WOLGAST HOLDS TITLE AGAINST FRANKIE BURNS

Bloody Battle Ends in Sixteenth Round When Burns Is Unable to Continue.

CROWD YELLS FOR THE FIGHT TO BE STOPPED

Burns Shows Surprising Going Qualities, but His Seconds Save Him from Knockout

ARENA, San Francisco, May 27.—Champion Ad Wolgast gave Frankie Burns of Oakland such an unmerciful beating in their scheduled 20 round fight that the challengers and seconds mercifully intervened at the beginning of the seventeenth round and threw a towel into the ring, acknowledging defeat.

It was a furious battle throughout and characterized chiefly by Burns' ability to stave off inevitable defeat which seemed imminent in many of the preceding rounds.

Although constantly under terrific fire and with blood flowing from his nostrils and mouth, Burns never lost his head and fought back so stoutly that one time it looked as if he would turn the tide and capture the championship.

Appeal to Stop It.

In the 16th round Wolgast cut loose like a tiger and so, terribly did he punish his man that the crowd all most to a man arose and impudently demanded to stop the contest. Walsh remained obstinate, but Burns' handlers, realizing the hopelessness of permitting their charge to combat further, tossed the towel into the ring and Wolgast was proclaimed the winner.

Burns Opens Strong.

Round 1.—Burns at once began to feel the champion out, shooting a volley of light lefts to the head. Wolgast merely shook his head, running the Oaklander against the ropes, flaring him with right and left swings to the head. Temporary lull in fighting with fighters grinning at each other. Burns assumed his turtle like crouch, then lifted the champion clear off his feet with a terrible left to the jaw with a short snappy left hand hook and Wolgast was very much surprised. The crowd yelled encouragingly at Burns and the round ended without damage to either fighter.

Wolgast Draws Blood.

Round 2.—Wolgast slanted his man about the time, but Burns flung a left twice solidly to jaw and covered the champion, battering his defense. Burns scored lightly twice with short arm lefts to face. Wolgast sought to make Burns "open up" but he, backing against the ropes, refused to do so. Wolgast drove two hard rights to kidneys and fiercely uppercut his man off the nose with right and left, starting the blood flowing in a stream. Wolgast danced merrily and smugly to his corner while Burns took his seat with his face literally smeared in blood. Wolgast's round by a big margin.

Wolgast's Advantage.

Round 3.—Burns' nostrils were still bleeding. Wolgast cornered the Oaklander and fairly smothered him with short arm punches aimed at the face, most of them landing. Wolgast starved his man with a straight left, but Burns came back with two left stinging "face punches. Burns followed this right and left to face and Wolgast wilted momentarily. The round ended with Burns face still a mass of blood. Wolgast had the advantage.

Burns Mixes It.

Round 4.—Burns sent a wicked left to the face that sent the champion's head back. For the moment Wolgast fought back like a mad steer and landed telling punches to the face at close range. Burns, his nose swollen to three times its normal size, battled back gamely. Wolgast rushed his man from one end of the ring to the other, beating a tattoo on the Oaklander's bleeding face. "Stop it, stop it," the spectators yelled. Burns then electrified the crowd by running and landing several lefts and rights on the face before the gong ended the slugging. Wolgast's round.

Cuts Wolgast's Mouth.

Round 5.—After a half minute's ineffectual sparring, during which Wolgast tried time and again to land a knock-out blow, the champion almost sent Burns out of the ring. More by sheer force of his weight, however, than his punches. Burns came back, crouching almost to his knees, and they mixed it in mid-ring fighting desperately head to head. Burns cut Wolgast's mouth

GATES HANDS OUT BOQUETS TO CARNEGIE

Tells How Canny Scot Refused to Be Bound by "Gentlemen's Agreement"

HISTORY OF TRUST IS BARED BY MAGNATE

Frankly Admits Idea of Corporation Was to Freeze Out All Competition

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 27.—John W. Gates told the house "steel trust" investigating committee today a history of the United States Steel Corporation. He was present at its birth, and described how it was the natural outcome of what he described as a refusal of Andrew Carnegie to be bound by the gentlemen's agreement that marked the early days of open competition in the steel business.

Juggling in Stock.

