is a facsimile handed to a REVIEW reporter by a miner yesterday:

January 17, 1902.

"Dear Sir: The Board of Directors of the Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Company, in recognition of your long and faithful service as its employ, has instructed me to present you with a check as a token of its appreciation. This has been rendered possible through the recent two years of prosperity and by the friendly and pleasant relations which have always existed between the management of this company and its employees.

"If you will kindly call at my office between 10 a. m. and 10 p. m. of January 18th, with this letter, I shall be pleased to present the same to you.

"Yours truly, WALTER DOUGLAS, Superintendent."

All through the years in which the Copper Queen company has operated in Cochise county its history is filled with small acts of appreciation of its laboring men who conscientiously perform his duty. When at the first of the year the company voluntarily placed the men in the mine on an eight-hour shift the men no doubt felt that that was a very gracious act on the part of the company. This latter appreciation of faithful service was an agreeable surprise, and upwards of $25,000 was drawn in checks at the general office for this purpose. The recognition for faithful service was not confined to men holding responsible positions, although they were by no means forgotten. The old timers were all remembered, and the list was a long one. There is no mining camp in Arizona where the mutual relations between employers and employees are so cordial as in Bisbee.

There is an entire absence of the goods box grocer at the methods of the company. The employe, the employer and the business community at large sustain the most pleasant relations, which is responsible to a large extent for the prosperity of Bisbee and the success of the Copper Queen company.

MINING OPERATIONS

Activity in the Warren Mining District.

Notwithstanding the low price of copper and the lack of interest at present by the eastern investors, regarding the development of copper prospects, there seems to be no lack of activity in this district.

The most notable evidence last week was the purchase of new claims by the Calumet & Arizona company from Messrs. Brophy, Grunfeld, O'Hare and Shattuck, on which a shaft will be sunk to a depth of 1000 feet. These new claims adjoin the property of the Calumet & Arizona company but will be operated under the name of the Calumet & Pittsburg Co.

The purchase of these claims by the Calumet people is a further evidence that Bisbee will soon be the home of another active producing company, and the letting of the contract for the construction of the smelters at Douglas, places that time in the near future.

Mr. Broadbeck, who has been in town this week from the property of the California & Arizona company, located in the Huachuca, states that not long since Dr. Ricketta visited the property and expressed himself as highly pleased with the formation and predicted the development of large ore bodies.

The company is now in correspondence with the London syndicate and a deal is expected to be closed with them within the next thirty days. For a long time the Huachuca were passed by as an undesirable location but the development work now being carried on there, tends to disprove this theory and make the Huachuca the scene of active mining operations.

Interest now attaches to the meeting of the stockholders of the South Bisbee company which was adjourned from last Tuesday was hence. The adjournment was taken ostensibly for the purpose of giving Secretary Jones time to examine the secretary's books from Los Angeles. The Los Angeles stockholders are desirous of placing a bid on the South Bisbee property for $400,000. This, the Cochise county stockholders are opposed to and will make a strong protest at the meeting, which is set for Tuesday next.

The Cochise county stockholders express their views as dissatisfied with the management of officers, and being satisfied that the South Bisbee is a valuable property they are not to place a bid on it by themselves. The result of the meeting is habitually awaited.

The Modern Copper company continues actively at work on the old claims about seven miles from Bisbee on the road to Tombstone. President Centers reports that they are encountering splendid ore bodies. A shaft has recently been installed which greatly facilitates the development work. Mr. Centers left Friday morning for St. Louis on business for the company. Negotiations are now being carried on for the sale of some adjoining property to the Modern company for $20,000.

The Copper Glance company, which is considered one of the most substantial companies now doing business in this district, continue to sink their shaft with unremitting energy.

Vice-President H. Jones, of the Napoleon Gold Mining company, was in Bisbee yesterday from the Napoleon mine where a force of men are constantly employed in further development of this splendid property. Among the visitors on the property this week was Pres. Wm. Garland, of the Gila Valley, Globe & Northern Railway, who expressed himself well pleased. In fact he was enthusiastic over the showing of ore in sight. Mr. Garland took a sample of the mine for himself and other Los Angeles parties who have an eye on the property.

Among the miners this week the principal topic of conversation was the walkout at Cananea, and the town has been filled with miners who drew their time at Cananea and left for pastures new.

The miners' drilling prizes were awarded at the El Paso carnival this week as follows:

- 1st prize, double—Chamberlain and Malley, San Pedro, Old Mexico. 2nd prize—Tarr Brothers, Globe, Ariz. 3rd prize—Lundquist and Hoops, Anaconaleites, Old Mexico. Johnson and Berg of Bisbee, Ariz., in fifteen minutes drilled 34 1/2 inches. Sloan and McGowan of Bisbee, Ariz., in fifteen minutes drilled 21 1/4 inches. Eaton and Mitchell of San Pedro, Mexico, in fifteen minutes drilled 27 7/8 inches.

The drilling contest has proved to be the most interesting and exciting attraction of the carnival, and it brought hundreds of miners here from all over the southwest. The result of the double handed contest has so exercised the friends of two of the defeated teams that a match has been arranged for a contest Saturday morning between Monster Petition In Behalf Of Boers.

