GEN. FENOCHIO TO MAKE PLEA FOR THE YAQUIS

Mexican Army Officer Passes Through Bisbee On Way to the City of Mexico in Their Behalf.

Two distinguished Mexican officers were passengers on the train bound for El Paso & Southwestern train last night, en route to the Pass City. These were General Juan Fenochio, of the Mexican army, who has been in command of the operations of the regular troops against the insurgent Yaqui Indians, and Colonel Emilio Kosterlitzky, the famous chief of the ruffians along the border.

General Fenochio is on his way to Mexico City to confer with the federal war department there with reference to the overtures recently made by the leaders of the Yaquis for a permanent peace agreement with the Mexican government. The Yaquis while not numerous, as compared with the forces of the republic, have, with their scattered bands and guerrilla tactics, been a constant thorn in the side of the Mexican government, and a decided menace to the development of the country through which they ranged.

After years of desultory and sporadic warfare with the Yaquis in the wilds and fastnesses of their native country, the Mexican government finally decided to adopt the policy of the United States with its troublesome and unmanageable tribes of aborigines, and round up and remove all the Yaquis to a reservation in Yucatan. For the past four or five years it has been endeavoring to carry out that policy, and has transported quite a number of Indians to the reservation prepared for them. The movement was not wholly a success, however, and the attempt to carry it out only intensified the bitterness of the enmity between the two peoples. The hostile Yaquis became more active and savage in their warfare, and because of the very looseness of their organizations, the insignificance of their organized units, and the nature of the country in which they took refuge, the carrying out of the Mexican government's policy of removing them gave promise of being a long, costly and difficult task.

In the meantime the development of the country was being retarded, capital frightened away, and the state of war existing in the affected territory

CHEER UP AND BOOST, SAYS C. W. VAN DYKE

Manager of Warren Company Returns From Trip East Full of Encouraging Reports On Industrial Conditions.

Col. C. W. Van Dyke, manager of the Warren Company, returned yesterday afternoon from a vacation of five weeks, which he spent in the east and north west. He says, "The hard times, so-called, apparently have had no effect upon the agricultural sections, and industrial conditions are good throughout the north-west. What I saw today, seeing at the highest point seen in years, and the crop outlook for the present year could not be better. I passed through several states of the east and northwest, both going and returning, and was immensely pleased and encouraged by what I saw. Farming is the basis of our prosperity, and it is safe to predict a general revival of industry within a short time. Harvest begins in June along the Ohio river, and from that time until September the reaper will move northward, gathering millions of wealth, creating fresh demand for a thousand lines, and starting the wheels of industry."

"Many of the factories that were shut down some weeks ago are starting up on one-fourth to one-half time, which will be gradually increased with demand. The railroads, also, are picking up. There are signs on every hand that the present depression can not last much longer. There was actually no excuse for it in the first place, unless we can give politics an excuse. But if presidential politics is the cause, the country is rapidly coming to the point where it can see the absurdity of the whole thing. In short, there never has been anything in national politics to be scared about. The majority of the people will, as usual, elect a president, and, as usual, he will be all right."

"On my trip east with Governor Johnson to the Shiloh battlefield, the Minnesota executive received an ovation everywhere. Through Kentucky and Tennessee he was repeatedly compelled to make rear platform speeches to thousands of people. The trip to Shiloh was not political in nature by any means, and the object being to unveil a monument to Minnesota soldiers who fell in that battle. Nevertheless, the people would view Johnson from the standpoint of politics, and 'size him up' as a presidential possibility. This critical survey of the man among strangers added great strength to his candidacy. The east and south are for him, and I am credibly informed that for the purpose of several state delegations, reported for Bryan to give the Nebraska man a complimentary vote and then work for Johnson. I predict Johnson's nomination at Denver on the second or third ballot."

"Of course I am glad to get back. The Warren District looks better than ever to me. About the first thing I saw on arriving in Bisbee were those booster buttons distributed by the Board of Trade, and the sight was pleasing. No people in the country have more reason to boost than have those of the Warren District, for the present and future prospects of this community are splendid that it would be hard to adequately describe them. Everybody should feel good. There is ample reason for it."

Speaking of the town of Warren, Mr. Van Dyke says it looks better and bigger than ever. His "Work has been progressing during his absence along several important lines, and fully a dozen houses have been started within the month. The new electric road to the Country Club is nearly completed, and will be in operation in a few days."

Y. M. C. A. EXHIBITION OF CAMP LIFE

Pictures of the Association's Camp Life the Seasons of 1906 and 1907.

