TERRIBLE GALE LAKE SUPERIOR

THIRTEEN MEN AND A WOMAN
COOK PERISH IN THE WAVES

The Steamer Charles Hebard Driven
On the Rocks and Dashed to Pieces

Sault Ste. Marie, Dec. 1.—In a terrible west gale on Lake Superior Saturday night, the steamer Charles Hebard was driven on the rock shore at Point Mainsee and was soon dashed to pieces by the seas. Her crew, consisting of thirteen men and a woman cook, have not been heard from and it is feared all perished.

The schooner Aloha, one of the consort which the Hebard had in tow, broke away from the steamer on Lake Superior and has not been heard of since. When last sighted she was laboring heavily in the trough of the sea. Little hope is entertained for her safety.

The schooners Warmington and Francomb, other vessels of the tow, ran before the gale after breaking away from the steamer and finally succeeded in reaching anchorage at Cooper Mine point. Tonight the tugs General and Philadelphia were dispatched from this port to bring the two schooners here and search for some trace of the Aloha.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Dec. 1.—The steamer Charles Hebard was wrecked at Point Mainsee today. She broke up and disappeared completely. It is believed her crew of fourteen men perished.

TROOPS TO EVACUATE

Paris, Dec. 1.—The French foreign office has received advices showing that it is impossible to carry out the plan for the simultaneous evacuation of Shanghai by the troops of the powers. After arranging the terms of evacuation, the date for the embarkation of the forces was left open and the officials here are now advised that the British commander has ordered his detachment to evacuate Shanghai on December 20th. The French and German forces are not prepared for such an early move, as they are lacking in transports and other facilities, but it is said the French forces will be embarked as soon as transportation is available after December 20.

PUGILISTS ARE MATCHED

New York, Dec. 1.—Sam Harris and John Conidine, representing respectively Terry McGovern and Young Corbett, met here today and agreed to accept the bid of the Eureka Athletic club of Baltimore, for a fight to take place in January. The club offered 62½ per cent of the receipts, the fighters to deposit five thousand dollars forfeit each.

CRITICAL SITUATION IN HAYTI

Port au Prince, Dec. 1.—The situation here, which for some time past has been critical, has been rendered more so tonight by more shooting. The President of the chamber of communes has left the capital for St. Marc where he will rejoin General Nord. His absence has caused the greatest difficulty in the work of the chamber. General Nord's advance guard is encamped one day's journey from this city.

RECEIPTS AND DISBURSEMENTS

Washington, Dec. 1.—The monthly comparative statement of government receipts and expenditures shows that for the month of November the total receipts were in round numbers forty-three and a half millions, and the disbursements forty-three millions.

SENATE COMMITTEE REPORT ADVERSELY

On the Admission of Arizona and New Mexico to Statehood—Senator Beveridge
Leads the Fight

Washington, Dec. 1.—The principal part of the discussion in the rooms of the territorial committee was the forthcoming report of the committee on territories.

Senator Beveridge briefly outlined the main features of the prospective report, from which it was gathered that a majority would be strongly averse to the admission of either Arizona or New Mexico. The senators at the conference expressed the opinion that if the conditions were such as shown by the testimony, the features of which were given out by Beveridge, then it would be unwise to admit either New Mexico or Arizona.

The admission of Oklahoma and the Indian territory found considerable favor, though no conclusion was reached.

Later there was a conference in Beveridge's committee room attended by republican members of the committee supposed to be opposed to the omnibus bill. Other senators were also called in and discussed the question. Owing to the fact that the committee is working under orders to make its report Wednesday, the republican members are trying hard to get the report ready.

The republicans who are making the fight for the omnibus bill are under the leadership of Quay and Ellkins. They claim fifteen republicans pledged to that bill, which with the democrats, will give the omnibus bill a clear majority.