He also told of the millions lost and created almost in a breath, how the Carnegie mills were appraised at $160,000,000 and were reorganized and made worth $220,000,000 almost within the time required to make the transfer to the corporation. He told of the clash in the formative days when Rockefeller was dissuaded from joining in the creation of the corporation and the manner in which Carnegie was prevented from engaging in the steel trade.

Relating how Carnegie had been forced to abandon his plans for extending the steel business, Gates frankly admitted that the combination was formed to throttle competition, that when Rockefeller sought to enter the steel business a deal was put through which forced him to sell out at forty cents on the dollar.

"Bull in a China Shop."

Charging that Carnegie was a "bull in a China shop," Gates told of a midnight conference between himself, Schwab and Morgan at which the steel corporation was conceived and how it resulted in Carnegie getting $320,000,000 in corporation securities for steel interests for which he was formally offered $160,000,000 cash.

Gates also told the committee of the taking over of the Tennessee Coal & Iron company by the steel corporation in the panic of 1907, a deal in which he was interested as a stockholder of the Tennessee company.

"This," he said, "turned the transactions carried out by Mr. Morgan and other financial leaders to save the Trust Company of America, which was threatened in a financial imbroglio because it had loaned too much money on the stock of the Tennessee company.

The plans made by Carnegie in 1899 and 1900 to circle his steel interests with a railroad of his own and to create the National Tube company, organized by Morgan, by the erection of tube works at Ashtabula, Ohio, were factors that led to the birth of the steel combine.

Reports from Torreon received by the Chinese legation say the number of dead in the massacre of May 18 was 238. Most of the victims were comparatively poor. Those surviving found difficulty in supplying themselves with food. The Chinese reform association of the capital today open subscription lists for funds for the aid of their countrymen. The claims of Japan are based on the death of seven Japanese in Torreon.

forman clear off his feet. The round ended with a smile on the champion's face, Burns looking serious. "He caught me that time," said Wolgast, as he took his chair, "but I'm not hurt in the least."

Puts Up Game Fight

Round 9.—The champion as usual forced matters and Burns was soon hanging to the ropes. The Oaklander fought back viciously and they fought shoulder to shoulder in the center of the ring, each landing several times to the other's face and head. Burns was putting up a game fight and he was cheered again and again when he went to his corner.

Wolgast Presses Things

Round 10.—Burns took the fighting to the champion and they immediately locked arms. Wolgast straightened his man out with two right uppercuts to the jaw and Burns retaliated with right and left jolts to the jaw. Again they embraced, during which Burns' arm cut twice with right to face. Wolgast was not far behind more than eyes up matter a similar dose. Wolgast

Knocks Burns to Ropes

Round 11.—Wolgast drove a left hook to the stomach and sent Burns at a knock-out blow, the champion almost sent Burns out of the ring. More by sheer force of his weight, however, than his punches. Burns came back, crouching almost to his knees, and they mixed it in mid-ring fighting desperately head to head. Burns cut Wolgast's mouth

DIAZ FIGHTS INSURRECTOS; 20 ARE KILLED

Aged Ruler Gets Off Train Held Up by Rebels and Engages in the Battle

MACHINE GUNS ARE BROUGHT INTO USE

Trains to Vera Cruz Halted and Rebels Open Fire, Which Diaz Repulses

VERA CRUZ, May 27.—Gen. Diaz himself took command of the federal soldiers who repulsed a large force of rebels while the former president of Mexico was on his way from Mexico City to Vera Cruz. The latest estimates place the number of rebel dead at 20. The number of wounded is unknown.

The attack on the train on which Diaz was traveling and the escorting trains occurred at Tepic, Jalisco. With Diaz at the time was Senora Diaz, Col. Porfirio Diaz, his son, and family. The trains proceeding slowly with a pilot engine in the lead. The military train was ahead, then the president's special. All trains were wrecked and a repair of the trains was necessary.

Use Rapid Fire Guns.

The rebels came into the open as the trains approached Tepic. They numbered 500 and began a fierce attack. The federals, once detrained, used their rapid fire guns. Diaz ordered his special car to proceed rearward and as it grew up alighted with a pistol in his hand and ran forward to aid his defenders.

The federals' quick action with the rapid fire guns took the rebels by surprise and they were soon in full retreat. The trains then proceeded at high speed.