Kansas City, Jan. 18.—Webster Davis left this morning for Washington, carrying with him a monster petition signed by 212,600 persons in the Southwest, asking this government to interfere in behalf of the Boers. Davis will not present this petition to the president or congress, but will give it to the Boer consul in New York and have it reach Washington in that way.

IN JUSTICE COURT

Vernando Valenzuela became too bilious in his midnight frolics and was given ten days to sober up.

"Fernando Eras we should expect better things from you, judging from your name. But as you are charged with being drunk and disorderly and tearing up the town, I readily see it is not all in a name. Therefore, Fernando, that you may not further disgrace the name we are taught to revere I will give you nine days to reflect upon the ways that are dark and dangerous.

It cost Rosario Telez $9 for his spree, and he considered it cheap at that.

"Hazel Harvey, you are charged with seeing the elephant, and it grieves me to see you before this throne of justice. You are also charged with knowingly and wittingly entering the sanctum of 'Matilda' and deliberately hitting her in the neck. Am I correct in so stating?"

"Just so, your honor."

"And you also throw a large glass, commonly designated as a schooner, with great force, and the same did land terrifically against the said Matilda till she saw many stars."

"It is true."

"Then, Hazel Harvey, what have you to say why sentence should not be pronounced against you?"

"Nothing, your honor, except it's my first offense."

"This being your first offense, I exhort you that it be the last, and like the woman of olden time, go hence and sin no more—$5.

The case of the Territory against J. E. Kinney et al. occupied S. K. Williams' court the best part of Friday afternoon. Attorney O'Connell for the prosecution, and Attorney Neil for the defense, locked horns several times during the trial.

The facts that came out in evidence and were considered by the jury, were about as follows:

H. H. Bokfalk, who owns a ranch nine miles south of town, has a flock of about 100 goats which grazed over near the slaughter house of J. E. Kenney. The goats were marked with the right ear clipped and the left ear split. When they returned it was discovered that a large number of goats were gone and upon finding some of the strays they were very near the herd of Kenney and being guarded by a sheep herder. There were also found six sheep heads at the slaughter house having the right ear cut off close to the head and a large space cut from the left ear to loose the identity of the old marks. Two of these heads were got and were placed in evidence at the trial. The other ten goats were driven home with their ears likewise mutilated and among them were two pet goats which were at once recognized by the children. The ears were all fresh clipped and the heads were blood stained. The jury found Kenney guilty but discharged his employees.

RAILROAD PROGRESS.

Late Stories Reviewed--Cynthia's Way--John Brown's Life Etc.

The lovers of books are always looking for something good as well as something new to read. The question now is frequently put to us upon shaking the hand of an old time friend is "Well, what have you been reading lately?" It isn't always especially comfortable to "beat around the bush" and wind up by saying: "Well, I haven't had time to do any reading lately." One always feels that he has quit the field with better grace when he can say "no, I haven't seen that book lately for I have been fully occupied by reading 'So In So,' have you read it? Its the very latest."

A bright story of Germany has been recently published by Cynthia, an English girl's experience as governess in a German family. She tires of fortune hunters and the story is a delightful record of her experiences. The German family consisted of two girls, two boys and Frau Kopps and all are portrayed with humor and naturalness. Cynthia herself presents a charmingly feminine character. The reader gets a pleasing view of German life both in the city and country and at the same time becomes thoroughly interested in two love scenes. The elder son falls in love with Cynthia after he returns from South Africa and everything goes on well. The German boys view, point is expressed in the following and is very similar to the practical American: "It is throwing money away to take girls to a circus. They can't even stand on their heads when they come back.

"Time and Chance," a story of John Brown's life, is an interesting story, though loosely constructed. It relates to the dramatic events of John Brown's career. First he is a cattle dealer undergoing dangerous expeditions; an aide of Colonel Silvertown and the escaping negro, Jim Silvers; an awkward, passionate wooer of Margaret; a student for the ministry under Rev. Dr. Walden, and finally the husband, not of Margaret, whom fortune compels to marry the wealthy Colonel Boyd but of the buxom, rustic beauty, Dianthe Lusk. Later he is the father of many children, deacon and leading citizen of his town; manager of an underground railway, and is compelled to move to Pennsylvania on account of abolition. Still later he comes to Kansas to rescue his stalwart sons, who have become involved in political strife in the '50s. Lastly he is the hero or fanatic whose life reaches a tragic end at Harper's Ferry.

Although the story is somewhat tedious in detail, it has very much of interest to the student of history and is worth the reading.

"Boys of the Fort" is a semi-juvenile book recently published that is special interest to every youth. history of the northwest, and especially upon the frontier, is surrounded by a certain romance that is always captivating. Ralph Bonhill, in this narrative, gives a thrilling Indian fight. The young hero of the stories is a typical young American captain, who is daring and full of life. The scouts and Indian fighters play a great part in the story.

SMALLPOX

No New Cases Were Reported Yesterday

Dr. Edmundson and Caven report all cases of smallpox doing well and no new ones thus far reported. Dr. Caven drove over to Naco yesterday to attend the patients at that point, and reports that all are doing as well as could be expected. The accommodations furnished for the patients there are generally satisfactory, and any needs that are found wanting are at once reported to the board of county supervisors and attended to. Although there is no reason to be uneasy so far as any epidemic is concerned, the doctors advise vaccination and that due precaution be taken.

Bisbee will don its city clothes next week.
