

EUROPE VISITED BY MOST TERRIFIC STORM

RAILROADS BLOCKED AND WRECKED

In Scotland Thirteen Are Killed In Wreck As Result of Collision Caused By Storm—Other Casualties Reported.

London Has Experienced No Such Storm As Has Prevailed Since It Commenced On Christmas Day.

LONDON, Dec. 28.—It is many years since central Europe generally has suffered so severely from arctic visitations as it has this Christmas week.

While Great Britain as a rule escapes severe winters, she has suffered this year to an almost unprecedented degree.

They are accompanied by violent gales, and heavy thunderstorms. In some places serious railroad accidents have resulted.

Railroad traffic in the northern part of England, and especially in Scotland, is becoming completely tied up.

Belief trains have been embedded in snow, and the railroad company has issued notices that it is impossible to guarantee traffic on scheduled time so far as Scotland is concerned.

Gales have caused many minor casualties along the coasts. Among the worst sea disasters reported is the wreck of the Japanese liner Awa Maru.

In Belgium drift ice is forming on the Scheldt and other large rivers, and all communication with points in Her togen forest is at a standstill.

In Switzerland the weather is of unusual severity. The uplands are already under six feet of snow and some mountain villages are completely isolated.

Austria and Hungary are also in the grasp of wintry weather. Traffic on some of the railroads in Galicia has been suspended.

Germany reports the heaviest general snow in many years, and that railroad traffic is considerably dislocated.

Body of Delicate Woman Ripped Open With Knife and Victim Tortured to Death—Two Women Taken Captives

(Special to Review.)

DOUGLAS, Dec. 28.—At 6:20 p. m. last Saturday evening a band of about 50 Mexican laborers and their families, headed by a man named Lanchos, on the Cananea, Yaqui River and Pacific railway, 75 kilometers southeast of Guaymas, Sonora.

They retired from the town about two hours of plunder, riot and arson, being frightened away by a work train from Guaymas, which they doubtless mistook for a relief train.

Lanchos was a railway station with a box car for a depot and telegraph office, surrounded by tents occupied by about 50 Mexican laborers and their families.

There were six indictments returned against each of the two defendants, all were based on the transaction known as the "Prussian loan," the specification as to forgery being that certain railway stocks were transferred by the insurance company to the Security and Trust company in order to comply with the Prussian law.

The grand jury couple with the indictments presented a statement in which it places itself on record as convinced that Messrs. Perkins and Fairchild were "influenced by a desire to benefit policyholders."

Assassin of Macklin Is Still at Large, But Is Believed Major Penrose Has Clue Which Will Lead to Arrest.

EL RENO, Dec. 28.—Major Penrose, commanding at Fort Reno, tonight refused to make any statement regarding the report that he has a clue to the identity and whereabouts of the person, believed to be a discharged soldier of the 25th infantry, who shot and seriously wounded Captain Edgar H. Macklin a week ago.

It concealed excitement and intense racial feeling still prevails here over the assault on Mrs. T. S. Clifford, the wife of a prominent physician, by a negro yesterday. While Major Penrose positively declines to discuss the affair at this time, it is understood from other sources that all of the regulars have been accounted for, and that the man was given either by a discharged soldier or negro civilian who might have purchased some cast-off uniform.

On that account he continued the proceedings looking to setting aside the indictment against Ruef, until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, at which time Judge Graham will have made it evident whether he intends to slice the Ruef-Schmitz case in halves.

In passing on the matter, Judge Dunne said: "I am not unfamiliar with the tactics employed by the counsel for the co-defendants here, and I have also noticed that they invariably appeal to Judge Graham as a man of large sympathies and generous impulses."