No Demonstrations.

The arrival here of Diaz was received in silence. Neither cheers nor hisses greeted the man who held power in Mexico for so many years. Diaz was met by J. B. Body, to whose home he hastened.

At the flagstaff of this mansion the British flag is flying. Diaz will be a passenger on the Hamburg-American steamer Ypiranga, which sails for Spain on May 31, by way of Havana.

The health of the former president appears to be greatly improved. Diplomats estimate that the war cost will not be less than $20,000,000 gold, that perhaps one-tenth of this was done to damages sustained by foreigners. Half of this amount, it is said on high authority, is lost suffered by Americans.

Chinese Claims Big.

In their legations, foreigners have already begun arranging their claims. The claims of China will be remarkable for the number of individuals demanding indemnity. Almost all of these come from Sonora and Coahuila, where Chinese were victims of mobs.

Reports from Torreon received by the Chinese legation say the number of dead in the massacre of May 18 was 238. Most of the victims were comparatively poor. Those surviving found difficulty in supplying themselves with food. The Chinese reform association of the capital today open subscription lists for funds for the aid of their countrymen. REIGN OF TERROR AT CANANEA; MANY FLEE FROM CITY; ARNOLD IS JAILED

ONE KILLED; 3 HURT IN RACE

Auto Race in Denver Is Brought to Tragic Ending by Cars Turning Turtle

ROBERT BEAN IS KILLED

DENVER, Colo., May 27.—Two motor cars in the 200 mile Memorial Day race turned turtle in the three mile motor course at Sable, ten miles east of here, today, killing one man and injuring three. Robert W. Bean, aged 24, of Detroit, was crushed to death beneath his car. The injured are:

Otto E. Manglits of Denver, two ribs broken and internal injuries.

Lee Bert Roberts of Denver, badly bruised.

Harry Ball, one of the youngest professional motor drivers, who last year won the Denver-Cheyenne race. Manglits, his mechanic, was the most seriously injured of the three.

Roberts, acting as Bean's mechanic, was thrown clear off the car.

The accident was most peculiar. Bean, driving a Studebaker car, was running at fifty miles an hour when the car veered to the right. His efforts to right the machine swung it around and it shot off the court, into a field to the left.

Both cars leaped into the air and struck the soft earth and turned over, where they lay masses of wreckage over 100 yards apart.

$90,000 FIRE LOSS TO BUSINESS HOUSES YESTERDAY MORNING

Kitts and Sons Dry Goods Company Loses $65,000 When Block Is Burned

ODD FELLOWS' LOSS SMALL

TUCSON, Ariz., May 27.—The loss in a fire which destroyed the Odd Fellows' hall at an early hour this morning is $90,000. Kitts & Sons Dry Goods company's loss is $65,000. C. A. Schrader, owner of the building, lost $18,500. The Odd Fellows lost $3,000, and other lodges $2000 all partially covered by insurance.

The origin of the fire is still a mystery. The walls of the building were pulled down today. Kitts & Sons will order a new stock and secure temporary quarters. Schrader will rebuild at once.

The stock of the Kitts & Sons' branch at Benson was recently put in the store here, making the heaviest stock ever carried.

Lack of water pressure on account of a broken pump was the chief cause of the heavy loss.

WILL NOT VISIT MEXICO

Wolcott arrived Saturday to spend a short time with her parents and after a short rest she will go to Chicago, where she will take an advanced course in the study of music. She will have charge of a department of music in the Douglas public schools next year.

William B. Cleary, Jr., was among the arrivals from Bisbee this week and will remain in Tombstone for a week or two as the guest of Col. H. L. Pickett.

Mrs. J. Brewer left last Thursday for Gallup, New Mexico, where she went to join her husband, who recently located in that city.

FEDERALS ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP ARMY OF CABRAL IN BARRACKS

Anarchy in Big Camp Follows Cunning Plot of Diaz Sympathizers and Half Hundred Prominent Citizens Are Thrown in Jail, While Nearly All Others Are in Flight--Cabral Unable to Control His Men--Violence is Feared.

TUCSON, Ariz., May 27.—Anarchy and a reign of terror rules Cananea, according to refugees flocking hither on horseback, afoot and aboard trains. Forty-nine of the most prominent men in the mining town are in prison, and nearly all others are in flight.

