

FINAL ACTION ON PROPOSED MERGER SOON

C. & A. and S. & P. Stockholders Will Shortly Decide Whether To Consolidate or Not

DIRECTORS ARE HERE
READY FOR ACTION

Report of Examiners In Hands of Officials Who Favor Operating as One

Within a short time it will be announced whether or not the C. & A. properties and the S. & P. properties are to be consolidated. The directors of both companies or a vast majority of them are in Bisbee at present and yesterday they inspected the Junction and Hoatson shafts. The party consists of Col. T. F. Ryan, of Duluth, Minn., identified with the Cole-Ryan syndicate, Charles Brice, of Calumet, who is president of both the C. & A. and S. & P. companies, Captain James Hoatson, of Calumet, Charles D'Aubremont, of Duluth, and Thomas Hoatson, of Calumet.

It is known that the directors of both companies are heartily in favor of the merger, but it remains with the stockholders to state whether or not the properties shall be merged. Matters have reached such a conclusion that within the next few days the stockholders will be asked to decide whether or not a merger shall be effected.

For sometime past Dr. Ricketts, of Cananea, and James Douglas, Jr., of Douglas, have been examining the properties with a view of giving the directors of the company an idea as to what basis the proposed consolidation should be made. Their report is now complete and in the hands of the directors. It will soon go to the stockholders, it is believed, for them to see that the basis the directors may recommend is an equitable one.

Captain John Greenway, general manager of the C. & A. properties, was interviewed at his residence in the Warren district by a Review representative last evening. He stated that he was not aware when the stockholders would be called together to decide whether or not the consolidation should go through. He admitted that the directors of the companies were here at present to have the matter determined and that a decision would be made shortly. He also admitted that the report of Dr. Ricketts, and Mr. Douglas, was in the hands of the directors.

"In securing the services of Messrs. Ricketts and Douglas," said Mr. Greenway, "the directors of the companies decided upon a very practicable thing. Neither of the examiners have any interest in the properties and the reports are bound to be unbiased and a result of the examination of exact conditions. Both Messrs. Ricketts and Douglas are among the leading experts of the mineral world in this section. Dr. Ricketts, I believe, is the dean of them all."

"There are many favorable reasons while the properties should be merged. The directorate of both companies is practically the same and they are in favor of the consolidation."

"Would you say that the consolidation as assured?" asked the Review man.

"I would not. It is up to the stockholders to decide," replied Mr. Greenway.

"On what basis is the consolidation to be effected to the present plans?" he was asked.

"That I do not know," he replied.

For the past several months the mining world has been anxiously awaiting the outcome of the present status of affairs between the C. & A. and S. & P. companies and in many quarters it was viewed with great favor. It is reported that the stockholders of the S. & P. are to be offered one share in the consolidation for every five shares of S. & P. This is said to have created much dissatisfaction among the S. & P. stockholders and that the proposition would be turned. They are in favor of one share of consolidated stock for every two shares of S. & P. It is said.

However, it is said to be pretty much of an accepted fact that the consolidation will be effected, although not on the terms stated above.

WINSOR'S PROPOSITION IS THE ACME OF RADICALISM

Yuma Delegate Would Make Initiative and Referendum Only Effective in Counties Where It Is Wanted

PHOENIX, Oct. 27.—(Special)—Early in the campaign for the election of delegates to the constitutional convention there were some unique propositions offered the voters, but the radical of these fell on the barren ground. There was a general demand for the initiative and referendum the details of which were worked out later, but the scheme now being urged in the legislative committee by Winsor, of Yuma, is the acme of radicalism. Winsor wants a proposition to prevail, and he has some following, which would authorize the initiating of measures in separate counties applicable to the counties where proposed. He would have, by way of illustration, highway robbery a felony in Maricopa county and yet it would be possible, if the voters so declared their initiative and referendum, a misdemeanor in Pima or Cochise county. It might, under his scheme, be a crime to gamble in Yavapai county and no crime in Yuma.

