THE BISBEE DAILY REVIEW.

TRY TO SUGAR COAT THE DOSE.

The republicans of Arizona are just now devoting much of their time to an attempt to put a sugar coat on the senate statehood bill so that it may become palatable to the citizens of the territory in case this humiliating measure shall finally be enacted. The republican party, without going far in opposition to the desire of the people of Arizona to have clean and intelligent elections insured by the educational qualification election law adopted by the last legislature, undertakes to lambast the democratic members of the legislature responsible for this law because they made this measure a party measure and had to force it to the statute books over two separate vetoes of Governor Kibbey. The republicans also give approval to that provision of the statehood bill which will give to President Taft and congress the right to approve or reject any constitution prepared and adopted by the people of Arizona and makes the threatening assertion that any objection to this humiliating provision on the part of the democrats may endanger the passage of any statehood bill at this session. The Republican, as the leading republican paper of the territory, and the accredited organ of the administration of Arizona, is devoting many columns of editorial space to excuse what it evidently sees is certain to be included in the statehood bill.

The democratic press of the territory has voiced the sentiment of the people of Arizona, regardless of political affiliation, in protesting against this unjust treatment of Arizona and its intelligent and patriotic citizenship shall endanger the passage of a statehood bill the democratic press will owe no apology for its acts. Arizona is entitled to the same treatment as has been accorded other territories at the time of their admission as states. The people of Arizona will form a constitution under any kind of a statehood bill that is passed and that constitution will be one in accord with and equal to the high class government which has been provided for the territory in the past; it will be a foundation for future government of the new state and should guarantee equal and exact justice to all for all time, one guaranteeing just rights and protection for capital invested in the development of the resources of this rich country and at the same time providing for protection of the citizen against monopoly of every character; a constitution providing for a government republican in form, patriotic in sentiment and not in conflict with the constitution of the United States or counter to the principles of the Declaration of Independence. If the Arizona constitution fills this measure it will be for its framers to say what else shall be provided; if the people of Arizona desire provisions of the Oklahoma constitution it is their business and any attempt to coerce them in any way should meet with resentment, though this resentment may cost us the present chance for self-government. Arizona will have the experience of all the old states in constitution making as a guide, including even Oklahoma, where the constitution so berated by President Taft, contains many admirable and desirable decisions. Whatever the statehood bill provides in regard to the constitution should not be allowed to have influence on our constitutional delegates when they come to decision as to what is desirable or undesirable as a basis for the future government of the new state.

If the statehood bill results in the humiliation of Arizona the responsibility for this humiliation will be on the republican party; the democrats in congress are ready to accord to Arizona the same statehood terms as have been granted territories taken into the union as states in the past. It is just that Arizona should have just and fair treatment and be allowed to form a constitution unhampered by any humiliating and embarrassing limitations which would afford the opportunity for threatening and coercing the members of the constitutional convention.

INDEPENDENT VOTING.

The fact that each political party has a ticket in the field during the approaching city campaign will not mean that all voters will follow their party affiliations in casting their ballots for the various candidates. Throughout the country every succeeding election shows that the number of independent voters are on the increase. In the approaching city election there can be no manipulation by party leaders in favor of any particular candidates, as under the new direct primary law the candidates will be chosen by the voters themselves. The democrats at large in the city will have the decision as to who is to lead the democratic ticket as candidate for mayor and the voters will say for themselves who shall be the democratic candidates for marshal, city clerk and street commissioner. The democratic voters in each ward will decide who shall represent the ward on the city council.

The direct primary election is a new feature of the Arizona election system and whether it will result in strengthening party loyalty on the part of the voter remains to be seen. It is intended to eliminate convention trading or manipulation which in the past has started many party sores which could not be healed before the date for the election. This feature would seem to point to increased party loyalty to candidates, but on the other hand comes any bitter fighting which might come up during the primary campaign which might cause a disturbance to party loyalty equally as much as did the old convention rows.

However, we take it that the majority of the voters in each ward and in the city at large will desire that the very best men obtainable shall have charge of the city government and that of those who offer themselves as candidates in the primaries the choice made by the majority will be satisfactory to all. Certain it is that the party securing the best personnel, as regards qualification for the offices, will have the advantage in the final election. There are many democrats and many republicans in Bisbee who will be bound by no nomination when it comes to voting for city officials, so that it behooves both parties to exercise extreme wisdom in lining up candidates for city election, candidates who will champion those things which are desired by the people and who can be depended upon and relied on to keep the city of Bisbee in the path of progress in the future as it has been kept in the past.

A DEMOCRATIC PARADISE.