After the omnibus territorial bill passed the house during the last session, its friends in the senate were so insistent on action by that body and so strong in point of numbers that in the interest of other pending legislation, unanimous agreement was reached by the terms of which in consideration of abatement of activity by the friends of the measure during the last session, the committee on territories agreed that it would report on the bill next Wednesday, December 3, and that a week later the bill should become unfinished business in the senate, which means that unless the measure shall be displaced by a rising vote or by unanimous consent, it will occupy the first place on the senate calendar until disposed of. It is current expectation here that this program will be carried out whether the committee's report is favorable or unfavorable, as the agreement contemplated consideration of the measure, regardless of the character of the report.

At the last session all of the republican members of the committee except Senator Quay voted to defer consideration, while Senator Quay and all of the democratic members voted for immediate action, the result being a majority in favor of postponement.

It is known that some of the republican members favor an amendment to the bill which will provide for the admission of Oklahoma only, and it is the prevailing opinion that the committee will divide on this proposition, all republican members except Quay being considered favorable to this idea. However, the change of one republican vote would insure a report on the bill favoring the admission of all three territories to statehood, as Quay and all the democrats are in favor of the tri-state measure.

Protracted debate over the question in the senate now seems probable. Friends of the house measure claim to have the support of all of the democratic senators and of from fifteen to eighteen republicans. There is, however, determined opposition on the part of some republican leaders, who deny that the omnibus bill has the strength its friends claim for it.

In the Senate

Washington, Dec. 1.—The senate was in session twelve minutes today, the first day of the session, an adjournment until tomorrow being taken out of respect to the memory of the late Senator McMillan of Michigan.

Rarely has the historic chamber presented such an appearance as today. The galleries were packed to suffocation and hundreds were unable to gain admission. No business was transacted beyond the customary resolutions that the senate was ready to proceed to business and fixing the hour for convening of the sessions at 12 o'clock.

The House

Washington, Dec. 1.—The opening of the second session of the Fifty-seventh congress in the house was as usual a spectacular event.

The galleries of the freshly decorated hall were packed to the doors with people prominent in society and political circles, and the flower show on the floor, although not as elaborate as usual, filled the chamber with perfume and added grace and beauty to the scene.

The members were good natured and jovial and there was no outcropping of partisan feeling. Speaker Henderson received a cordial reception when he assumed the gavel, but beyond this there was no demonstration. The proceedings were purely perfunctory. Prayer was followed by calling the roll and swearing in members elected to fill vacancies caused by death or resignation, and the adoption of the customary resolutions to appoint a committee to wait upon the President and inform the senate that the house was ready to transact business and to fix the daily hour of meeting, summarizes what was done. The session lasted less than an hour. The President's message will be received tomorrow.

When the house convenes tomorrow to enter on the final session of the Fifty-seventh congress a perfect deluge of bills dealing with the trust question in all of its phases will be thrown into the legislative hopper. It is admitted by all hands that this is to be the most important topic of discussion, indeed, the leaders incline to the belief that beyond appropriation bills and routine legislation it will be the only general subject on which there is a chance for action during the short session. As yet the leaders have formulated no measure, and there seems to be a pretty wide divergence of opinion as to what can or should be done. The President's recommendations on the subject are awaited with interest. The most conservative opinion among republican leaders seems to favor an appropriation for the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law. Such appropriation, it is pointed out, could be placed on one of the regular appropriation bills and put through both houses without difficulty, whereas any amendment to the law itself, no matter how conservative, would most likely meet active and vigorous opposition. Mr. Hepburn of Iowa, chairman of the interstate and foreign commerce committee, is one of those who believes that the Sherman law, if enforced, is sufficient to meet the exigencies of the situation, and tomorrow he will introduce a bill appropriating $500,000 to be used by the department of justice in prosecutions under the present law. The leaders have already resolved to expedite appropriation bills as much as possible in order to allow the widest margin of time for other matters.

R., has confirmed the selection of a committee of one hundred to constitute a general committee to manager the thirty-seventh annual encampment of the Grand Army to be held in San Francisco next year. The committee has been called to meet in this city December 3d.

