Attractive to Men

SPECIAL SALE OF Night Shirts and Pajamas

Copyrighted, 1904 By Faulstich

25 dozen nobby Men's Night Shirts, Military Style, viz: without collars; some of plain white mull, others cambric with embroidered fronts and fancy frog fastenings.

For those worth $1.50 we shall ask $1 Each

For those worth $2 and $2.50 we ask . . . 1.50 Each

We couldn't cut these prices except for the fact that the manufacturers cut prices to us to get rid of a very large stock, and now you get the benefit.

PAJAMAS We have for this special sale a few broken lines of Pajamas in madras, blue, red and black mixtures, that sold originally for $1.50. On Friday and Saturday only they'll go for $1.00

A nicer line of madras pajamas, assorted patterns, with frog fastenings, regular $2.00 and $2.50 lines, Friday and Saturday only $1.50

There's a nice line of Boys' Waists, too, in this same department that we want to move quickly. They come in many patterns, some with collars attached, and some with two detached collars. They've been selling at 75c and $1.00, but on Friday and Saturday 60c Each they will be on sale at.

BRIEF CITY NEWS

In Justices' Courts—Four men were before Justice McDonald yesterday morning charged with vagrancy. On similar charges three were before Justice Murphy. All of the men were discharged, they being able to show that they were in the city in legitimate pursuit of work. Because of the rain they went into saloons and went to sleep officers picking them up in that condition.

Southern Pacific Still Open—Report was current in the city yesterday that because of the trouble in Salton Basin the Southern Pacific had cut off its train service until track being built around the submerged district could be completed. This rumor was put at rest by statement at the E. P. & S. W. ticket office that no word had been received there regarding cessation of train service. Before taking any such step the Southern Pacific would be certain to notify all agencies handling its tickets to stop sales.

Mrs. George Dreyssing and children returned last evening from a visit with friends at Benson.

Nothing on the Market Equal to Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

This fact is well known to druggists everywhere, and nine out of ten will give their customers this preparation when the best is asked for. Mr. Obe Wittner, a prominent druggist of Joplin, Mo., in a circular to his customers, says: "There is nothing on the market in the way of patent medicine which equals Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. We sell and recommend this preparation." For sale by all dealers in patent medicines.

MURDERESS REJOICES IN TERRIBLE WORK

the Justice of the Peace. He asked who had killed Savage, and the woman replied that she had, and was going to give herself up. Officer Thomas climbed into the vehicle and rode with them to the Justice's office.

A Review reporter saw Mrs. Savage a few minutes later, and she told the story of the tragedy for publication. She was not excited, and told a straight, connected story from beginning to end, and does not fear the outcome of the hearing to be held today. She is a woman about fifty years of age, with massive black hair and a determined face, showing that her path has not been strewn with roses by any means. She is a strong, muscular woman, of large build and masculine appearance, and told her story without any evidence of regret. When her attorney stepped into the room where the woman and the Review reporter were seated, and interrupted her story with the statement that Savage had been brought to the morgue, and that life was extinct, her only answer was:

"My troubles over now, thank Thee, God."

Mrs. Savage's Story.

"I killed Savage. I killed him in self-defense," was the first words the woman spoke when asked for a story of the tragedy.

"Last night I slept in nothing but a dogout on the hillside, with my baby, to avoid this man, and the baby is sick on account of the exposure. Yesterday in the office of Judge Williams, I tried to make peace with him. I called him in there and begged him to stop abusing me, and if we could not get along together to allow a separation. He would not listen to me, and threatened to kill me. He used abusive language—called me a d—n liar, and applied other epithets, and said the laundry would never be allowed to start. Yesterday at home he struck me and bruised my arm, and it is so sore now I can not bear for any one to touch it. I told him then that if he ever struck me again I would kill him. He abused me, and the neighbors in the vicinity, when I fled to their houses for protection, until life became unbearable.

"My boys were made to leave the house, and my eldest son's wife has been driven into convulsions through fear and excitement. This evening I saw him coming toward the house with a bottle of whiskey in his hand. I knew he had a gun on him, as it was gone from the bureau drawer. I went to the window and told him not to come a step nearer. He uttered some threat, which I could not understand, reached around for his gun, and when he did so I fired to kill. My boy ran to the door with a rifle, but I caught him and said: 'Don't shoot, Amos, I have killed him.'

"Patience ceased to be a virtue in my case. I tried to patch up the differences between us, and tried to get him from drinking, and only yesterday I said to him: 'Henry, can't we patch this up?' And he said: 'No, we can't fix nothing.'

"My husband killed two men in Colorado. I was afraid to swear out a warrant for his arrest. He threatened to kill every officer who would come near the house, and I didn't want to see some good man killed for a worthless vagabond.

"I have been married to Savage two years the 19th of last June. We were married in Denver, and came to Bisbee. He had nothing when I married him.

"I am not afraid of what the law will do in my case. I simply followed the first law of nature, self-preservation.

"He was a mean man when drinking. A few days ago he picked up the little baby by the heels and threw it across the room.

"I stood it as long as I could, and yesterday I made up my mind that I could put up with his actions no longer."