There is nary a Republican in Limerdale, Indiana, if what the press reports say are true. Recently W. J. Steeg, who has been the postmaster at Limerdale for over thirty-two years, wanted to throw up his job. Steeg is a Democrat, yet despite that fact he has served postmaster prize certificates to be awarded every year. The judge who decided poker to be a game of skill, not of chance, either knows too much or too little of the game. Good roads are pushers of country trade. The Arizona Republican, leading republican paper of Arizona, whose editor has put his O. K. on the proposed senate statehood bill is hereby referred to a set of statehood resolutions adopted by a republican club in Douglas.

continues to hold the key to the mail bags. He was first appointed during the administration of President Hayes in the year 1873. Limerdale is a little village two miles south of Green-castle, the county seat of Putnam County, between two hundred and three hundred people get their mail at the Limerdale postoffice. Postmaster Steeg cast his first vote for Horace Greely when he was defeated by Grant, and he has since voted the Democratic ticket straight in every National, State and local election. He was a railroad man in 1874 when he was injured in a railroad accident. The accident rendered him a cripple. He had to have his leg amputated in 1903. Mr. Steeg is a great admirer of William Jennings Bryan, whose picture adorns the Limerdale postoffice. Passing through Limerdale on several occasions Mr. Bryan has always greeted Postmaster Steeg as one of his oldest acquaintances. Mr. Steeg's genial familiar face will be greatly missed by the residents of the country round who gather daily at the Limerdale postoffice to get their mail. He has won many friends during his term of office.—Ex.

The annulment of the Arizona election educational qualification law and the provisions regarding the great register required for the statehood elections will leave the bars down for election frauds in this territory which have never been possible before. The qualification requiring a one year residence in Arizona before one may cast a vote is a guard against the outwitting of voters for any special purpose. The statehood bill proposed by the senate reduces the required residence to six months. This change will not be welcomed in Arizona. In our opinion, but another provision of the statehood bill will make this more undesirable to those who want a guarantee of a square deal for all. Under the proposed senate bill the old great register of 1908 is to stand good and only those who are not on that register are to be registered for the statehood elections. The names of all those who have died or left the territory since the 1908 register was made up will remain on the register to be possibly used by floaters in the elections required by the statehood bill. So far as we can see there is nothing in the statehood bill providing for the elimination of the names of the dead and absent from the 1908 register. This will leave the register filled with the names which may be utilized by the floaters should they be required or desired by either party or any of the candidates during the preliminaries for statehood. It is to be very much regretted that the senate did not allow the Hamilton statehood bill to stand as it passed the house. If the senate bill passes it should be at a heavy cost to the republican party in both Arizona and New Mexico.

From all reports the cattle industry in southern Arizona is enjoying greater prosperity than ever before. Ranges are reported to be in excellent condition and cattle are reasonably sure of ample grass to carry them safely until the beginning of the summer rains. Not only are the cattle in fine condition but the prices being offered for them are better than for many years. Many cattle have already been disposed for the spring delivery at most satisfactory prices. Yearlings have sold readily for sixteen dollars and in some cases seventeen dollars have been paid for this age.

Brighter days are dawning for democrats. The unity movement put afloat by Messrs. Burns and Hampton is everywhere meeting its reward in the reorganization of the several county committees and their expressed determination to work together for the good of all concerned.

The profits from the Krupp gun works for 1909 were merely $4,009,000 and yet the Nobel peace prize continues to be awarded every year.

The judge who decided poker to be a game of skill, not of chance, either knows too much or too little of the game.

Additional Mining.

MORROW & CHAMBERLAIN (Paradise Record.)

As a result of the coming of Frank S. Hayward of Morrow & Chamberlain, accompanied by Aldon H. Brown, the Denver mining engineer, who made a thorough examination of the property, preparations for more extensive operations on this group at once are being made, and the camp is becoming a hot livelier.

For the present, eight men are to be employed, two working on the company's lead showing elsewhere on the property, and six in two shifts in the shaft. The force will be increased, it is announced, as soon as circumstances will permit.

In all probability, the present shaft, which is about 160 feet deep, will not be used as a working shaft, but a new and larger one, better adapted to the machinery it is proposed to install, will be sunk later at some point nearby yet to be chosen. However, it has been decided to continue sinking the present shaft until a depth of 200 feet is reached, and then crosscut both north and south.

H. S. Chamberlain and F. S. Hayward went to Douglas and Bisbee the first of the week to purchase lumber and other supplies for the company; and in a day or two, or as soon as these supplies are received, the three shifts will be put to work. Among those who will go to work for the company are Arch Robertson and C. E. Savage, of Silver City, N. M., who are already here, having come in response to a wire sent by Supt. Morrow, who knows them to be excellent miners.

Machinery has not been ordered yet—in fact, the company will not be ready for machinery for some time for the reason stated above. But Mr. Chamberlain states that the matter has been taken up by the Hayward and installation will be made in due time. He further states that the affairs of the company are in good shape and that active work on the property may now be expected.

The company is now doing business as the "Nebraska & Arizona Copper company."