CHAPLAIN RESIGNS

Washington, Dec. 1.—Rev. W. H. Milburn, the billed chaplain of the senate, has forwarded his resignation to President Roosevelt. He is now at Santa Barbara, Cal. His successor will be elected by the senate.

GOOD WORDS FOR THE COUNCIL

FOUR PROMINENT BUSINESS MEN WHO FAVOR INCORPORATION

The Review Continues Its Search for the Disincorporation Sentiment
But Fails to Find It

The following business men in Bisbee were interviewed this week in regard to their opinion of existing conditions under the city government, and gave their views frankly yet conservatively:

Mr. Rouzer stated in substance that he had no time nor opportunity to investigate and form an opinion as to the efficacy of the present system of city government in Bisbee. That he had not been here long and did not think it becoming in him to arraign the city administration, but that he believed incorporation was the best thing, and that if undesirable conditions do exist, disincorporation is unnecessary to remedy those conditions.

I. W. Wallace would not take it for granted that the city administration was at fault. He called attention to the fact that Bisbee, like Topsy, never was born but just "grewed." He said that the shape the city was in at present, it offered overwhelming temptations for people to dump ashes and other refuse in the innumerable nooks and corners over the townsite, that if the city were laid out regularly so as to fix every man's responsibility in the matter there would be no further difficulty; that rubbish and refuse had accumulated so densely at the time the city government started off it was a stupendous job to handle it, but that the scavenger service was catching up on it every day, and that under no circumstances would he entertain the idea of disincorporation.

Mr. Hood said he had heard numerous complaints about the alleged mismanagement of municipal affairs, but knew little about it from his own experience or observation; that all other matters of a kindred character are usually awarded a fair trial and an opportunity to test the merits of their claims and he did not see why the city should be denied the same indulgence, and that he did not consider that disincorporation was necessary, assuming all reports to be true.

J. Schmid was very pronounced in his opinion that the city administration had done everything in their power. He said: "I consider this fight on the city council all uncalled for. Like all other bodies of men they may have made mistakes. That is inevitable, but they are doing the best they can and I believe it is the duty of the people of Bisbee to stand by them, and assist them in the performance of their duty instead of pulling back on them. I believe in incorporated Bisbee, first, last and all the time."

TOMBSTONE CITY WARRANT CASE

An Effort Made to Have Them Funded
By the Territory

Judge James Reilly returned last evening from Phoenix, where he has been in attendance at the supreme court. He also appeared before the territorial loan commission in behalf of the city to protest against the issuing of bonds on the old salary warrants issued by the city many years since, over which litigation has ensued for several years and in which the supreme court decided in favor of the city. Attorney W. H. Barnes made application to the loan commission to have these warrants funded with territorial bonds. Judge Reilly, who has successfully carried the case to victory thus far for the city, made strong arguments before the commission against the proposed issue, and the matter was taken under advisement by the board.—Prospector.

HEARST BOOM IS STARTED

MAYOR OF SAN FRANCISCO FAVORS
HIM FOR PRESIDENT

States that the Laboring Classes
Throughout the Country are Anxious to Cast Their Votes for Him

Los Angeles, Dec. 1.—Mayor Schmitz of San Francisco arrived here yesterday. He will speak tonight in advocacy of the candidacy of George McGahan, the labor union candidate for mayor. In an interview today Mayor Schmitz said:

"Many notable things impressed me during my trip east and south, and west again, but one more particularly than any other. I refer to the common desire, which I found exists deep-rooted among the laboring class throughout the country for an opportunity to follow the splendid example of New York state in honoring William Randolph Hearst with an office of public trust in appreciation of all that he has done for the interests of the masses. I found everywhere this sentiment. 'If in 1904 Mr. Hearst will consent to be a candidate for a higher federal office than that to which he has just been elected from the Eleventh congressional district of New York, by the largest majority ever given a candidate for that office, the workingmen throughout the United States will rally royally and enthusiastically to his support.'

"The laboring class would hail with intense satisfaction an opportunity to cast its solid vote for William R. Hearst for President of the United States, and in this country the laboring class holds the balance of political power, unquestionably."