It is this suggestion that is staying progress on the legislative committee and has held up the report on the initiative and referendum proposition. At any time now it may be brought on the floor of the convention and the only certain thing in connection with it all is that there will be two reports, one supporting and one opposing.

Prohibition will the main issue in the convention the remainder of the week and the advocates of state wide prohibition are arraying their forces and arguments for presentation at the public hearing before the committee on separate submission tomorrow afternoon. The prohibitionists have about given up hope of having state wide issue submitted to the people at an election for the ratification of the constitution and now they are devoting their efforts to make the initiative and referendum applicable to counties as well as to state and incorporated municipalities. It is generally recognized that if it does not apply to counties it will be impossible to vote a county "dry" and the present local option law which segregates cities from the remainder of counties will continue effective. At the public hearing tomorrow local ministers and Anti-Saloon league officials will speak. A large attendance is expected.

Very little progress was made by the convention today, a half dozen unimportant measures being introduced. The committee on the executive department may report on the recall provision tomorrow, leaving the percentage to the convention. A majority of members favor 25 per cent for the recall.

CHRISTIAN WORKERS MEET IN TORONTO

TWO THOUSAND DELEGATES REPRESENT HALF A MILLION MEMBERS OF Y. M. C. A.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 27.—Two thousand delegates representing 500,000 members of the Young Men's Christian Associations of North America are in Toronto in readiness for the opening tomorrow of the thirty-seventh international convention of the organization. It is the first time in a quarter of a century that the international convention has met in Canada and as a consequence the gathering has aroused great interest throughout the Dominion. During the three days' session many important questions of policy will be discussed, reports showing the progress of the religious, educational and other activities of the association will be considered, and addresses will be delivered by a number of men of wide reputation.

As a preliminary to the opening of the convention proper several important conferences and committee meetings were held today. At the King Edward hotel a conference was held to consider industrial and immigration problems. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, John R. Mott and other men of prominence addressed the meeting.

Proposed changes in the methods of religious work will receive much attention from the convention this year. Plans for broadening the educational work of the association will also be exhaustively discussed, and the work of the junior department and of the college and railroad branches will be reviewed at length.

A matter that is likely to incite a lively discussion in the convention is a resolution prepared by a number of the Pacific coast associations asking that the plan of governing the international organization be changed so as to give the smaller associations a voice in the management of affairs. It is claimed that under the present method the control is vested in the larger associations which have the most delegates in the triennial convention. It is asked by the associations of Seattle, Portland, Tacoma, Vancouver, Victoria, San Francisco, Spokane, and other far Western cities that the initiative and referendum be substituted so that all associations may have the privilege of voting on important matters affecting the policy of the organization.

REPORT IS DENIED
MEXICO CITY, Oct. 27.—The Acapulco correspondent of the Mexican Herald in a telegram received late this afternoon, denied any arrests of persons suspected of being the Times dynamiters had been made there.

TEXAS TRIBUTE TO MEMORY OF GENERAL HOOD

Pretty And Impressive Ceremonies Are Held At State Capitol In Austin Yesterday By Loyal Veterans

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 27.—A magnificent monument to General John B. Hood, a tribute to the memory of the famous Confederate leader from the people of Texas, was unveiled today in the grounds of the state capitol. Governor Thomas M. Campbell and other prominent citizens of Texas, together with many of the veterans who served under Gen. Hood, attended the ceremonies of dedication.

The unveiling of the monument was the principal feature of the thirty-ninth annual reunion of Hood's Texas brigade, which has been holding its sessions here the past two days. Nearly all of the survivors of the brigade were in attendance, some of them coming from distant parts of the country to attend the ceremony.

A parade to the scene of the day's ceremony began shortly after 9 o'clock this morning. The procession formed at the corner of Congress avenue and Fifth street and moved north on Congress avenue to the Capitol. In line were many Confederate veterans Governor Campbell and his staff, the local military organizations, the faculty and students of the University of Texas, and the children of the public schools.

