BISBEE'S BIGGEST, BUSIEST AND BEST STORE

PRESIDENT MAY VISIT BISBEE IN OCT.

It is possible that President Taft may go through Cochise county on his way from Los Angeles to El Paso about the middle of October. The president has expressed a desire to visit Arizona, and in order to do so properly he would have to see Bisbee, the biggest and most typical city in the territory.

Douglas has already forwarded an invitation to the chief executive of the nation, which is in the shape of an engraved copper tablet, and the Bisbee Board of Trade will send an equally cordial, if not quite as elaborate, bid.

It is possible for the presidential special to change tracks at Benson and continue the journey to El Paso over the Southwestern which, without loss of time, would permit Mr. Taft to visit Bisbee, and later Douglas.

Nowhere in the west would the president receive a more hearty welcome than here in Cochise county.

In recent tariff utterances Mr. Taft made it plain that he considers himself the executive head of all the people, and as that includes the people of this territory they certainly have no desire to have the distinguished party pass by without at least a passing call.

A great deal depends on the time of the day or night that the special will arrive at Benson, and if it is a reasonable hour there is no possible reason why Bisbee should not be granted the privilege to entertain and welcome the president.

ELK-EAGLE BALL GAME DECLARED OFF

At the conclusion of a joint meeting of the Elks' committee and Eagles committee held last evening in the office of Judge Hogan, it was announced there would be no Elks-Eagle ball game on Sunday as proposed.

When a member of the committee was approached by a Review man and asked for an explanation of the decision to cancel the game he was met with the response that there was nothing to give out for publication as a question had arisen contrary to the constitution of one of the lodges, which would prevent the game.

REASONS TO HAVE TEMPLE IN BISBEE

Bisbee is to have a Masonic Temple, and that, too in the very near future, for it is said the site for the building has been selected and that competitive plans are being drawn for a splendid home for the Masons of Bisbee.

When the news came that the Copper Queen company would require the whole of their office building for their own use, and that the Masons would soon have to seek other quarters, immediate steps were taken and a committee of three was appointed with full power to select. This committee at once started out to obtain a suitable location and considerable secrecy was preserved until the desired options were obtained. This done came the deciding of the best of the several sites obtainable, and it is understood that it has been finally decided to build a home and Masonic Temple on the Multhead property on Main street. The location is an excellent one, centrally located and offers many advantages.

Facts as to the size of the building, its style of architecture and the accommodations which it will offer are not yet obtainable. Competitive plans are being prepared and will be submitted to the committee, after which it is possible that the building committee will report and recommend. At present all that has been done in the matter has been the selection of the site for the Temple, and the arrangement for the preparation of plans and drawings for the building.

It is certain that the building will be a handsome one and an honor and a credit to the order and to the city, and the accommodations which it will contain will be ample and the whole thoroughly up-to-date. While no undue haste is being shown, the committee is working steadily, and it will not be long before work on the new building may be expected to commence.

GAMBLING CASE VERDICT IS ACQUITTAL

The first of the so-called gambling cases was tried in Justice Murphy's court at Lowell yesterday afternoon and resulted in an acquittal, the jury being out only twenty minutes. The verdict came as rather a surprise, for the defense put no witnesses on the stand, even Hayes declining to make a statement, while the prosecution introduced the testimony of five witnesses.

The case of the Territory against James Hayes was called for trial at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, Assistant District Attorney Flannigan conducting the prosecution and Mill & Williams the defense. Through the testimony of Officer Henry Hall, Deputy Will White, Constable Denny Twomey, Mrs. Wolverton and the proprietor of the Anchor saloon the prosecution attempted to establish its case.

The raid of May 17 was told of, the presence of cards and chips on the table and the general conditions described as those usually surrounding a poker game.

The defense presenting no testimony, arguments followed, and the case went to the jury, which returned in 21 minutes with a verdict of not guilty. The verdict occasioned considerable stir, and still more surprise, and was the chief topic of conversation about town last night.

What effect this acquittal will have on the other cases remains to be determined. The assistant district attorney declares he will push the trial of all of them.

HOT WEATHER IS NO JOKE TO PHOENIX

Under the heading, "So Hot in Phoenix Teeth Fillings Melt," the Fort Worth Record a few days ago published the following:

"Texas is not the hottest place after all, in spite of our great humidity," declared D. S. Landis, the local weather observer, Friday. "I used to be stationed out at Phoenix, Ariz., and you may be sure it got some hot out there, and the records there as well as here, have been broken this year. I have just received a letter from a druggist at that place, who is an old friend of mine, and he tells me that a young fellow by the name of Harry Applegate, who recently came over here from Phoenix, has the misfortune to have his amalgam tooth fillings melted out of his mouth during the hot days of last week. I am glad I am stationed at Fort Worth."

The Phoenix Gazette takes exception to the joke in a half column protest, and winds up by saying that Phoenix is enjoying the coolest summer had in years.

HEAVY RAIN CAUSES FLOODS, ONLY SLIGHT DAMAGE IS DONE

New Subway and Retaining Walls are Subjected to Severe Treats and Stand Strain Imposed on Them

The storm yesterday afternoon brought floods in the streets of the city which were reminiscent of worse times in the past. Brewery gulch and Review street formed a wide and swollen river at their junction, and much water also poured down Main and Subway streets from Tombstone canyon. Earlier in the day, about noon, water flowed down the gulch and Review street as a result of a rain up in the hills, while no rain had fallen in the city.