C. & P. Another carload of mining timber has arrived at Rodeo for the C. & P. company, and the lumber is being hauled as fast as possible from the depot to the property, which is located a quarter of a mile southwest of town. The first load was hauled to the property Tuesday, and it is thought that the hauling will be completed by the last of the week. This lumber will be sufficient, Supt. Richards thinks, to complete the timbering of the shaft, collar the shaft, and erect the gallows frame.

On completion of this work, which is expected to require about four weeks' time, the company will be prepared to install the machinery that is now on the ground.

GREENE-CANANEA COPPER CO.

BOSTON, Feb. 12.—The year 1910 was inaugurated by the Greene-Cananea Copper Co. with a January production of 1750 tons of billion as compared with 1826 tons in December. The output of 3,500,000 pounds of copper compares with 2,652,000 pounds in December.

On January 31 there was completed the nineteenth month of operations of the Greene property under the management of the Cole-Ryan interests during which period there has been produced a total of 67,065,000 pounds of copper, 2,354,388 ounces of silver and 8406 ounces of gold. In comparing January figures with the corresponding month a year ago and the preceding month the company's production has been as follows:

Jan. '09 5,848,000 558 89,495

Dec. '09 2,652,000 475 74,697

Jan. '10 3,500,000 464 85,132

19 mos 67,065,000 9,406 2,254,388

Heretofore the annual meetings of the Greene-Cananea Copper Co. and its principal subsidiaries—the Greene Consolidated Copper Co. and Cananea Central—have been held in March, but this year they will not be held until June, so that in compiling the annual reports for the fiscal year ended December 31 the exact figures for the 12 months' period will be available and the necessity for making estimates for the closing months will be obviated.

In the absence of the company's annual report it is interesting to note from a paper prepared by L. D. Richards, in charge of operations, that the net smelting cost for the first six months of 1909 was $1.76 a ton.

NORTH TIGRE REPORT ROSEATE

The North Tigre mining company is making rapid but consistent progress toward a producer. There have been about 2800 feet of development work done upon the property consisting of four tunnels driven upon the vein and winzes connecting them 200 feet apart. It is estimated by the management that 2100 tons of ore have been located and that with the expenditure of $15,000 at less $400,000 worth of pay dirt is in sight making an average of 75 cents a ton. All four of the tunnels are now being driven in ore and the best ore is to be found in No. 10 the lowest one now being worked.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors it was decided that the present condition of the mine was such that they should begin at once an investigation of the metallurgical problem for treating the ores, with a view to determining the most economical method, with the greatest extraction at the least possible cost. As soon as this is definitely determined their intention is to install a mill fifty tons capacity per day. The idea will be to arrange the building of the mill so that it can be increased to 100 tons capacity on the power which will be installed to run the 50 ton mill, as soon as conditions at the mine will justify it. It was further decided by the board of directors to start a cross-cut lower down the mountain side which, 350 feet in length will cut the vein 300 feet deeper than the present adve tunnel. This crosscut will show what the vein and values are at that depth and it is planned to make this the main and permanent working tunnel of the mine.

CHILDREN'S HOME PROSPERING.

(Douglas International.)

Mrs. E. C. Carlisle, of Los Angeles, representing the Children's Home society of that city, has been in the city for several days, stopping at the home of Mrs. U. L. Jones on 14th St. Mrs. Carlisle left this morning for the east, and will return by the Southern Pacific to Los Angeles. As the Home's representative for southern Arizona she has placed a number of homeless children in homes of childless people. Mrs. Jones, with whom Mrs. Carlisle has been stopping, has one of the babes, having taken it something over a year and a half ago, and Mrs. Carlisle says it is being cared for and loved as if it were her very own. There is no work that is being done that is wrought with so much good to the state as that of caring for its future citizens who happen to be deprived of their natural protectors.

The little orphans found in the big cities are sent to homes of childless people who wish to take them and care for them, who will educate them and bring them up as good citizens, and this society is especially anxious to find homes in the country for these children because there they can grow up into manhood and womanhood in the very best environment that can be had.

This society not only finds homes for homeless children, but they visit these homes every six months and see that the child placed there is well treated, and if it is not, it is taken away from the would-be parents, and given to some one who will love and tenderly care for it. The society also have the power to take children from parents who are cruel to them and give them into homes who will be good to them. The law of the state cannot afford to allow its future citizens to be mistreated by parents who neither know or have any appreciation of the love of an innocent child.

Mrs. Carlisle will visit Douglas often as she is hunting homes all over this territory, and will be glad to meet anyone who wants a babe or child and can give it a home and real care.

THE CLOCK WILL TICK IT AWAY

By Nixon Waterman.

Mid the many tasks the years impose
Come hither and blissful times,
And strewn through a world of rustic prose
Are ripples of rustic rhymes.
But the joys we deem the dearest seem
The shortest in their stay.
For we never can greet a day so sweet
But the clock will tick it away,
away,
The clock will tick it away.