Arriving at the monument a vast concourse of people was assembled. The exercises were opened with music, followed by prayer by the chaplain and an introductory address by Gen. William R. Hamby, president of Hood's Texas Brigade association. Following the unveiling of the monument the speech of presentation was made by Hon. John H. Kirby of Houston. Governor Campbell in an address in which glowing tribute was paid to Gen. Hood and the soldiers of the Confederacy, accepted the memorial in behalf of the State of Texas.

The monument was erected at a cost of $50,000, which was raised by public subscription. It is a shaft design, standing at a height of nearly fifty feet, surmounted by a life-size statue of Gen. Hood. The base is about 16 feet square and the die is 4 feet 8 inches square.

On the face of the die is inscribed the formation of the brigade, showing the names of the several regiments, which are as follows: First, Fourth and Fifth Texas, Third Arkansas, Eighteenth Georgia and Hampton's Legion.

On the different faces of the die are also inscribed the names of some of the leading battles in which the brigade took part, including Seven Pines, Gaines Mill, Second Manassas, Sharpsburg, Fredericksburg, Gettysburg, Chickamauga, Knoxville, the Wilderness, Spotsylvania, Cold Harbor and Appomattox.

The battle flag of the Confederacy and the Cross of Flag of the brigade and other appropriate inscriptions are included in the design. The base and shaft are of finest Georgia marble.

PARKER MAKES WARM ATTACK ON ROOSEVELT

Declares Failure of Theories Causes Him to Favor Reduction of People's Power

INCONSISTENCY OF T. R. IS EXPOSED

Says He Displays Utter Disregard For Law and Constitution of Government

OGDENSBURG, N. Y., Oct. 27.—Judge Alton B. Parker, in his speech here tonight, dwelt upon what he styled as Theodore Roosevelt's utter disregard for the constitution and law. Having in mind the colonel's present upstate tour he said:

"Roosevelt feels that the government laws should give way to the government of strong men, so he begins to open a campaign for what he calls 'new nationalism,' with the excuse as steward of the people's welfare, with congress and the judiciary subordinate instead of co-ordinate departments of the government and the national government in possession of powers now enjoyed by the people of the states.

"The plea of necessity for this evolution, he says, in a large part, is upon the failure of the government, so far, to hear the protest of the people from the combinations that restrain trade. He says, and next they come to state, we must have a strong man to regulate them. May I disagree a moment to say that we witnessed what strong men may do? The colonel, as president, gave his consent to the absorption of the Tennessee and Iron company by the United States Steel corporation.

"Let us test the sincerity of his argument. In his speech of acceptance in 1904, he demanded more statute law to enable him to reach these trusts and great railroad corporations. I answered then that there was law enough now. What was needed was enforcement. Senator Foraker had taken pains to prove from the records of the attorney general's office that we did have law enough and further that the Hepburn bill will serve no more useful purpose than to give appearance in support of the president's contention of insufficient law. Again we are being informed by the supreme court that the Sherman anti-trust act is a criminal statute and chose not to enforce it, but bring spectacular civil suits instead.

"To relieve himself from public consequence, because more organizations that prevent competition came into existence during his presidency than all other times in the history of the country, he entered upon a tirade against courts which he still continues.

"But will he succeed substituting a government by strong men for government by law? The signs of the times indicate not. The patriotism of the people is being aroused and partisanship is being brushed aside in the presence of danger. It is ballots and bullets when the constitution of the United States attacks the name, while it is ballots and bullets if the foe is foreign."

MARKET ONCE MORE STRIKES FOR ADVANCE

Influences That Started to Rise in Prices Resume Operations and Improvement Follows

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Resumption of operations for an advance in prices of stocks today was credited to the same speculative forces that were active in its inception. The prestige of this supposed leadership had an important effect on the rank and file of professional traders in stocks and they were included to follow movement. Their operations centered in United States Steel, Union Pacific and Reading, with a notable supplement in American Smelting. United States Steel made a new high level for the movement at 80, but staggering under burden of realizing sales at that price caused a reaction, which made the closing more irregular.