It was shortly before half past two yesterday afternoon when the black clouds which had been gathering and rolling up for hours opened and discharged a few big drops. There was a short cessation, and then the rain started and was soon falling in torrents. A few minutes later water commenced to run through the city streets and continued to rise for nearly an hour, although the heavy rain lasted for only about half of that time. From back of the postoffice came streams of black water, from up the Tombstone Canyon came a torrent, while, as stated, Brewery Gulch and Review street formed a raging river. Up Tombstone canyon a barn belonging to Emmet Finnerty was washed out and a hundred foot bulkhead went with it. Finnerty is foreman at the Czar, and was absent, but Mrs. Finnerty managed to save the horses. A shed back of the Copper Queen bars and a damaged building of the Moore Fuel company also went out.

Debris fills Gulch. Much debris was swept down the gulch. An immense iron sink came down and snapped the chain at the lower subway at the foot of Brewery gulch, whole cacti swam with the torrent, fully a cord of wood came down and a trunk rolled over and over, disgoring women's garments at every turn. During the height of the flood a flooring bobbed from side to side through Review street, and flight of steps followed, indicating that some old building had gone down above. The subway proved its capacity to fulfill the use for which it was intended in a flood which some pronounced as heavy as the rain of last year. Water came over Castle Rock just as it did then, and there was more debris in Brewery gulch, cacti and large boulders, than has been seen in years.

The subway and the new retaining walls, the recent city improvements, stood the severe test imposed on them perfectly, and showed no signs of damage. After the flood had subsided D. M. Hassler, acting street superintendent during the absence of Pat McCullough, looked all the work over thoroughly and found it uninjured and undamaged.

A private wall at Dr. Edmundson's was washed out underneath to a depth of three feet, and at Metz's place and near by private dry walls were damaged, but the city improvements went through intact.

In other sections. The rains of Wednesday and yesterday did considerable damage to dwelling houses all over the district, especially where there were flat roofs. At Judge Murphy's court at Lowell the water came through and soaked quite a number of court dockets and other legal papers which were on top of his desk.

In some dwellings the women were kicking harder than a Review subscriber does when he fails to get his copy of the morning paper.

A number of Mexicans were lined along the course of the waterway with ropes on Naco road catching the timbers for firewood.

At the county bridge by the gas plant the waters leaped over the bridge, but did no damage to the bridge or roadway.

Those lucky enough to own a yard was out removing the debris which was washed in by the rains, but all were in good humor and took their tasks as jokes.

ELECTRIC SHOCK KILLS JOHN KETON

John Keton met his death on the 500 level of the Holbrook shaft of the Copper Queen company yesterday afternoon as the result of coming in contact with an electric current.

The accident occurred about three o'clock yesterday afternoon. Keton was working in the Holbrook on the 500 level, and is said to have taken hold of a switch and received the shock which occasioned his death. Coroner High was at once notified and proceeded to the shaft, where he empaneled a jury to view the body and the inquest will be held at 6 o'clock tonight. It is said that the shock broke Keton's neck and fractured his skull at the base of the brain, death being instantaneous.

The deceased was well known and well liked in Bisbee, where he has resided for the past eight years. He was an old time miner, and came to this city from Sonora. Forty-eight years of age, he had spent most of his manhood in and about the mines and mining properties, and was considered an especially experienced man.

The deceased was a native of Texas, and unmarried. He leaves a brother, Matt Keton, and a sister, Mrs. Cowart, in Bisbee. Details of the funeral arrangements have not been perfected as yet.

LITTLE GOD OF LOVE IS RESPONSIBLE FOR VARIATIONS IN THE INCOME OF A DENTIST

Cupid has more to do with making the dentist's income an uncertain and variable quantity than any other single influence. A dentist who from the girlhood of Gladys Vanderbilt yearly received fat fees for keeping her teeth in order remarked recently with regret at the loss of this source of revenue after she became Countess Szechenyi.

"A dentist never knows," he added, "when marriage is going to rob him of one of his most profitable patients. I am proud that it has been my experience that persons who have come to me to have their work done always come back again if their teeth need attention--until Cupid comes in to upset my calculations."

"Whenever I hear of one of my patients planning a wedding I know that I am going to lose a patient or win a new one. The bride and bridegroom almost invariably go to the same dentist. From my standpoint it's a case of lose one or win both."

The element of uncertainty that such a condition provides makes the poor dentist uneasy at times about the size of future incomes.--Philadelphia Evening Telegraph.

SOUTHWEST WILL BEST TO TYPIFY COUNTRY

"I believe the Great Southwest some day in the near future will represent the bone and sinew of the country."

Thus spoke Herbert Kaufmann, editorial writer on several big eastern newspapers, upon the occasion of his visit to Bisbee one day this week.

"I am wonderfully impressed with this vast section of the United States about which so little is really known in the effort east," continued the speaker. "The western pioneer is a typical American. He is imbued with the spirit of those pioneer citizens who in the early days migrated westward through Kentucky and Missouri. They are state builders in every sense of the word, and laid the foundation in this section for the broad, liberal citizenship which exists today."

"In the densely populated eastern cities the horde of undesirable foreign element is congregating in sections by themselves. They are not progressive. They are for the most part tenement dwellers, and train by themselves, refusing to assimilate or to become imbued with the true American spirit. With the crowding in of this foreign element the energetic, pushing, ambitious American is turning his eye to this great southwest, so full of opportunity for the young men of this country."

Mr. Kaufmann was enthusiastic in his descriptions of the different sections of the southwest through which he had passed and his articles, which will reach millions of people, should prove a big advertisement for this section.