The Junior and intermediate departments of the Y. M. C. A. will give a lantern slide exhibition at the Association this evening of pictures taken during the summer camp of 1906 and the season of 1907. About fifty slides have been prepared and these, together with slides announcing various features of the camp, the camp yells and other information about the camp will comprise the exhibition. Each year about fifty of the boys of the local and Douglas Y. M. C. A. spend two or three weeks in the Huachuca mountain camping out. The Association owns a complete camp equipment of tents, etc., and have excellent facilities for handling this large camping party.

Besides the boys who are all invited to the entertainment this evening, the parents are urged to come and see in pictures the kind of life the boys have in the free open air during their stay in the mountains.

This season the camp will begin on June 15th. Already applications have begun to come in at the Association office, and plans are being made for the largest camp yet held. A complete schedule of hikes, athletic features and pastimes of the camp has been arranged and will be announced at the entertainment this evening. The exhibition will begin promptly at 8 o'clock. A cordial invitation is extended to both boys and their parents to see this exhibition.

THE UNWRITTEN LAW AT THE ORPHEUM

Clever Play Will Be Repeated This Evening.

The Earl Burgess Company at the Orpheum gave a splendid performance of Mark Swan's play, the "Unwritten Law" last night. It was absolutely different from the first play given, and showed the versatility of the company. Miss Anderson gave a finished portrayal of Mona Featherstone, the artist's wife. Her performance showed splendid emotional strength. Mr. Cornell as Paul Featherstone was the artist dreamer to the life. Mr. Miller was a clean cut and very immaculate villain, his distinct enunciation was a pleasure to listen to. Miss Bronbridge did excellent work as Agnes Trevor, Miss Rothe was a jolly little school girl as Maude Penfield, and there were two splendid character portrayals by Miss Grantley and Mr. Percival. Mr. McCauley looked and acted Teddy Holloway, a college boy.

The scenic details were complete in every way. The Earl Burgess Company have started in right. Their plays are bright and entertaining and the performances go with dash and spirit. "The Unwritten Law" will again be played tonight, also tomorrow matinee and night. Sunday night Gratton Donnelly's great drama "Darkest Russia" will be presented.

PROSPECTOR UNKNOWN REFERRED TO IN BOYD LETTER

Nothing further has reached this city in reference to the disappearance of the one-eyed prospector mentioned in the letter received by The Review from J. A. Boyd, and published Wednesday morning.

A canvass of the mining men and people officers of the city fails to reveal any one acquainted with the alleged victim. If the American was suspected of "high-grading" from the Las Chispas mine, and his assistants were employees or officers of the company operating that property, a report of the affair will doubtless be made in due time, but if the four Mexicans were irresponsible individuals acting upon their own initiative, and bent upon plunder and murder, it may be long ere the mystery is cleared up. One fact that militates against the latter theory is that the body of the missing man was not appropriated, according to the account received.

The letter published created considerable interest in and around Bisbee, and further information is awaited with some eagerness.

THE ALLEN DIES SUDDENLY AT HIS HOME

Was Widely Known New York Sporting Man.

NEW YORK, May 14.—Theodore Allen, known throughout the sporting world as "The Ace," died suddenly Tuesday night at the home of his son-in-law, Clarence E. Owens, in West Eighth street. Two hours later the coroner interrupted preparations for the embalming of the body and ordered an autopsy performed. Members of the family were summoned by the coroner and examined. Allen's physician, Dr. Becker, reported that "The Ace" had a heart ailment, ataxia, but one of the dead man's brothers, Martin Van Buren Allen, declared the belief that he "had died as the result of foul play."

Allen was 77 years old and had a notable and spectacular career. He was best known as a promoter of pool rooms and as a bookmaker. In connection with pool room operations he was arrested many times but managed to escape penitentiary sentences.

It has gotten so that the Hon. Jeff Davis of Arkansas has to roar in order to be heard in Congress.

DEPOSIT CERTIFICATES WANTED BY RECEIVER

Proof of Claim Is Wanted By Mr. Lakin to Facilitate Settlement.

Every effort is being made by Receiver T. N. Lakin, in charge of the First National Bank of this city, to get all depositors to secure certificates of deposit that they may be entitled to payment when such are made. Notwithstanding this, there are still quite a number who have failed to do this, and as much as he would like to, he has been unable to get them to do so. He has been busy, he explained, settling with other banks, and this part of the work has been completed. An item that will be of interest to the depositors is that the interest on the notes that are outstanding is sufficient to pay the present expenses of the institution.

When questioned in regard to the time at which a first payment would be made to depositors, Receiver Lakin made it dependent on so many circumstances that he was unable to say, as much as he would like to. He has been busy, he explained, settling with other banks, and this part of the work has been completed. An item that will be of interest to the depositors is that the interest on the notes that are outstanding is sufficient to pay the present expenses of the institution.