The cheerful speculation sentiment had its incentive in the report that the Bank of England's discount rate had decreased to 5 per cent. Besides the Bank of England's action, the Union Pacific annual report and the increase in the dividend in the Consolidated Gas dividend rate were supplementary influences on the rise in stocks. The disclosure in the Union Pacific report of its sale of its Atchison holdings was regarded as the strengthening company's status of non-control of competing lines. A corresponding increase in holdings of the New York Central and Chicago & Northwestern was a strengthening influence on these stocks. Union Pacific was affected by the consideration from a broad margin over the dividend requirements of its year's earnings.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales at par value reached $2,487,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

FORGE CHECKS TO PAY CUPID'S BILL

TWO GLOBE YOUNG MEN RAISE $137. BUT LAND BEHIND THE BARS

GLOBE, Oct. 27.—Admitting that they passed bogus checks to obtain funds on which to get married, Virgil Hayes and Dave Smith, young men well known here are in jail charged with forgery. Hayes and Smith were arrested at Miami near here, last night, a short time before they were to have married two sisters.

Today both made a complete confession of guilt, the officers claim. Three saloons were victimized to the aggregate amount of $137. The young men worked boldly and made no attempt to leave the district. Hayes is the son of a well known cattle man and has been in trouble on former occasions.

BATTLE WITH GALE IS LOST BY AVIATORS

Hoxey and Johnstone Wright Pupils Try for Altitude Record, But Make Distance Mark Instead

ONE IS BLOWN 55 MILES FROM FIELD

Special Prize of $10,000 Fails To Enliven Birdmen In Rough Weather

NEW YORK, Oct. 27.—Such were the caprices of the October weather that when Ralph Johnstone and Arch Hoxey, the Wright team of aviators, went for an altitude record at Belmont park this afternoon, they brought down the record for the day for distance instead. The fifth day of the international aviation meet opened full of promise and closed with a howling "wester" that filled the air with whirling autumn leaves, slammed down benches at the grand stand, ripped out canvas screens and sent such a skir-mish-like dust dancing around the track that lamps had to be lighted outside the hangars for the mechanics to find their way about.

Officially the flights for the Gordon Bennett elimination trials, to pick an American team to defend the international trophy, opened at 9 a. m. but no body cared come out for them with the wind blowing. At 1:30 P. M. a special price of $10,000 was offered by Thomas F. Ryan, for a flight from the field to the Statue of Liberty and return, open to any aviator, but none dared to try.

The program narrowed down to one hourly event for distance and altitude. Latham in the Antoinette, for distance and Hoxey and Johnstone for altitude were the only ones to brave the gale from 20 to 25 miles an hour.

Johnstone and Hoxey tried to set their wings to soar into the gale without effort, but it showed that the way the eagle remains in the air is still one of the things men do not understand. They kept their poise beautifully but although the speed of the biplane was flying normally at 35 miles an hour, the engines were running wide open and the men were pushed steadily back several miles of course. Word came from Hoxey that he landed safely at Brentwood, 25 miles distant. Johnstone was carried 55 miles to Middle Island village on Long Island.

GRAND JURY LAYS TRUE BILL BASIS

TIMES EXPLOSION CASE IS DEVOTED TO PROOF THAT 21 WERE KILLED

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 27.—Thirty witnesses were examined today before the special grand jury on the Times explosion, most of them to establish the fact that twenty-one died. William Mulholland, chief engineer of the aqueduct, and W. S. Crabb, foreman of the composing room, gave testimony in line with the previous investigation, that it was the result of a dynamite explosion. The ground work laid by the two is expected to be built upon by an indictment after the testimony of witnesses to be brought from Frisco. The jury meets again tomorrow, but it is not expected the northern witnesses will be called until next week.

Charles Weir, foreman of the jury, indignantly denied that threats had been received by any member. This was published by one paper.

FORTUNE AND MEN GONE.

SEATTLE, Oct. 27.—The 35-ton gasoline schooner "Maru Sachs" from Kotzebue Sound for Seattle carrying beside her crew two parties of fourteen miners from the Squirrel River diggings with $70,000 gold dust is 23 days overdue at Nome and is believed to have gone down with all on board. Violent storms raged since the voyage. The schooner was owned by H. O. Greenberg, a Nome mining operator.