Juan Cabral, the insurrecto leader, the refugees assert, is entirely unable to control his men.

According to Colonel Francisco Velasquez, provisional ruler of Altar, the men are under arrest charged with having participated in a plot to blow up the town and kill Cabral's whole army.

Velasquez, who arrived here today, declared that Mayor Arnold is among those arrested charged with having connected the wires leading to a clock in the municipal building connected with devices to which were attached 2,000 pounds of dynamite, placed in the barracks of the insurrecto soldiers. Arnold is said to have returned to the town since his recent departure.

None of the judges or other officials of Cananea are allowed to perform the functions of their offices, according to other refugees.

Velasquez also confirms the report that seven rebels of Lower California were executed at Altar. The men had a letter from Madero at Juarez, but are alleged to have been caught in acts of brigandage. The prefect said that all Lower California rebels would be so dealt with.

OFFICIALS BUTCHERED IN DURANGO AND CHIHUAHUA

Commander Urkina Defies Madero and Declares He Will Himself Dictate Terms of Peace in His District People Face Starvation

PARRAL, May 25, via El Paso, May 27.—Many federal officials, including jefe politico, have been killed, scores of others placed in jail, stores looted and burned and hundreds of people are on the verge of starvation as a result of a reign of terror waged in the state of Durango and southern Chihuahua by bandits and insurrectos who have heard nothing of the peace agreement.

Defies Madero

When Tomas Urkina, who claims to be the insurrecto commander of the "southern zone," was informed by Madero of the perfecting of the peace plans he answered that he would dictate the peace terms in his territory, and the looting was continued.

In the town of Villa Escobedo, a few miles south of here, the municipal buildings were burned and all residents have fled to the mountains.

Officials Murdered

The previous report that all government and military officials in the town of Guadalupe y Calvo were killed has been confirmed. Jimenez is believed to have been taken by the rebels.

There is a great scarcity of food in this city. It is likely that 300 foreigners, mostly Americans, will leave in a body overland in wagons. The federal troops are preparing to evacuate.

JUAREZ, May 27.—Normal conditions are rapidly being resumed in northern Mexico. Today Madero, now a private citizen, enjoyed himself, relieved of the burdens of the provisional presidency. Almost the same answer was given all inquiries for instructions—that la Barra is the sole legitimate of Mexico.

Measures of the ultimate disposition of the insurrecto army and payment of the costs of war were the first matters to which de la Barra is devoting his official attention. The president proposed to dissolve the most revolutionary forces, using them to augment the ranks of rurales to be organized. The Diaz troops remaining will be given assistance to get employment and return to their homes. All will be paid off as though mustered out of the regular army. De la Barra is considering a men-

BATTLE THREATENED; PEOPLE IN TERROR

Ensenada Surrounded by Col. Pryce's Men; Attack Imminent

SAN DIEGO, May 27.—Irvine's advance guard has detached; the out skirts of Ensenada. There is a panic in the city and an attack is expected at any hour.

This information was brought to San Diego last afternoon by Captain R. L. Jennings, of the power yacht Katherine. The yacht left Ensenada at 2 o'clock this morning. M. J. Kierman of Jazelle, Calif., one of the passengers who came up on the yacht, describes the situation:

"The rebels have reached Ensenada and the residents of the town have gone crazy. Everything is in confusion and excitement. Nobody seems to know what to expect next. We were arrested twice as spies, but released as soon as we proved who we were. Recruits are being drilled all day. As fast as volunteers arrive they are taught how to handle a gun. The day we arrived 150 recruits came from Los Angeles. I suppose there were more than 400 soldiers in the city."

REBEL GARRISON GOES TO CANANEA

Leaves Agua Prieta to Join Cabral in Suppressing Socialists

The larger part of the rebel garrison at Agua Prieta left that town early yesterday morning for Cananea, according to Deputy Sheriff Ray Swain, who was in Bisbee yesterday morning en route to Tombstone. The rebels will go to Cananea and become a part of a force that will be sent to Baja California.

A detachment of fifty rebels was left at Agua Prieta as a garrison. Prior to the departure of the force for Cananea, the troops were fully outfitted with new uniforms at Douglas stores.