Dee Thomas, who drove Savage home last evening, states that he had been drinking, but did not appear to be drunk. That when he alighted and started to climb the hill to his house he thanked him for the ride. Thomas drove on, and in a few seconds a shot was fired. He saw Savage fall and returned to the place. Mrs. Savage was standing in the door with the gun in her hand, and another son was standing on the opposite side of the canyon with a rifle in his hand. Mrs. Savage told him that she had killed her husband.

Mr. and Mrs. Savage came to Bisbee from Colorado about two years ago. She went by the name of Mildred Ray at the time, and was the mistress of a house of ill repute in Upper Brewery Gulch.

A few months ago Mr. and Mrs. Savage moved up Tombstone canyon, where they have since resided. During Savage's stay in Bisbee he has been a bartender, working at several resorts on Main street and Brewery Gulch, but has been out of employment for several weeks.

The coroner's inquest will be held today.

VERSATILE "HUMPH" STRUCK A SNAG

HAD NOTION TO TURN SMUGGLER BOLD, BUT CONSCIENCE WOULDN'T STAND FOR IT

Therefore Did the Geo. Washington Act With Good Grace Before a Customs Inspector—Now Has a New Lecture on Tap for the World.

"Hump" had a hump on his back as he came over the river from Juarez and the inspector got a "hunch" that "Hump's" hump was some detiable article, so he eyed "Hump" so closely that "Hump" got a "hunch" that the inspector suspected him, so he climbed off the car, removed a box of cigars from the back of his shirt, and temporarily getting into a peck of trouble, but it all came out all right and "Hump" is still out of jail.

This morning at 10 o'clock W. R. Humphries, "the man who makes cuts" and also photographs, went over to Juarez to get a box of cigars for a friend in California. He got the cigars all right and started home, with the box secreted at his back, inside of his shirt. When he got to the bridge, however, there were few passengers on the car and he had a seat all to himself. Try as he would to look unconcerned and innocent, he could not, and when the inspector looked real hard at him and asked the usual "anything detiable?" question, "Hump" got red in the face, moved about uneasily a time or two and then heilly confessed that he had a box of cigars.

Off the car he had to go and when he had removed that telltale hump from his back by extracting the box of perfectos, the inspector took the "phone and informed the customs house. After a few minutes' conversation, during which "Hump" sweated several sweats, as he puts it, the order came to "release him, as it is his first offense," but tell him to never do it again."

"Hump" lost no time in making the promise and boarded the first ice wagon that came along. By the time he reached his office, he had cooled off sufficiently to tell the fore what had happened and deliver them a lecture on the wickedness of attempting to break the laws of these United States.

"In the first time I ever tried to smuggle a thing and I was so honest I could not lie to the inspector and look natural; that is why I was caught," he explains, and some of his friends believe him.—El Paso Herald.

STOP THAT COUGH!

When a cough, a tickling or an irritation in the throat makes you feel uncomfortable take Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Don't wait until the disease has gone beyond control. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 554 West 5th St., Salt Lake City, Utah, write: "We think Ballard's Horehound Syrup the best medicine for coughs and colds. We have used it for several years; it always gives immediate relief, is very pleasant and gives perfect satisfaction." 75c, 50, $1.00. Sold by Rinehart's Pharmacy.

"KID" McCLUNG WINS IN FIRST ROUND

PERFORMANCE AT CANANEA REBOLD, BUT CONSCIENCE CENTLY DUPLICATED AT EL PASO.

"Soldier" Hockey, Favorite of the Bar-racks at Ft. Bliss, No Match for the Bisbee Lightweight, and Takes the Count.

"Kid" McClung, the lightweight champion of the Southwest, returned last evening from El Paso, where, on Wednesday night, he entered the ring against "Soldier" Hockey, from Ft. Bliss, in a glove contest billed to last ten rounds.

The "Kid" duplicated his performance at Cananea, on the occasion of his go with Jack Benson, with the exception that the El Paso incident was closed in a space of two minutes. The soldier was put down and out and took the count in this interval. The first round was never finished. McClung landed one of those left-handed punches and the show was over.

The match was arranged at 134 pounds, but the soldier tipped the beam three pounds over weight. McClung waived the difference and waded in at the top of the zong. The soldier boy was outclassed from the start to the finish. McClung landed at will and forced the fighting from the start. The first time McClung landed on his adversary the soldier went down from a straight left on the jaw. He got to his feet and went down again from a like punch. The third time he came at the shifty lightweight McClung hooked a short right handed chop to the jaw, and Hockey was counted out.

After the main event McClung boxed three exhibition rounds with an amateur for the benefit of the crowd.

About two hundred El Paso sports witnessed the fight, which was refereed by George Ogden. McClung lasted last night that it was easy money all the time.

The lightweight bantam is back in Bisbee, and expects to take on either Striker or Benson in the near future. He expresses himself willing to meet all comers at this weight and might be induced to stand for a few pounds difference.

M. R. Harlan was a visitor in town yesterday from Tombstone.

HERBINE

Renders the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headaches, and over-indulgence in food and drink.

C. L. Caldwell, Agt. M., K. and T. R. R., Checotah, Ind. Terr., writes, April 18, 1903: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Herbine. It has made me sound and well." 50c. Sold by Rinehart's Pharmacy.

A little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Anyone who makes it a rule to keep Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy at hand knows this to be a fact. For sale by all dealers in patent medicines.
